Chapter 1

Introduction

This book is designed to provide a friendly introduction to various aspects of Rise so you can more easily follow along in your game. However, it is light on specific rules and details. In general, it assumes that you are using a character sheet that someone else in the game is responsible for creating and maintaining. For a more detailed explanation of Rise's rules and character customization, see the separate Comprehensive Codex. The GM will also have a Tome of Guidance, which has advice for running the game and rules for various monsters and challenges that you may face.

What Is Rise?

Rise is a tabletop role-playing game, or TTRPG. In Rise, you play as a specific character in an imaginary universe. Your character can try to do anything you can describe in a world that the game master, or GM, creates. Of course, you won't always succeed. Usually, your character will go on adventures with other characters, each of which is played by other players. Together, you will create and experience a story with the Game Master, or GM, who defines the universe that the player characters inhabit.

How to Play - The Short Version

When you are learning Rise, you should generally focus on roleplaying as your character in a fantasy universe. The GM can provide details about the expected tone of the game and the universe your character inhabits. For example, they should be able to help you understand whether they expect the game to be fundamentally silly, serious, or both. There isn't a correct answer to that sort of stylistic question, but everyone should be on the same page about what they want.

Sometimes, when your character tries to do something particularly interesting, the GM will ask you to roll to see if you succeed. When that happens, roll a ten-sided die, or d10, and tell them the result. They may ask you to add a relevant number based on how good your character is at that thing. If they do, find that statistic on your character sheet and add that number to what you rolled on the d10. Your character will succeed if your result is high enough, and otherwise will fail. The GM will describe what happens in either case.

If you get into combat, you don't need to keep perfect track of what the other players are doing. Just be able to describe what your character wants to do when the GM asks, such as attacking or running away. You may take damage from enemy attacks. Damage reduces your character's hit points. If those reach zero, your character may become vitally wounded. Try to avoid that.

Attacking is basically the same as taking any other action with a chance of failure. Generally, you'll have at least one ability on your character sheet that does damage. You roll d10, add a relevant number, and see if it is high enough. If you succeed with the attack, you'll generally roll damage. Damage is the only common roll in Rise that doesn't always use a d10. Your character sheet should tell you what dice you roll to deal damage.

That's the absolute minimum information you really need to get started, as long as you have a helpful GM and fellow players. Over time, you'll get used to playing your character, both in terms of their personality and in terms of the rules. If you want to learn more about how Rise works, you can keep reading!

Chapter 2

How to Play

Saying What Your Character Does

There are two basic modes that you can use to describe how your character acts. You can describe in general terms what you want them to do, and let the GM figure out how to translate that into game mechanics. Alternately, you can say that you're using a specific ability or game mechanic, and let the GM figure out how that affects the narrative universe.

Either approach is generally reasonable. Some people tend to prefer using one mode more often, and some GMs generally prefer to hear one mode. When in doubt, communicate at your table!

Describing Actions

With this style of communication, you describe what you want your character to do. For example, you can say that your character steps out of their room in the inn and walks over to knock on a friend's door. Although Rise has rules that could govern some aspects of that scenario, such as an Awareness check to see if your friend notices you knocking, you wouldn't usually reference those rules explicitly. Even in the unlikely scenario that your friend doesn't notice you knock the first time, you can just knock again, so there's no point in worrying about the details. If something seems reasonable, it probably is, and you don't need to worry about the fiddly bits.

Sometimes, when you describe what your character tries to do, the action has a narratively relevant chance of failure. Instead of knocking on the door to say hi, you might only have time to bang on it once to warn your sleeping friend about an attack from assassins. In that case, there's some chance that your friend is sleeping too deeply to notice the noise the first time you knock. You could try knocking again, just like in the first scenario, but in this scenario that failure would cost you valuable time to survive the attack. In that scenario, you would roll a die to determine whether you succeed in your action - or in this case, whether your friend would succeed in their attempt to notice you.

Using Specific Abilities

Instead of describing broadly what you want to happen, you might choose one of a list of clearly defined abilities that your character can use. Every character has specific abilities unique to them, such as a wizard's spells or a fighter's maneuvers. There are also a number of simple abilities that anyone can use, such as the grapple or trip abilities. These universal abilities attempt to adequately describe a wide variety of reasonable improvised actions that you might try to use in combat.

Explicitly defined abilities have rules for determining what happens when you use them. Some abilities, such as attacks in combat, require rolling dice to determine how effective they are. You can use your character's abilities at any time, not just in combat. Abilities such as the create water or distant hand spells can be used to solve other kinds of problems entirely.

Rolling Dice

When you need to determine whether something succeeds or fails, you roll a die. This can happen as part of using a specific ability that tells you exactly what to roll, or because you tried to narrate your character taking an action that has a dramatically relevant chance of failure. In either case, you'll roll a single ten-sided die, also known as 1d10. You'll add some modifier that represents how skilled your character is at the particular thing that they are trying to do. At the GM's discretion, they may also give the roll an extra bonus or penalty based on the circumstances that your character is in. If your die roll is high enough, your character succeeds at whatever they were trying to do. Otherwise, your character fails, which may sometimes have additional consequences.

In Rise, it's entirely possible for characters to be so skilled that they succeed at what they are trying to do even if you roll a 1. Likewise, there are tasks that are so obviously impossible for your character that they cannot possibly succeed. In those cases, there's no reason to roll! Of course, the GM is the final arbiter of whether rolling is necessary. They may have information that the players do not.

In some cases, you roll multiple dice at once. This generally happens when you deal damage in combat. A collection of dice is called a dice pool. Dice pools are written with the number of dice, followed by "d", followed by the size of dice to roll. For example, 2d6 means you roll two six-sided dice.

Making Checks

A check is a roll that you make to try to accomplish a task. For example, climbing a wall or remembering an obscure piece of trivia may require a check. Unlike an attack, the difficulty of a check is not measured by the defense of another creature or object. Instead, it depends on the task itself.

To make a check, roll 1d10 and add your modifier with the check. You compare that result to a difficulty value that represents the difficulty of the task. The more difficult the task, the higher the difficulty value will be. If your result is equal to or higher than the difficulty value, the check succeeds. This usually means you accomplish a task successfully. Otherwise, the check fails. This usually means that nothing happens, though sometimes there are specific consequences for failure.

Critical Success

If your check result is at least 10 higher than the difficulty value, your check is a critical success. Some checks have a special effect on a critical success. For example, a critical success while climbing means you move twice as quickly.

Standard Difficulty Values

Most checks are made against a fixed difficulty value that represents how hard the task is. Detailed rules for determining difficulty values in specific circumstances can be found in the Expanded Skills chapter from the Tome of Guidance. However, most of the time, it's not worth the effort to consult charts and tables to figure out how hard a task is. Instead, you can estimate it based on the guidelines below.

- Easy (DV 0): Only an exceptionally incompetent or impaired person could possibly fail a DV 0 check. For example, this includes walking on rough ground without tripping (Balance) or noticing that a yelling, red-faced person is angry (Social Insight).
- Average (DV 5): A typical human with no relevant skills should still succeed at a DV 5 check without much issue. However, it would be possible to fail in a stressful situation where time is limited if the person had no relevant training. For example, this includes climbing a ladder (Climb) or hearing the topic of a nearby conversation in a crowded bar (Awareness).
- Hard (DV 10): A typical human with no relevant skills might succeed at a DV 10 check, but only if they were very lucky or had a lot of time on their hands. An experienced practitioner might fail infrequently in stressful circumstances, but a world-class expert would never fail. For example, this includes swimming in fast-moving water (Swim) or providing first aid to mitigate a barely lethal wound (Medicine).
- Very Hard (DV 15): Only an experienced practitioner could succeed at a DV 15 check, and they would still need to get lucky if they were in a rush. Even a world-class expert at the peak of real-world human potential could fail, but only rarely. For example, this includes picking a well-made lock (Devices) or holding your breath for eight minutes while staying still (Endurance).
- Almost Impossible (DV 20): A world-class expert like an Olympic medalist could succeed at a DV 20 check if they were lucky or patient. Succeeding consistently at tasks of this difficulty requires superhuman capabilities. For example, this includes climbing a weathered natural rock wall without equipment (Climb) or squeezing through a space with a diameter of only half a foot (Flexibility).

- Impossible (DV 25+): No real-world human can succeed at a DV 25 check. This sort of feat is only possible for high-level Rise characters who have explicitly surpassed ordinary limitations. For example, this includes running at full speed along a slack rope (Balance) or climbing a sheer glass pane (Climb).

Trying Again

You can think of checks as being broadly divided into two categories: checks that give you information, and checks that cause a change in the world around you. In general, you can retry checks that change your environment indefinitely until you succeed. The only major limiting factor to those checks is that failure sometimes also changes your environment in ways that may punish your failure or make it impossible to retry the check. For example, if you are trying to climb a cliff, you can keep trying until you succeed, but you may take falling damage from falling off while halfway up the cliff.

You generally cannot retry checks that give you information unless the situation changes in a way that is relevant to your check. This generally means that you must learn new information before making the check again. For example, if you've already examined a creature to determine whether they are disguised, you can't keep just keep staring that creature to make sure. However, if you splash the creature with water which washes away some makeup, you can try again now that you have more information.

In addition, checks that require a free action to make can never be made more than once for the same purpose within a round.

Opposed Checks

An opposed check involves multiple creatures competing to get the highest result. In case of a tie, all tied creatures roll again to break the tie. Usually, the creature with the highest result succeeds, while all other creatures either fail completely or simply succeed less effectively depending on the situation.

Some opposed checks involve multiple creatures using the same skill to see who does the best job. For example, a climbing race up a wall might involve each participant rolling a Climb check, or you might make a Strength check to hold a door closed while another creature tries to shove it open. Alternately, it can involve creatures rolling opposite skills. For example, if you are trying to hide, you roll a Stealth check opposed by the Awareness check of any creatures who could notice you.

Not all opposed checks require all participants to roll at the same time. For example, a creature who creates a disguise rolls the Disguise check at the time that the disguise is created. A creature who tries to notice the disguise would roll their Awareness check at the time they see the disguised creature.

Extended Checks

An extended check is a check that represents your character taking some action over a prolonged period of time. You cannot use abilities like desperate exertion to modify the results of an extended check. If your modifier changes over the course of the task, use your lowest modifier at any point during the task.

Hidden Checks

The GM can always make checks on your character's behalf without telling you. Generally, this is used for observation-based skills. For example, it's very suspicious if the GM tells you to make an Awareness check and then tells you that you don't see anything interesting. One of the ways a GM can avoid that is by simply rolling a check on behalf of your character and only telling you the result if you succeed.

Helping On Checks

You can help an ally make a check. To help an ally, you make a check of the same type against a difficulty value that is 5 lower than the regular difficulty value. This has the same requirements, including time and physical contact, as the check would have if you made it yourself. For example, to help an ally climb a cliff, you must be able to touch your ally to guide them up. Success means that the ally gains a +2 bonus to the check.

Multiple creatures can try to help the same person. At the GM's discretion, there may be a practical limit to how many people can assist with the same task. The bonus from multiple creatures helping does not stack. It just makes it more likely that the helping attempt will succeed.

Checks for Timed Tasks

For every 5 points by which you beat the difficulty value to accomplish a timed task, the time required is usually halved. This only applies for tasks that have a base time requirement of at least one minute, if the GM agrees that it is relevant, and if there are no other specific ways in which your result is improved with higher check results.

Defining the Undefined

This book does not attempt to include specific rules for every aspect of a realistic world. Unless defined otherwise - or if it's not worth the effort to look up Rise's exact rules in the flow of a game - you should assume that the universe works more or less like the real world does, and as long as everyone agrees that something is reasonable, it's not worth worrying about in more detail.

For example, Rise does not have specific rules for how long it takes to eat a meal, the arc that a thrown ball takes through the air, or how much extra weight a well-made chandelier can hold without breaking. It's possible to imagine situations where each of those might be important to a game, however, so you'll have to guess what would be reasonable as obscure situations arise. The Game Master has the final word when defining ambiguities like this.

Resolving Ambiguity

When the rules are ambiguous about how they apply to you and no other creature, you decide how to resolve that ambiguity. For example, if an ability causes you to remove one of your vital wounds, and you have more than one vital wound, you choose which vital wound is removed. When the rules are ambiguous in any other situation, the GM decides how to resolve that ambiguity. This includes situations where multiple creatures are relevant and situations where no particular creature is relevant.

Chapter 3

Characters

This chapter describes how individual characters in Rise are defined, including their statistics. For context about how characters act in combat, see Combat, page 28. For context about how characters act more generally, see Adventuring, page 147.

Some of the information in this chapter won't fully make sense until you've read future chapters. You can either skim past terms you don't yet understand or look them up as you go along.

Attributes

Attributes represent raw talent in a particular area. Each character has six attributes: Strength (Str), Dexterity (Dex), Constitution (Con), Intelligence (Int), Perception (Per), and Willpower (Wil). These attributes have a wide range of effects on a character's core statistics.

A 0 in an attribute represents average human capability. That doesn't mean that every commoner has a 0 in every attribute; not everyone is average, after all. Player characters have an average attribute higher than 0 because they are exceptional individuals. For details about determining your attributes, see Step 4 of Character creation, page 18.

Your attributes can increase after character creation, such as by reaching level 3 (see Character Advancement and Gaining Levels, page 23). Increasing your attributes generally changes all of their effects appropriately.

Strength (Str)

Strength measures your muscle and physical power. Characters with a high Strength tend to have strong offensive capabilities with nonmagical abilities, and prefer wearing heavier armor. It has the following effects:

- Strength determines how much you can carry (see Weight Limits, page 15). You generally need a Strength of at least 2 to wear heavy body armor.
- You add your Strength to your Brawn defense.
- You add your Strength to your mundane power (see Power, page 14).
- You add your Strength to your level to determine your brawling accuracy (see Brawling Accuracy, page 13).
- Your Strength improves Strength-based skills: Climb, Jump, and Swim (see Skills, page 126).

Dexterity (Dex)

Dexterity measures your hand-eye coordination, agility, and reflexes. Characters with a high Dexterity tend to have strong defensive capabilities, and prefer wearing lighter armor. It has the following effects:

- You add your Dexterity to your Armor defense. This bonus is halved if you use medium or heavy body armor or shields (see Table 9.9: Armor and Shields, page 167).
- You add your Dexterity to your Reflex defense.
- You add your Dexterity to Dexterity-based skills: Balance, Flexibility, Ride, Sleight of Hand, and Stealth (see Skills, page 126).
- You need at least 2 Dexterity to make dual strikes (see Dual Strikes, page 37).

Constitution (Con)

Constitution represents your health and stamina. Characters with a high Constitution tend to have strong defensive capabilities. It has the following effects:

- You add your Constitution to your durability, which increases your hit points (see Hit Points, page 13).
- You add your Constitution to your fatigue tolerance (see Fatigue, page 14).
- You add your Constitution to your Fortitude defense.
- You add your Constitution to the Constitution-based skill: Endurance (see Skills, page 126).

Intelligence (Int)

Intelligence represents how well you learn and reason. Characters with a high Intelligence tend to have more options and special abilities. It has the following effects:

- If your Intelligence is positive, you gain a number of trained skills equal to your Intelligence (see Trained Skills, page 15).
- You add your Intelligence to the number of insight points you gain (see Insight Points, page 14).
- You add your Intelligence to Intelligence-based skills: Craft, Deduction, Disguise, Knowledge, and Medicine (see Skills, page 126).

Creatures incapable of complex cognition and speech, like animals, have an Intelligence of -6 or lower. Creatures capable of speech have an Intelligence of at least -5.

Changing Intelligence

When your Intelligence permanently increases, you also permanently gain an additional insight point and trained skill. Temporary Intelligence modifiers, such as from magic items, do not affect your insight points or trained skills.

Perception (Per)

Perception describes your ability to observe and be aware of your surroundings. Characters with a high Perception tend to have strong offensive capabilities. It has the following effects:

- You add your Perception to your level to determine your accuracy with almost all attacks (see Accuracy, page 13).
- You add your Perception to Perception-based skills: Awareness, Creature Handling, Social Insight, and Survival (see Skills, page 126).

Willpower (Wil)

Willpower represents your ability to endure mental hardships. Characters with a high Willpower tend to be better at attacking with and defending against magical abilities. It has the following effects:

- You add your Willpower to your magical power (see Power, page 14).
- You add your Willpower to your Mental defense.

Combat Statistics

Accuracy

Your accuracy with an attack is the number that you add to the attack roll (see Attack Rolls, page 28). Your accuracy with most abilities is normally equal to half the sum of your level and Perception. Many abilities can also modify your accuracy.

Brawling Accuracy

Some abilities cause you to make a brawling attack, which uses your brawling accuracy in place of your regular accuracy. Your brawling accuracy is normally equal to half the sum of your level and Strength. Any ability that modifies your overall accuracy also modifies your brawling accuracy. However, some abilities only affect your brawling accuracy.

Abilities that make brawling attacks generally have the Brawling tag. Commonly used Brawling abilities are listed in Universal Combat Abilities, page 37.

Defenses

When you are attacked, your defenses determine the value that the attacker needs to get on the attack roll in order to hit you (see Attack Rolls, page 28). The five defenses are described below.

- Armor defense: Your Armor defense protects you from normal physical attacks, such as attempts to hit you with a sword. It is the most commonly used defense.

- Brawn defense: Your Brawn protects you from attacks that physically restrain, relocate, or otherwise control you, such as grappling and shoving.
- Reflex defense: Your Reflex protects you from attacks that you can dodge or evade, such as many area attacks.
- Fortitude defense: Your Fortitude defense protects you from attacks against your body or life, such as poisons and life-draining magic.
- Mental defense: Your Mental defense protects you from attacks against your mind, such as terrifying creatures and magical mind manipulation.

Your defenses are calculated in the following way:

- Armor: Half level + Dexterity (modified depending on equipped armor) + base class defense bonus (if any) + defense bonuses from equipped body armor and shield
- Brawn: Half level + Strength + base class defense bonus
- Fortitude: Half level + Constitution + base class defense bonus
- Reflex: Half level + Dexterity + base class defense bonus + defense bonuses from equipped shield
- Mental: Half level + Willpower + base class defense bonus

Each defense may also have various bonuses or penalties applied by special abilities. Your defenses can never go below 0, no matter how many penalties you have.

Durability

Your durability is used to calculate your hit points, as described below in Hit Points. It is equal to your Constitution + your body armor durability bonus (see Armor, page 165). As your level increases, you gain a bonus to your durability (see Table 3.7: Character Advancement and Gaining Levels, page 23).

Hit Points

Your hit points measure how much damage you can take before you die. They are often abbreviated as HP. When you take damage, it reduces your hit points (see Taking Damage, page 29). When your hit points drop below 0, you gain vital wounds, which can eventually kill you (see Vital Wounds, page 30).

Your hit points depend on your character rank, as shown below.

Rank	Flat HP	Bonus HP
1	10	1 x durability
2	10	2 x durability
3	10	3 x durability
4	10	4 x durability
5	10	6 x durability
6	10	8 x durability
7	10	10 x durability

Your maximum hit points can never be less than 1. If your maximum hit points would be reduced to 0 or less, you immediately die.

What Hit Points Represent: Hit points represent a combination of resilience, luck, divine providence, and sheer determination, depending on the nature of the creature being damaged. When you lose hit points from an orc with a greataxe, the axe did not literally carve into your skin without affecting your ability to fight. Instead, you avoided the worst of the blow, but it bruised you through your armor, the effort to dodge the blow fatigued you, or it barely nicked you through sheer luck – and everyone's luck runs out eventually.

Injury Point

While your hit points are at or below your injury point, you are injured. Being injured does not directly penalize you, but some attacks are much more effective if you are injured. Your injury point can be abbreviated as IP.

Your injury point depends on your character rank, as shown below.

Rank	Flat IP	Bonus IP
1	10	Half the sum of level + Constitution
2	10	Level + Constitution
3	10	Level + Constitution + half the sum of level + Constitution
4	10	2 x (level + Constitution)
5	10	3 x (level + Constitution)
6	10	4 x (level + Constitution)
7	10	5 x (level + Constitution)

Some special abilities can also modify your injury point.

Power

Your power affects how much damage you deal. Some abilities also use it for other effects, such as healing. You have two types of power: your magical power, which affects your magical ✨ abilities, and your mundane power, which affects your mundane abilities (see Magical and Mundane Abilities, page 43). If you gain a bonus to your power, and it does not specify which type of power it affects, it affects both your magical power and your mundane power.

Your mundane power is equal to your Strength + half your level. Similarly, your magical power is equal to your Willpower + half your level.

Resources

Attunement Points

Many special abilities and magic items only function as long as a creature attunes to them. Attuning to an ability requires investing at least one attunement point. For details, see Attuned Abilities, page 45.

Your attunement points are defined by your base class. Some classes and abilities can grant additional attunement points.

Fatigue

Throughout the day, you can become fatigued by your exertions both in and out of combat. While hit points are easy to restore, reducing your fatigue level generally requires a long rest. Fatigue is still easier to recover from than vital wounds.

Fatigue Level

Your fatigue level measures how tired you are. Some abilities increase your fatigue level when used, such as the desperate exertion ability (see Universal Abilities, page ??).

Fatigue Tolerance

Becoming slightly fatigued is not immediately detrimental. Your fatigue level can be as high as your fatigue tolerance before you suffer penalties. Your fatigue tolerance is equal to a bonus from your base class + your Constitution. Some abilities can increase your fatigue tolerance.

Fatigue Penalty

You take a penalty to accuracy and checks equal your fatigue level - your fatigue tolerance (minimum 0). This penalty is called your fatigue penalty.

Exhaustion

When your fatigue penalty reaches -5, you fall unconscious until your fatigue penalty is reduced below -5. Generally, this means that you are unconscious for 8 hours.

Recovering From Fatigue

When you finish a long rest, your fatigue level is restored to 0 (see Resting, page 147). There are no other ways to reduce your fatigue level.

Paying Fatigue Costs

Some abilities indicate that they cost a certain number of fatigue levels. That means that you increase your fatigue level by the given amount after the ability resolves. This means you do not suffer a fatigue penalty from that extra fatigue while using the ability. You can even use abilities that cause you to drop unconscious from fatigue.

Insight Points

You can spend insight points to gain new special abilities. Your insight points are defined by your base class. Some classes and abilities can also grant insight points. If your base insight point total is negative, it offsets any insight points you would gain from other sources.

Every class has at least one way to spend insight points to learn additional abilities. These options are listed below.

- Barbarian: Combat styles, exotic weapons, and maneuvers
- Cleric: Mystic spheres and spells
- Druid: Mystic spheres, spells, and wild aspects
- Fighter: Battle tactics, combat styles, exotic weapons, and maneuvers
- Monk: Combat styles, exotic weapons, ki manifestations, and maneuvers
- Paladin: Mystic spheres and spells
- Ranger: Combat styles, exotic weapons, hunting styles, know your enemy, and maneuvers

- Rogue: Bardic performances, combat styles, exotic weapons, maneuvers, and trained skills
- Sorcerer: Mystic spheres and spells
- Votive: Combat styles, spells, maneuvers
- Wizard: Alchemical discoveries, metamagic, mystic spheres, portable workshop, scholastic insights, and spells

In addition, you can spend one insight point to become a multiclass character (see Multiclass Characters, page 47).

Trained Skills

You are trained in certain skills, which increases your bonus with those skills (see Skills, page 126). Your base class grants you a certain number of trained skills from among the class skills for that class. Your Intelligence grants you additional trained skills that do not have to be class skills for you. When you gain trained skills by any other means, you can choose any skill, not just your class skills. Some abilities can also grant additional trained skills.

Size and Weight

Size Categories

Your size affects your space in combat, your base speed, your attributes, and how noticeable you are (see Stealth, page 144). These effects are shown on Table 3.1: Size Categories. Size categories are also relevant for determining weight (see Weight Limits, page 15).

Space

A creature's space is the area it occupies in combat. Humanoids typically occupy a 5-ft. by 5-ft. square. A creature's space is generally larger than its physical body, especially for large creatures.

Base Speed

Each size category has a base speed that indicates how far creatures of that size category can generally move. For details about movement in combat, see Movement and Positioning, page 32.

Other Effects

A creature's size affects some additional skills and abilities. For example, larger creatures are immune to Size-Based abilities used by creatures two or more size categories smaller than them. Some special cases are mentioned below.

Very Small Creatures

Space: If a creature takes up less than a single square of space, you can fit multiple creatures in that square. Ignoring flight, you can fit four Small creatures in a square, twenty-five Tiny creatures, 100 Diminutive creatures, or 400 Fine creatures. If the creatures can fly, the number of creatures that can fit into a space increases drastically.

Movement: Creatures two size categories smaller than you are not considered obstacles and do not hinder your movement.

Very Large Creatures

Space: Very large creatures take up multiple squares. Anything which affects a single square the creature occupies affects the creature.

Movement: Creatures two size categories larger than you are not considered obstacles and do not hinder your movement.

Sweeping Weapons: Weapons used by creatures that are Huge or larger are automatically Sweeping, as shown in Table 3.1: Size Categories. If the creature's weapons would already be Sweeping, add that value to the normal Sweeping value for that weapon. For example, a greatsword used by a Gargantuan creature would have Sweeping (3).

Oddly Shaped Things

Some objects are large in some dimensions and much smaller in others, such as a ladder or pillar. The functional size category of such objects can depend on how they are being used. For example, a ladder can't fit in a backpack, but it can easily be maneuvered through a Small window. Generally, do whatever seems reasonable, using size categories only as a rough guide.

Weight Limits

Your Strength determines how much you can carry or push, as shown in Table 3.2: Weight Limits by Strength. Your weight limits are measured in terms of how many objects or creatures of a given weight category that you can carry or push at once (see Weight Categories, page 15). The limit of how much you can hold in your hands or on your body without suffering any penalties is called your carrying capacity. If you need to move more weight than that, you can push or drag objects or creatures up your pushing and dragging limit as a standard action (see Shove, page 39).

In general, it is not meaningful to consider the weight of any objects with a weight category lighter than your maximum weight category. If it matters, you can treat eight objects of one weight category as having an equivalent weight to a single object that is one weight category heavier.

Large Creatures: Unusually large or small creatures gain a bonus to their Strength for the purpose of determining their weight limits. For details, see Table 3.1: Size Categories, page 16.

Multi-Legged Creatures: The figures on Table 3.2: Weight Limits by Strength are for bipedal creatures. A creature with four or more legs can carry, push, or drag twice as many objects as a bipedal creature of the same Strength.

Weight Categories

Weight is generally measured in weight categories rather than pounds or kilograms. Weight categories use the same terms as size categories, as shown in Table 3.3: Weight Categories, page 16. In general, a creature's weight category is the same as its size category.

Objects and creatures can also be either lightweight or heavyweight. Lightweight objects and creatures have a weight category that is one category lighter than their size category. Heavyweight objects and creatures have a weight category that is one category heavier than their size category.

Objects that occupy only a small percentage of the space appropriate for their size category, such as swords, are usually lightweight. Objects that fully occupy the space appropriate for their size category, like boulders, are usually heavyweight.

Falling Damage

Table 3.3: Weight Categories

Weight Category	Falling Damage Die	Average Weight
Fine	— ¹	1/2 oz.
Diminutive	—	1/4 lb.
Tiny	1d2	2 lb.
Small	1d6	15 lb.
Medium	1d8	120 lb.
Large	1d10	1,000 lb.
Huge	2d6	8,000 lb.
Gargantuan	2d8	64,000 lb.
Colossal	2d10	512,000 lb.

1. Creatures and objects with a Fine or Diminutive weight category have no falling damage dice and cannot cause falling damage.

A falling creature or object descends by 300 feet at the end of each phase. If it hits an obstacle while falling, the falling creature or object takes falling damage. The obstacle it lands on takes half that damage, to a maximum amount of damage equal to the falling creature or object's hit points.

This falling damage is based on the weight category of the falling object or creature. Each weight category has an associated falling damage die listed in Table 3.3: Weight Categories, page 16. For every 10 feet of the fall, the falling damage die is rolled once, to a maximum fall distance of 300 feet. If the total fall distance was less than 10 feet, no falling damage is dealt. For example, a Medium creature falling 50 feet would take 5d8 falling damage.

If you fall intentionally, you treat your fall as being 10 feet shorter. If you fall after intentionally jumping, you measure falling damage from 10 feet lower than your height at the start of your jump, ignoring the maximum height you reached during the jump.

Calculation Guidelines

This explains some general guidelines to follow when calculating character statistics.

Stacking Rules

Usually, modifiers stack with each other, meaning that you add or subtract all of the modifiers to get the final result. However, some modifiers do not stack with each other, as described below. When bonuses don't stack with each other, you only apply the largest bonus. Likewise, when penalties don't stack with each other, you only apply the largest penalty.

- Effects from abilities with the same name do not stack.
- Enhancement bonuses do not stack with each other.
- If a creature gains the same condition multiple times, the effects do not stack, but each instance is tracked separately. The creature must remove all instances of the condition before the effects are removed.
- Multiple magical ✨ effects that change a creature's size category do not stack. If multiple magical effects both increase and decrease size, size increases offset size decreases on a one-for-one basis to determine the creature's final size.
- If you have two separate abilities which grant you a special sense with a particular range, such as darkvision or blindsight, you sum the range from both abilities to find your total range with that sense.

Minimum and Maximum Modifiers

Some bonuses specify that they cannot increase the value beyond a given point. These bonuses must always be applied last, and cannot be combined with other bonuses to exceed the maximum value. If multiple bonuses specify different maximum values, use the lower maximum value. If a bonus with a maximum value is applied to a value that already exceeds the maximum value the bonus can provide, simply ignore the bonus and its maximum value.

Similarly, some abilities have a minimum total modifier. The minimum is applied after all other modifiers.

Doubling and Halving

Normally, doubling twice results in four times the original value, and halving twice results in one quarter of the original value. However, if a single effect doubles something twice, it only adds an additional increment of the original value, making it three times as large.

To clarify, here are some examples, assuming you're making using a weapon that normally deals 10 damage:

- Normal hit: 10 damage.
- Critical hit: 20 damage.
- Double damage maneuver: 20 damage.
- Double critical hit: 30 damage (since it's two doublings from the same effect)
- Critical hit with a double damage maneuver: 40 damage.

Changing Statistics

Your modifiers and defenses can change for many reasons. In general, all changes take effect immediately.

It is not normally possible for a character to lose access to resources that require them to make choices, such as insight points or trained skills. If a character does somehow lose the prerequisites for choices they have made, such as if their Intelligence is permanently reduced, they immediately lose relevant abilities until they are within their new limits.

Rounding

In general, if you encounter a fractional number, you round it down. For negative numbers, this means rounding it away from 0, not towards 0.

Character Creation

Creating a character involves a mixture of thematic and mechanical decisions that will work together to create a fun character that is rewarding to play. As mentioned earlier in this chapter, there are four core systems for customizing your character's mechanics: class, attributes, skills, and species. In addition, there are five core thematic considerations when creating a character: concept, personality, motivation, background, and appearance.

These decisions are described below in an order that makes sense for many characters, and full details for each decision are given after this initial list. It is essentially a sandwich, with narrative decisions wrapped around a central core of your character's mechanical components. However, you can make several of these decisions in any order, and you may find it easier to create a character in a different way. The only real limitation is that your skills should generally be the last mechanical choice you make, since they are strongly affected by your class and attributes.

1. Character concept: Describe your character with a short, simple phrase that captures their essence.
2. Motivation and goal: Describe what your character wants.
3. Species: Define your character's species.
4. Attributes: Define your character's fundamental physical and mental potential.
5. Class archetypes: Define your character's source of power.
6. Insight points: Learn new abilities.
7. Skills: Define your character's areas of non-combat expertise.
8. Personality: Describe how your character acts and reacts to the world.
9. Background: Describe what made your character become who they are now.
10. Appearance: Describe what your character looks like.
11. Alignment: Describe your character's moral compass.
12. Name: Choose a name.

Step 1: Character Concept

Fundamentally, who is your character? You should think of a short phrase that describes the core concept behind the character you will create. It's best to think in broad strokes when creating a character concept. Your concept should be more than just a factual description of your species or what you do. It should be something that makes you memorable. Some sample character concepts are given below for inspiration.

- Pragmatic wanderer
- Artistic pixie
- Mushroom-obsessed hermit
- Bumbling do-gooder
- Dim-witted bodyguard
- Cowardly storyteller
- Bear-barian
- Parsimonious law enforcer
- Peaceful naturalist
- Trigger-happy pyromaniac
- Heroic, simple-minded warrior
- Friendly necromancer
- Chaotic speed demon
- Pompous ex-noble
- Sarcastic mercenary
- Battle-scarred priest
- Ambitious arcane prodigy
- Charismatic musician
- Aloof scholar
- Blunt-spoken warrior
- Crazed prophet
- Polite warrior
- World-weary pirate
- Devout cultist
- Con artist with a heart of gold

Step 2: Motivation and Goal

Why does your character put in all of the effort that adventuring requires? They probably have a goal that they are trying to achieve, or an ideal that they are trying to embody. Writing down a specific goal or ideal can be helpful as an anchor point when defining the character.

Step 3: Species

It's often convenient to make your species your first mechanically relevant choice. Your species can have a strong effect on your personality and narrative, but it has a relatively small effect on your character's play style. It's also easier to know your species before you choose your attributes, since your species can slightly modify your attributes.

Choose one of the eight common species options, or talk with your GM about choosing an uncommon species (see Uncommon Species, page 601). Record any specific abilities the species gives you on your character sheet, but if this is your first mechanical choice, you won't be able to finalize any of your statistics yet. You should also choose the languages that you can speak, since that is influenced by your species (see Communication and Languages, page 148).

Step 4: Attributes

Your attributes are a good option for your second mechanically relevant choice. They have a large impact on your character's strengths and weaknesses, so it's useful to know them as soon as possible. They're also much easier to understand and finalize than your class archetypes.

You have 8 points to distribute among your attributes. Increasing an attribute by 1 costs 1 point, and you can increase each attribute up to a maximum of 3. Instead of allocating points yourself, you can use one of the following three common attribute arrays:

- Standard: 3, 2, 2, 1, 0, 0
- Specialized: 3, 3, 2, 0, 0, 0
- Balanced: 2, 2, 2, 1, 1, 0

Once you have chosen your attributes, add your species modifier to your attributes (if any). Then, record in your character sheet the various effects that your attributes have on your statistics.

Attribute Penalties

You can voluntarily take penalties to your attributes. If you reduce an attribute by a total of -1, you gain an additional trained skill (see Trained Skills, page 15). If you reduce an attribute by a total of -2, you instead gain an additional insight point (see Insight Points, page 14). You cannot gain these benefits from reducing more than two attributes below 0 in this way. In addition, you can never reduce an attribute below -2 in this way.

Step 5: Class and Class Archetypes

This is the most complicated choice you have to make for your character. It requires reading at least some of the Classes chapter to understand which classes are interesting to you. Class details can be found in Classes, page 47.

You should choose one of the eleven classes, and apply all effects of choosing that as your base class. Then, choose one of the five archetypes within that class. You gain the rank 1 ability from that archetype (see Archetypes, page 47).

When you reach levels 2 and 3, you'll choose new archetypes from the same class, becoming rank 1 in each of those archetypes as well. After that, you won't gain any more new archetypes when you gain levels. Instead, you'll just increase your rank in the three archetypes you already have.

If you are particularly adventurous, this is also when you should choose if you want to be a multiclass character. Multiclass characters can gain archetypes from multiple classes. This does not increase the number of archetypes you know, so it does not directly increase your power. However, multiclass characters can be more specialized or more versatile than single-class characters, and can represent unusual character concepts. For details, see Multiclass Characters, page 47.

Step 6: Insight Points

Once you have chosen your class archetypes, attributes, and species, you know how many insight points you have, and can choose how to spend them. Don't forget to record on your character sheet how you spent each insight point. Otherwise, you might get confused later about why you have more spells known than you normally would.

In some circumstances, you might want to delay spending your insight points until you are higher level. For example, a fighter/sorcerer multiclass character who wants to have both spells and maneuvers can't have access to both spells and maneuvers at level 1, so they wouldn't be able to spend insight points on both spells and maneuvers. You aren't forced to spend all of your insight points, so you can save them up for later. You can also talk to your GM about spending them at level 1 and then retraining those insight points once you are higher level.

Step 7: Skills

You should choose which skills you have as trained skills (see Skills, page 126). Your class gives you a certain number of trained skills from among its class skills. The class skills for each class are summarized in Table 7.1: Class Skills, page 127.

There are other ways to become trained in skills that are not part of your class. If your Intelligence is positive, you gain additional trained skills equal to your Intelligence. You can also spend insight points to gain one trained skill per insight point (see Insight Points, page 14). Some abilities can grant additional trained skills.

If you are untrained in a skill, your bonus with that skill is equal to half of its associated attribute (if any). If you are trained in a skill, your bonus with that skill is equal to $3 + \text{the higher of its associated attribute (if any)}$ and half your level. Many abilities can increase or decrease your bonus with particular skills.

The number of skills you can have trained, and which skills those are, depend on every preceding step, so it's a good place to finish.

Sometimes, you might have more trained skills than you know what to do with, especially if you are still figuring out the details of your character concept. You aren't forced to decide all of your trained skills at level 1, so you can save them up and choose more trained skills when you level up. You can also talk to your GM about letting you decide your trained skills on the fly during the first game session or two based on what actions you take during the session. This can be a fun way to figure out what your character's personality is through the process of playing them.

Step 8: Starting Equipment

When you create a character, they can start with some basic items. Items have item ranks that indicate the approximate rank that characters can reasonably get access to them. Typically, you can start with a single rank 1 item, up to three rank 0 items, and a standard adventuring kit. Individual campaigns or character backstories may significantly change what starting equipment is available, so check with your GM.

Step 9: Personality

How does your character behave? You should decide, in broad terms, what your character's personality is. This will change over time, especially as you start playing the character in the game, so you don't need to define everything perfectly. However, having a general sense of how your character behaves is helpful.

For most games, it's important to have a personality that can tolerate working with others in a group. A character that is excessively aloof, moody, or obnoxious can make the game more difficult to enjoy for everyone. Likewise, a character who tries to speak for everyone or who repeatedly steals the spotlight from others can be frustrating to work with. You should figure out the right balance with your fellow players and your GM.

Step 10: Background

What happened in their character's past to make them the way that they are? What were their parents like, and where are they now? You don't have to have all of the answers when you first create a character, but it's good to have some idea. The richer your backstory, the more the GM can weave that into the narrative of the current story. Sometimes, it's fun to take a break from saving the world to go visit someone's grandma. For details about suggested backgrounds that have a strong effect on the game world, see Backgrounds, page 21.

Step 11: Appearance

What does your character look like? What would someone's first impression of them be? This can be helpful for understanding how other characters in the game world - or even monsters - would react to you.

Step 12: Alignment

Your character's alignment reflects their moral character: are they more inclined to good or evil, and to chaos or order? Alignments are described in more detail at Alignment, page 19.

Step 13: Name

What is your character's name? This choice can influence the tone your character will set in the game. If your name is Sir Patty Cakes or Shanky, the game is likely to be lighter and sillier in tone. Fancy fantasy-appropriate names like Ayala or Theodolus tend to push the game in a slightly more serious direction, especially if you make the daring choice to include a canonical last name. As always, stay in tune with what the GM and the other players are expecting.

Alignment

A creature's general moral and personal attitudes can be represented by its alignment: lawful good, neutral good, chaotic good, lawful neutral, neutral, chaotic neutral, lawful evil, neutral evil, or chaotic evil.

Alignment is a tool for developing your character's perspective. Like a character's class, it is intended to provide a canvas to inspire creativity, not a narrow window to constrain identity. Each alignment represents a broad range of personality types or personal philosophies, so two characters of the same alignment can still be quite different from each other. In addition, few people are completely consistent.

Aligned Characters

Alignment is a spectrum, not a binary. Some characters are defined as being “good” or “evil”, but this is a broad definition with a great deal of variation. Only angels and demons are “pure” good or evil.

Approximately half of the general population of the world is neutral between good and evil, with a quarter being good and another quarter being evil. This does not mean that a quarter of people are all saintly do-gooders and another quarter are all psychotic murderers. It would be more accurate to say “good” people are simply the most altruistic quarter of the population. There are a rare few saints, but all good characters have some amount of selfishness in particular contexts. Likewise, evil characters may act altruistically in some situations still having a fundamentally selfish nature.

A similar ratio exists for law and chaos. This means that the overall population follows the ratios given in Table 3.4: Aligned Population Ratios. Of course, these populations are not distributed equally in the world. In general, humanoid civilization tends to have more good and lawful characters, and monsters tend to be more chaotic and evil. The GM can give more context about how alignment is used in their specific world. Of course, the GM can also redefine good and evil itself, so talk with them if alignment is important to you or your character.

Monsters have their typical alignments listed in their description. Even monsters who are listed as “always good” or “always evil” are not maximally good or evil – just good or evil enough to fall into that quartile. Many evil monsters can be perfectly reasonable if they are capable of speech, and will uphold bargains that serve their interests. Likewise, good monsters have their own objectives, and will not simply do whatever an adventuring party asks of them.

Table 3.4: Aligned Population Ratios

Alignment	Good	Neutral	Evil
Lawful	6.25%	12.5%	6.25%
Neutral	12.5%	25%	12.5%
Chaotic	6.25%	12.5%	6.25%

Good vs. Evil

Distinguishing good from evil is a deeply complex task. In a universe where angels, demons, and deities exist and interact with the affairs of mortals, being able to clearly define good and evil is important. For the purposes of Rise, good and evil are strictly defined according to the intentions of one’s actions, not their eventual outcomes. Good intentions are altruistic, and evil intentions are selfish.

This model for good and evil has limited value as a moral system for the real world, and it neglects several dimensions of morality that people might consider important. It is intentionally vague about what constitutes “other beings”, and reasonable characters might disagree about how to consider the needs of non-humanoid living things like plants and animals. However, is a useful way to define alignment as a character trait and roleplaying tool. Good characters have recognizably different behaviors from evil characters, but they are not so intrinsically opposed that they can’t coexist in the same group of adventurers. Evil characters may cause you problems if you get in their way, but no civilized area would allow simply killing evil on sight.

Good: Good intentions are altruistic. They are based on respect and empathetic consideration for other beings.

A good character will try to learn what other beings want or need so they can help most effectively. They might try to keep everyone’s spirits up with cameraderie and good humor, donate money whenever possible to help those in need, or dedicate their life to punishing criminals and protecting the innocent. Good characters may have significant disagreements about what actions are best, and not all care about some lofty “greater good”. Some believe that self-sacrifice is noble, while many would say that it does more harm than good to neglect your own needs. There are many interpretations of altruism.

Even an action with good intentions may have disastrous consequences. Unintentionally causing harm does not make a character evil, but good characters pay attention to the effects their actions have in practice. If a good character caused harm, intentionally or otherwise, they would try to rectify their mistake.

Evil: Evil intentions are selfish. They come from prioritizing one’s own desires when that conflicts with the knowable needs and desires of other beings.

An evil character will generally not care what other beings want or need unless they personally benefit from that knowledge. They might betray allies, break laws or abuse legal loopholes to gain an advantage, or bully other creatures into doing their bidding. Evil characters may take actions that help others and can even work effectively as a team, but their ultimate motivation is to help themselves or make themselves feel better, not to help others.

Neutral: Characters that are neutral between good and evil are neither consistently altruistic nor consistently selfish. Most neutral characters behave altruistically in some ways and selfishly in other ways – either at different times, or about different aspects of life. They often have strong bonds to particular individuals who they care about selflessly, but are not altruistic in a general sense.

Intentions that do not involve other beings are neither good nor evil. Similarly, actions taken to meet one’s own mandatory needs are neither good nor evil. Wild animals may act primarily out of self-interest, but since they generally lack the capacity to recognize the needs and desires of other beings, they are considered neutral rather than good or evil.

Law vs. Chaos

Law: Lawful characters value consistency. They obey rules that guide their actions. Some lawful characters draw their rules from external forces, such as serving a particular master or following the legal laws of the land. Other lawful characters follow rules they make for themselves.

Chaos: Chaotic characters value flexibility and freedom. They make decisions based on what they think or feel at the time, even if it is inconsistent with their previous statements or actions.

Neutral: Characters that are neutral between law and chaos are neither exceptionally consistent nor exceptionally inconsistent. They tend to be generally consistent but may change their minds under the right circumstances. Non-sapient beings such as animals are neutral rather than lawful or chaotic.

Personal Appearance

Table 3.6: Typical Height and Weight

Species	Average Height	Average Weight
Human	5' 5"	140 lb.
Dwarf	4' 2"	120 lb.
Elf	5' 9"	120 lb.
Halfling	3' 4"	50 lb.
Kobold	2' 10"	40 lb.
Mixed	5' 4"	130 lb.
Orc	6' 0"	190 lb.

Age

The typical age for each species is listed in Table ??: Typical Ages. The Adulthood column indicates the minimum age for adulthood. Most adventurers are somewhere between adulthood and middle age.

If you are old, you take a -2 penalty to checks based on Strength, Dexterity, Constitution, and Perception. However, you gain a +2 bonus to checks based on Intelligence and Willpower. If you are venerable, these modifiers change to -4 and +4 respectively. In general, player characters should not start as old or venerable age, but the GM can always allow it for specific campaigns if they want.

When you reach venerable age, the GM secretly rolls your maximum age, which is the number from the Venerable column on Table ??: Typical Ages plus the result of the dice roll indicated on the Maximum Age column on that table. They record the result. If you reach your maximum age, you die of age-related illnesses or frailty at some time during that year.

Height and Weight

The typical height and weight for each species is listed in Table 3.6: Typical Height and Weight, page 21. The average man from each species is slightly taller and heavier than the average woman, but this is not a restriction for player characters.

Backgrounds

Each character has a history from before the current campaign. This can include their childhood, family, previous occupations, and more. Backgrounds generally do not have direct effects on a character's statistics. Narratively, a background explains a character's statistics, not defines them. However, a character's background can still have a significant influence on how they interact with the world.

Backgrounds can be summarized as a set of benefits and flaws. If you choose a background benefit, you must also choose a flaw. Some backgrounds internally provide both benefits and flaws.

These are called mixed backgrounds, and taking them does not change how many benefit or flaw backgrounds you can choose. You generally shouldn't have more than one benefit and one flaw, or a single mixed background.

Not every character should have a specific background with effects listed here. These backgrounds can significantly change how a character relates to the world. It's fine to have a simpler background to put more focus on other aspects of your character's narrative journey.

At the GM's discretion, background benefits can also be acquired during a campaign. For example, successfully performing a heroic and extremely public feat might give the whole party the benefits of the Folk Hero background. Conversely, a party who is defeated in battle may find themselves with the Indebted background, as the victors decide to spare them - with a price.

Many backgrounds, especially background benefits, are only relevant in some area where your reputation could plausibly be known. If you're deep in the tunnels of Terra, nobody will care that you were a folk hero back home. The GM should ensure that backgrounds are usually relevant, and your reputation may become more broadly known through the course of a campaign.

Background Benefits

Apothecary's Assistant: You spent years working with an herbalist or apothecary. You have a knack for identifying plants, herbs, and fungi in the wild. In addition, you can often find local suppliers of rare ingredients who might otherwise be wary of strangers.

Criminal Connections: You have a reputation in criminal circles as a trustworthy partner in crime. This reputation is not generally known outside of that domain, so law enforcement will not generally cause you problems. You know how to reliably identify and contact other criminals, at least in a significant local area. They will generally be helpful, though they may still charge a fair price for any direct assistance.

Folk Hero: You are known generally by most common folk as a heroic and benevolent figure, at least in a significant local area. This reputation could be well-earned or built on deception. In either case, it is widely believed. Common people will generally try to be helpful whenever you need it, as long as you act appropriately to match the tales.

Guild Member: You are a member of a major trade guild. This could be based on your abilities with a particular Craft skill, your class, or some other abilities you have that are common enough in the world to merit a trade guild. The GM can provide more guidance about what guilds exist. In general, the more advanced and civilized the world is, the more niche guilds exist. Your guild will have a presence in any major city and some minor ones. People will generally be more willing to believe that you can perform tasks relevant to your guild membership. In addition, fellow guild members will be more helpful when you need it.

Mysterious Heirloom: You have a family heirloom that you must keep safe. In the right hands, it would probably have great value or importance, but most people would dismiss it as a simple trinket or oddity.

Table 3.5: Species Age

Species	Adulthood	Middle Age	Old	Venerable	Maximum Age
Human	18 years	40 years	55 years	70 years	+3d10 years
Dwarf	30 years	60 years	85 years	110 years	+5d10 years
Elf	70 years	160 years	275 years	420 years	+3d% years
Halfling	22 years	50 years	70 years	90 years	+4d10 years
Kobold	18 years	50 years	80 years	110 years	+5d10 years
Mixed	22 years	50 years	70 years	90 years	+4d10 years
Orc	18 years	35 years	45 years	55 years	+3d10 years

Landed: You have a family estate that you can live in comfortably, including people who work the land and maintain the house. It is well equipped for most types of training, research, or other long-term work you and your allies might need to do. You do not have sole ownership of the estate, so selling it or otherwise attempting to directly gain value from it would be complicated and risky. However, it is a safe refuge when you need it.

Noble: Your family is at least minor nobility. This can change people's reactions to you and allow you to more easily access events and important people in high society.

Veteran: You have served as a low-level soldier of some type in a formal military organization. Other soldiers and veterans will generally treat you with a degree of respect and camaraderie. You have easier access to local military officers, and they will be more willing to help you out when you need it.

Background Flaws

Cursed Legacy: Your family bears a persistent curse that has manifested in you. It is not life-threatening, but it causes you hardship, such as bad luck or periodic bouts of pain. Most commoners who find out about your curse will react with suspicion or fear. The curse may be removed, but not by means as simple as the dispel curse ritual.

Escapee: You have escaped from some private individual or institution who is very interested in your return. This could be because you were a slave, because of something unique about your heritage, or any other reason. The people who want your return will invest time and resources into pursuing you wherever it is feasible, including hiring bounty hunters to track you down and bring you back.

Indebted: Thanks to your own past mistakes or your family's actions, you owe a significant debt. Directly paying off the debt would require at least a rank 3 wealth item (1,000 gp). The creditor may require you to make smaller recurring payments, or may compel you to perform tasks for them to pay down your debt over time. They can generally be negotiated with to a limited degree, but if the relationship turns sour, this flaw may switch to the Escapee flaw.

Nemesis: Someone specifically wants you to suffer due to your shared history. They and their allies are initially stronger than you in a direct conflict, and directly attacking them is almost certainly illegal. You will have to avoid directly confronting them, at least at first. Unlike the Escapee and Wanted flaws, your nemesis will not generally try to kill you or physically harm you. Instead, they will act to subvert your goals, either directly or through agents. Anything you seem to want, they will do their best to thwart.

Oathbound: You have sworn a binding vow to a deity, a powerful individual, or a secret society. This oath places significant restrictions on your behavior, such as a vow of silence in certain contexts, a requirement to destroy certain types of items, or a prohibition against killing certain types of creatures. Breaking this oath would have severe social or personal consequences, including but not limited to enmity from whatever entity you swore the oath to.

Repulsive: You are personally noxious, odorous, grotesque, or otherwise unpleasant to see and spend time with. The cause could be injury, disease, a powerful curse, or some other reason. This negatively affects almost everyone's reactions to you, which makes social interactions more difficult. In addition, any living creature who can see, hear, or smell you is unable to benefit from a short rest or long rest. Even if you can find loyal travelling companions, they still have their limits, forcing you to camp alone.

Wanted: You are wanted for serious crimes in some major area. This flaw does not require that there are posters with your name in every city, but the area where you are wanted must be important to the campaign. You will have to avoid identification by both law enforcement and even common people while in that area, and in other areas that may be aware of those details. In addition, bounty hunters may pursue you wherever you go. You may be innocent of the charges, but if so, it would be hard to prove your innocence.

Mixed Backgrounds

Scion: You are in the line of inheritance for an important throne or noble house. You are not the designated heir, but some small distance removed, such as a third child. If the obstacles to your inheritance were cleared, you could become powerful and wealthy. However, you may also be a target for people trying to ensure their own inheritance, or simply using you to manipulate your family. As an important figure, your family or related people may try to place restrictions on your actions to ensure your safety.

Character Advancement and Gaining Levels

As you accomplish challenges and defeats foes, your GM may tell you that you gain a level. You gain some abilities at specific levels, as described in Table 3.7: Character Advancement and Gaining Levels.

When you gain a level, the following things happen:

- Your hit points increase (see Hit Points, page 13).
- You gain an additional archetype rank (see Archetypes, page 47).
- Your accuracy may increase (see Accuracy, page 13).
- At even levels, magical power and mundane power each increase by 1 (see Power, page 14).
- At even levels, your bonus with trained skills increases (see Trained Skills, page 15).
- At even levels, all of your defenses increase by 1 (see Defenses, page 13).

In addition, some irregular advancements happen at specific levels:

- At 3rd level, and every 6 levels thereafter, you increase any two of your attributes by 1 (see Attributes, page 12). At 21st level, you increase two of your attributes by 2 instead.
- At 4th level, and every 3 levels thereafter, your character rank increases (see Character Rank, page 23).

These effects are summarized in Table 3.7: Character Advancement and Gaining Levels, which also defines the experience required to gain each level. The special effects from gaining levels are also listed in the base class table for each class as a reminder.

At your GM's discretion, you may also change some of the choices you have made about your character when you level up.

Table 3.7: Character Advancement and Gaining Levels

Level	Rank	Durability	Bonus ¹	Special
1st	1	+0	—	—
2nd	1	+1	+1	—
3rd	1	+2	+1	+1 to two attributes
4th	2	+2	+2	HP: 2x durability
5th	2	+3	+2	—
6th	2	+4	+3	—
7th	3	+4	+3	HP: 3x durability
8th	3	+5	+4	—
9th	3	+6	+4	+1 to two attributes
10th	4	+6	+5	HP: 4x durability
11th	4	+7	+5	—
12th	4	+8	+6	—
13th	5	+8	+6	HP: 6x durability
14th	5	+9	+7	—
15th	5	+10	+7	+1 to two attributes
16th	6	+10	+8	HP: 8x durability
17th	6	+11	+8	—
18th	6	+12	+9	—
19th	7	+12	+9	HP: 10x durability
20th	7	+13	+10	—
21st	7	+14	+10	+2 to two attributes

1. This bonus applies to your accuracy, magical power, mundane power, trained skills, and defenses.

For example, you could change one of your trained skills for a different skill, decrease one attribute to increase another, or change the mystic spheres you have access to (and corresponding spells). The GM may ask for a specific narrative justification for the change, require spending in-game time to retrain, or disallow changing some fundamental aspects of your character.

Character Rank

Your character has a character rank, which is a general indication of their overall power. It is determined by your level, as shown in Table 3.7: Character Advancement and Gaining Levels. Your maximum rank in any individual archetype is equal to your character rank (see Archetypes, page 47). It has no other universal effects, though some abilities reference your character rank to determine their effects.

Chapter 4

Common Species

Each character has a species. There are eight common species described below. At the GM's discretion, you may be able to play a character with a more unusual species (see Uncommon Species, page 601).

Humans

Humans are the most common and least rigidly defined of all Rise species. They are not the smartest, the strongest, or the most durable of the civilized races. They have no supernatural senses or impossible talents; anything a human can do, a member of another species could do at least as well. Despite their limitations, humans are practically universal, and their civilizations are the most powerful and numerous of all.

The success of humanity comes from one core strength: their adaptability, both individually and as a whole. Individual humans can learn new skills with surprising ease compared to other species, and they often have a breadth of talent that few can rival. The relatively short human lifespan prevents their society from stagnating under the guidance of elders whose wisdom is now hundreds of years out of date. When radical changes sweep the world, humans can adapt where other species would founder.

Size: Medium.

Attributes: See the Versatile ability.

Special Abilities:

- Versatile: Humans gain a +1 bonus to any two attributes. This cannot increase those attributes above 3 when attributes are initially determined (see Attributes, page 12). They can be increased above 3 by other means, such as by the attribute bonus at level 3 (see Character Advancement and Gaining Levels, page 23).

Automatic Language: Common, Human, any one common language (see Table ??: Common Languages, page ??).

Dwarves

Dwarves are short, stout, and sturdy. It has been said that the first dwarf was carved from stone, and the similarities have been noted by many. All dwarves naturally have beards, and the vast majority keep them long and elegantly maintained.

Most dwarves live underground in mining communities. These communities can grow to massive size, and dwarven kings can rule vast underground cities. The dwarven fascination with strong drink is legendary, though somewhat misleading. Their natural resilience means they need stronger drinks to even notice the effects, so other species tend to gain an exaggerated impression of dwarven drunkenness when they try to drink dwarven ale.

Size: Medium.

Attributes: +1 Constitution, +1 Willpower, -1 Dexterity.

Special Abilities:

- Armored From Birth: Dwarves are proficient with all usage classes of metal body armor (see Armor, page 165). This does not grant proficiency with other kinds of armor, such as shields.
- Darkvision: Dwarves have darkvision with a 60 foot range, allowing them to see in complete darkness (see Darkvision, page 588).
- Depth Sense: Dwarves can intuitively sense their approximate depth underground as naturally as a human can sense which way is up.
- Earthen Crafting: Dwarves gain a +2 bonus to the Craft (metal) and Craft (stone) skills.
- Slow and Steady: Dwarves have a -10 foot penalty to their speed. However, wearing heavy body armor does not reduce a dwarf's speed (see Armor Usage Classes, page 165). In addition, a dwarf's movement speed cannot be more than 10 feet slower than their base speed, even while slowed (-10 speed, -2 Armor and Ref) or under similar effects. This does not affect movement through difficult terrain and similar effects, since those affect movement cost rather than your character's intrinsic movement speed.

Automatic Languages: Common, Dwarven, any one common language (see Table ???: Common Languages, page ??).

Elves

Elves are tall, lithe, and graceful. They tend to have an air of confidence at all times, and even their mistakes seem intentional. Elves have the longest lifespan of any civilized species, and even comparatively young elves carry a weight of experience that can be daunting for non-elves.

For millennia, elves were the most powerful civilization above ground, while dwarves claimed the underground. More recently, humans have usurped elves as the most powerful civilization above ground, while dwarves have kept their claim. This history, combined with their natural differences, has created an ancient rivalry between elves and dwarves.

Size: Medium.

Attributes: -1 Constitution, either +1 Dexterity or +1 Perception.

Special Abilities:

- Elven Perfection: Elves only gain one fatigue level when using the desperate exertion ability to affect checks (see Desperate Exertion, page 37).
- Keen Senses: Elves gain a +2 bonus to the Awareness skill (see Awareness, page 127).
- Low-light Vision: Elves have low-light vision, allowing them to see clearly in dim illumination (see Low-light Vision, page 588).
- Sure-Footed: Elves gain a +1 bonus to the Balance and Stealth skills (see Balance, page 128, and Stealth, page 144).
- Trance: Elves do not sleep, and are immune to magical ✨ effects that would cause them to sleep. Instead of sleeping, elves can trance for 4 hours. An elf in trance may make Perception-based checks at a -5 penalty. Elves must still avoid strenuous activity for 8 hours to heal and gain other benefits of taking a long rest.

Automatic Languages: Common, Elven, any one common language (see Table ??: Common Languages, page ??).

Halflings

Halflings stand at a little over half the height of a human, but have generally human-like proportions. They tend to be friendly and welcoming hosts. Few halflings seek out adventure, though they are brave and capable when danger comes to them.

Most halflings live stable and comfortable lives surrounded by friends and family. They make their own communities wherever they are, whether as a farming village or a large communal house in the city.

Size: Medium.

Attributes: -1 Strength, either +1 Dexterity or +1 Willpower.

Special Abilities:

- Nimble Combatant: Halflings gain a +1 bonus to their Reflex defense.
- Short Stature: Halflings gain a +2 bonus to the Stealth skill.
- Stout-Hearted: Halflings gain a +1 bonus to their Mental defense.

Automatic Languages: Common, Halfling, any one common language (see Table ??: Common Languages, page ??).

Kobolds

Kobolds have reptilian features stemming from their draconic ancestry. They have a short tail and scales that can be brightly colored. Mottled patterns are more common than consistent coloration across the whole body. They are even shorter than halflings, with a typical height under three feet.

Kobolds are naturally cooperative, though they are rarely leaders. For some kobolds, spending some time in service to a dragon is a ritual akin to a pilgrimage. Serving a dragon marks kobolds, shifting their natural coloration to match the dragon they served. While in a dragon's service, they generally use their stealth and crafting talents to make traps that hinder any who would seek out the dragon's treasure while they are away.

Kobolds that do not seek out true dragons may still find worthy leaders to follow. For example, a kobold who aspired to be a baker would usually try to find a skilled baker to serve as an apprentice. Such service is always conditional on the quality of their leader. An unfit leader can be quickly abandoned, though usually not betrayed.

Size: Medium.

Attributes: -1 Strength, either +1 Dexterity or +1 Intelligence.

Special Abilities:

- Crafty: Kobolds gain a +2 bonus to a Craft skill of their choice.
- Draconic Power: Kobolds gain a +1 bonus to their mundane power and magical power.
- Resilient Scales: Kobolds gain a +1 bonus to their durability.
- Short Stature: Kobolds gain a +2 bonus to the Stealth skill.

Automatic Languages: Common, Draconic.

Mixed Species

Mixed species characters come in many forms. They may have ancestry from two different species, such as a half-elf with a human parent and an elven parent. They may be biologically from one species, but raised in the culture of another. For example, an orc raised in an elven commune might not have the same intimidating presence and martial upbringing of an orc raised in an orcish society. You can use this species to represent whatever combination you want.

Size: Medium.

Attributes: +1 to any attribute, -1 to any other attribute

Special Abilities:

- Cross-Cultural Experience: Mixed species characters do not need to spend an insight point to gain access to their first additional class (see Multiclass Characters, page 47).
- Skilled: Mixed species characters gain a +2 bonus to any one skill.

Automatic Language: Common, any two common languages or one rare language (see Communication and Languages, page 148).

Orcs

Orcs are tall, physically imposing, and have a reputation for brutishness. Their skin is green, with hues ranging from the dull brownish green of a forest floor to the vibrant green of new grass. The orcs that interact with human civilization must contend with prejudice, especially in rural areas. This is partially inspired by their less civilized cousins who live in more violent environments, and partially a simple reaction to their raw physical presence.

Size: Medium.

Attributes: +1 Strength, either -1 Dexterity or -1 Intelligence.

Special Abilities:

- Intimidating: Orcs gain a +2 bonus to the Intimidate skill (see Intimidate, page 468).
- Low-light Vision: Orcs have low-light vision, allowing them to see clearly in dim illumination (see Low-light Vision, page 588).
- Martial Upbringing: Orcs are proficient with all weapons from one weapon group of their choice, including exotic weapons.
- Raw Strength: Orcs gain a +1 bonus to their Strength for the purpose of determining their weight limits (see Weight Limits, page 15).

Automatic Languages: Common, Orcish.

Chapter 5

Combat

Making Attacks

When you try to use an ability to affect an enemy, you will generally need to make at least one attack to see if the ability hits.

Attack Rolls

To make an attack, roll 1d10 and add your accuracy with the attack. Each attack specifies one or more relevant defenses which are used to avoid the attack. There are five defenses: Armor, Brawn, Fortitude, Reflex, and Mental. Most attacks are made against exactly one defense, which is indicated in the attack's description.

Attack Results

There are four possible outcomes for an attack: a glancing blow, a miss, a critical hit, and a regular hit. You check the outcomes in that order. This means that if an attack misses or gets a glancing blow, it cannot also get a critical hit, even if you have large accuracy bonuses that only apply to critical hits.

Glancing Blows

If you make a damaging attack and the attack result is 1 or 2 lower than the target's defense, you get a glancing blow against that target. All damaging attacks deal half damage on a glancing blow unless otherwise specified. They also do not have any special effects other than immediate damage, unless those effects would also happen on a miss. Non-damaging attacks cannot cause glancing blows.

A glancing blow is neither a hit nor a miss. Some abilities trigger on both glancing blows and missed attacks.

Misses

If your attack result is lower than the target's defense, it is a miss. An ability that misses a target typically has no effect on that target. Some area abilities say they deal half damage on a miss.

Critical Hits

If your attack result is at least 10 higher than the target's defense, your attack is a critical hit against that target. All damaging attacks deal double damage on a critical hit unless otherwise specified. Some non-damaging attacks also have special effects on a critical hit.

For every additional increment of 10 by which you beat the target's defense, the effect of a critical hit is repeated, if applicable. For example, if you get a double critical with an attack that has a critical hit effect of "The condition must be removed an additional time", the condition must be removed two additional times. As normal, two doublings become a tripling, so a double critical hit with a damaging attack would roll triple the damage dice.

The damage multiplier from a critical hit is multiplicative with all other damage modifiers, including attacks that say they deal double damage. Typically, you roll damage dice twice for a critical hit and sum both results, along with doubling any flat modifiers. If this would require you to roll an inconveniently large number of dice, you can just multiply the result from your normal damage dice instead.

Regular Hits

If your attack result is at least as high as the target's defense, but less than 10 higher than that defense, your attack is a regular hit against that target. It has its normal effect.

Exploding Attacks

When you make an attack roll, if you roll a 10 on the d10, the die explodes. This means you keep rolling until you get a number less than 10, then sum all of the rolls.

Calculating Damage

Normally, the abilities you use will tell you how to calculate your damage. This section explains some special circumstances which can change how your damage is calculated.

Weapon Damage

Strikes deal damage based on the weapon you use them with. Your weapon damage is normally equal to the weapon's damage die or dice, as defined in the Equipment chapter (see Weapons, page 156). Some abilities multiply your weapon damage with a particular strike. That does not multiply other damage dealt by the strike, such as the damage from your power or any extra damage.

Extra Damage

Some abilities add extra damage to your damaging attacks. Extra damage generally works in the same way as damage that is inherently part of the attack. It is halved on a glancing blow, doubled on a critical hit, and so on. Attacks that deal double damage also double their extra damage. Some attacks specifically double any extra damage that applies to them.

Extra damage only applies once per attack roll to any individual creature. For example, the corrosive grasp spell deals damage immediately, and again during your next action. Because both of those damage instances are caused by a single attack roll, extra damage only applies to the first damage instance. However, a wall of fire would apply extra damage each time a creature passes through it, since a separate attack is made for each instance of damage.

Extra damage is only applied to damage directly caused by your attacks. It does not apply to damaging conditions you inflict, poisons, or other special effects. For example, an empowered creature that uses an ability which flings a creature does not apply the extra damage to the impact from the fling, if any.

Minimum Damage

A damaging attack always deals at least 1 damage before applying any effects from the defender. This is typically only relevant for extremely weak creatures. For example, a cat has a bite attack that deals 1d8 minus 4 damage. If the cat rolled a 2 for damage, which would be a total of minus 2, it would still deal 1 damage.

Taking Damage

When you take damage, the damage reduces your hit points. If you are dealt damage that reduces your hit points below 0, you gain one or more vital wounds. Monsters typically do not gain vital wounds like player characters do. Instead, they simply die or fall unconscious when they reach 0 hit points.

Injury

If your remaining hit points are at or below your injury point, you are injured. Some attacks require you to be injured to have their full effects.

When you take damage from an attack, if you are injured, the attack inflicted an injury on you. This also applies if you only become injured after resolving the attack's damage. Some damaging attacks have extra effects when they injure you. This is usually indicated by "Injury:" text in their descriptions.

Negative Hit Points

You can have negative hit points, but only briefly. When your hit points drop below 0, you gain a vital wound (see Vital Wounds, page 30). You gain an additional vital wound for each increment of half your maximum hit points that you reach in negative hit points.

If you would regain hit points while you have negative hit points, you first reset your hit points to 0 before applying the healing. In addition, your hit points are reset to 0 at the end of the round if they are still negative. This is checked after applying all healing and damage that takes place at the end of the round. This also resets vital wound thresholds, which means you'll suffer a vital wound if your hit points go negative again in the next round.

Subdual Damage

Some attacks and environmental effects deal subdual damage. Subdual damage works in the same way as normal damage, except it cannot inflict vital wounds. If an attack that deals subdual damage would inflict a vital wound, the target increases its fatigue level by three instead. Whenever you make a strike, you can choose to deal subdual damage instead of normal damage. If you do, you deal half damage with the strike.

Vital Wounds

A vital wound represents serious damage to your body. Each vital wound has a specific detrimental effect on you. You gain vital wounds when your hit points go negative (see Negative Hit Points, page 29).

To determine the effect of a vital wound, make a vital roll and find the corresponding effect in Table 5.1: Vital Wound Effects. The effect of the vital wound lasts until you remove that vital wound. The effects of vital wounds stack with each other, even if you roll the same effect twice for different vital wounds.

Vital Rolls

To make a vital roll, roll 1d10. You take a penalty to this roll equal to twice the number of vital wounds you already have, not counting the vital wound you are rolling for. The result determines the effect of the vital wound, as listed in Table 5.1: Vital Wound Effects, page 30. Vital wound effects from vital rolls below 1 are lethal if untreated, but the Medicine skill can be used to prevent you from dying (see Medicine, page 139). This roll is not a check, so you can't affect it with abilities like desperate exertion.

Table 5.1: Vital Wound Effects

Vital Roll	Effect
-6 or less	You immediately die
0–5	You are unconscious, and you die after one minute
1	You are unconscious while you are injured
2	You take a -1 penalty to accuracy
3	You have a -5 foot penalty to your speed
4	You take a -2 penalty to your fatigue tolerance
5	You take a -1 penalty to all defenses
6	You take a -2 penalty to your Brawn defense
7	You take a -2 penalty to your Fortitude defense
8	You take a -2 penalty to your Reflex defense
9	You take a -2 penalty to your Mental defense
10 or more	No extra vital wound effect

Removing Vital Wounds

Vital wounds take time to heal. Whenever you finish a long rest, you remove one of your vital wounds. If you have multiple vital wounds, you may choose the order in which your vital wounds are removed.

Combat Time

This section explains how time passes in combat.

Rounds

Combat takes place in a series of rounds, which represent about six seconds of time. Each round of a combat is divided into two phases: the movement phase and the action phase (see Phases, page 30). After both phases are complete, the round ends and the next round begins.

Phases

There are two phases in each round: a movement phase and an action phase. Each phase specifies the types of actions that can be taken during that phase. As a special case, free actions may be taken during any phase.

Phases do not represent a specific amount of time. In the narrative universe of Rise, movements and actions are intertwined and can happen simultaneously, just as in real life. Phases are simply a useful abstraction to keep combat organized.

The Movement Phase

During the movement phase, you can use one move action. The most common movement is the hustle ability, which allows you to move a distance equal to your speed. For details, see Movement and Positioning, page 32.

The Action Phase

During the action phase, you can use one minor action and one standard action. Alternatively, you can use a move action or an additional minor action in place of your standard action. Most of the time, you will simply use a single standard action.

Actions

You can take actions in combat to defeat your foes. There are four types of actions: standard actions, move actions, minor actions, and free actions.

Standard Actions

Most significant activities require a standard action. This includes attacking with a weapon, casting a spell, and using many special abilities. Using a standard action generally takes about three seconds of time within the game, and it requires most of your attention during that time.

You can take one standard action during the action phase of each round.

Move Actions

Almost all move actions change your location on the battlefield. For details, see Movement and Positioning, page 32.

Minor Actions

Some special abilities that take a small amount of time or attention require a minor action. You can take a minor action in the middle of other actions. You cannot use a minor action during the movement phase.

You can take one minor action during the action phase of each round. In addition, you can choose to replace your standard action during the action phase with an additional minor action. However, you cannot use the same minor action twice in a single round unless an ability specifies otherwise.

Free Actions

Some activities that take very little time or attention require a free action. You can take a free action during any phase, and between other actions on your turn.

You can take any number of free actions per round, within reason. Some free action abilities specify a limit on how often they can be used. For example, manipulating objects is a free action, but you can only manipulate an object as a free action once per round (see Manipulating Objects, page 154).

Resolving Actions

Actions in combat are partially sequential, and partially simultaneous. You and your allies who can see or otherwise communicate with each other generally act as a single allied group. One at a time, each person in the allied group declares their actions, rolls all relevant dice, and applies the results appropriately. You can freely choose the order in which people act within the allied group, as long as everyone agrees with the order chosen. If one of your allies acts before you, you can learn the result of their action before deciding your own action. For example, if they knock an enemy prone (half speed, -2 Armor and Ref), that enemy would suffer the appropriate defense penalties against your attacks.

Although your actions resolve sequentially within your allied group, they resolve simultaneously with the actions of anyone outside your allied group. Essentially, you locally resolve the effects of your actions within your allied group, but those actions do not globally resolve until later. This means that you cannot interrupt enemy actions, even by killing them. You generally won't know what actions your enemies will take until after you have already resolved your actions. Just like you can't interrupt their actions, they also can't interrupt your actions.

Once all allied groups have locally resolved their actions, the results of all those actions are announced. Then, each allied group updates their own status to reflect the actions that all of the other allied groups took during the same phase. When resolving these effects, assume that actions outside of your allied group resolve before actions inside of your allied group, as long as they don't alter the effects of your own actions. For example, you cannot avoid an enemy attack simply by moving away from them. However, an enemy's attack does not interrupt your movement - even if it knocks you unconscious. You simply fall unconscious at your new location after the movement.

Once all of the actions have been globally resolved, the phase ends. In a typical combat, this just means that the GM will tell you what the monsters did to you after you tell the GM what you did to them.

With this system, it's possible for two combatants to kill each other during the same phase, leaving both dead! This might seem strange if you're used to other games that always resolve one action at a time. However, this situation is not uncommon in fantasy fiction, and it's certainly possible in real life.

Delayed and Repeated Effects

Some abilities cause additional attacks or effects "during your next action" or "during each of your subsequent actions". Your action happens when you take your turn during the action phase. You can choose when those effects happen during that turn. Typically, you would resolve them first so you know their results, but you can do that after your other actions if you want. You can't split those automatic effects from your other actions in the turn order, just like you can't take your minor action separately from your standard action.

Swift Abilities

Abilities with the Swift tag resolve differently from most actions. Swift abilities resolve before all non-Swift abilities, so they can change the results of your enemy's actions. However, Swift abilities are always simple, and cannot interrupt actions or make attack rolls. You declare Swift abilities during your normal turn within your allied group, and you don't have to go first within your group or do anything special to use them.

For example, the total defense ability gives you a bonus to your defenses during the current phase. That ability has to resolve before your enemies attack you during that phase, or else it would be pointless. Some abilities have only part of their effect resolve early. For example, the reckless attack ability immediately reduces your defenses, which affects attacks against you during the current phase, and makes a strike with the normal timing.

Action Resolution Summary

This is a comprehensive list of all possible action timings in case it is particularly important. In practice, you should almost never need to care about this detail, and doing things slightly out of order generally doesn't matter.

1. Round begins - “start of round” resolve globally
2. Movement phase begins - “start of phase” effects resolve globally
3. Movements resolve globally, using initiative checks when strictly necessary
4. Movement phase ends - “end of phase” effects resolve globally
5. Action phase begins - “start of phase” effects resolve globally
6. Swift abilities resolve globally
7. Actions of your allied group resolve locally
8. Actions of other allied groups resolve locally
9. Actions of each allied group are announced, and resolve globally
10. Action phase ends - “end of phase” effects resolve globally
11. Round ends - “end of round” effects resolve globally

Deciding Action Order

Try not to spend too much time on the exact order of everyone's actions within your allied group. Most of the time, the exact order doesn't matter. It's generally fine to just start rolling dice if you already know what you're going to do, and just act in the order that people decide their actions. The GM can help resolve situations where this is ambiguous.

Multi-Group Battles

Sometimes, there might be more than two groups in a battle. This works in basically the same way as a two-sided battle. Each allied group resolves sequentially with itself, but simultaneously with all enemy groups. It's possible for two different groups to attack and kill the same creature, which wastes some of their actions. That's a natural consequence of not coordinating effectively.

Group Size Limits

There is a limit to how many creatures can coordinate in combat. In general, no more than twenty creatures can constitute an allied group that resolves sequentially with itself. Larger groups than that are still allies, but they must resolve actions within their group without perfect knowledge of or coordination with other allied groups.

Simultaneous Damage and Healing

If you regain hit points and take damage simultaneously, apply all damaging effects before applying any healing effects. This means you gain and apply the effects of any vital wounds before you are healed. Most healing abilities are Swift, so this situation should be uncommon.

Conflicting Actions

Sometimes, actions that occur in the same phase can be mutually impossible. Almost all conflicting actions are the result of competing movements. When actions conflict, each creature involved rolls an initiative check. Your initiative modifier is equal to your Dexterity.

Starting from the highest check result and continuing to the lowest, each creature immediately resolves its chosen action. Creatures that resolve their action afterward accomplish as much of their intended action as possible before being blocked or otherwise prevented. For example, if three different creatures attempt to move into the same space, only the creature with the highest initiative check would actually enter that space. The other two creatures would take their intended path, but they would interrupt their movement when they cannot proceed farther, generally because they run into the space occupied by the first creature.

In general, directly conflicting actions are rare. Most movements do not conflict - even reactive movements, such as when one creature attempts to follow a withdrawing creature. In that case, no initiative check is necessary. Both creatures simply move as far as they can, and the creatures' relative speeds determine who is more successful.

This does make it possible for creatures to be “stranded” out of melee range of any attackers. Player characters are normally allowed to break this symmetry by reactively using the sprint ability, while monsters cannot sprint. This can help prevent melee characters from feeling stuck or useless. In addition, the charge universal ability can be helpful in such cases.

Only One Movement Per Phase

Any effects that would change the same creature's location in the same phase are conflicting, and only one is applied. For example, you can't move your full speed onto a mount, and then have that mount move with you in the same phase. You also can't move and then have an ally pick you up or shove you to move you farther. Only the first effect that would change your location is applied, and all other effects are ignored.

Movement and Positioning

This section describes how creatures move and position themselves in combat.

Move Actions

During each movement phase, you can use one move action. You can also move during the action phase with the sprint ability (see Sprint, page 39), or by taking a move action in place of your standard action. Most move actions change your location on the battlefield.

Movement Speed

If an ability references your “speed” without additional details, it is referring to your movement speed. Your total movement speed is normally equal to your base speed, which is derived from your size (see Size in Combat, page ??). Some abilities can modify your movement speed. At the start of each phase, your available movement speed becomes equal to your total movement speed. Any movement you make during that phase subtracts from your available movement speed until it reaches 0.

Almost all creatures have a walking movement mode, which represents their ability to move across mostly flat terrain. For details about other forms of movement, such as flying and swimming, see Movement Modes, page 34.

You can take free actions and minor actions in the middle of movement. For example, you can walk up to a door, open it, and continue through the door (see Manipulating Objects, page 154).

Movement Abilities

Almost all creatures can use these abilities to move around a battlefield. The most common movement ability is hustle, which simply moves you to a location. You could think of characters as using the hustle ability whenever they move while not actively engaged in combat, but it's not generally useful to think about narrative movements in terms of combat abilities.

Other movement abilities are reactive, allowing you to move automatically in response to the movement of other creatures. For example, you can try to follow a creature wherever it goes that round. In all cases, if you run out of movement speed before accomplishing your intended task, you simply stop where you ran out of movement.

The block, follow, and withdraw reactive abilities are specifically described below. However, you can come up with other reactive movements. The main requirement is that a reactive movement must have a simple criterion for determining how you move based on easily observable events. Secondarily, reactive movements should be simple to resolve. If you find yourself rolling a lot of initiative checks to get through the movement phase, you're probably trying to make overly complicated movements.

Block	Move action
Tags: Swift

When you use this ability, choose a creature you can see. During the current phase, whenever that creature attempts to move from a space adjacent to you into another space adjacent to you, you can attempt to block its movement. This includes a creature whose path takes it through two consecutive spaces adjacent to you, even if neither the creature's location at the start of the phase nor its intended location at the end of the phase are adjacent to you. When you do, make an opposed initiative check against the target. If you beat it on the initiative check, it must spend additional movement equal to one of your relevant movement speeds to move from its space. If it cannot, it stops moving. This represents you automatically repositioning yourself to block its movement.

If a creature has the ability to move through your space, it is unaffected by this additional movement cost. If multiple creatures are able to block the same creature from moving, it must pay all additional movement costs, which generally keeps it stuck in place.

Climb Forward	Move action

This ability requires touching a solid vertical surface with two free hands, or with one free hand if you take a -5 penalty to your Climb check. Make a Climb check to move along the surface. The difficulty value is based on the surface (see Climb, page 129). Success means that you move along the surface to a location, up to a maximum distance equal to the vertical size of your space (see Size Categories, page 15). Critical success means the maximum distance you can move is doubled.

Follow	Move action

Choose a creature you can see, and the maximum distance you want to follow it at. During the current phase, you automatically move such that your distance to the target is no greater than your desired follow distance, up to the limit of your relevant movement speed.

If the target uses an ability that makes it impossible for you to follow its movement, such as teleporting or disappearing from your sight, it is harder for you to follow its movement. If you can see its destination, such as if it teleported to a different location within your line of sight, you must beat the target on an opposed initiative check. Success means that you can follow its movement normally. If you fail at the initiative check, or if you cannot tell where the target went, you complete your movement as if the creature was still at the location where it disappeared.

Hustle	Move action
Choose a path that you want to travel. You travel that path, up to the limit of your relevant movement speed.
Swim Forward	Move action
This ability requires being immersed in a liquid like water and using two free hands , or with one free hand if you take a -5 penalty to your Swim check. Make a Swim check to move through the liquid. The difficulty value is based on the turbulence of the liquid (see Swim , page 146). Success means that you move through the liquid, up to a maximum distance equal to a quarter of the base speed for your size (see Size Categories , page 15). Critical success means the maximum distance you can move increases to half of your base speed.
Withdraw	Move action
This ability functions like the follow ability, except that you specify a minimum distance between you and the target instead of a maximum distance. In addition, you can specify multiple targets and try to keep away from all of them.

Movement Modes

A movement mode is a method of moving from one location to another. The most common movement mode is walking, which allows creatures to move across the ground. In addition, some abilities grant creatures the ability to move in unusual ways. These forms of movement are described here. Each of your movement modes has an associated speed category (see Movement Speed, page 32).

Burrowing: A creature with a burrow speed can move through solid dirt and loose earth in any direction, even vertically. Unless otherwise noted, a burrow speed does not allow a creature to travel through rock or harder substances. It does not leave behind a usable tunnel for other creatures.

While burrowing, the earth and dirt around you usually blocks line of sight and line of effect, preventing you from using ranged attacks of any kind. You can partially emerge from a surface while burrowing. While partially emerged, you have cover against all attacks but can otherwise fight normally.

Climbing: A creature with a climb speed can move along vertical surfaces. It must still make a Climb check to move in challenging conditions, such as slippery walls (see Climb, page 129). A creature that is climbing without a climb speed takes a -2 penalty to its accuracy and Armor and Reflex defenses.

Flying: A creature with a fly speed can fly through the air both horizontally and vertically. Flying is more complicated than some other movement modes. For details, see Aerial Movement, page 36.

Gliding: A creature with a glide speed can glide through the air in a strictly descending path. Gliding is more complicated than some other movement modes. For details, see Aerial Movement, page 36.

Swimming: A creature with a swim speed can move through liquids like water. It must still make a Swim check to move in challenging conditions, such as stormy seas (see Swim, page 146). A creature that is in water without a swim speed takes a -2 penalty to its accuracy and Armor and Reflex defenses. For details, see Fighting In Water, page 42.

Walking: A creature with a walk speed can move across mostly flat surfaces, like the ground.

Speed Categories

A creature may move particularly slowly with one movement mode and more quickly with a different movement mode. There are three speed categories: fast, average, and slow. If an ability gives you an alternate movement mode and doesn't specify a speed category, you move at average speed with that movement mode.

- Fast: Moving 10 feet with this movement mode costs 5 feet from the creature's speed. The first square costs 5 feet of speed, and then it gets the second square for free. When moving on diagonals, the first two diagonals each cost 5 feet of speed and the third one is free.
- Average: Moving 5 feet with this movement mode costs 5 feet from the creature's speed. When moving on diagonals, the first diagonal costs 5 feet of movement and the second costs 10.
- Slow: Moving 5 feet with this movement mode costs 10 feet from the creature's speed. When moving on diagonals, each diagonal costs 15 feet of movement.

Combining Movement Modes

You can move using multiple different movement modes in the same phase in any order. Each distance moved subtracts from your available speed during that phase, using the appropriate modifiers for fast or slow movement modes.

For example, assume you have a 40 foot base speed, an average walk speed, and a slow swim speed. If you swim 10 feet, that would cost 20 feet of movement. You could then use your remaining speed to walk 20 feet, for a total of 30 feet travelled.

Jumping

Creatures with legs can jump as part of movement. When you jump, choose a destination square where your jump ends. You must be touching a solid surface to jump.

A jump's maximum horizontal distance is normally equal to a quarter of your base speed plus 5 feet per 2 Strength. Modifiers to your current speed, such as the sprint ability, do not affect your jumping distance. If you are trained with the Jump skill, the distance you add from your Strength is instead equal to 5 feet per Strength, to a minimum of +5 feet. A jump's maximum vertical height is equal to half your maximum horizontal distance. Note that if you jump 20 feet into the air or more, you may take falling damage when you land (see Falling Damage, page 16).

If your destination square is in midair, you do not start falling until the next phase. This allows you to jump during the movement phase and act in midair during the action phase. Unlike normal for being midair, you do not suffer penalties to your Armor and Reflex defense for being partway through a jump that you initiated. Narratively, this represents you timing your jump so you can take a useful action while jumping. You don't just hover in midair.

Jumping Speed Limits

The maximum distance that you can travel by jumping is equal to your remaining speed during the current phase. This distance is measured only for the farthest extent that you travel from your starting location, not for a round trip or for the entire distance travelled along the arc of your jump. This limits both your maximum horizontal distance and your maximum vertical height. For example, if your speed is thirty feet and you start by walking ten feet, you can jump no more than twenty feet forward, or fifteen feet forward and five feet vertically, and so on. If your jump distance is extremely high and your speed is low, you may need to use the sprint ability to make use of your full jumping potential (see Sprint, page 39).

Measuring Movement

For simplicity, all movement in combat is measured in five-foot increments. While it is possible to be more precise than that, it's generally not worth the complexity.

Squares: Area is commonly measured in 5-ft. by 5-ft. spaces called squares. A single square represents the area occupied by a single humanoid creature in combat. Sometimes, movement and distance are represented by the number of squares travelled. A 30-ft. movement is the same thing as moving six squares.

Diagonals: When measuring distance, the first diagonal counts as five feet of movement, and the second counts as ten feet of movement. The third costs five feet, the fourth costs ten feet, and so on. You can move diagonally past corners and enemies.

Movement Impediments

Difficult Terrain: Some terrain is hard to move through, like thick bushes or a swamp. If a square is difficult terrain, it increases the movement cost required to move out of the square by 5 feet.

If a square is considered difficult terrain for multiple reasons, the cost increases stack. For example, a square in a swamp that also has thick bushes blocking your passage would cost 10 extra feet of movement to leave.

Exceptionally large creatures can ignore ordinary difficult terrain. In general, a Huge or larger creature does not treat heavy undergrowth or shallow water as difficult terrain. However, at the GM's discretion, they may still treat small trees or deeper water as difficult terrain.

Obstacles: An obstacle is anything that gets in your way. Enemies and large solid objects like walls completely block your movement, preventing you from entering the space they occupy. Some abilities can allow you to move through spaces occupied by enemies, which means you do not treat them as obstacles.

Undergrowth: Vines, roots, bushes, and similar plants can obstruct sight and impede movement. There are two kinds of undergrowth: light undergrowth and heavy undergrowth.

Light Undergrowth: Light undergrowth provides concealment.

Heavy Undergrowth: Heavy undergrowth provides concealment and is difficult terrain, which increases the movement cost required to move out of each square by 5 feet.

Squeezing

In some cases, you may have to squeeze into or through an area that isn't as wide as the space you take up. You can squeeze through or into a space that is at least half as wide as your normal space. While squeezing (-2 Armor and Ref), you take a -2 penalty to your Armor and Reflex defenses. You can squeeze into tighter spaces with the Flexibility skill (see Flexibility, page 137).

Squeezing is only checked at the start of each phase. If you temporarily enter a creature's space during a phase and leave it during that same phase, neither you nor that creature are ever squeezing.

Creatures that take up multiple squares take up half their normal number of squares while squeezing. For example, a Large creature who normally takes up four spaces takes up two spaces while squeezing.

Squeezing in Shared Space

Sometimes, one creature can end its movement inside the space occupied by another creature. If the creatures are within one size category of each other, this means that both of them are squeezing. Likewise, if you end your movement inside the space of a physical obstacle, you are squeezing with it.

Forced Movement

Some abilities can physically move you against your will. Effects that limit movement speed, such as difficult terrain, similarly limit the distance you can be moved by forced movement effects. There are two kinds of forced movement: push effects and fling effects. Unless otherwise noted, all forced movement effects move the target in a single straight horizontal line.

Push Effects

A creature affected by a push effect is being pushed by a constant force. It normally travels in a single straight line, unless the pushing effect says otherwise. If it encounters an obstacle, the push ends without causing harm to the creature or the obstacle. Similarly, if a creature being pushed stops being supported and would fall, it falls instead of being pushed further.

When a creature would fall while being pushed, it automatically makes a reactive check with the Climb skill to avoid falling. The Climb check is made against the closest available stable object, such as the edge of a cliff. Success means that the creature does not fall, but is now hanging on the edge, making it unsteady (-2 accuracy, Armor, Brawn, Ref) if it does not have a climb speed. This can allow creatures pushed off the edge of a cliff to grab the edge of the cliff.

Fling Effects

A creature affected by a fling effect is thrown backwards by a single point of impact. It always travels in a single straight line. If it encounters an obstacle, the fling ends. Both the creature and the obstacle take 1d8 damage per 10 feet of movement remaining.

Unless otherwise noted, a fling effect can move a creature in any direction, even vertically. A creature moving as a result of a fling effect does not have to be supported during the movement by solid ground. This can allow you to fling creatures off of cliffs without allowing them to save themselves. If you fling a creature vertically, it is typically unsteady (-2 accuracy, Armor, Brawn, Ref) until it lands at the end of the round.

Aerial Movement

Creatures with a fly speed or glide speed can move in midair to some degree. To use a fly or glide speed, a creature must not exceed its maximum carrying capacity (see Weight Limits, page 15).

While midair, land-based creatures cannot move to defend themselves effectively. Any land-based creature takes a -4 penalty to its Armor and Reflex defenses while it is midair, even if it has a fly speed or glide speed. This penalty does not apply to creatures who are native to the air, such as birds and monsters with a fly or glide speed but no walk speed.

A flying or gliding creature must make a movement using its fly or glide speed during both the movement phase and the action phase. If it does not move during a phase, it falls by 300 feet at the end of that phase (see Falling Damage, page 16). Floating creatures do not fall in this way.

All mundane flight abilities require air to push against, so they do not function in places without an atmosphere. Magical flight abilities function without air.

Gliding

A creature with a glide speed can use a move action to fall slowly while controlling its direction. When it glides, it moves up to its glide speed in any horizontal direction. It also must descend 10 feet. This descent does not count against its distance moved during the movement.

In order to glide, a creature must be able to fall. Since floating creatures cannot fall, they also cannot glide. Gliding is impossible in areas without significant gravity, such as in space.

Flight

A creature with a fly speed can use a movement to move up to its fly speed in any direction, even vertically. It can also remain in place, though it must still make a movement each phase to avoid falling.

Height Limit: Most abilities that grant a fly speed also have a height limit for the maximum height you can easily reach with that fly speed. This height measures your maximum distance above a supporting object. The object must be at least two size categories larger than you, and it must be free-standing and capable of supporting your weight. It can be up to 5 feet away from you horizontally, which allows you to fly up cliffs and similar structures. You can fly above surfaces like water as long as they are thick enough to support your weight.

You can use the soaring flight ability to fly above your maximum height with a fly speed.

Soaring Flight

Standard action

Tags: Sustain (standard)

While this ability is active, your maximum height with your fly speed is quadrupled. When this ability ends, if you are above your maximum height, you fall.

Some creatures that are native to the air or unusually powerful can sustain this ability indefinitely, such albatrosses.

Strikes

A strike is the most common type of attack. There are three kinds of strikes: melee, projectile, and thrown. Many abilities allow you to make one or more strikes. Whenever you make a strike, you can choose which kind of strike to make.

Your accuracy with a strike adds the accuracy modifier from the weapon you are attacking with. Your damage with a strike is normally equal to your weapon damage with the weapon you hit with, plus half your relevant power. If a magical ✨ ability causes you to make a strike, you use your magical power. Otherwise, you use your mundane power.

There are many special rules that can modify how you make strikes. For example, dual strikes allow you to attack with two weapons instead of one. The rules for strikes listed here simply define the normal behavior.

Basic Strike – Melee

Standard action

Make a melee attack vs. Armor using a weapon against something adjacent to you. You must have line of effect to the target.

Hit: You deal the target damage equal to your weapon damage plus half your mundane power.

Basic Strike – Projectile

Standard action

Make a ranged attack vs. Armor using a Projectile weapon against something that you have line of effect to. If the target is adjacent to you, you take a -4 accuracy penalty. If the target is at long range from you, your accuracy takes a -4 longshot penalty (see Weapon Range Limits, page 156).

Hit: You deal the target damage equal to your weapon damage plus half your mundane power.

Basic Strike – Thrown	Standard action
Make a ranged attack vs. Armor using a non-Projectile weapon against something that you have line of effect to. If the weapon has the Thrown weapon tag, use its defined range limits. Otherwise, your range limits are 10/20, and you take a -2 accuracy penalty since you are not proficient with that usage of the weapon (see Weapon Proficiency, page 156). If the target is at long range from you, your accuracy takes a -4 longshot penalty (see Weapon Range Limits, page 156). Hit: You deal the target damage equal to your weapon damage plus half your mundane power.

Dual Strikes

If you are wielding two weapons, you can attack with both at the same time whenever you make a strike. This is called a dual strike. You need a Dexterity of at least 2 to make a dual strike. In addition, you cannot use a shield to make dual strikes, even if you are proficient with using it as a weapon.

When you make a dual strike, you take a -3 accuracy penalty. In exchange, you treat both of your weapons as a single combined weapon. You sum the accuracy modifier and weapon damage from both weapons. You still only add the damage bonus from your power once to the combined weapon, not once for each weapon. If your power modifier to damage is different between the two weapons, use the higher power modifier.

All weapon tags, magical properties, special material bonuses from both weapons apply to the combined weapon if possible. Numeric modifiers from both weapons stack, even if you have the same magical property or weapon tag on both weapons. For example, using two magical Flaming weapons would provide 2d4 extra damage, and using two Keen weapons would give you a +4 accuracy bonus for the purpose of getting a critical hit. However, enhancement bonuses still do not stack.

Some weapon tags have special rules for how they work in a dual strike.

- Ammunition: Only the Ammunition weapon breaks after making the dual strike.
- Compact: Only functions if both weapons are Compact.
- Heavy: You take a -1 accuracy penalty for each Heavy weapon.
- Impact: If you use two Impact weapons, you get a glancing blow when you would miss by 8 or less.
- Light: You gain a +3 accuracy bonus if both weapons are Light, or a +2 accuracy bonus if only one weapon is Light.
- Long: Only functions if both weapons are Long.
- Parrying: The bonus stacks, even though it does not stack with the benefits of using a shield.
- Projectile: You can only make dual strikes with Projectile weapons if both weapons have the Projectile tag. Use the lower range limits of the two weapons.
- Subdual: Only functions if both weapons are Subdual.
- Thrown: Only functions if both weapons are Thrown. Use the lower range limits of the two weapons.

Putting this all together, here are some examples:

- Broadsword and smallsword: +1 accuracy, 1d6+1d4 damage, Versatile Grip (irrelevant unless you have three hands)
- Two kukris: +2 accuracy, 2d4 damage, Sweeping (2)
- Two kama: +0 accuracy, 2d4 damage, Keen+ (+4 accuracy with critical hits)
- Two totokias: -5 accuracy, 2d10 damage, Impact+ (glance if miss by 8 or less)
- Throwing axe and handaxe: -1 accuracy, 1d6+1d4 damage, Thrown (30/60)
- Warhammer and light hammer: -2 accuracy, 1d8+1d4 damage, Impact+ (glance if miss by 8 or less), Versatile Grip (irrelevant unless you have three hands)
- Two claws: +2 accuracy, 2d4 damage

Split Strikes

Whenever you make a dual strike, you can designate it as a split strike. A split strike deals half damage with the strike, but you can choose an additional target of the strike. This does not reduce damage that is not directly part of the strike, such as the triggered damage from the quivering palm maneuver. Unlike the Sweeping weapon tag, this works with both melee and ranged attacks. Narratively, this represents you hitting one creature with one weapon and a different creature with your other weapon.

Universal Combat Abilities

This section lists combat abilities that all characters can use.

Desperate Exertion Cost: Two fatigue levels. You reroll any attack roll or check you just rolled, keeping the better result. Escape Grapple

Standard action

Tags: Brawling

Make a brawling attack against any number of creatures that you are grappled by. You can use the Flexibility skill in place of your brawling accuracy (see Flexibility, page 137).

The defense of each creature is equal to the attack result of its maintain grapple ability this round, or 0 if it did not use that ability. For each target, if you hit that target with this attack, it stops being grappled by you and you stop being grappled by it.

Grapple

Standard action

Tags: Brawling, Size-Based

Make a brawling attack with a free hand against the Brawn and Reflex defenses of one creature you touch.

Hit: You and the target are grappled by each other. For details, see Grappling, page 39.

Critical hit: You also control the grapple (see Controlling a Grapple, page 40).

Maintain Grapple

Free action

Tags: Brawling, Swift

You can use this ability once per round while you are grappling another creature.

Make a brawling attack against each creature that you are grappling (see Grappling, page 39). This attack has no immediate effect. The result of this roll determines how difficult it is for a creature to escape the grapple during the current round using the escape grapple ability. If you do not use this ability while you are in a grapple, creatures can easily escape the grapple with the escape grapple ability.

Ready Reaction

Standard action

Tags: Swift

When you use this ability, you declare another standard action that you intend to take during this phase as soon as it becomes possible. For example, you could declare your intent to make a melee strike against a creature that is not close to you, or cast a targeted spell on an enemy that you can't see behind a wall.

While your enemies are resolving their actions, if your intended action ever becomes possible, it happens. Otherwise, you do nothing. Any attacks you make in this way are reactive attacks, so you can't use the desperate exertion ability or similar effects. Your reaction resolves after the enemy has fully completed their action, even if the completion of that action would make your ability impossible again. This means that you can't use this ability to kill an enemy before their attack hits you, and an enemy can't invalidate your reaction by briefly moving in range and then moving back out again.

You cannot react to the readied reaction of another creature. If your reaction becomes possible only as a result of the readied reaction of another creature, you do nothing.

Recover

Standard action

Tags: Swift

Cost: Two fatigue levels, and you cannot use this ability again until you finish a short rest.

You regain half of your maximum hit points. Then, you remove all conditions affecting you. Because this ability has the Swift tag, the removed conditions do not affect you during the current phase.

Shove	Standard action	Throw	Standard action
Tags: Brawling	Tags: Brawling
If you are grappling or being grappled by a creature, you can use this ability as a move action , and it affects all creatures grappling with you (see Grappling, page 39). Otherwise, the target is something you touch . You must be strong enough to push each target (see Weight Categories, page 15).			You throw an object or creature you hold in at least one hand. The object's weight category must be below the maximum weight category you can lift normally (see Weight Categories, page 15). In order to throw an unwilling creature, it must already be grappled by you, and you must hit it with a brawling attack against its Brawn defense.
Make a brawling attack vs. Brawn against each target. If a target is not able to use any of its movement speeds, such as if it is being carried by a flying creature, its defense is treated as 0.			Weapons with the Thrown weapon tag can be thrown up to their range limits. Your normal throwing distance for an arbitrary object is equal to 10 feet plus 5 feet per 2 Strength. Some objects are much easier or harder to throw than others, at the GM's discretion. If an object is particularly easy to throw, such as a small dense sphere, you can throw it up to ten times your normal throwing distance. Likewise, a feather or extremely fragile object may be difficult to throw more than a few feet.
Hit: You can move up to half your movement speed. During this movement, you can push each target 5 feet for each 5 feet that you move. If you push a target so it stops being adjacent to you, you stop being able to push it further. When pushing a target off of a ledge, if you move with the target over the edge to fall with them, it cannot make the normal reactive Climb check to grab the ledge (see Push Effects, page 35).			If you throw the target at a creature or object, you can make an attack roll to hit with it, as the basic strike – thrown ability (see Strikes, page 36). That attack roll is rolled separately from the attack roll to throw an unwilling creature, if any.
Critical hit: If you are strong enough to carry the target, you can move up to your full movement speed.
Sprint	Standard action	Total Defense	Standard action
Cost: You can increase your fatigue level by one to use this ability as a move action .			Tags: Swift
You can immediately take a move action other than this ability. For the duration of that movement, you double your speed.			You are braced (+2 defenses) this round. Because this ability has the Swift tag, this protects you from attacks during the current phase.
You can use this ability in the middle of a phase after noticing that your movement is insufficient to keep up with an enemy's reactive movement (see Movement Abilities, page 33). Normally, you cannot carry or move another creature in any way while using this ability. If you use this ability, you must leave those creatures behind without moving them unless they spend a standard action to cling to you.

Grappling

A grappling creature is physically struggling with at least one other creature. While grappling, you suffer certain penalties and restrictions, as described below. Other than these restrictions, you can act normally.

- One of your hands cannot be used for any purposes other than using Brawling abilities, including maintaining the grapple. This prevents humanoid creatures from taking any actions that would require having two free hands, such as attacking with Heavy weapons. Monsters without hands must generally use an appropriate appendage, if possible.
- You take a -2 penalty to Armor and Reflex defenses. This penalty is removed if you control the grapple (see below).
- You cannot move unless you push all creatures grappling you, such as with the shove ability (see Shove, page 39). In addition, you cannot push a creature grappling with you so it stops being adjacent to you. However, you can use the shove ability to affect creatures you are grappling with as a move action instead of as a standard action.

- You can use the escape grapple and Maintain Grapple abilities to stop or continue grappling (see Universal Combat Abilities, page 37).

Controlling a Grapple

Normally, when you use the grapple ability, neither creature controls the grapple. If you get a critical hit against every grapple participant, you control the grapple.

If you control a grapple, you gain two benefits. First, you do not take the normal -2 penalty to Armor and Reflex defenses for being in a grapple. Second, you can escape the grapple as a free action, without having to use the normal escape grapple ability.

To take control of an existing grapple, you can use the grapple ability. If you hit against the controlling creature, no creature has control of the grapple. On a critical hit against each participant, you gain control of the grapple.

Vision and Light

Some creatures have darkvision or other extraordinary senses, but most creatures need light to see by. In an area of bright illumination, all characters can see clearly.

Creatures can see only dimly into areas that have dim illumination. Everything in the area has concealment. This allows creatures in the area to make Stealth checks to hide even if they don't have cover (see Stealth, page 144).

In an area with brilliant illumination, creatures can see clearly just like an area with bright illumination. In addition, no shadows exist within an area of brilliant illumination. This makes many effects from the umbramancy mystic sphere difficult or impossible to use.

In areas of total darkness, creatures without darkvision or some other form of supernatural vision are blinded (50% miss chance, -2 defenses).

Emitting Light

Some items and abilities emit light. Any effect which creates bright or brilliant illumination in an area also creates enough light for dim illumination in twice that area.

For example, a simple torch emits bright illumination in a Small (15 ft.) radius. That means it also creates dim illumination between 15 feet and 30 feet from the torch in a dark room.

Attacking Unseen Foes

You can make targeted attacks against creatures and objects you cannot see. To do so, you choose a 5-foot square and make the attack against that square. You have a 50% miss chance with the attack. Otherwise, you hit a random valid target in that square with your attack, if one exists.

Concealment

Concealment represents anything which makes it more difficult to see your target, such as dim illumination. All targeted attacks against a creature or object with concealment from you have a 20% miss chance. Generally, this means that you roll 1d10, and the attack misses on a 1 or 2. Determining concealment works similarly to determining cover. You must use the same points of origin and target square when determining concealment that you would use to determine cover.

Determining Concealment: There are two things that can cause a creature to be concealed: poor lighting, and intervening obstacles that block sight. Determining concealment from obstacles that block sight works the same way as determining cover (see Cover, page 41).

Determining concealment from lighting conditions is simpler, since it ignores lighting conditions between you and the target. If your target square is in lighting that provides concealment, the target has concealment. Otherwise, it does not.

Obstacles and Cover

Obstacles can impede attacks by blocking line of sight or line of effect, or by providing cover. This section explains how to deal with these limitations.

Point of Origin

When you make an attack, you have to determine the point of origin. For targeted attacks, which are the most common, the point of origin is a grid intersection of your choice that is touching your space. For area attacks, the point of origin depends on the shape of the area and whether it has a defined range.

If an area attack has a defined range, the point of origin is a single grid intersection of your choice within that range. Cones, lines, and walls without a range use a grid intersection of your choice that is touching your space, just like targeted attacks. Cylinders and spheres without a range are unusual, since they radiate from your whole body instead of a single point. When determining their total size, treat every grid intersection touching your space as a point of origin. When determining cover and similar effects, only use the grid intersection that is closest to the target.

Cover

Cover represents any obstacle that physically prevents you from striking your target, such as a tree or intervening creature. A creature or object behind cover gains a +2 bonus to Armor, Brawn, and Reflex defenses. If an attack would miss or glance the defense of a creature or object behind cover, the attack is instead applied to the obstacle instead of to the intended target. In the case of area attacks, this cannot cause an individual creature or object to be targeted or attacked twice by the same ability. This can protect creatures behind cover from attacks that deal damage on a miss (see Glancing Blows, page 28). In addition, a creature behind cover can hide (see Stealth, page 144).

Cover is only relevant if the attacker has line of effect to its target (see Line of Effect, page 41). If you don't have line of effect, you generally can't attack the target at all, so the defense bonuses from cover don't matter.

Measuring Cover

To measure cover for a particular attack, draw a cone from the attack's point of origin to the two closest corners of the target's space. For creatures that occupy multiple 5 ft. squares, these must be corners where the target's space ends, not just grid intersections touching squares the target occupies. The defender can choose between equally distant corners. If there are any obstacles in that cone, the target has cover.

Your allies do not provide cover for attacks you make, as long as you are able to see or hear each other to coordinate. In addition, obstacles only provide cover if the relevant part of the obstacle is no more than one size category smaller than the target. You should ignore any irrelevant parts of the obstacle that are outside of the cone. For example, although a tree might be Gargantuan or Colossal if you include all of its leaves and branches, most trees are only a Medium size obstacle at ground level, since only their trunk is relevant. The rules typically ignore the complexity of three-dimensional space, so you'll have to estimate what would provide reasonable cover in some cases.

Improved Cover

Cover of the same type generally doesn't stack; a creature behind two trees is not substantially more protected than a creature behind a single tree. However, exceptionally well covered creatures, such as a creature behind an arrow slit in a castle, may gain a +4 benefit to Armor and Reflex defenses rather than the normal +2 at the GM's discretion.

Line of Sight

Unless otherwise noted in an ability's description, you cannot target a creature, object, or location that you do not have line of sight to. Line of sight measures whether you can see things, not whether you can touch or reach them.

A line of sight is a straight, unblocked path between an attacker and a target. To measure line of sight for a particular attack, draw a line between any grid intersection touching your space and any grid intersection touching the target's space. If you're targeting a particular point, you would naturally draw the line to that point instead. If this line is not blocked by any obstacles that impede sight, you have line of sight to your target.

Line of Effect

Almost all abilities, including strikes, must have a line of effect to function. Line of effect measures whether physical passage is possible between two locations, regardless of any sight obstacles. For example, a pane of glass would block line of effect, but not line of sight.

Unless otherwise noted in an ability's description, you cannot target a creature, object, or location that you do not have line of effect to. In addition, abilities that affect an area do not affect targets that the ability does not have line of effect to.

A line of effect is a straight, unblocked path between an attacker and a target. To measure line of effect for a particular attack, draw a line between the attack's point of origin and any grid intersection touching the target's space. If you're targeting a particular point, you would naturally draw the line to that point instead. If this line is not blocked by any obstacles that make physical passage impossible, you have line of effect to your target.

Destroying Barriers

Some abilities deal damage to both creatures and objects. If a physical barrier is broken by an ability, that barrier does not affect the ability's line of effect. For example, a thin curtain of silk normally blocks line of effect. However, an ability that destroyed the curtain would have its full effect on everything behind the curtain.

Inside Creatures

Creatures block line of effect to the inside of their own bodies. As a result, you cannot use an ability that takes effect inside a creature unless you are also inside the creature. This restriction applies even if there is no physical barrier to the inside of the creature. For example, you cannot place the point of origin for an area inside a creature's mouth, even if the creature has its mouth open at the time.

Awareness and Surprise

In combat, creatures are sometimes not fully aware of danger, which makes them less able to defend against it. A creature can be described as either aware, unaware (-5 defenses), or partially unaware (-2 defenses) of an attack against it. Normally, creatures are aware of all attacks against them in combat. This causes no special bonuses or penalties.

Sometimes, creatures are fully unaware (-5 defenses) that they are in danger from attack. This typically happens as a result of stealth, but it can also happen as a result of sudden treachery. A creature takes a -6 penalty to Armor and Reflex defenses against attacks that it is unaware of. After being attacked, an unaware creature typically stops being fully unaware of future attacks.

A creature that knows that it is in danger and is attempting to defend itself, but does not know the exact location or nature of its attackers, is partially unaware (-2 defenses). For example, a creature that is already in combat who is attacked by a previously unseen foe is partially unaware of the attack. Similarly, a creature that just barely fails to beat an opponent's Stealth check may hear an ominous sound that makes it partially aware of danger without knowing the exact location of any attackers. A creature can maintain high alert to avoid being fully unaware for up to five minutes before it must lower its guard until it finishes a short rest. Like other exertions, this time can be extended with the Endurance skill (see Endurance, page 468).

Surprise Attacks

Sometimes, creatures are not aware that combat is taking place when the combat starts. This most commonly happens with ambushes. Any creature that is not aware of the combat continues taking whatever actions it would normally be taking until it becomes aware of the combat. It is usually unaware (-5 defenses) of all attacks until that point, though creatures expecting imminent attack may be partially unaware (-2 defenses).

If a surprise attack begins a combat, the creatures who initiate the attack can choose which phase to start in. Generally, they should start in action phase, though sometimes the movement phase is more advantageous for the attackers.

Special Combat Rules

Fighting In Water

Any creature that is immersed or submerged in water and does not have a swim speed is unsteady (-2 accuracy, Armor, Brawn, Ref). As long as the creature has a defined swim speed, it does not suffer this penalty, even if its movements are restricted or if it fails a Swim check to navigate the water. For example, a grappled fish would not suffer this penalty.

Distant fighting is limited while in water or otherwise submerged in a water-like liquid. In clear, still water, both line of sight and line of effect are limited to 120 feet. The density of the water blocks effects from spreading further than that. Murky or turbulent water can have drastically more limited visibility, at the GM's discretion.

Deep water is also darker. In clear water, depths below 120 feet have only dim illumination, and depths below 500 feet are completely dark. Murky water can get darker at much shallower depths.

Ranged weapons have great difficulty functioning in water. All ranged weapons have range limits of 5/15 when used by a creature that is submerged, or when used against a target that is submerged, regardless of the attack's normal range limits or any other modifiers.

Mounted Combat

Horses in Combat: Warhorses and warponies can serve readily as combat steeds. Light horses, ponies, and heavy horses, however, are frightened by combat. At the start of each round, you must make a difficulty value 10 Ride check to control such a horse. Success means you can act normally that round, directing the horse's movements as if it was trained for combat. Failure means that the horse acts of its own volition that round, usually fleeing in panic.

Space: A horse (not a pony) is a Large creature, and thus takes up a space 10 feet (2 squares) across. While mounted, you share your mount's space completely. Anyone who is close enough to hit your mount can attack either you or your mount.

In the case of abnormally large mounts (two or more size categories larger than you), you may not completely share space. Such situations should be handled on a case-by-case basis, depending on the nature of the mount.

Flying Mounts: Flying mounts are harder to ride and control than terrestrial mounts. The difficulty value for all Ride checks on a mount using a fly speed is increased by 10.

Combat while Mounted: You must make a difficulty value 5 Ride check one per round as a free action while riding a mount. Success means you can guide and stay on your mount without using your hands. Failure means you must use one free hand to control your mount, or you fall off if you cannot free a hand.

If Your Mount Falls in Battle: If your mount falls, you fall to the ground with it.

If You Are Dropped: If you are knocked unconscious, you fall from your mount to the ground, which may cause you to take falling damage. If you have a military saddle, you stay on your mount instead. In either case, the mount acts according to its nature. Most mounts flee combat without a rider.

Allies and Enemies

Each creature you interact with in Rise is either an ally, an enemy, or neither. Some beneficial abilities only affect allies, and some offensive abilities only affect enemies.

You can choose how you consider each creature at the start of each phase. You cannot consider yourself an ally or an enemy. While you are unconscious, you treat all creatures as allies.

Some abilities exclusively target allies or enemies, but it might seem appropriate for them to include objects as well in a particular situation. The GM can decide whether that makes sense. For example, a fighter can normally use the whirlwind maneuver to hit all adjacent enemies, and they might want to use that maneuver to destroy a number of objects surrounding them. A GM might decide that it's fine to use that maneuver to damage several large objects at once, but the fighter couldn't individually attack fifty specific gold pieces out of a large pile.

Allies: An ally is any creature you consider an ally who also considers you an ally. If you consider someone an ally, but they do not consider you an ally, they are not your ally. Allies can move through your space.

Enemies: An enemy is any creature who you consider to be an enemy. Enemies cannot move through your space.

Neutral Parties: A neutral party is any creature who is neither an ally nor an enemy. You treat all creatures you have not declared an opinion of as neutral parties. Neutral parties can move through your space.

Using Abilities

Magical and Mundane Abilities

Every ability is either magical ✨ or mundane. Magical abilities use Willpower to determine their power, while mundane abilities use Strength. If an ability has a ✨ next to its name, it is magical. Otherwise, it is mundane.

Some magical abilities can have effects that are mundane. If so, they will be described as mundane explicitly, and you use your mundane power instead of your magical power with the ability to determine its effects (see Ability Power, page 43). For example, the twisting claw spell causes you to make a mundane strike. That strike would use your mundane power, and it would be unable to affect intangible creatures. A monk with the ki energy ability would be able to convert that strike to be magical ✨ instead of mundane, just like they can convert any other mundane strike.

Ability Range

Many abilities only work within a particular distance from you. This maximum distance is called the ability's range. There are five common ranges: Short (30 ft.) range, Medium (60 ft.) range, Long (90 ft.) range, Distant (120 ft.) range, and Extreme (180 ft.) range. Any ability with a range requires both line of sight and line of effect unless otherwise noted.

Ability Power

Many abilities reference your "power" without further explanation. That always means "your power with this ability", which depends on whether the ability is magical ✨ or mundane. If you are using a magical ✨ ability, you use your magical power. Otherwise, you use your mundane power. For context about how your power is calculated, see Power, page 14.

Ability Choices

Most abilities require choices, such as which creatures or areas are affected. Some abilities also require choices unique to the ability, such as the weather pattern for control weather. You make all of these choices when you start using the ability, before resolving any part of its effects. For rituals, you make these choices when you start performing the ritual, not when you finish performing it.

Ability Usage Components

Some abilities require verbal components, somatic components, or both. To provide the verbal component for an ability, you must speak in a strong voice with a volume at least as loud as ordinary conversation. To provide the somatic component for an ability, you must make a precise series of movements with at least one free hand. These movements involve moving your arm in addition to your fingers, making them hard to conceal.

You cannot start using an ability without all required components. If you lose those components before the ability resolves, it fails with no effect.

Functioning Like Other Abilities

Many abilities say they "function like" some other ability, often with some noted changes. Except as otherwise noted, they retain all of the original effects and targets of the original ability. However, they do not have the same rank upgrades as the original ability, if any.

If you have any bonuses that specifically affect the original ability, those also affect abilities that function like it. For example, a Tactician fighter using the dogpile battle tactic gains a +2 accuracy bonus with the grapple ability. That accuracy bonus would also apply to the strangle maneuver, since that maneuver says it functions like grapple.

Touch Range

Some abilities affect creatures or objects that you touch. You can generally touch an adjacent creature as long as you have a free hand, even if it is an enemy, though this has no mechanical effect unless an ability says it does. Some creatures cannot be touched, such as incorporeal and intangible creatures.

Noticing Abilities

Using an ability normally requires some obvious effort or action on your character's part. You can decide how your character uses abilities to fit their style and the tone of the game you are in. For example, one character might dramatically shout the names of their attacks, while another character might make trace runes in the air to cast their spells. A single character could also have multiple styles for their different abilities. The only general requirement is that it must be obvious to a casual observer that you are doing something, unless the ability is specifically Subtle.

Similarly, abilities normally have visual and/or auditory effects when used. You can also decide the style of these effects, with the requirement that they must obviously be the result of your character using an ability.

Spells and rituals have additional requirements that make them easier to notice and harder to use (see Spell and Ritual Mechanics, page 249).

Ability Targeting

Primary and Secondary Targets

Some abilities that affect multiple targets distinguish between their primary and secondary targets. For example, the chain lightning spell affects secondary targets within a small radius around a primary target. If an ability does not mention secondary targets, all of its targets are primary targets.

Unless otherwise specified, abilities have the same effect on their primary and secondary targets. However, line of effect for secondary targets is always measured from the primary target, rather than from the ability's source. Line of sight is still measured from the ability's source. This can allow you to hit secondary targets behind walls if you can still see them or otherwise target them, and if there is no obstacle separating from the primary target.

Adding Extra Targets

Many abilities are written as if they only affect one creature, so they use “the target” and similar wording in their descriptions. Through the use of Sweeping weapons, chaining spells, and other effects, it's possible to make those abilities affect multiple targets. Unless the ability specifically differentiates between its primary and secondary targets, each target is affected in the same way as a single target would be. You can't add a creature as an additional target if they were already targeted by the ability.

Invalid Targets

You can always attempt to use a targeted ability on an invalid target. For example, you can try to cast a healing spell on a rock if you want, even if the healing spell only affects living creatures. If the target is still invalid when the ability resolves, the ability has no effect on that target. However, it still affects any other targets of the ability normally.

Targets In Unknown Locations

You can try to use a targeted ability even if you don't know exactly where your intended target is. To do so, describe your intended target, such as “the creature hiding somewhere in those bushes”, and choose a 5-foot square. If your chosen square contains your intended target, your ability has a 50% miss chance. At the GM's discretion, choosing the wrong square or missing due to the miss chance may have unintended consequences, such as affecting a different valid target.

Targeting Proxies

Some effects allow you to use a creature, object, or location as a targeting proxy when using abilities. Unless otherwise stated, you must have both line of sight and line of effect to a targeting proxy to use it. When you use an ability through a targeting proxy, you determine the ability's targets as if you were in the targeting proxy's place. This affects line of effect for the ability, but not line of sight, since you still see from your normal location. As a result, the ability's maximum range is measured from the targeting proxy rather than you. Cones and similar areas that would normally originate from you instead originate from the targeting proxy.

Abilities that require touch can be used through a physical targeting proxy. However, you can't cause the proxy to move, so this only works if the target is already touching the proxy.

Using a targeting proxy only changes the ability's targets and area, not its effects. If an ability's effects refer to “you” or “your location”, that still refers to you, not the targeting proxy.

Area Shapes

Cone: A cone extends from the point of origin in a quarter-hemisphere, up to the given length. A square is affected by a cone if it is within the cone's 90 degree arc and all of the square's points of intersection are no more than the cone's length away from the cone's point of origin.

Cylinder: A cylinder extends out from the point of origin in a circle, up to the given radius. Cylinders also have a specific height. Unless otherwise specified, a cylinder's height is the same as its radius.

Line: A line extends from the point of origin in a straight line, up to the given length and width. Unless otherwise specified, the height of a line-shaped ability is equal to its width. The affected squares are chosen such that they stay close to the chosen line as possible. All squares affected by a line must be contiguous, so every square is adjacent to another affected square, treating diagonals as adjacent.

If a line-shaped effect has its area increased, only the length of the line increases unless otherwise noted. Its width and height are not affected. Vertical lines use “length” to refer to the vertical dimension, and “width” and “height” to refer to the two horizontal dimensions.

Sphere: A sphere extends from the point of origin in all directions. Any ability which only specifies a radius for its area is sphere-shaped.

Wall: A wall extends out from the point of origin in two dimensions equally, up to the given total length and height. A wall's height is equal to half its length, to a minimum of 5 feet high. Narratively, all walls have a nonzero width. Mechanically, walls are considered to have no width and simply occupy the boundary between squares.

All squares affected by a wall must be contiguous, so every square is adjacent to another affected square, treating diagonals as adjacent.

The entire wall is considered to be a single object, and is attacked and destroyed as a single unit. All of a wall's defenses are 0, but like other objects, they are immune to critical hits. Most abilities that create walls indicate how many hit points the wall has. If an ability does not specify a wall's hit points, it does not have hit points and cannot be destroyed with damage.

If you create a wall within a space too small to hold it, it fills as much of the space as possible, starting from the middle of the chosen space. This can allow you to completely block off small tunnels.

Walls can normally be created within or adjacent to occupied squares, but not within solid objects. If a wall has hit points, it cannot be created inside the space of a single creature, but it can be created between two adjacent creatures. Walls without hit points can be created within the space occupied by a single creature, since they do not have physical substance.

Area Types

There are three common area types. If an area's type is not mentioned, it is a burst.

- Burst: Has an immediate effect and then ends.
- Emanation: Has a duration based on a specific creature or object. If the source of the area moves, the area's effect moves with it.
- Zone: Has a duration based on a location. Some zones can be moved after being created, but that movement is not tied to a specific creature or object.

If a burst or emanation is centered on a creature, it normally includes that creature. However, if it is centered on the creature using the ability, that creature can choose whether they are included when they use the ability.

Shapeable Areas

Some areas are shapeable, which means that you can change their shape within some constraints. What exactly it means for an area to be shapeable depends on the area's original shape. In all cases, a shapeable area must still be a single contiguous shape that includes the area's point of origin.

- Cone: You can exclude any number of squares within the area.
- Cylinder: You can exclude any number of squares within the area.
- Line: The line can bend at 45 degree or 90 degree angles at any number of point during its path.
- Sphere: You can exclude any number of squares within the area.
- Walla: The wall can bend at 45 degree or 90 degree angles at any number of points during its path.

For example, you could convert a shapeable sphere into a cube or square, as long as the cube or square would fit entirely within the original area affected by the sphere.

Impossible Abilities

When you try to use an ability in an impossible way, it simply fails with no effect. This can happen if all targets are invalid, such as if you attempt to use an ability that only affects creatures on an object. An ability that has a mixture of valid and invalid targets will generally affect the valid targets normally while ignoring the invalid targets. However, if the ability changes its effects based on the number of targets or otherwise would rely on the invalid targets for its choices, such as a spell that swaps the positions of multiple creatures, the entire ability fails.

Combining Effects

Abilities do not generally affect the way another abilities function. However, sometimes multiple effects can be in conflict on a creature. If one effect makes another effect irrelevant or impossible, the latter effect is ignored. If two effects both conflict with each other, the most recent effect takes precedence, and the other is ignored. Unless otherwise noted, two different uses of the same ability are always considered to be conflicting with each other.

All abilities will still have as much of their effect as possible. It is possible for an ability to be partially effective in this way.

Suppressing Abilities

Abilities can be suppressed by effects such as the suppress magic spell. While an ability is suppressed, it has no effect. However, if it stops being suppressed, its effects continue as if they had not been interrupted.

Ability Tags

Many abilities have tags that describe the nature of the ability. Many of these tags have no game effect by themselves, but they govern how the ability interacts with spells, other abilities, unusual creatures, and so on. For a list of ability tags, see Ability Tags, page 584.

Dismissal

When an ability is dismissed, all of its lingering effects immediately end. Any magical ✨ ability with a duration can normally be dismissed, but mundane abilities cannot be dismissed. You can dismiss an ability as a free action that requires only mental effort.

Rank Upgrades

Many abilities automatically become more effective as your rank with a relevant archetype increases. Some abilities from feats have similar wording, but increase their power based on your level rather than your rank. Rank upgrades and level upgrades are always optional, so you can choose to use the ability as if your rank or level was lower.

Ability Durations

An ability's duration determines how long its effect lasts. Abilities can have one of several different kinds of durations.

If an ability targets creatures or objects directly, the effects travel with the subjects for the ability's duration, even if the subjects go outside the ability's initial range. If an ability creates or summons objects or creatures, they last for the duration of the ability, and are capable of moving outside the ability's initial range. Such effects can sometimes be destroyed prior to when their duration ends.

Attuned Abilities

Many abilities last as long as a creature attunes to them. Abilities that require attunement to function have the Attune tag. Attuning to an ability typically require investing a single attunement point. Most abilities that require attunement require a standard action to use, such as the item attunement ability (see Item Attunement, page 155).

You can release your attunement to an effect as a free action, which typically ends the effect completely. This allows you to use that attunement point to attune to a different effect. You can never attune to the same ability more than once. Two abilities are considered the same if they have the same name.

Normally, the creature using the attuned ability must attune to it. In the special case of rituals, any number of ritual participants can attune to the ability, and the ability lasts as long as any participant is still attuned to it. There are two special subtypes of attunement abilities: deep attunements and targeted attunements.

Deep Attunement: This ability require investing two attunement points instead of only one. In addition, releasing a deep attunement does not immediately return the invested attunement points. Instead, they only return after you finish a short rest. Deep attunements are identified as Attune (deep).

Targeted Attunement: This ability requires attunement from the target instead of the creature using the ability. If it targets multiple creatures, each target must attune to its own version of the effect. When a target releases its attunement, the effect only ends for it, not for any other targets. Targeted attunements are identified as Attune (target).

If you target a creature with an Attune (target) ability that does not have attunement points, such as an allied animal, you can attune on the target's behalf. The target intuitively knows how to dismiss the effect if it wants to remove it.

Attunement Time Limits: After you spend a week attuned to an effect, that effect ends on you. You can immediately reattune to the same effect with no consequences, so this typically does not matter for permanent items that you keep with you. However, it limits your ability to benefit from spells or rituals from by spellcasters who do not stay with your group.

Conditions

Many abilities impose conditions on their targets. A condition lasts until it is removed. You can remove conditions by taking a short rest or using the recover ability (see Recover, page 38). There are several other abilities that can also remove conditions.

Sustained Abilities

Sustained abilities have the Sustain tag. They last as long as you take an action to sustain them each round. The type of action required is always specified in the ability's tag, such as "Sustain (standard)" for a standard action, or in the ability's description. Sustaining an ability is a Swift effect.

At the start of each action phase, the ability is dismissed unless you take the appropriate action to sustain the ability. This happens before your normal turn, so you and your allies can't gain the benefits of a sustained ability without you sustaining it.

Taking an action to sustain an ability only allows you to sustain a single use of that ability. While you have a sustained ability active, you can't sustain that same ability again, so using the ability twice does not allow you to sustain two instances of it. However, you can sustain multiple separate abilities at once if you have available actions.

Some sustained abilities include "attunable" in the tag before the action type. When you use or sustain that ability, you can choose to attune to it. If you do, it gains the Attune tag and loses the Sustain tag, so it stays active as long as you stay attuned to it. While you are attuned to that ability, you are still able to sustain a different instance of the ability, so this allows you to have two instances of the ability active at once.

You can normally only sustain an ability for up to 5 minutes. Sustaining an ability beyond that point is strenuous, and requires an Endurance check (see Endurance, page 468).

Permanent Abilities

Some abilities last permanently. Such abilities never expire on their own, but can be dismissed or removed by other abilities appropriately.

Chapter 6

Classes

A character's class represents their fundamental source of power. Classes help establish a clear narrative for your character, including a justification for their special abilities and a sense of how they fit into the larger world. They often provide unique actions with specific effects, such as spells and martial maneuvers. They can also grant statistical benefits or even change how the characters interact with normal game rules.

Classes are flexible enough to allow significant customization. Your class is intended to be a jumping off point for creativity that is less intimidating than a blank canvas, not a limitation on the possible character concepts you can be. Two characters with the same class can have very different specialties, narratives, and play styles.

How Classes Work

When you first create a character, you choose a class. Each class grants some basic class features to all members of that class. In addition, each class has a number of archetypes that grant more powerful and specific abilities.

Base Class

Your class grants you a specific set of benefits. They are listed under the heading "Base Class Effects". If you have multiple classes, you only gain these benefits for one of your classes, which is called your base class.

Archetypes

Each class has five class archetypes. An archetype is a collection of thematically related abilities. For example, barbarians have the Battlerager archetype, which grants abilities related to being angry and flying into a rage in combat.

Archetype Ranks

You have an archetype rank associated with each of your archetypes. Each ability from an archetype has a minimum rank required to gain the ability. When you gain a rank in an archetype, you gain all abilities associated with that rank. In addition, some of your existing abilities may increase their power based on your rank in that archetype.

At 1st level, you choose a single archetype from your class (or classes). You become rank 1 in that archetype, and you do not have any other archetypes. At 2nd and 3rd level, you choose an additional archetype from your class or classes. Each time, you become rank 1 in that archetype.

After 3rd level, you never gain additional archetypes. Instead, at each level, you increase your rank in one of your existing archetypes. Your rank in any individual archetype cannot exceed your character rank (see Character Rank, page 23). Your character rank at each level is listed in the base class table for each class as a reminder. In practice, this means that you have to increase all of your ranks evenly instead of specializing in a single archetype.

Duplicate Archetypes

Clerics and paladins have an identical Divine Magic archetype. You cannot gain two archetypes with the same name.

Multiclass Characters

You can spend one insight point to become a multiclass character (see Insight Points, page 14). If you do, choose a class you don't already have. You gain the following benefits relating to that class.

- You choose whether the class becomes your base class. If your base class changes, you lose all benefits of your original base class, and instead gain the benefits of your new base class.
- If the class has any special class abilities which are not part of an archetype, such as a votive's soul pact ability, you gain those abilities.
- Whenever you gain a new archetype, you have access to archetypes from all classes you belong to.

You may gain access to multiple classes in this way, spending one insight point for each class.

Late Multiclassing

If you have multiple archetypes when you become a multiclass character, you may exchange any number of your existing archetypes for that many archetypes from your new class.

The GM can decide whether you are allowed to become a multiclass character after level 1. Multiclassing can significantly change your character's abilities. That may not be narratively appropriate for all campaigns. In general, the higher level you are before multiclassing, the stronger the narrative justification should be.

Class Description Format

Each class is described from the perspective of a member of that class, using “you” in the description.

Class Table: Each class’s table describes the special abilities a member of that class gains at each rank of each of that class’s archetypes.

Alignment: Some classes require specific alignments (see Alignment, page 19). Most classes allow characters of any alignment.

Skills: Each class has specific skills that members of that class are typically good at (see Skills, page 126). These skills are called class skills. For details, see Trained Skills, page 15.

Defenses: Each class grants bonuses to specific defenses.

Weapon Proficiencies: This indicates the types of weapons that members of this class are proficient with.

Armor Proficiencies: This indicates the types of armor that members of this class are proficient with.

Other Special Abilities: Some classes have abilities shared by all members of the class that are not part of an archetype, such as a druid’s druidic language ability.

Archetypes: The abilities associated with each of the class’s five archetypes.

Barbarian

Barbarians are primal warriors who fight using raw physical prowess and unfettered emotions. Most barbarians originate from the outskirts of civilization, where the societal constraints of civilization are less present. Of course, becoming a barbarian is no secret rite. The only thing that is required is a willingness to fully experience one’s emotions and channel them into physical betterment. This path evokes ancient memories from a time when physical supremacy was sufficient for victory, before the complexity of organized warfare. Anyone can discover that path for themselves.

Barbarians are famous for their furious battlerage. Anger is one of the easiest emotions to channel into the violence of battle. It is a common starting point for new barbarians. However, any emotion can be used as a source of primal power, as long as it is sufficiently intense.

Barbarians and monks have a curious relationship. Members of both classes place a great importance on physical excellence, and believe that the mind and body must work together to maximize potential. However, a typical monk sees emotions as a tool at best and an obstacle at worst. They value serenity and control over their mind and body. From the perspective of a barbarian, monks completely surrender to civilization’s taming and placating influences, and abandon their primal heritage.

Rangers and druids are natural allies of barbarians, since all three groups prefer to live at the edges of civilization. However, each has different reasons for their preference. Barbarians enjoy the freedom of the frontier. However, they are often too social to live as hermits in the deep wilderness. Druids prefer nature to civilization ideologically, and rangers are best able to fulfill their responsibilities on the frontier.

Alignment: Any.

You are proficient with simple weapons and all non-exotic weapons.

Armor Proficiencies

You are proficient with light and medium armor.

You can start with the following items and equipment:

- Any one of the following: buff leather or leather lamellar
- Any two of the following: club, dagger, broadsword, two handaxes, or spear
- A buckler or standard shield
- A standard adventuring kit (see Standard Adventuring Kit, page 170).
- A rank 0 wealth item (1 gp)

You have the following class skills:

- Strength: Climb, Jump, Swim.
- Dexterity: Balance, Flexibility, Ride.
- Constitution: Endurance.
- Intelligence: Medicine.
- Perception: Awareness, Creature Handling, Deception, Persuasion, Survival.
- Other: Intimidate.

Battleforged Resilience

This archetype improves your durability in combat.

Rank 1 – Second Wind

Second Wind	Minor action
--------------------	--------------

Tags: Swift

Cost: Two fatigue levels, and you cannot use this ability again until you finish a short rest.

You regain half of your maximum hit points.

Rank 2 – Battle-Scarred

You gain a +4 bonus to your durability (see Durability, page 13). However, you also increase your injury point by 4.

Rank 3 – Resilient Blow

Resilient Blow	Standard action
-----------------------	-----------------

Tags: Swift (see text)

Make a melee strike. In addition, whenever you would lose hit points that are below your injury point this round, you lose half that many hit points instead (minimum 1). This effect is Swift, but the strike is not.

Rank 4: You gain a +1 accuracy bonus with the strike.

Rank 5: If you are injured, the strike deals double damage.

Rank 6: The strike always deals double damage.

Rank 7: The strike deals triple damage instead of double damage.

Rank 4 – Primal Resilience

You gain a +1 bonus to your Constitution.

Rank 5 – Limitless Recovery

You can use the recover and second wind abilities any number of times between short rests. In addition, when you use the recover ability, you can also remove a vital wound. When you do, you increase your fatigue level by two.

Rank 6 – Battle-Scarred+

The durability bonus increases to +8, and the injury point bonus increases to 20.

Rank 7 – Unbreakable

Your hit points cannot decrease by more than 100 during each round. This includes hit point loss below 0 hit points. Any excess damage beyond that point does not reduce your hit points, but it does offset any healing you receive during the same round. Attacks with special effects, such as inflicting conditions on you, still treat you as if you lost hit points from the attack.

Battlerager

This archetype grants you a devastating rage, improving your combat prowess.

Rank 1 – Rage

For most barbarians, this represents entering a furious rage. Some barbarians instead enter a joyous battle trance or undergo a partial physical transformation into a more fearsome form.

Rage	Free action
-------------	-------------

Tags: Emotion, Sustain (free), Swift

Cost: One fatigue level.

For the duration of this ability, you gain the following benefits and drawbacks:

- You gain a +2 accuracy bonus with mundane abilities that are not Projectile strikes.
- You take a -2 penalty to your Armor and Reflex defenses.
- You are enraged (must attack).

Because this ability has the Swift tag, the defense penalties apply to attacks against you during the current phase.

Rank 2 – Amplified Anger

You gain a +1 bonus to your mundane power. If your Willpower is 3 or higher, you gain an additional +1 bonus.

Rank 3 – Aggravated Violence

Aggravated Violence	Standard action
----------------------------	-----------------

Make a melee strike. The strike deals double damage against any creature that dealt damage to you during the previous round.

Rank 4: You gain a +1 accuracy bonus with the strike.

Rank 5: The strike deals double weapon damage.

Rank 6: The strike deals triple weapon damage.

Rank 7: If the strike would deal double damage, it deals triple damage instead.

Rank 4 – Primal Brawn

You gain a +1 bonus to your Strength.

Rank 5 – Insensible Rage

During your rage ability, you are unaffected by all vital wound effects except for unconsciousness and death. Each vital wound still causes the normal -2 penalty to vital rolls.

Rank 6 – Amplified Anger+

The power bonus increases to +2. If your Willpower is 6 or higher, you gain an additional +1 bonus.

Rank 7 – Titanic Rage

When you use your rage ability, you can grow by one size category, to a maximum of Huge. Increasing your size gives you a +1 bonus to Strength for the purpose of determining your weight limits, a +1 bonus to your Brawn defense, a -1 penalty to your Reflex defense, and a -4 penalty to the Stealth skill. It also increases your base speed (see Size Categories, page 15). Since this is a mundane ability, it stacks with other size-increasing effects (see Stacking Rules, page 17).

Outland Savage

This archetype improves your mobility and combat prowess with direct, brutal abilities.

Rank 1 – Outlandish Weaponry

You can gain proficiency with exotic weapons at the cost of one insight point per weapon group (see Exotic Weapons, page 156). You must already be proficient with all non-exotic weapons from that weapon group.

Rank 1 – Savage Precision

You gain a +1 bonus to your brawling accuracy (see Brawling Accuracy, page 13).

Rank 2 – Outlandish Movement

You gain your choice of one of the following benefits:

- Climb: A climb speed 10 feet slower than your base speed.
- Jump: A +10 foot bonus to your maximum horizontal jump distance.
- Swim: A swim speed 10 feet slower than your base speed.

You can invest up to two additional insight points into this ability. For each insight point, you can choose a different one of these benefits.

Rank 3 – Savage Rush

Savage Rush	Standard action
Move up to your speed. During this movement, you can pass through spaces occupied by your enemies as if they were unoccupied. You must still end your movement in an unoccupied space. At any two points during this movement, you may make a melee strike . You cannot include the same creature or object as a target of both strikes.
Rank 4: The strike deals double weapon damage .
Rank 5: The strike deals extra damage equal to half your power .
Rank 6: The extra damage increases to be equal to your power.
Rank 7: The strike deals quadruple weapon damage .

Rank 4 – Primal Agility

You gain a +1 bonus to your Dexterity.

Rank 5 – Outlandish Speed

You gain a +10 foot bonus to your speed.

Rank 6 – Versatile Savagery

Choose one of the following tags: Clinch, Impact, Maneuverable, or Thrown (30/60). You may treat all non-projectile weapons you use as if they had the chosen tag. If you choose the Thrown weapon tag, it does not affect your natural weapons.

Rank 7 – Primal Rush

You can use the sprint ability during the movement phase without increasing your fatigue level. After using this ability, you briefly cannot use it again.

Primal Warrior

This archetype grants you abilities to use in combat and improves your physical skills.

Rank 1 – Primal Maneuvers

You can channel your primal energy into ferocious attacks. You gain access to one of the following combat styles: brute force, dirty fighting, or herald of war. You may spend insight points to gain access to one additional combat style per insight point, including combat styles other than those three. You can only learn primal maneuvers from primal combat styles that you have access to.

You learn two rank 1 primal maneuvers. You may spend insight points to learn one additional maneuver per insight point.

When you gain access to a new rank in this archetype, you can exchange any number of maneuvers you know for other maneuvers, including maneuvers of a higher rank.

Advancement: Some primal maneuvers also increase in power in unique ways based on your rank in this archetype, as indicated in their descriptions.

Rank 2 – Augmented Maneuvers

You gain the ability to customize your primal maneuvers. For each rank 1 primal maneuver you know, choose one augment from the list below and apply it to that maneuver. The augment permanently changes the maneuver, so you can't use an unaugmented version of the maneuver. However, you can learn the same maneuver more than once and apply different augments to each version.

Augments scale in power with your “excess rank”. Your excess rank with a maneuver is equal to your rank in this archetype minus the rank of the maneuver.

Whenever you increase your rank in this archetype, you can change your augments. However, you must still apply them to rank 1 primal maneuvers.

Finishing Maneuver: You gain an accuracy bonus equal to twice your excess rank against creatures who are injured.

Mighty Maneuver: You take a -1 accuracy penalty, but you deal extra damage equal to twice your excess rank.

Precise Maneuver: You gain an accuracy bonus equal to your excess rank.

Reckless Maneuver: You deal extra damage equal to twice your excess rank. However, you briefly take a -4 penalty to your defenses after you use the maneuver. You can only apply this augment to maneuvers which cause you to make a melee strike.

Widened Maneuver: The area affected by your chosen maneuver doubles. If your excess rank is at least 4, the area triples instead. You can only apply this augment to maneuvers that affect an area.

Rank 3 – Primal Maneuvers+

You gain access to rank 3 primal maneuvers.

Rank 4 – Augmented Maneuvers+

You can also choose an augment for each of your rank 3 primal maneuvers.

Rank 5 – Primal Maneuvers+

You gain access to rank 5 primal maneuvers.

Rank 6 – Augmented Maneuvers+

You can also choose an augment for each of your rank 5 primal maneuvers.

Rank 7 – Primal Maneuvers+

You gain access to rank 7 primal maneuvers.

Totemist

This archetype allows you to embody the spirits of apex predators to improve your combat ability.

Rank 1 – Totem Animal

You choose a totem animal that represents you. Each totem animal grants you abilities that are associated with that animal.

Bear: You add half your Constitution to your mundane power.

Crocodile: Once per round, when you damage a creature with a melee strike, you can use this ability to push it up to 5 feet into unoccupied space. This is a Size-Based ability, so it has no effect on creatures that are two or more size categories larger than you.

Eagle: You gain low-light vision, allowing you to see in dim illumination (see Low-light Vision, page 588). In addition, you reduce your longshot penalty by 1 (see Weapon Range Limits, page 156).

Lion: You add half your Willpower to your mundane power.

Shark: You gain a +1 accuracy bonus against creatures that are injured.

Rank 2 – Animal Instincts

You gain benefits based on your totem animal:

- Bear: +2 Endurance and +1 to your vital rolls.
- Crocodile: +2 Stealth and you can hold your breath ten times as long as normal (see Endurance, page 468).
- Eagle: +2 Awareness and +10 feet to your maximum horizontal jump distance (see Jumping, page 34).
- Lion: +2 Intimidate and +10 feet to your speed while you are affected by the sprint ability. This speed bonus is doubled as normal for that ability.
- Shark: +2 Swim and you gain the scent ability (see Tracking, page 145).

Rank 3 – Feral Frenzy

At the end of each round, if you attacked a creature other than yourself that round, you gain a frenzy point. Otherwise, you lose a frenzy point. You can have a maximum of 4 frenzy points and a minimum of 0. Frenzy points increase the power of your feral frenzy ability.

Feral Frenzy	Standard action
	Make a melee or thrown strike . Then, you can spend three frenzy points to make an additional melee or thrown strike.
	Rank 4: You gain a +2 accuracy bonus with the first strike you make with this ability each round.
	Rank 5: The second strike you make with this ability each round deals double damage.
	Rank 6: The accuracy bonus applies to both strikes.
	Rank 7: Both strikes deal 1d8 extra damage .

Rank 4 – Totem Animal+

The benefit from your totem animal ability improves.

Cleric

Clerics are divine spellcasters who draw power from their worship of a single deity. The powers of any individual cleric can vary greatly depending on their deity, and the specific aspects of that deity they choose to emulate. Many clerics have exceptional healing or oratory talents, which are powerful tools in spreading the influence of their deity.

Deities are a constant background presence in the world of Rise. Commoners acknowledge the influence of many deities on their life, and offer gifts or prayers to each deity according to their purview. Clerics are the primary conduits through which deities answer these prayers. In exchange for their mighty divine power, clerics are charged with serving the deity's interests in the world.

Clerics are the most common spellcasting class in the world. The path to becoming a cleric is easier than for any other spellcasting class except for sorcerers, and unlike sorcerers, clerics require no special birthright. Many clerics have responsibilities to their deity that preclude adventuring. For example, some clerics provide healing services to anyone who enters their temple.

Adventuring clerics can exist for a variety of reasons. They may be charged to help spread knowledge of their deity, and becoming well-known as an adventurer can serve that end. Alternately, they may simply be charged by their deity to grow their personal power. Deities need powerful clerics to maximize their influence on the mortal world.

Paladins and druids are closely related to clerics, since all three draw power from their veneration of external entities. However, the specific nature of each connection is quite different. Clerics can always be confident that they serve their deity's best interests. In contrast, paladins and druids have no oversight and unclear responsibilities. This makes them unreliable allies at best and ideological foes at worst.

Druuids and clerics have a degree of intrinsic tension. Clerics generally want to expand the worship of their specific deity. That task is easiest in civilized areas where many potential worshippers can be found. However, it is contrary to the typical druidic preference against civilization.

The standard pantheon of deities is listed below. You can also talk to your GM about worshipping an unusual deity.

Alignment: Any.

Archetypes: Clerics have the Divine Magic, Divine Spell Mastery, Domain Influence, Healer, and Preacher archetypes.

Divine Magic

This archetype grants you the ability to cast divine spells. All abilities from this archetype are magical .

Rank 1 – Divine Spells

Your deity grants you the ability to use divine magic. You gain access to one divine mystic sphere, plus the universal mystic sphere (see Divine Mystic Spheres, page 251). You may spend insight points to gain access to one additional divine mystic sphere per two insight points. You can only learn divine spells from divine mystic spheres that you have access to.

You automatically learn all cantrips from each of your mystic spheres. In addition, you learn two rank 1 divine spells. You can also spend insight points to learn one additional rank 1 spell per insight point.

Divine spells require verbal components to cast (see Ability Usage Components, page 43). For details about mystic spheres and casting spells, see Spell and Ritual Mechanics, page 249.

When you gain access to a new mystic sphere or spell rank, you can forget any number of spells you know to learn that many new spells in exchange, including spells of the higher rank.

Advancement: The maximum rank of divine spells that you can learn is equal to your rank in this archetype. Divine spells also increase in power in unique ways based on your rank in this archetype, as indicated in their descriptions.

Divine Spell Mastery

This archetype improves the divine spells you cast. You must have the Divine Magic archetype from the cleric class to gain the abilities from this archetype. All abilities from this archetype are magical .

Rank 1 – Divine Vessel

You gain a +2 bonus to your Knowledge (religion) skill and a +1 bonus to your magical power.

Rank 2 – Metamagic

You learn how to further refine your spellcasting abilities. Choose two metamagic abilities from the list below.

Some metamagic abilities affect specific spells. Each individual spell can only have one metamagic applied. Whenever you learn a new spell, you may change which specific spells your metamagic abilities affect.

Distant Spell: Choose a divine spell you know with a standard range: Short (30 ft.), Medium (60 ft.), Long (90 ft.), Distant (120 ft.), or Extreme (180 ft.). You increase that spell's range to the next standard range category, to a maximum of Extreme range. You can choose this ability multiple times, choosing a different spell each time.

Precise Spell: Choose a divine spell you know. You gain a +1 accuracy bonus with that spell. You can choose this ability multiple times, choosing a different spell each time.

Rituals: You gain the ability to perform divine rituals to create unique magical effects (see Spell and Ritual Mechanics, page 249). The maximum rank of divine ritual you can learn or perform is equal to the maximum rank of divine spell that you can cast. When you gain this ability, you can memorize a rank 1 divine ritual from any divine mystic sphere you have access to. Whenever you gain access to a new spellcasting rank, you can memorize an additional ritual of that rank or lower. You cannot choose this ability multiple times.

Smiting Spell: Choose a damaging divine spell you know. It deals extra damage equal to your rank in this archetype. In addition, your allies are immune to damage from that spell. You can choose this ability multiple times, choosing a different spell each time.

Widened Spell: Choose a divine spell you know with a standard area: Tiny (5 ft.), Small (15 ft.), Medium (30 ft.), Large (60 ft.), Huge (90 ft.), or Gargantuan (120 ft.). You increase that spell's area to the next standard area category, to a maximum of a Gargantuan area. You can choose this ability multiple times, choosing a different spell each time.

Rank 3 – Spell Knowledge

You learn an additional divine spell.

Rank 4 – Spell-Trained Mind

Domain Influence

This archetype grants you divine influence over two domains of your choice.

Rank 1 – Domain Gifts

You choose two domains which represent your personal spiritual inclinations. You must choose your domains from among those your deity offers. The domains are listed below.

Each domain has a corresponding domain gift. A domain gift is a passive ability that reinforces your ability to embody your domain. You gain the domain gift for both of your domains (see Cleric Domain Abilities, page 61).

- Chaos
- Death
- Destiny
- Destruction
- Earth
- Evil
- Forge
- Good
- Knowledge
- Law
- Life
- Magic
- Ocean
- Protection
- Sky
- Storm
- Sun
- Travel
- Trickery

- Wild

Rank 2 – Domain Aspect

Each domain has a corresponding domain aspect. You gain the domain aspect ability for one of your domains (see Cleric Domain Abilities, page 61).

Rank 5 – Domain Essence+

You gain the domain essence for another one of your domains.

Rank 6 – Miracle ✨

You can request a miracle as a standard action.

Miracle ★

Standard action

Cost: Two fatigue levels, and you cannot use it again for a week. You mentally specify a request to your deity, and your deity fulfills that request in the manner it sees fit. At your deity's discretion, this can emulate the effects of any non-attunable divine spell, or have any other effect of a similar power level. A miracle can also mimic the effects of many non-attunable rituals. However, rituals that require expensive material components or 24 hours to perform may require a similar investment of time or materials from you for the miracle to succeed.

Miracles are most effective when your request is directly related to your domains, and more generally your deity's domains and purview. Requesting a miracle outside that scope may limit its power. Your request does not have to be extremely specific, since deities prefer to have leeway to act as they see fit, but they should not be overly broad or vague. If the deity has a direct interest in your situation, the miracle may be of unusual power. On the other hand, if your deity sees your request as unbefitting of its involvement or contrary to its goals, the miracle may be weaker or even fail.

If you perform an extraordinary service for your deity, you may gain the ability to request an additional miracle, at your deity's discretion.

Rank 7 – Domain Masteries

Each domain has a corresponding domain mastery. You gain the domain mastery for both of your domains (see Cleric Domain Abilities, page 61).

Rank 6 – Name the Faithful

Whenever you use a magical ★ or Auditory ability to target one or more allies within a range, you can call each target by their name instead of choosing your targets normally. If you do, you double your range with that ability, and you do not need line of sight or line of effect to the named targets. Instead, they must only be able to hear you. This does not affect abilities that do not have a defined range measured in feet, such as abilities that require touch.

Rank 7 – Convert the Irresolute

Convert the Irresolute	Standard action

Storm Domain

If you choose this domain, you add the electromancy mystic sphere to your list of divine mystic spheres (see Spell Lists, page 252).

Gift ★: You are impervious (+4 defenses) to Electricity attacks.

Essence ★: Whenever you use a damaging Electricity ability that affects an area, you repeat that ability during your next action. The repeat has the Auditory tag instead of the Electricity tag, deals half damage, and affects each enemy adjacent to you instead of its normal targets.

Aspect ★: The repeat from this domain's essence also triggers when you chain to yourself with a damaging Electricity ability.

Mastery ✶: The repeat from this domain's essence instead affects all enemies within a Small (15 ft.) radius from you.

Sun Domain

If you choose this domain, you add the pyromancy mystic sphere to your list of divine mystic spheres (see Spell Lists, page 252).

Gift: You radiate bright illumination in a Medium (30 ft.) radius. You can suppress or resume this illumination as a free action once per round.

Aspect ✶: You can ignore difficult terrain from inanimate natural sources, such as heavy undergrowth.

Essence ✶: Once per phase, you can teleport horizontally instead of moving using your walk speed. Teleporting a given distance costs movement equal to twice that distance. If this teleportation fails for any reason, you still expend that movement.

Mastery ✶: Teleporting a given distance only costs movement equal to that distance.

Trickery Domain

If you choose this domain, you add the Deception, Disguise, and Stealth skills to your cleric class skill list.

Gift: You gain a +1 bonus to the Deception, Disguise, and Stealth skills.

Essence ✶: You are impervious (+4 defenses) to Compulsion and Emotion attacks. If you would already be impervious to either tag, you become immune to attacks with that tag instead.

Mastery ✶: The skill bonuses increase to +2. In addition, you are undetectable to all magical ✶ abilities. They cannot detect your presence, sounds you make, or any actions you take. War Domain Gift: You gain proficiency with all non-exotic weapons.

Aspect: You learn one maneuver from any combat style (see Maneuver Lists, page 224). Its rank must not exceed your rank in the Domain Influence archetype. You gain an accuracy bonus with that maneuver equal to the amount by which your rank in the Domain Influence archetype exceeds the maneuver's rank. When you gain access to a new rank in the Domain Influence archetype, you can exchange that maneuver for another maneuver with a rank that does not exceed your rank in the Domain Influence archetype.

Essence: You gain a +1 bonus to your magical power and mundane power.

Mastery: You gain a +1 accuracy bonus with strikes.

Wild Domain

If you choose this domain, you add the verdamancy mystic sphere to your list of divine mystic spheres (see Spell Lists, page 252). In addition, you add the Creature Handling, Knowledge (nature), and Survival skills to your cleric class skill list.

Gift: You gain a +1 bonus to the Creature Handling, Knowledge (nature), and Survival skills.

Aspect ✶: You gain one wild aspect, as the druid ability from the Shifter archetype (see Shifter, page 69). You cannot spend insight points to learn additional wild aspects. The aspect's effect improves based on your rank in the Domain Influence archetype. If you already have that ability, you simply learn an additional wild aspect, and the aspect's effect continues to scale with your Shifter archetype rank.

Essence ✶: The skill bonuses increase to +2.

Mastery ✶: You learn an additional wild aspect.

Ex-Clerics

Druid

Druids are nature spellcasters who draw power from their veneration of the natural world. They worship Gaia, the embodiment of life. Gaia grants her followers influence over her domain in gratitude for their service.

All druids value the continuation of life - in the abstract, universal sense, not the specific sense. Predation is a critical part of the natural world, and most druids have no prohibitions against killing. Life as a whole, across all species and levels of sentience, must continue. The worst nightmare of all druids is a dead world, inhabited only by rocks and memories of the life that once existed.

Individual druids have a great variety of opinions and interpretations about which aspects of nature are most important. Some druids treat all forms of life as equal. Others draw distinctions between different forms of life, such as prioritizing the needs of highly sentient or highly complex life over others. Of course, many druids don't dwell on philosophical questions about the precise value of Gaia's various aspects. They focus more on practical maintenance of the natural world according to their own instincts. Gaia's domain is immense, and her guidance is virtually nonexistent.

Many druids avoid or actively reject overly developed civilization. The details and causes of this aversion can be source of great disagreement between different druids. Civilization tends to displace or kill natural life. It replaces the vibrant diversity of life in a forest with a comparatively bland and homogeneous subset of species. In general, druids who value all forms of life equally and consider diversity to be intrinsically valuable tend to reject civilization most strongly. On the other hand, druids who value life according to its sentience or complexity are typically more tolerant of civilization.

Most druids belong to a specific druidic circle. Druidic circles are groups of druids that share a similar philosophy. Like druids, druidic circles have highly varied structures. Some druidic circles function as communes where all members live together, either nomadically or in a specific area of land claimed by the circle. Others simply have annual meetings to discuss critical matters, with many of the circle's members living in isolation at all other times.

Since druids tend to be more isolated than most, their attachment to druidic circles may seem odd to outsiders. There are many reasons for this tradition, but foremost among them is the importance of continuity of knowledge in the absence of advanced civilization. Druids are unlikely to simply go to a library in a city to gain important knowledge about the natural world. Instead, they must learn from someone who has the knowledge they lack. This means they need access to wise elders who are willing to pass on what they know. Their wisdom must be kept alive between generations through oral traditions. Druidic circles provide a place for this knowledge transfer to occur, and offer a path to welcoming new druids into the fold.

Alignment: Any.

Archetypes: Druids have the Elementalist, Nature Magic, Nature Spell Mastery, Shifter, and Wildspeaker archetypes.

Elemental Infusion ✨	Standard action

Once per round as a free action, you can change how you direct your chosen element, but you must still control the same element.

- Earth: You can reshape earth or unworked stone at a rate of up to one foot per round.
- Fire: You can make fire leap up to 60 feet between combustible materials, suppress fire so it smolders without being extinguished, or snuff out fire entirely.

Nature Magic ★

This archetype grants you the ability to cast nature spells. All abilities from this archetype are magical ★.

Rank 1 – Nature Spells ★

Your connection to nature grants you the ability to use nature magic. You gain access to one nature mystic sphere, plus the universal mystic sphere (see Nature Mystic Spheres, page 251). You may spend insight points to gain access to one additional nature mystic sphere per two insight points. You can only learn nature spells from nature mystic spheres that you have access to.

You automatically learn all cantrips from each of your mystic spheres. In addition, you learn two rank 1 nature spells. You can also spend insight points to learn one additional rank 1 spell per insight point.

Nature spells require verbal components to cast (see Ability Usage Components, page 43). For details about mystic spheres and casting spells, see Spell and Ritual Mechanics, page 249.

When you gain access to a new mystic sphere or spell rank, you can forget any number of spells you know to learn that many new spells in exchange, including spells of the higher rank.

Advancement: The maximum rank of nature spells that you can learn is equal to your rank in this archetype. Nature spells also increase in power in unique ways based on your rank in this archetype, as indicated in their descriptions.

Nature Spell Mastery ✨

This archetype improves the nature spells you cast. You must have the Nature Magic archetype from the druid class to gain the abilities from this archetype. All abilities from this archetype are magical ✨.

Rank 1 – Plant Channeling ✨

Whenever you cast a spell, you may use a Small or larger living plant within Short (30 ft.) range of you as a targeting proxy. This means the spell determines its targets as if you were in the plant's location, which can allow you to affect targets outside your normal range.

Rank 2 – Metamagic ✨

You learn how to further refine your spellcasting abilities. Choose two metamagic abilities from the list below.

Some metamagic abilities affect specific spells. Each individual spell can only have one metamagic applied. Whenever you learn a new spell, you may change which specific spells your metamagic abilities affect.

Airborne Spell: Choose a nature spell you know with a standard range: Short (30 ft.), Medium (60 ft.), Long (90 ft.), Distant (120 ft.), or Extreme (180 ft.). It gains the Air tag. In addition, you increase that spell's range to the next standard range category, to a maximum of Extreme range. You can choose this ability multiple times, choosing a different spell each time.

Flooding Spell: Choose a nature spell you know with a standard area: Tiny (5 ft.), Small (15 ft.), Medium (30 ft.), Large (60 ft.), Huge (90 ft.), or Gargantuan (120 ft.). It gains the Water tag. In addition, you increase that spell's area to the next standard area category, to a maximum of a Gargantuan area. You can choose this ability multiple times, choosing a different spell each time.

Grounded Spell: Choose a nature spell you know. It gains the Earth tag. In addition, you gain a +2 accuracy bonus with that spell if you are grounded while casting it. You can choose this ability multiple times, choosing a different spell each time.

Incendiary Spell: Choose a damaging nature spell you know. It gains the Fire tag. When you cast the spell, it briefly creates a zone of flames in its area. If the spell does not normally affect an area, the flames appear in the space of each target. During the next round, the spell's effect repeats in that area. The repeat deals half damage. You can choose this ability multiple times, choosing a different spell each time.

Rituals: You gain the ability to perform nature rituals to create unique magical effects (see Spell and Ritual Mechanics, page 249). The maximum rank of nature ritual you can learn or perform is equal to the maximum rank of nature spell that you can cast. When you gain this ability, you can memorize a rank 1 nature ritual from any nature mystic sphere you have access to. Whenever you gain access to a new spellcasting rank, you can memorize an additional ritual of that rank or lower. You cannot choose this ability multiple times.

You gain a +1 bonus to your Perception.

You gain an additional metamagic ability.

Rank 6 – Attunement Point ✨

You gain an additional attunement point.

Rank 7 – Experienced Spellcaster ✨

You gain a +1 bonus to your accuracy and Mental defense.

Shifter

This archetype grants you the ability to embody aspects of the natural world in your own form.

Rank 1 – Wild Aspects ✨

You gain the ability to embody an aspect of an animal or of nature itself. Choose two wild aspects from the list below. You can also spend insight points to learn one additional wild aspect per insight point.

As a standard action, you can gain the effects of one wild aspect that you know. You cannot change your wild aspect more than once per round. That effect lasts until you activate a different wild aspect you know or until you dismiss it.

The abilities in the list below describe the effects of the aspect. Your appearance also changes to match the aspect's effects, but the nature of this change is not described. Different druids change in different ways. For example, one druid might grow brown fur when using the Form of the Bear, while another might instead change their face to become broader and more bear-shaped when embodying the same aspect. You choose how your appearance changes when you gain a wild aspect. This change cannot be used to gain an additional substantive benefit beyond the effects given in the description of the aspect.

Form of the Bear ✨

Rank 4: You can breathe water as easily as a human breathes air, preventing you from drowning or suffocating underwater.

Rank 7: You are immune to magical ✨ effects that restrict your mobility.

Form of the Hawk ✨

Standard action

You gain low-light vision, allowing you to see in dim illumination (see Low-light Vision, page 588). In addition, you gain a +3 enhancement bonus to the Awareness skill.

You gain a bite natural weapon (see Table 9.6: Natural Weapons, page 163). In addition, you have the ability to move on all four limbs. When doing so, you become quadrupedal and have no free hands (see Multipedal, page 590). This gives you a +10 foot bonus to your speed. Your bite also gains the Heavy weapon tag while you are quadrupedal in this way.

When not using your hands to move, your ability to use your hands is unchanged. You can descend to four legs and rise up to stand on two legs again as part of movement.

Rank 4: You gain the scent ability.

Rank 7: You gain an additional +10 bonus to scent-based Awareness checks.

Form of the Monkey ★	Standard action	Myriad Form ★	Standard action
You gain an average climb speed . In addition, you gain a bite natural weapon (see Table 9.6: Natural Weapons, page 163).			If you have Disguise as a trained skill , you gain a +3 enhancement bonus to it. Otherwise, you are treated as being trained in that skill.
Rank 4: You grow a tail that you can use as a free hand for the purpose of climbing. Rank 7: You can use the creature climb ability against creatures only one size category larger than you instead of two size categories larger than you.			Rank 4: When you use this wild aspect, you can choose to grow or shrink by one size category (see Size Categories, page 15). If you increase your size, you are slightly clumsy in your new size, and you take a -10 foot penalty to your speed with all of your movement modes . Rank 7: When you use this wild aspect, you can choose to grow or shrink by up to two size categories instead of only one.

Rank 4: When you use this wild aspect, you can choose to shrink by one size category , to a minimum of Small. Rank 7: The enhancement bonuses increase to +4.			Rank 4: The healing increases to be equal to your power . Rank 7: When you finish a short rest while you are in natural sunlight, you can remove a vital wound . When you do, you increase your fatigue level by four.
Form of the Viper ★	Standard action	Plantspeaker ★	Standard action
You do not need to use free hands to climb (see Climb, page 129). In addition, you gain a bite natural weapon (see Table 9.6: Natural Weapons, page 163). When a creature takes damage from your bite natural weapon , it is poisoned (see Poison, page 151). Its stage 1 effect makes the target briefly stunned (-2 defenses). Its stage 3 effect makes the target stunned while the poison lasts.			Your speed is not reduced when moving in heavy undergrowth . In addition, you can ignore cover and concealment from plants whenever doing so would be beneficial to you, as the plants move out of the way to help you. This prevents you from suffering penalties on your attacks, and also prevents creatures from using cover or concealment from plants to hide from you.
Rank 4: You gain a +1 accuracy bonus with all poisons. Rank 7: The accuracy bonus increases to +2.			Rank 4: You gain a +2 bonus to your Armor and Reflex defenses while standing in undergrowth . Rank 4: You gain a +1 accuracy bonus with the strike.

Rank 5: The strike deals 1d6 extra damage.

Rank 6: The extra damage increases to 2d6.

Rank 7: You deal double damage by default, or triple damage if you attack three defenses.

Rank 4 – Animal Shape ★

Whenever you activate a wild aspect that represents a specific animal, you can fully shapeshift to match that animal's shape. This cannot increase your size category, but you can shrink by one size category if it is appropriate for that animal. You may choose to reshape any body armor you wear as barding to fit the animal instead of melding it into your form. This means it continues to function, but its bonus to Armor defense is reduced by 2. The armor regains its normal shape if you take it off. For details about shapeshifting, see Shapeshifting, page 149.

Natural Servant ★

One hour

Tags: Attune

An animal native to the local environment appears to help you. It follows your directions to the best of its ability as long as you remain in its natural environment. If you leave the animal's natural habitat, it remains behind and this effect ends.

Your magical connection to the animal improves its resilience and strength in combat. The animal's statistics use the values below, except that each animal also gains a special ability based on the environment you are in. Animals are unable to understand complex concepts, so their ability to obey convoluted instructions is limited.

- Its size category is Medium, and its base speed is 30 feet.
- Its level is equal to your level.
- All of its attributes are 0 except for Intelligence, which it does not have.
- It has no resources, and it cannot use abilities that increase its fatigue level.
- Its maximum hit points are equal to your level x your rank in this archetype, plus 10 additional hit points.
- Its injury point is equal to half its maximum hit points.
- Each of its defenses is equal to 4 + half your level.
- Its accuracy is equal to your accuracy, but it makes its own attack rolls.
- Its power is equal to half your power.
- It does not make vital rolls, but it automatically drops unconscious if it gains a vital wound. If it gains three vital wounds, it dies.

Rank 2: The animal gains a +1 bonus to all defenses.

Rank 3: The animal's power becomes equal to your power.

Rank 4: The animal gains a +1 accuracy bonus with strikes.

Rank 5: The animal's strikes deal double weapon damage.

Rank 6: The accuracy bonus increases to +2.

Rank 7: The animal's strikes deal triple weapon damage.

The special ability of the animal that appears depends on your environment, as described below. You may choose a different animal native to that environment that is similar in size and type, but that does not change the animal's statistics. For example, your natural servant in an aquatic environment may be a dolphin or seal instead of a shark. Unusual environments may have different animals than the standard animals listed below.

- Aquatic: A shark appears that has an average swim speed and no walk speed. It has a bite natural weapon, and it is trained with the Awareness and Swim skills.

- Arctic: An arctic fox appears that has no penalties for being in cold environments. It has a bite natural weapon, and it is trained with the Awareness and Stealth skills.
- Desert: A hyena appears that has no penalties for being in hot environments. It has a bite natural weapon.
- Mountain: A goat appears that can move up or down steep slopes without slowing its movement. It has a ram natural weapon.

Rank 2 – Animal Speech ★

Animal Speech ★

Standard action

Tags: Sustain (minor)

Choose an animal within Long (90 ft.) range. You can speak to and understand the speech of the target animal, and any other animals of the same species.

This ability does not make the target any more friendly or cooperative than normal. Wary and cunning animals are likely to be terse and evasive, while stupid ones tend to make inane comments and are unlikely to say or understand anything of use.

Rank 3 – Nature’s Ally ★

You and your allies within a Huge (90 ft.) radius emanation from you are under nature’s protection. Animals will not willingly attack protected creatures, and will automatically attempt to help if the protected creatures are in mortal danger. For example, if you are attacked while in a forest, nearby birds might start harassing your foes, at the GM’s discretion. If any protected target attacks a creature that this ability protects you from, this ability is suppressed until you finish a long rest.

Rank 4 – Natural Attunement ★

Your natural servant gains an attunement point. This attunement point is shared among any creatures you summon with your natural servant ability. In addition, you can cast Attune spells on your natural servant if it is within Short (30 ft.) range of you. When you do, the natural servant attunes to the spell instead of you, as if the spell was an Attune (target) spell.

Rank 5 – Animal Speech+ ★

When you use this ability, you may target any living creature that knows at least one language. If you target a non-animal in this way, you do not gain the ability to speak with and understand the speech of other creatures of the target’s species.

Rank 6 – Nature’s Ally+ ★

This ability also protects you and your allies from plant animates, elemental animates, and all summoned creatures.

Rank 7 – Natural Attunement+ ★

Your natural servant gains an additional attunement point.

Rank 7 – Natural Servant+ ★

You may choose to have a Large natural servant appear instead of a Medium natural servant. Increasing its size gives it a +1 Brawn defense bonus, a +1 bonus to Strength for the purpose of determining its weight limits, a -1 Reflex defense penalty, and a -4 penalty to the Stealth skill. It also increases its base speed (see Size Categories, page 15).

Ex-Druids

A druid who ceases to revere nature or who changes to a prohibited alignment loses all magical ★ druid class abilities. They cannot thereafter gain levels as a druid until they atone for their transgressions.

Fighter

Fighters are highly disciplined warriors who excel in physical combat of any kind. They have a deep mastery of the implements and strategies of battle thanks to their extensive training. Other martial characters may be physically stronger or capable of strange and improbable tricks, but fighters are unmatched as battlefield champions.

Each fighter has a different area of specialization, but most fighters have some amount of battlefield control. They can guard their allies, impede the movement of their foes, or give battle commands to their allies to guide them. This makes fighters invaluable in large-scale battles, and they are the most common class found in organized military forces. The regimented nature of army life tends to drive away many people used to more freedom, but fighters are often compatible with the discipline found in armed forces.

More broadly, fighters are the most common class in many civilized settings. A fighter's training requires no secret wisdom, and it can be self-taught or guided by a mentor. Many people undergo some battle training regardless of their ultimate path in life, leading them to discover that they may enjoy it for its own sake.

Monks are closely related to fighters, since both classes use training and discipline to improve themselves. However, monks focus more on mental control and exploring the supernatural powers that come from tapping into the body's potential. In contrast, fighters have a more grounded approach, and focus more on practical knowledge that can be directly applied to physical combat. A typical monk would consider fighters to be overly limited in their focus on day-to-day combat, while a typical fighter would consider monks to be wasting their training with mysticism and esoteric nonsense.

- Dexterity: Balance, Flexibility, Ride.
- Constitution: Endurance.
- Intelligence: Craft, Knowledge (items), Medicine.
- Perception: Awareness, Deception, Persuasion.
- Other: Intimidate.

Combat Discipline

This archetype allows you to improve your defenses and resist conditions.

Rank 1 – Disciplined Reaction

You halve all penalties to your accuracy, defenses, and speed from temporary debuffs on you. This includes the defense and speed penalties from being slowed (-10 speed, -2 Armor and Ref), the accuracy and Mental defense penalty from being frightened (-2 Mental, -2 accuracy vs. source), and so on. It does not include permanent effects, such as if you are intrinsically vulnerable (-4 defenses) to attacks.

Rank 2 – Enduring Discipline

You gain a +2 bonus to your Mental defense and fatigue tolerance.

Rank 3 – Disciplined Blow

Disciplined Blow	Standard action
Make a strike that deals extra damage equal to half your power . You cannot get a critical hit with this strike.
Miss: Half damage.

Remove all conditions affecting you. Because this ability has the Swift tag, the removed conditions do not affect you during the current phase. In addition, you briefly become immune to all conditions.

Rank 5 – Enduring Discipline+

The bonuses increase to +4.

Rank 6 – Vital Discipline

You briefly ignore the vital wound effect of each vital wound you gain. While a vital wound is delayed in this way, you do not suffer any effects from its specific vital wound effect, but you still consider it when calculating your penalties to vital rolls.

Rank 7 – True Discipline

You are immune to conditions.

Equipment Training

This archetype improves your combat prowess with weapons and armor.

Rank 1 – Armor Expertise

You gain a special ability based on the usage class of body armor you wear.

- Light or unarmored: You gain a +10 foot bonus to your speed.
- Medium: You add your full Dexterity to your Armor defense, rather than only half your Dexterity like normal for medium armor. However, the maximum Armor defense bonus you can gain from Dexterity is +4. Using a medium armor shield also does not reduce your Dexterity bonus to Armor defense, but using a heavy armor shield still halves it.
- Heavy: You gain a +1 bonus to your Armor, Brawn, and Fortitude defenses.

Rank 1 – Exotic Weapon Training

You can gain proficiency with exotic weapons at the cost of one insight point per weapon group (see Exotic Weapons, page 156). You must already be proficient with all non-exotic weapons from that weapon group.

Rank 2 – Armed and Ready

Once per round, you can draw or sheathe any non-shield weapon as a free action. This does not count against your normal one free action object manipulation per round (see Manipulating Objects, page 154).

Rank 3 – Adaptive Blow

Adaptive Blow	Standard action
	Make a strike that deals double weapon damage . In addition, choose one of the following tags: Keen , Impact , or Subdual (see Ability Tags, page 584). If the strike is a melee strike, you can alternatively choose the Long or Sweeping (1) weapon tags . The strike gains the benefit of your chosen tag if it did not already have that tag.
Rank 4:	The strike deals triple weapon damage.
Rank 5:	The strike deals extra damage equal to half your power.
Rank 6:	The strike deals five times weapon damage.
Rank 7:	The strike deals eight times weapon damage.

Rank 4 – Armored Core

While wearing body armor, you gain a +1 bonus to your Armor defense.

Rank 5 – Equipment Efficiency

Whenever you draw a weapon or don a shield, you can attune to it as a free action (see Item Attunement, page 155).

Rank 6 – Weapon Precision

You gain a +1 accuracy bonus with strikes.

Rank 7 – Armor Expertise+

You gain an additional special ability based on the usage class of your body armor.

- Light or unarmored: You take no damage from glancing blows or misses caused by abilities that affect an area and attack your Armor or Reflex defense. This does not protect you from any non-damaging effects of those abilities, or from abilities that affect multiple specific targets without affecting an area.
- Medium: You gain a +2 bonus to your Brawn, Fortitude, and Reflex defenses, up to a maximum equal to your Armor defense.
- Heavy: You double your armor's durability bonus.

Martial Mastery

This archetype grants you special abilities to use in combat.

Rank 1 – Martial Maneuvers

You can channel your martial prowess into dangerous attacks. You gain access to any combat style of your choice (see Maneuver Lists, page 224). You may spend insight points to gain access to one additional combat style per insight point. You can only learn martial maneuvers from martial combat styles that you have access to.

You learn two rank 1 martial maneuvers. You may spend insight points to learn one additional maneuver per insight point.

When you gain access to a new rank in this archetype, you can exchange any number of maneuvers you know for other maneuvers, including maneuvers of a higher rank.

Advancement: Some martial maneuvers also increase in power in unique ways based on your rank in this archetype, as indicated in their descriptions.

Rank 2 – Augmented Maneuvers

You gain the ability to customize your martial maneuvers. For each rank 1 martial maneuver you know, choose one augment from the list below and apply it to that maneuver. The augment permanently changes the maneuver, so you can't use an unaugmented version of the maneuver. However, you can learn the same maneuver more than once and apply different augments to each version.

Augments scale in power with your “excess rank”. Your excess rank with a maneuver is equal to your rank in this archetype minus the rank of the maneuver.

Whenever you increase your rank in this archetype, you can change your augments. However, you must still apply them to rank 1 martial maneuvers.

Counter Maneuver: You gain an accuracy bonus equal to twice your excess rank against creatures who made a strike against you during the previous round. You can only apply this augment to maneuvers which cause you to make a strike.

Debilitating Maneuver: You gain an accuracy bonus equal to twice your excess rank. However, you cannot get a critical hit. You can only apply this augment to maneuvers which deal damage and can inflict a condition.

Defensive Maneuver: You gain a bonus to your Armor defense equal to half your excess rank (minimum 1) when you use the maneuver. This is an Swift effect, so it protects you from attacks against you during the current phase. You can only apply this augment to maneuvers which cause you to make a strike.

Mighty Maneuver: You take a -1 accuracy penalty, but you deal extra damage equal to twice your excess rank.

Precise Maneuver: You gain an accuracy bonus equal to your excess rank.

Rank 3 – Martial Maneuvers+

You gain access to rank 3 martial maneuvers.

Rank 4 – Augmented Maneuvers+

You can also choose an augment for each of your rank 3 martial maneuvers.

You can also choose an augment for each of your rank 5 martial maneuvers.

Rank 7 – Martial Maneuvers+

Rank 1 – Bulwark

You gain a +1 bonus to all defenses.

Rank 2 – Threatening Influence

Your Huge or smaller enemies move at half speed while within a Small (15 ft.) radius emanation from you. This does not affect creatures who are moving in a straight line directly towards you. It also has no effect on enemies that are able to move through your space freely, such as incorporeal or very large creatures.

Rank 3 – Sentinel's ChallengeSentinel's Challenge

Standard action

Tags: Emotion

Make a strike.

Hit: The target is briefly goaded (-2 accuracy vs. non-goading creatures) by you. If it was already briefly goaded by you, it becomes goaded by you until it finishes a short rest.

Rank 4: You gain a +1 accuracy bonus with the strike.

Rank 7 – Demanding Challenger

Each creature that is suffering penalties for being goaded (-2 accuracy vs. non-goading creatures) by you takes an additional -2 accuracy penalty against creatures other than you.

Tactician

This archetype helps you lead your allies in combat with tactical abilities that allow you to adapt to different circumstances.

Rank 1 – Battle Tactics

You can lead your allies using tactics appropriate for the situation. Choose two battle tactics from the list below. You can also spend insight points to learn one additional battle tactic per insight point.

You can initiate a battle tactic as a minor action. When you initiate a battle tactic, you choose whether to use visual cues like gestures, auditory cues like shouts, or both to communicate your tactic with your allies. Your battle tactics can affect yourself and your allies who can either see or hear your efforts. Most battle tactics will only affect a limited number of targets. You choose the targets whenever you initiate or sustain the battle tactic.

All battle tactics have the Sustain (free) tag, so they last as long as you sustain them (see Sustained Abilities, page 46). You cannot sustain multiple battle tactics simultaneously, and any existing battle tactics end as soon as you activate another battle tactic.

Monk

Monks are agile masters of “ki” who hone their personal abilities to strike down foes and perform supernatural feats. They undergo extensive training to control their mind and body in unison, using each to improve the other. The techniques required to become a monk are strange and unintuitive, and only a legendary few can discover them on their own. Instead, most monks are trained at monasteries, where they learn how to master themselves long before they turn their attention to besting others in combat.

Unlike every other class capable of magical feats, monks draw their power entirely from themselves. They have learned to tap into the life energy within their bodies, use it to cause dramatic effects in the world around them, and then reclaim that energy instead of letting it dissipate into the world. This process is deeply dangerous if misapplied, which is why the training required to become a monk is so rigorous. Expend one’s life energy without being able to reclaim it is a fast path to inadvertent death.

Monks are famous for their ability to fight completely unarmed, and for their tendency to use unusual weapons that few non-monks use. This is more a matter of tradition than any necessity. Some monks prefer more common weapons, and any fighter could learn how to use monk weapons given time to train with them. However, the monk weapons are well suited to the fighting styles that monks learn as part of their training.

The combat training for monks often consists of dueling other monks, and rarely involves fighting non-humanoid monsters. As a result, they often try to trip, grapple, or distract their foes in combat. These strategies are all most effective against humanoid opponents.

Airdancer

This archetype improves your acrobatic ability and mobility in combat.

Rank 2 – Evasion

You take no damage from glancing blows or misses caused by abilities that affect an area and attack your Armor or Reflex defense. This does not protect you from any non-damaging effects of those abilities, or from abilities that affect multiple specific targets without affecting an area. If you have the evasion rogue ability with the same effect as this ability, you also gain a +2 bonus to your Armor and Reflex defenses against area attacks.

Rank 3 – Death From Above

Death From Above	Standard action
	You jump and move as normal for the jump (see Jumping, page 34). In addition, you can make a strike that deals 1d6 extra damage at any point during that jump.

You cannot walk in the air, but you can continue jumping or remain in place. The air holds you until the end of the current round, at which point you fall normally. After you land on air in this way, you briefly cannot do so again.

Rank 5 – Evasion+

This ability also protects you from area attacks against your Brawn, Fortitude, and Mental defenses.

Rank 6 – Float Like Air+

Rank 6 – Move Like Wind

You gain a +10 foot bonus to your speed.

Rank 7 – Airdance ★

You gain a slow fly speed with a height limit of 15 feet (see Flight, page 36). Flying using this fly speed does not cause you to suffer penalties for being midair. While flying, you can jump as if you were on solid ground, allowing you to rapidly gain height and change directions unexpectedly.

Esoteric Warrior

This archetype improves your combat prowess with unusual abilities you can use in combat.

Rank 1 – Esoteric Maneuvers

You can perform a wide variety of unusual attacks. You gain access to one of the following combat styles: dirty fighting, flurry of blows, or mobile hunter. You may spend insight points to gain access to one additional combat style per insight point, including combat styles other than those three. You can only learn esoteric maneuvers from esoteric combat styles that you have access to.

You learn two rank 1 esoteric maneuvers. You may spend insight points to learn one additional maneuver per insight point.

When you gain access to a new rank in this archetype, you can exchange any number of maneuvers you know for other maneuvers, including maneuvers of a higher rank.

Advancement: Some esoteric maneuvers also increase in power in unique ways based on your rank in this archetype, as indicated in their descriptions.

Rank 1 – Esoteric Weaponry

If you spend an insight point, you can become proficient with exotic monk weapons (see Exotic Weapons, page 156). You must already be proficient with all non-exotic monk weapons.

Rank 2 – Augmented Maneuvers

You gain the ability to customize your esoteric maneuvers. For each rank 1 esoteric maneuver you know, choose one augment from the list below and apply it to that maneuver. The augment permanently changes the maneuver, so you can't use an unaugmented version of the maneuver. However, you can learn the same maneuver more than once and apply different augments to each version.

Augments scale in power with your “excess rank”. Your excess rank with a maneuver is equal to your rank in this archetype minus the rank of the maneuver.

Whenever you increase your rank in this archetype, you can change your augments. However, you must still apply them to rank 1 esoteric maneuvers.

Counter Maneuver: You gain an accuracy bonus equal to twice your excess rank against creatures who made a strike against you during the previous round. You can only apply this augment to maneuvers which cause you to make a strike.

Debilitating Maneuver: You gain an accuracy bonus equal to twice your excess rank. However, you cannot get a critical hit. You can only apply this augment to maneuvers which deal damage and can inflict a condition.

Mighty Maneuver: You take a -1 accuracy penalty, but you deal extra damage equal to twice your excess rank.

Mobile Maneuver: You can walk up to 5 feet per excess rank before or after using your chosen maneuver, up to a maximum distance equal to your speed. You cannot apply this augment to maneuvers that already allow you to move using one of your movement modes. This movement is never Swift. If your chosen maneuver is Swift, you can only walk after using the maneuver, not before.

Precise Maneuver: You gain an accuracy bonus equal to your excess rank.

Rank 3 – Esoteric Maneuvers+

You gain access to rank 3 esoteric maneuvers.

Rank 4 – Augmented Maneuvers+

You can also choose an augment for each of your rank 3 esoteric maneuvers.

Rank 5 – Esoteric Maneuvers+

You gain access to rank 5 esoteric maneuvers.

Rank 6 – Augmented Maneuvers+

You can also choose an augment for each of your rank 5 esoteric maneuvers.

Rank 7 – Esoteric Maneuvers+

You gain access to rank 7 esoteric maneuvers.

Ki ✨

This archetype grants you unusual abilities based on tapping into your inner ki. All abilities from this archetype are magical ✨.

Rank 1 – Ki Barrier ✨

While you are not wearing other body armor, you gain a ki barrier around your body. This functions like body armor that provides a +2 bonus to your Armor defense and a +3 bonus to your durability. It does not require proficiency with armor to use.

You can also use a free hand to wield the barrier as a shield. This functions like a buckler, granting you a +1 bonus to your Armor and Reflex defenses, except that you do not need to be proficient with light armor. Since this bonus comes from a shield, it does not stack with the benefits of using any other shield.

Rank 1 – Ki Energy ✨

Whenever you make a strike, you can choose to treat it as a magical ✨ ability. This allows you to use your magical power to determine your damage instead of your mundane power (see Power, page 14).

Rank 2 – Ki Manifestations ✨

You can channel your ki to temporarily enhance your abilities. Choose two ki manifestations from the list below. You can also spend insight points to learn one additional ki manifestation per insight point.

Invested Blow ★

Standard action

Cost: Two fatigue levels (see text).

Make a strike that deals double damage. You cannot use a Heavy weapon to make the strike. It must target a single creature within Short (30 ft.) range, with no secondary targets.

Whether or not the target takes damage, it becomes invested with your ki. This does not cause it any ill effects. If it dies or falls unconscious, or you finish a short rest, your ki returns to you. When it does, you reduce your fatigue level by two.

Rank 4: You gain a +1 accuracy bonus with the strike.

Rank 5: The strike deals double weapon damage.

Rank 6: The strike deals triple weapon damage.

Rank 7: The strike deals triple damage.

Rank 5 – Ki Energy+ ★

Choose one type of energy: Cold, Electricity, or Fire. You become impervious (+4 defenses) to attacks with that ability tag. If you are already impervious to attacks with that ability tag, you become immune instead. Whenever you make a strike magical ★ with this ability, you can choose to give it that tag.

Rank 6 – Ki-Focused Mind ★

You gain a +1 bonus to your Willpower.

Rank 7 – Endless Ki ★

After using a ki manifestation, you can use a different ki manifestation next round. You still cannot use the same ki manifestation in two consecutive rounds.

Perfected Form

This archetype improves the perfection of your physical body through rigorous training.

Rank 1 – Unarmed Warrior

You deal 1d6 damage with the punch/kick natural weapon (see Natural Weapons, page 156). In addition, you treat that weapon as having the Light weapon tag, which allows you to make dual strikes with it more easily (see Dual Strikes, page 37).

Rank 1 – Unhindered Agility

You gain a +1 bonus to your Armor and Reflex defenses while you are not wearing medium or heavy body armor.

Rank 2 – Perfected Power

You gain a +1 bonus to your mundane power and magical power. If each of your Strength, Dexterity, and Constitution are 3 or higher, this bonus increases to +2.

Rank 3 – Perfect Body

Choose a physical attribute: Strength, Dexterity, or Constitution (see Attributes, page 12). You gain a +1 bonus to that attribute.

Your punch/kick natural weapon gains a +1 accuracy bonus. Since this bonus is local to the weapon, it is doubled if you make dual strikes with it.

Rank 4 – Unhindered Freedom

While you are not wearing medium or heavy body armor, you are immune to being slowed (-10 speed, -2 Armor and Ref), and your movement is not slowed by difficult terrain.

Rank 5 – Perfected Power+

The bonus increases to +2, or to +3 if you meet the attribute requirement.

Rank 6 – Perfect Body+

The bonus applies to all physical attributes, not just the one you chose.

Rank 7 – Unarmed Warrior++

Your punch/kick damage increases to 1d8.

Rank 7 – Unhindered Agility+

The defense bonus increases to +2.

Transcendent Sage

This archetype grants you abilities to ignore debilitating effects and sense life energy.

Rank 1 – Feel the Flow of Life ✨

You become so attuned to the natural energy of life that you can sense it even when sight fails you. You gain lifesense with a 120 foot range, allowing you to sense the location of living things without light (see Lifesense, page 588). In addition, you gain lifesight with a 30 foot range, allowing you to see living things without light (see Lifesight, page 588).

Rank 2 – Transcend Frailty

You gain a +2 bonus to your durability. In addition, you gain a +1 bonus to your vital rolls (see Vital Wounds, page 30).

Rank 3 – Transcend Uncertainty

You are immune to being stunned (-2 defenses) and confused (-2 defenses, randomly attack or defend).

Rank 4 – Transcend Emotion

You are immune to Emotion attacks. In addition, you are immune to being frightened (-2 Mental, -2 accuracy vs. source) and panicked (-4 Mental, cannot attack source).

Rank 5 – Transcend Mortality ✨

You are no longer considered a living creature for the purpose of attacks against you. This means that attacks which only affect living creatures have no effect against you. In addition, you no longer take penalties to your attributes for aging, and cannot be magically aged. You still die of old age when your time is up.

Rank 6 – Feel the Flow of Life+ ✨

The range of your lifesense increases by 240 feet, and the range of your lifesight increases by 60 feet.

Rank 6 – Transcend Frailty+

The durability bonus increases to +4.

Rank 7 – Inner Transcendence

You are immune to conditions.

Paladin

Paladins are divinely imbued warriors who exemplify a particular alignment. They can shift easily between physical combat and spellcasting depending on the situation. Many paladins can heal themselves and their allies, and can share their divine connection with those nearby, making them a beacon on a battlefield.

The scope of each alignment is quite broad, so even paladins of the same alignment can be as diverse in personality and morality as any other class. Paladins of law tend to be the most homogeneous in their beliefs, but even they may have stark disagreements about the rightful code to follow, and in what circumstances a personal or universal code of ethics can supercede the law in a specific territory.

Paladins are both famous and infamous for their dedication, and for their tendency to exhort those around them to act according to the paladin's ideals. There is some truth to the stereotype of the stony-faced paladin who regards any form of compromise as unacceptable. However, few of those overly zealous paladins make their way into adventuring parties. Only paladins who understand the necessity of working as an effective team with others who do not share their ideals are likely to have any success adventuring. For some paladins, this is a compromise they grudgingly make in the pursuit of the greater good - or the greater evil. Others perceive no conflict at all, and eagerly work with those of opposed alignments with the goal of demonstrating the superiority of their moral compass by example.

Of all spellcasting classes, paladins are in some ways the most limited. They have access to a relatively small number of mystic spheres. However, they are also the only spellcasting class that can naturally use heavy armor, and they have some unique abilities that can make them powerful frontline casters.

Paladins and fighters share a similar ability to influence a battlefield at a large scale while being difficult to kill. Their methods and ideology may be different, but they can often work together easily and effectively. It is more difficult to characterize the relationship between paladins and other classes, since so much depends on the paladin's alignment and personal interpretation of that alignment. Paladins of law typically despise barbarians and rogues, while paladins of chaos distrust the rigid mentality common to monks and fighters. Votives are deeply suspicious to paladins of good, though paladins of good tend to be more forgiving than other paladins. Paladins of evil despise druids who have too much respect for the sanctity of life. All paladins may have strong feelings about clerics depending on the alignment of that cleric's deity.

Alignment: Any.

Archetypes: Paladins have the Devoted Paragon, Divine Magic, Divine Spell Expertise, Stalwart Guardian, and Zealous Warrior archetypes.

Special Class Abilities

Devoted Alignment

You are devoted to a specific alignment. You must choose one of your alignment components: good, evil, lawful, or chaotic. The alignment you choose is your devoted alignment. Your paladin abilities are affected by this choice. Your alignment cannot be changed without extraordinary repurcussions.

Devoted Paragon

This archetype deepens your connection to your alignment, granting you an aura and improving your combat abilities.

Rank 1 – Aligned Aura

Your devotion to your alignment affects the world around you, bringing it closer to your ideals. You constantly radiate an aura in a Medium (30 ft.) radius emanation from you. You can create the aura as a free action, and it lasts until it is dismissed. Creating the aura has the Swift ability tag.

Whenever you create the aura, you can choose which creatures within the area are affected by the aura. You can choose whether it affects any combination of yourself, your allies, your enemies, and other creatures. The effect of the aura depends on your devoted alignment, as described below.

Chaos: Whenever a target rolls a 1 on an attack roll, the attack roll explodes (see Exploding Attacks, page 29). This does not affect bonus dice rolled for exploding attacks.

Evil: Each target suffers a -1 penalty to its Armor defense as long as it is affected by at least one condition.

Good: Whenever a targeted ally would gain a vital wound, you may gain a vital wound instead. You gain a +2 bonus to the vital roll of each vital wound you gain this way. The target suffers any other effects of the attack normally.

Law: Whenever a target rolls a 1 on an attack roll, their attack result becomes equal to 5 + their accuracy with the attack. This does not affect bonus dice rolled for exploding attacks (see Exploding Attacks, page 29).

Rank 2 – Aligned Immunity

Your devotion to your alignment grants you immunities.

Chaos: You are immune to Compulsion attacks.

Evil: You are immune to being charmed (friendly with charmer) and goaded (-2 accuracy vs. non-goaded creatures).

Good: You are immune to Curse attacks and being dominated (must obey commands).

Law: You are immune to Emotion attacks.

Rank 3 – Paragon Power

You gain a +1 bonus to your magical power and mundane power.

Rank 4 – Aligned Aura+

The effect of your aligned aura becomes stronger, as described below. In addition, the area increases to a Large (60 ft.) radius emanation from you.

Chaos: The effect triggers on rolling either a 1 or a 2.

Evil: The penalty applies to all defenses.

Good: When a targeted ally would lose hit points, you may lose those hit points instead. This causes you to suffer any special effects of the attack that trigger on taking damage or losing hit points, while the target does not. The target suffers any other effects of the attack normally.

Law: The effect triggers on rolling either a 1 or a 2.

Rank 5 – Aligned Immunity+ ✨

This immunity is shared with your allies within the area of your aligned aura.

Rank 6 – Paragon Power+

The power bonuses increase to +2.

Rank 7 – Aligned Aura++ ✨

The effect of your aligned aura reaches its full power, as described below. In addition, the area increases to a Huge (90 ft.) radius emanation from you.

Chaos: This also affects bonus dice rolled for exploding attacks.

Evil: The penalty increases to -2.

Good: The vital roll bonus increases to +10.

Law: The effect triggers on rolling anything less than a 5.

Divine Magic ✨

This archetype grants you the ability to cast divine spells. All abilities from this archetype are magical ✨.

Rank 1 – Divine Spells ✨

Your devotion to your alignment grants you the ability to use divine magic. You gain access to one divine mystic sphere, plus the universal mystic sphere (see Divine Mystic Spheres, page 251). You may spend insight points to gain access to one additional divine mystic sphere per two insight points. You can only learn divine spells from divine mystic spheres that you have access to.

You automatically learn all cantrips from each of your mystic spheres. In addition, you learn two rank 1 divine spells. You can also spend insight points to learn one additional rank 1 spell per insight point.

Divine spells require verbal components to cast (see Ability Usage Components, page 43). For details about mystic spheres and casting spells, see Spell and Ritual Mechanics, page 249.

When you gain access to a new mystic sphere or spell rank, you can forget any number of spells you know to learn that many new spells in exchange, including spells of the higher rank.

Advancement: The maximum rank of divine spells that you can learn is equal to your rank in this archetype. Divine spells also increase in power in unique ways based on your rank in this archetype, as indicated in their descriptions.

Divine Spell Expertise

This archetype improves the divine spells you cast. You must have the Divine Magic archetype from the paladin class to gain the abilities from this archetype. All abilities from this archetype are magical.

Rank 1 – Divine Conduit

Whenever you cast a targeted spell that does not have the Attune or Sustain tags, you may add yourself or a creature adjacent to you as a secondary target of the spell.

Rank 2 – Divine Spell Versatility

You learn a spell from one of the mystic spheres that are unique to divine spellcasters: channel divinity or prayer. You do not have to have access to that mystic sphere. When you gain access to new spell ranks, you can change which spell you know with this ability, including spells with a higher rank.

Stalwart Guardian

This archetype grants you healing abilities and improves your defensive prowess.

Rank 1 – Lay on Hands

Lay on Hands

Cost: One fatigue level.

Choose yourself or a living ally you touch. The target regains hit points equal to $2d6 + \text{your magical power}$. In addition, it removes one condition or poison affecting it. This removal can only affect conditions and poisons with a rank no more than two higher than your rank in this archetype.

Rank 3: The bonus healing increases to 1d6 per 2 power.

Rank 4: The base healing increases to 4d6.

Rank 5: The bonus healing increases to 1d10 per 2 power.

Rank 6: The bonus healing increases to 1d6 per power.

Rank 7: The base healing increases to 4d8, and the bonus healing increases to 1d8 per power.

You gain a +2 bonus to your durability. In addition, you gain a +1 bonus to your vital rolls (see Vital Wounds, page 30).

Rank 3 – Stalwart Defense

Rank 4 – Lay on Hands+

You can also remove a vital wound from the target. If you do, you increase your fatigue level by two. Otherwise, you are briefly focused (roll attacks twice).

Rank 5 – Stalwart Resilience+

This durability bonus increases to +4, and the vital roll bonus increases to +2.

Rank 6 – Stalwart Core

You gain a +1 bonus to your Constitution.

Rank 7 – Last to Fall

Each vital wound you suffer only causes a -1 penalty to vital rolls instead of the normal -2 penalty. In addition, whenever you gain a vital wound, you remove one of your fatigue levels.

Zealous Warrior

This archetype improves your combat prowess, especially against foes who do not share your devoted alignment.

Rank 1 – Smite ⭐

Smite ⭐

Standard action

Make a strike. You add half your Strength to your magical power to determine your total power with this ability (see Power, page 14). If the target has your devoted alignment, you take damage equal to half your power (minimum 1), even if you miss with the strike.

Rank 2: You add your full Strength instead of half your Strength.

Rank 3: You deal extra damage equal to half your power.

Rank 4: The strike deals double weapon damage.

Rank 5: The extra damage increases to be equal to your power.

Rank 6: The strike deals quadruple weapon damage.

Rank 7: The extra damage increases to 1d6 per 2 power.

Rank 2 – Detect Anathema ⭐

Detect Anathema ⭐

Minor action

Tags: Detection

You know the number of creatures within a Large (60 ft.) cone from you that have the alignment opposed to your devoted alignment. This does not give you any specific information about the location of those creatures. Since this is a Detection ability, it can penetrate some solid obstacles (see Detection, page 584).

Rank 4: You also learn the location of all creatures with that alignment.

Rank 6: The area changes to a Large (60 ft.) radius instead of a cone.

Rank 3 – Fearless Zeal

You are immune to being frightened (-2 Mental, -2 accuracy vs. source) and panicked (-4 Mental, cannot attack source).

Rank 4 – Zealous Fixation ⭐

Whenever you miss or glance a creature with a strike, you briefly reroll your attack rolls against that creature once and keep the higher result. This does not affect your attack rolls against other creatures.

Rank 5 – Zealous Offense

You gain a +1 accuracy bonus.

Rank 6 – Unwavering Zeal

You are immune to being dazzled (20% miss chance, no special vision) and blinded (50% miss chance, -2 defenses).

Rank 7 – Pass Judgment ⭐

Pass Judgment ⭐

Minor action

Tags: Subtle

Cost: One fatigue level.

Choose one creature within Distant (120 ft.) range. You always gain the benefit of your zealous fixation ability against that creature. In addition, the target is treated as if it had the alignment opposed to your devoted alignment for the purpose of all abilities, not just your own. This only affects its alignment along the alignment axis your devoted alignment is on. For example, if your devoted alignment was evil, a chaotic neutral target would be treated as chaotic good. This effect lasts until you treat that creature as an ally, or until you dismiss this ability.

You can use this ability to do battle against foes who share your alignment, but you should exercise caution in doing so. Persecution of those who share your ideals can lead you to fall and become an ex-paladin.

Ex-Paladins

If you cease to follow your devoted alignment, you lose all magical ⭐ paladin class abilities. If you atone for your misdeeds and resume the service of your devoted alignment, you can regain your abilities.

Ranger

Rangers are skilled hunters who bridge the divide between nature and civilization. They are typically most at home on the frontiers, keeping monsters and civilized groups from interfering with each other. Different rangers may have more personal affinity for civilization or for monsters.

Like druids and monks, rangers are seldom self-taught. Just as rangers occupy a middle space between society and the wilds beyond it, their abilities are a complex combination of training, experience, and gifts granted by Gaia. The vast majority of people who might attempt to learn how to be a ranger on their own would focus too much on only one aspect of a ranger's abilities. These people might find the path to becoming a fighter, druid, or rogue instead.

Rangers draw their core power from their training, which includes extensive experience with weapons and armaments like a fighter. However, they also study the natural world and the environment around them. This study is more focused on practical knowledge about survival and hunting than the more reverent study of druids. During this wilderness experience, some rangers forge a deep bond with a single animal who follows them everywhere. This bond is intensified by Gaia's influence, and has a hint of her magic in it. Others shy away from that level of commitment or find no meaning in it, and prefer a more solitary hunt.

Traditionally, a ranger's training occurs under an experienced ranger leader. Some rangers train small packs of new recruits at once, while others prefer to oversee a single apprentice. There are many ways that a would-be ranger might find a mentor, but no single certain way. Rangers in the wild do not tend to maintain long-term societal bonds like druidic circles, so there are fewer obvious ways to easily find an experienced mentor. Without druidic magic for long-distance communication, rangers struggle to maintain cohesion across the vast territories that they patrol, so they typically make no attempt to do so.

Rangers are sometimes employed by a government to keep its borders safe from monsters. They may also be found as bounty hunters, using their skills to hunt prey within civilization instead of at its edges. Still others live among druidic circles. More than any other class, rangers struggle to find a place to fully call home, and may wander between widely varied walks of life for years at a time. They are caught between worlds, and only some rangers find peace in that division.

Alignment: Any.

Archetypes: Rangers have the Beastmaster, Boundary Warden, Huntmaster, Scout, and Wilderness Warrior archetypes.

Animal Companion ★	8 hours
Tags: Attune, Emotion
This ability requires eight hours of training with a non-elite Medium or smaller animal ally. Its level must not exceed your level. The target serves as a loyal companion to you. It follows your directions to the best of its ability.
Your magical connection to the animal improves its resilience and strength in combat. Its combat statistics are replaced with the values below. All other aspects of the animal, such as its speed and natural weapons, are unchanged. Animals are unable to understand complex concepts, so their ability to obey convoluted instructions is limited. Generally, your animal companion acts immediately before or after your action in combat, though the GM may decide that it acts separately in specific circumstances.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Its size category is Medium, and its base speed is 30 feet. Its level is equal to your level. It has no resources, and it cannot use abilities that would increase its fatigue level. Its maximum hit points are equal to your level x your rank in this archetype, plus 10 additional hit points. Its injury point is equal to half its maximum hit points. Each of its defenses is equal to 4 + half your level. Its accuracy is equal to your accuracy, but it makes its own attack rolls. Its power is equal to half your power. You can use the higher of your mundane power and magical power for this ability. It does not make vital rolls, but it automatically drops unconscious if it gains a vital wound. If it gains three vital wounds, it dies.
Rank 2: The animal gains a +1 bonus to all defenses.
Rank 3: The animal's power becomes equal to your power.
Rank 4: The animal gains a +1 accuracy bonus with strikes.
Rank 5: The animal's strikes deal double weapon damage.
Rank 6: The accuracy bonus increases to +2.
Rank 7: The animal's strikes deal triple weapon damage.

		Rank 6: The extra damage increases to 2d10 + half your power.

Rank 7 – Animal Companion+ ★
		Your animal companion gains an additional attunement point. In addition, its bonuses to defenses increases to +2.

Wilderness Warrior

This archetype grants you abilities to use in combat and improves your physical skills.

Rank 1 – Wild Maneuvers

You can channel your connection to the wilderness into dangerous attacks. You gain access to one of the following combat styles: mobile hunter, perfect precision, or rip and tear. You may spend insight points to gain access to one additional combat style per insight point, including combat styles other than those three. You can only learn wild maneuvers from wild combat styles that you have access to.

You learn two rank 1 wild maneuvers. You may spend insight points to learn one additional maneuver per insight point.

When you gain access to a new rank in this archetype, you can exchange any number of maneuvers you know for other maneuvers, including maneuvers of a higher rank.

Advancement: Some wild maneuvers also increase in power in unique ways based on your rank in this archetype, as indicated in their descriptions.

Rank 2 – Augmented Maneuvers

You gain the ability to customize your wild maneuvers. For each rank 1 wild maneuver you know, choose one augment from the list below and apply it to that maneuver. The augment permanently changes the maneuver, so you can't use an unaugmented version of the maneuver. However, you can learn the same maneuver more than once and apply different augments to each version.

Augments scale in power with your “excess rank”. Your excess rank with a maneuver is equal to your rank in this archetype minus the rank of the maneuver.

Whenever you increase your rank in this archetype, you can change your augments. However, you must still apply them to rank 1 wild maneuvers.

Distant Maneuver: The range of your chosen maneuver doubles, and any longshot penalty that would apply is reduced by an amount equal to your excess rank. If your excess rank is at least 4, the range triples instead. You can only apply this augment to maneuvers that have a listed range.

Mighty Maneuver: You take a -1 accuracy penalty, but you deal extra damage equal to twice your excess rank.

Mobile Maneuver: You can walk up to 5 feet per excess rank before or after using your chosen maneuver, up to a maximum distance equal to your speed. You cannot apply this augment to maneuvers that already allow you to move using one of your movement modes. This movement is never Swift. If your chosen maneuver is Swift, you can only walk after using the maneuver, not before.

Precise Maneuver: You gain an accuracy bonus equal to your excess rank.

Widened Maneuver: The area affected by your chosen maneuver doubles. If your excess rank is at least 4, the area triples instead. You can only apply this augment to maneuvers that affect an area.

Rank 3 – Wild Maneuvers+

You gain access to rank 3 wild maneuvers.

Rank 4 – Augmented Maneuvers+

You can also choose an augment for each of your rank 3 wild maneuvers.

Rank 5 – Wild Maneuvers+

You gain access to rank 5 wild maneuvers.

Rank 6 – Augmented Maneuvers+

You can also choose an augment for each of your rank 5 wild maneuvers.

Rank 7 – Wild Maneuvers+

You gain access to rank 7 wild maneuvers.

Rogue

Rogues are exceptionally skillful characters known for their ability to strike at their foe's weak points in combat. It is dangerous to make any assumptions about rogues. They can be acrobatic fighters, charismatic tricksters, inspiring musicians, stealthy assassins, or all of the above. All rogues share a fundamental flexibility, preferring to use the right tools for the situation rather than solving all of their problems in the same way.

A rogue's power fundamentally comes from experience, but it is seldom the rigorous, structured training that a fighter or monk might undertake. More often, rogues develop their talents by following their instincts and seeing what works and what doesn't. They may have a natural gift for persuasion that they develop into a fine edge through years of charismatic conversations. The back alleys of cities are a natural training ground, where education comes in the form of evading or receiving punishments for misdeeds.

While most of a rogue's skills are intuitively understandable and mundane, bardic music is an odd exception. There is an underlying structure to the universe that some scholars call the Universal Harmony. Exceptionally talented performances can hit tones that resonate with the Universal Harmony, which amplifies the effects of the performance beyond mundane limits. This is always a simple amplification, taking effects that would be a natural result of the music and multiplying their effects. A humorous musical piece can become outrageously funny, and an ominous piece can become utterly terrifying, but the full complexity of true spellcasting cannot be replicated in this way.

Some rogues discover the effects of the Universal Harmony for themselves. There also exist bardic colleges that are dedicated to the study and replication of effects amplified in this way, and rogues may attend these colleges to deepen their skills. Officially,

Table 6.9: Rogue Archetypes

2	Evasion	Bardic lore	Augmented maneuvers	Skill exemplar	Silver tongue

6	Evasion+	Bardic lore+	Augmented maneuvers+	Well rounded	Silver tongue+

bardic colleges train their attendees in musical theory and practical performance. Unofficially, many bardic colleges have recognized that many of their students have a variety of less reputable talents. These colleges may have night classes that train rogues in other skills, including effective deception and even assassination. They maintain a level of plausible deniability, but would-be rogues can often discover the truth and complete their training there.

Alignment: Any.

Archetypes: Rogues have the Assassin, Bardic Music, Combat Trickster, Jack of All Trades, and Suave Scoundrel archetypes.

Rank 1 – Exotic Assassination Tools

If you spend an insight point, you can become proficient with all Compact and Light exotic weapons (see Exotic Weapons, page 156). You must already be proficient with all Compact and Light non-exotic weapons.

Rank 1 – Sneak Attack

Sneak Attack	Standard action
Make a strike with a Light or Compact weapon against a creature within Short (30 ft.) range (see Weapon Tags, page 156).
The strike deals 1d4 extra damage if the target is unaware (-5 defenses) or partially unaware (-2 defenses) of your attack, or if they are adjacent to one of your allies . This extra damage is doubled if the target is fully unaware of your attack. It does not apply if the target is immune to critical hits .
Rank 2: The extra damage increases to 1d6. Rank 3: The extra damage increases to 1d10. Rank 4: The extra damage increases to 2d8. Rank 5: The extra damage increases to 3d10. Rank 6: The extra damage increases to 5d10. Rank 7: The extra damage increases to 8d10.

Rank 2 – Evasion

You take no damage from glancing blows or misses caused by abilities that affect an area and attack your Armor or Reflex defense. This does not protect you from any non-damaging effects of those abilities, or from abilities that affect multiple specific targets without affecting an area.

Rank 3 – Darkstalker

Darkstalker	Standard action
Tags: Attune
You become completely undetectable by your choice of one of the following sense groups:
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Blindsight and blindsight • Darkvision • Detection abilities • Lifesense and lifesight • Scent • Scrying abilities • Tremorsense and tremorsight If you have access to any other more unusual senses, such as the mindsight ability from the Telepath feat, you may also choose one of those senses as a separate sense group. You can attune to this ability multiple times. Each time, you can choose a different sense group.

Rank 4 – Assassin’s Grace

You gain a +1 bonus to your Dexterity.

Rank 5 – Assassination

Assassination	Standard action
You study a creature within Medium (60 ft.) range, finding weak points you can take advantage of. As a brief effect, whenever you make a strike against the target while it is adjacent to you and unaware (-5 defenses) of the attack, the strike deals double damage.

Rank 6 – Evasion+

This ability also protects you from area attacks against your Brawn, Fortitude, and Mental defenses.

Rank 7 – Darkstalker+

Each time you attune to this ability, you can choose up to three of the possible sense groups rather than only one.

Bardic Music

This archetype grants you the ability to inspire your allies and impair your foes with musical performances.

Rank 1 – Bardic Performances ✨

You learn two bardic performances from the list below. You can also spend insight points to learn one additional bardic performance per insight point.

When you use a bardic performance ability, you begin a performance using a Perform skill. If you are not trained with that Perform skill, you take a -2 accuracy penalty with the bardic performance ability. There are four types of performances: dance, instrumental, manipulation, and vocal.

- Dance: You use your body to dance or act. This limits your ability to defend yourself, giving you a -2 penalty to your Armor and Reflex defenses as a Swift effect. Dance performances have the Visual tag.
- Instrumental: You use an instrument to make music. This requires at least one free hand to use the instrument. Instrumental performances have the Auditory tag.
- Manipulation: You use objects or gestures to perform, such as juggling or puppetry. This requires at least one free hand to use the objects. Manipulation performances have the Visual tag.
- Vocal: You use your voice to orate or sing. This prevents you from talking or using other abilities with verbal components. Vocal performances have the Auditory tag.

The names of bardic performances do not have to precisely match your actual performance. For example, you can use the palliative poem ability with a gentle song using Perform (wind instruments) or a distracting joke using Perform (comedy) instead of a poem.

Many bardic performances require you to sustain the performance as a minor action. When you use a bardic performance ability again while you are already sustaining that same ability, you can increase the number of targets affected by your existing performance rather than starting a separate performance. Sustaining that single performance allows the effect to continue on any number of targets. Using a different bardic performance ability would require starting a separate performance. You can only sustain one bardic performance per round, even if you have multiple minor actions available.

If a target of a sustained bardic performance ability stop being able to see or hear you, depending on the nature of your performance, the effect ends for them as if you had stopped sustaining the performance. However, targets do not stop being affected by your performance simply by travelling beyond the initial range of the bardic performance ability.

Rank 2 – Bardic Lore

You gain a bonus equal to your rank in this archetype to Knowledge skills that you are untrained in (see Trained Skills, page 15).

Rank 3 – Rhythm of War

You gain a +1 bonus to your magical power and mundane power. If you know at least five bardic performances, this bonus increases to +2.

Rank 4 – Virtuoso

Your bardic performances with the Sustain (minor) tag instead have the Sustain (free) tag. You can still only sustain one bardic performance per round.

Rank 5 – Critical Eye

You are impervious (+4 defenses) to Visual attacks.

Rank 5 – Steady Beat

You are immune to Auditory attacks.

Rank 6 – Bardic Lore+

You gain a +2 bonus to all Knowledge skills.

Rank 7 – All the World's a Stage

Your targeted bardic performance abilities no longer have range limits. Instead, you can target any creatures who can see or hear you, even if you do not have line of sight or line of effect. You must still decide who you are intending to target, and attempting to target a nonexistent creature can cause the bardic performance to fail without effect. This does not affect area abilities, and it does not increase the number of targets you can choose.

Combat Trickster

This archetype grants you abilities to use in combat and improves your combat prowess.

Rank 1 – Trick Maneuvers

You can confuse and confound your foes in combat. You gain access to one of the following combat styles: dirty fighting, ebb and flow, or mobile hunter. You may spend insight points to gain access to one additional combat style per insight point, including combat styles other than those three. You can only learn trick maneuvers from trick combat styles that you have access to.

You learn two rank 1 trick maneuvers. You may spend insight points to learn one additional maneuver per insight point.

When you gain access to a new rank in this archetype, you can exchange any number of maneuvers you know for other maneuvers, including maneuvers of a higher rank.

Advancement: Some trick maneuvers also increase in power in unique ways based on your rank in this archetype, as indicated in their descriptions.

Rank 2 – Augmented Maneuvers

You gain the ability to customize your trick maneuvers. For each rank 1 trick maneuver you know, choose one augment from the list below and apply it to that maneuver. The augment permanently changes the maneuver, so you can't use an unaugmented version of the maneuver. However, you can learn the same maneuver more than once and apply different augments to each version.

Augments scale in power with your “excess rank”. Your excess rank with a maneuver is equal to your rank in this archetype minus the rank of the maneuver.

Whenever you increase your rank in this archetype, you can change your augments. However, you must still apply them to rank 1 trick maneuvers.

Debilitating Maneuver: You gain an accuracy bonus equal to twice your excess rank. However, you cannot get a critical hit. You can only apply this augment to maneuvers which deal damage and can inflict a condition.

Finishing Maneuver: You gain an accuracy bonus equal to twice your excess rank against creatures who are injured.

Mighty Maneuver: You take a -1 accuracy penalty, but you deal extra damage equal to twice your excess rank.

Mobile Maneuver: You can walk up to 5 feet per excess rank before or after using your chosen maneuver, up to a maximum distance equal to your speed. You cannot apply this augment to maneuvers that already allow you to move using one of your movement modes. This movement is never Swift. If your chosen maneuver is Swift, you can only walk after using the maneuver, not before.

Precise Maneuver: You gain an accuracy bonus equal to your excess rank.

Rank 3 – Trick Maneuvers+

You gain access to rank 3 trick maneuvers.

Rank 4 – Augmented Maneuvers+

You can also choose an augment for each of your rank 3 trick maneuvers.

Rank 5 – Trick Maneuvers+

You gain access to rank 5 trick maneuvers.

Rank 6 – Augmented Maneuvers+

You can also choose an augment for each of your rank 5 trick maneuvers.

Rank 7 – Trick Maneuvers+

You gain access to rank 7 trick maneuvers.

Rank 3 – Arcane Dilettante ✨

You can use wands as if you were able to cast arcane spells. Your maximum spell rank is equal to your rank in this archetype. In addition, you gain an additional attunement point. You can only use this attunement point to attune to magic wands.

Rank 4 – Versatile Expertise

You gain a +1 bonus to an attribute of your choice.

Rank 5 – Skill Exemplar+

The skill bonus increases to +2. In addition, using the desperate exertion ability to affect a skill check only increases your fatigue level by one.

Rank 6 – Well Rounded ✨

You gain a +1 bonus to all of your defenses that are lower than your highest defense.

Rank 7 – Versatile Expertise+

You gain a +1 bonus to two attributes of your choice.

Suave Scoundrel

This archetype improves your deceptiveness and helps you make use of that talent in combat.

Each target must be aware of the attack or check. You must use this ability before making the attack or check. If a target is unaware of the attack or check, or is otherwise immune to this ability, you use your normal accuracy or check modifier against that creature.

Rank 2 – Silver Tongue ✨

You gain a +2 bonus to your Deception, Persuasion, and Social Insight skills.

It must spend its movement and standard action to move to that location, or if it is already there, to do nothing except observe the location carefully. It can use any other actions, including elite actions, as normal. After this effect ends, the target becomes immune to it until it finishes a short rest.

You gain a +2 accuracy bonus with the attack for each rank beyond 3.

Rank 4 – Slippery Mind ✨

You gain a +2 bonus to your Mental defense, and you are impervious (+4 defenses) to Emotion attacks.

Rank 5 – Fool Them Twice

Sorcerer

Sorcerers are arcane spellcasters who are inherently magical. They require no training or external sources to access their magical abilities. Many sorcerers intuitively used their magic to influence their surroundings long before they understood exactly what they were doing, or that they were tapping into powers others could not.

Of all classes, sorcerers are the most likely to be completely self-trained. Each sorcerer has a unique connection to their magical nature, and they often have idiosyncratic requirements or limitations. For example, a sorcerer may feel ravenously hungry after tapping into their powers, or they may need to spend time upside down each day to “recharge” their magic.

The gestures and incantations spoken by sorcerers are similarly diverse - if they require any spellcasting components at all. Some sorcerers channel their magic through martial arts and battle cries, and may be easily confused with barbarians or monks. Others believe their magic comes from external forces, such as nature spirits or strange entities that they imagine for themselves. Still others study magic extensively and imagine themselves to be wizards, but their conclusions are nonsensical and no one else can replicate their findings. The only certainty is that each sorcerer is unique.

The true cause of a sorcerer’s magic has more consistency than its expression. Sorcerers do not draw power from their life energy or any internal storage, like monks do. Instead, they directly manipulate the primal forces of the universe, as wizards do. Sorcerers are intrinsic conduits for that raw power, and they can deepen their connection with experience. A sorcerer’s nature is fundamentally their birthright, and it cannot be learned.

Of course, that doesn’t entirely explain why sorcerers are intrinsic conduits. No one knows exactly how to predict or explain sorcerous potential. However, sorcerers are much more common in bloodlines that have immortal ancestors. Most commonly, this means draconic ancestry, and some sorcerers specifically tap into their draconic potential. However, celestial or infernal heritage is also not unheard of, and even stranger ancestry is possible. In addition, sorcerers seem to be more common in areas that have been affected by powerful magic.

Alignment: Any.

Archetypes: Sorcerers have the Arcane Magic, Arcane Spell Mastery, Draconic Magic, Innate Arcanist, and Wild Magic archetypes.

Arcane Magic ✨

This archetype grants you the ability to cast arcane spells. All abilities from this archetype are magical ✨.

Rank 1 – Arcane Spells ✨

Your innate talents grant you the ability to use arcane magic. You gain access to one arcane mystic sphere, plus the universal mystic sphere (see Arcane Mystic Spheres, page 250). You may spend insight points to gain access to one additional arcane mystic sphere per two insight points. You can only learn arcane spells from arcane mystic spheres that you have access to.

You automatically learn all cantrips from each of your mystic spheres. In addition, you learn two rank 1 arcane spells. You can also spend insight points to learn one additional rank 1 spell per insight point.

Arcane spells require both verbal components and somatic components to cast (see Ability Usage Components, page 43). For details about mystic spheres and casting spells, see Spell and Ritual Mechanics, page 249.

When you gain access to a new mystic sphere or spell rank, you can forget any number of spells you know to learn that many new spells in exchange, including spells of the higher rank.

Advancement: The maximum rank of arcane spells that you can learn is equal to your rank in this archetype. Arcane spells also increase in power in unique ways based on your rank in this archetype, as indicated in their descriptions.

Rank 1 – Mage Armor ✨

Mage Armor ✨

Standard action

You create a translucent suit of magical armor on your body and over your hands. This functions like body armor that provides a +2 bonus to your Armor defense and durability. It does not require proficiency with armor to use.

You can also use a free hand to wield the barrier as a shield. This functions like a buckler, granting you a +1 bonus to your Armor and Reflex defenses, except that you do not need to be proficient with light armor. Since this bonus comes from a shield, it does not stack with the benefits of using any other shield.

This ability lasts until you dismiss it or until you use it again. In addition, it is automatically dismissed if you wear other body armor of any kind.

Arcane Spell Mastery ✨

This archetype improves the arcane spells you cast. You must have the Arcane Magic archetype from the sorcerer class to gain the abilities from this archetype. All abilities from this archetype are magical ✨.

Rank 1 – Arcane Dynamo ✨

You gain a +1 bonus to your magical power. If your Constitution is 4 or higher, you gain an additional +1 bonus.

Rank 2 – Metamagic ✨

You learn how to further refine your spellcasting abilities. Choose two metamagic abilities from the list below.

Some metamagic abilities affect specific spells. Each individual spell can only have one metamagic applied. Whenever you learn a new spell, you may change which specific spells your metamagic abilities affect.

Distant Spell: Choose an arcane spell you know with a standard range: Short (30 ft.), Medium (60 ft.), Long (90 ft.), Distant (120 ft.), or Extreme (180 ft.). You increase that spell's range to the next standard range category, to a maximum of Extreme range. You can choose this ability multiple times, choosing a different spell each time.

Dragonbreath Spell: Choose an arcane spell you know that has a standard area: Tiny (5 ft.), Small (15 ft.), Medium (30 ft.), Large (60 ft.), Huge (90 ft.), or Gargantuan (120 ft.). It must not have a range, and it must not create an emanation. The spell's area becomes a cone instead of its normal shape. In addition, if the area was not originally a line, the area increases to the next standard area category, to a maximum of a Gargantuan area. You can choose this ability multiple times, choosing a different spell each time.

Energetic Spell: Choose an arcane spell you know. You add any one of the following tags to that spell: Cold, Fire, or Electricity. In addition, if it deals damage, it gains extra damage equal to your rank in this archetype. You can choose this ability multiple times, choosing a different spell each time.

Precise Spell: Choose an arcane spell you know. You gain a +1 accuracy bonus with that spell. You can choose this ability multiple times, choosing a different spell each time.

Widened Spell: Choose an arcane spell you know with a standard area: Tiny (5 ft.), Small (15 ft.), Medium (30 ft.), Large (60 ft.), Huge (90 ft.), or Gargantuan (120 ft.). The spell cannot also be affected by the Dragonbreath Spell metamagic. You increase that spell's area to the next standard area category, to a maximum of a Gargantuan area. You can choose this ability multiple times, choosing a different spell each time.

Rank 3 – Spell Knowledge ✨

You learn an additional arcane spell.

Rank 4 – Spell-Trained Mind ✨

You gain a +1 bonus to your Willpower.

Rank 5 – Metamagic+ ✨

You gain an additional metamagic ability.

Rank 6 – Attunement Point ✨

You gain an additional attunement point.

Rank 7 – Experienced Spellcaster ✨

You gain a +1 bonus to your accuracy and Fortitude defense.

Draconic Magic

Not all sorcerers know the reason for their innate connection to magic. Some discover that they have draconic blood in their veins, and some of those sorcerers learn how to tap into their heritage. This archetype deepens your magical connection to your draconic ancestor and enhances your spellcasting. You must have the Arcane Magic archetype from the sorcerer class to gain the abilities from this archetype.

Rank 1 – Draconic Bloodline

Choose a type of dragon from among the dragons on Table 6.11: Draconic Bloodline Types. You have the blood of that type of dragon in your veins. You are impervious (+4 defenses) to attacks with that dragon's associated ability tag.

Table 6.11: Draconic Bloodline Types

Dragon	Tag	Mystic Sphere
Black	Acid	Vivimancy
Blue	Electricity	Electromancy
Brass	Fire	Enchantment
Bronze	Electricity	Revelation
Copper	Acid	Terramancy
Gold	Fire	Photomancy
Green	Acid	Compulsion
Red	Fire	Pyromancy
Silver	Cold	Telekinesis
White	Cold	Cryomancy

Rank 1 – Draconic Spell ✨

You learn a spell from your dragon's mystic sphere, even if you do not have access to that mystic sphere.

Rank 2 – Draconic Hide

You gain a +3 bonus to your durability.

Rank 3 – Draconic Precision ✨

You gain a +1 accuracy bonus with any ability that has your dragon's associated ability tag.

Rank 4 – Draconic Body

You gain a +1 bonus to your Constitution.

Rank 5 – Energy Immunity

You become immune to attacks that have your dragon's associated ability tag.

Rank 6 – Draconic Hide+

The durability bonus increases to +5.

Rank 7 – Draconic Mind ✨

You gain a +1 bonus to your Intelligence and Willpower.

Innate Arcanist

This archetype deepens your innate connection to arcane magic and improves your ability to defeat other spellcasters. You must have the Arcane Magic archetype from the sorcerer class to gain the abilities from this archetype. All abilities from this archetype are magical .

Rank 1 – Innate Magic

None of your arcane spells have somatic components or verbal components.

Rank 2 – Arcane Infusion

You gain a +1 enhancement bonus to your Constitution.

Rank 3 – Intuitive Echo

Whenever another creature uses a magical  ability within Medium (60 ft.) range of you as a standard action or elite action, you automatically briefly trace that ability. The ability must not have the Attune or Sustain tags, and it must not cost fatigue to use.

As a standard action, you can use any ability that you have traced. After you decide to use a traced ability, you intuitively learn what it does, including its accuracy and any effects it would have on a hit. You can choose the area and targets affected by it. In all other ways, the ability functions in the same way as when it was originally used, including its original accuracy and power. All attacks you make with that ability are reactive attacks, so you cannot modify them with abilities like desperate exertion.

As a minor action, you can persist one ability that you have traced. This means it remains traced until you finish a long rest. When you persist an ability in this way, you stop persisting any other traced abilities.

Rank 4 – Implement Freedom

You can gain the benefits of one magical implement that requires a single free hand, such as a short staff or wand, without having to hold it in your hands. You must still have it on your person, such as in a pocket or strapped to your back, and you must still be attuned to it to gain its benefits. This ability only affects one implement at a time.

Rank 5 – Arcane Infusion+

You gain a +1 enhancement bonus to a different attribute of your choice.

Rank 6 – Intuitive Echo+

You can trace abilities at up to Distant (120 ft.) range. In addition, you can persist up to three magical abilities that you have traced. If you persist a fourth ability, you choose which persisted ability to remove. You still lose all persisted abilities when you finish a long rest.

Rank 7 – Mystic Supremacy

You gain a +2 bonus to your defenses against magical  attacks. In addition, you are immune to magical attacks from creatures that are rank 5 or lower.

Wild Magic

This archetype makes the magic you cast more chaotic, generally increasing its power at the cost of your control over your magic. You must have the Arcane Magic archetype from the sorcerer class to gain the abilities from this archetype. All abilities from this archetype are magical .

Rank 1 – Wildspell

Whenever you cast a damaging spell that does not have the Attune or Sustain tags, you may use this ability after making all other decisions for the spell (such as targets, intended area, and so on). When you do, roll 1d10 and apply the corresponding wild magic effect from the table below.

Roll	Effect
1	The spell has no immediate effect, but it repeats during your next action
2	You are a target of the spell in addition to any other targets, but with a -4 accuracy penalty against yourself
3	Your first attack roll with the spell only explodes on a 1 or 2
4	You gain a +10 accuracy bonus with the spell, but cannot get a critical hit
5	The spell gains the Cold , Electricity , and Fire ability tags
6	The spell's area is doubled
7	The spell chains once to the unaffected enemy that is closest to one of the spell's primary targets , choosing randomly between equally close creatures
8	The spell deals extra damage equal to your rank in this archetype
9	Each target hit by the spell is briefly confused (-2 defenses , randomly attack or defend), braced (+2 defenses), and focused (roll attacks twice)
10	Your first attack roll with the spell explodes on any value, not just on a 10
11+	The spell repeats during your next action

Some wild magic effects cannot be meaningfully applied to all spells. For example, doubling the area of a spell does not affect spells that do not affect an area. Any wildspell effects that do not make sense for a particular spell have no effect.

Rank 2 – Chaotic Insight

You learn a spell that does not have the Attune or Sustain tags from any mystic sphere, even if you do not have access to that mystic sphere. The spell does not have to be from a mystic sphere on the arcane mystic sphere list. As normal, you can change which spell you learn with this ability as you gain access to new spell ranks.

Rank 3 – Chaotic Exertion

You gain a +2 bonus to the roll when you use the desperate exertion ability. This bonus stacks with the normal +2 bonus provided by that ability.

Rank 4 – Desperate Wildspell

If you use the desperate exertion ability on a spell affected by this ability, you can reroll the wild magic roll for that spell in addition to the normal effects of the desperate exertion ability. You do not gain any bonus to the wild magic reroll.

Rank 5 – Chaotic Insight+ ✨

You learn an additional spell with this ability.

Rank 6 – Chaotic Exertion+ ✨

Once per short rest, you can use the desperate exertion ability without increasing your fatigue level.

Rank 7 – Wildspell+ ✨

You gain a +2 bonus to the wild magic roll.

Votive

Votives are pact spellcasters who draw power from a powerful ally through a binding magical pact. In life, they gain great magical power. However, their soul passes to their soulkeeper on death, and the pact may have other costs as well.

Many people view votives with suspicion. Votives wield power that is not entirely their own, and may not have any great training or wisdom about how to apply it appropriately. Many are short-term thinkers, prioritizing their present needs over the long-term costs, just as they did when they made their pacts. In addition, votives may act as unknowing pawns in the cosmic games of their soulkeepers.

Votives are typically self-taught, or more accurately, educated by their soulkeeper in the use of their powers. It is not uncommon for votives to search for votive mentors so they can master their powers without completely trusting their soulkeeper. These relationships are typically based on contracts and expectations of future services from the apprentice once their training is complete, just like a soul pact. A certain level of mistrust is common, and apprentices sometimes successfully betray their mentors, just like they hope to escape their soulkeeper's clutches. To minimize the danger of these relationships, votive mentors almost never take more than a single apprentice at a time.

Clerics and votives have a complicated relationship. From a certain perspective, they both gain power in exchange for their service to a powerful extraplanar entity. Votives often enjoy emphasizing the similarity, which can be a useful rhetorical tool to mitigate anti-votive prejudice. For their part, clerics tend to strongly disagree with this analogy.

Rogues tend to get along better with votives than most classes do. Many rogues have a “do whatever works” attitude that helps them understand why votives would make a soul pact, even if they might not make the same pact themselves. In addition, rogues are generally flexible about their companions, and wouldn't begrudge having a votive in a group as long as the votive doesn't cause problems.

Special Class Abilities

Soul Pact ✨

To become a votive, you must make a pact with a creature capable of sharing its power with you. That creature is called your soulkeeper, and it will claim your soul for a period of time following your death.

Your soulkeeper may gain other benefits after your death as well. In exchange, it will grant you power during your mortal life.

Your pact forges a deep connection between you and your soulkeeper. This grants your soulkeeper the ability to observe your actions and communicate with you in limited ways. Communication from your soulkeeper typically manifests as unnatural emotional urges, whispered voices audible only to you, or intrusive thoughts you can recognize as not your own. Each soulkeeper will have its own goals and communication style.

As part of the terms of a typical pact, your soulkeeper cannot prevent you from being resurrected after death. However, if your pact imposes a time limit on how long your soulkeeper can retain your soul after death, resurrection restarts that time from zero.

Soulkeepers

There are four common types of soulkeeper: devils, fae, moirai, and precursors. Each type of soulkeeper has different terms for its pacts and offers different rewards.

Devils: Devils are lawful evil creatures native to the Abyss, the Spiritual Plane of evil. Their pacts offer the most generous terms of all soulkeepers, in theory. They impose no restrictions on your actions in life, and only affect your soul after death. A typical devil will keep your soul in the Abyss for one year for each year that you live after making the pact, to a minimum of ten years. Particularly long-lived species like elves can often negotiate better terms than this. If your soul survives this period intact, it will proceed to its normal afterlife with no permanent cost. Devils offer this bargain because they are experts in torture. They can reliably break the will of their votives during that time period, allowing them to permanently gain the power of a full soul.

Power struggles in the Abyss are common, and mortal souls are an important currency there. It is possible for one devil to assume control over another devil's souls, becoming the new soulkeeper for their votives.

Devil soulkeepers tend to be engaged and communicative. They try tempt their votives into greater evil, and encourage acquiring power by any means necessary.

Fae: Fae are chaotic neutral creatures that live on the moon. Their pacts can be idiosyncratic, and often come with seemingly arbitrary restrictions on how you must act in life. They are also more likely to renegotiate pact details than other soul keepers, often seeking to change the restrictions that the votive must obey in life to suit their whims. After death, they will typically keep your soul until you become boring to them, with a guarantee that you will eventually reach your proper afterlife.

Fae soulkeepers will periodically pay great attention to their votives. When they do, they may send a distracting flurry of thoughts and urges that may or may not be relevant to the situation at hand. Eventually, they will get bored and disappear entirely until their attention is caught again.

Moirai: Moirai are lawful neutral creatures native to Concord, the Spiritual Plane of law. Each moirai is an impartial arbiter and embodiment of a specific concept, directive, or material fact. Their pacts always impose one restriction on you in life, and retain your soul in Concord for a hundred years after your death. The restriction is always relevant to the moirai's identity, and is focused on you as an individual rather than the world you inhabit. For example, a moirai of cleanliness may require you to remain personally clean, but would not require you to clean everywhere you go.

Moirai soulkeepers typically remain aloof from their votives. They only rarely bother to directly observe their votives' current circumstances. They will send periodic reminders to maintain the terms of the pact and similar generic urges.

Precursors: The precursors are ancient aberrations that now live in the Eternal Void. They generally despite the mortals and deities that replaced them, though their current goals are inscrutable. Precursor pacts impose no restrictions on you in life, but they are the only pacts which are guaranteed to claim your soul. While you are dead, your soul will be constantly pulled away from your afterlife towards the Eternal Void. You can fight this pull to remain in your afterlife for a time. As your will and sense of self deteriorates over the years, your concentration will slip and you will drift away. There is no return from the Eternal Void.

Precursor pacts are attractive to votives because they do not constrain you in life or significantly interfere with your normal afterlife experience. However, deities universally revile votives who make precursor pacts. Stealing souls from deities and feeding them to the precursors threatens to upend the balance of the cosmos and undo the ancient wars that established mortal life.

Covenant Keeper ✨

This archetype grants you access to powerful covenants you can forge with your soulkeeper, building on your basic pact. All abilities from this archetype are magical ✨.

Rank 1 – Sacrificial Covenant ✨

You make one covenant of your choice from the following list. Each covenant grants great power at a cost.

Covenant of Bloodforging: While you are not wearing other body armor, your blood flows to the surface of your skin, manifesting a carapace around you. This functions like light body armor. It provides a +4 bonus to your Armor defense, a +4 bonus to your durability, and a +1 bonus to your vital rolls. In exchange, the recover ability no longer causes you to recover hit points (see Recover, page 38).

Covenant of Bloodsharing: At the end of each round, if you caused a living creature other than yourself to lose hit points during that round, you regain hit points equal to half your power (minimum 1). In exchange, you are injured whenever you are below your maximum hit points, regardless of your normal injury point.

Covenant of Soul cursing: Whenever you would inflict a condition on a creature that is not already under the effects of a Curse, that effect becomes a Curse on it instead of a condition. It is removed when the creature finishes a short rest. If the condition would normally have a special way to remove it, such as the ignition spell, that also removes the curse.

In exchange, whenever you would gain a condition that you are not immune to, that effect becomes a Curse on you instead of a condition. If you were already affected by a Curse from this ability, the old Curse becomes a condition instead. Whenever you finish a short rest, you remove any Curse affecting you as a result of this ability.

Rank 2 – Covenant of Power ✨

You can choose to gain a +2 bonus to your magical power and mundane power. If you do, you take a -1 penalty to your fatigue tolerance. Otherwise, you gain a +2 bonus to your fatigue tolerance.

Rank 3 – Exchange Soul Fragment ✨

Your connection to your soulkeeper deepens, allowing you to send a fragment of your soul through the link in exchange for aid.

Exchange Soul Fragment ✨

Standard action

Tags: Swift

Cost: One fatigue level.

You regain 1d8 hit points + power. In addition, you may remove a condition affecting you. This effect repeats at the end of the current round.

Rank 4: The recovery increases to 1d6 hit points per 2 power.

Rank 5: The recovery increases to 1d6 hit points plus 1d6 per 2 power.

Rank 6: The recovery increases to 1d8 hit points plus 1d8 per 2 power.

Rank 7: The recovery increases to 1d10 hit points plus 1d10 per 2 power.

Rank 4 – Sacrificial Covenant+ ✨

The effect of your chosen covenant improves.

Covenant of Bloodforging: The vital roll bonus from the armor increases to +2.

Covenant of Bloodsharing: The healing increases to 1d8 hit points + power.

Covenant of Soul cursing: You can convert conditions into Curse effects against creatures that already have a single Curse effect active on them.

Rank 5 – Covenant of Power+ ✨

The bonus you chose increases to +4.

Rank 6 – Exchange Vitality ✨

Your connection to your soulkeeper deepens, allowing you to send a larger fragment of your soul through the link fragment in exchange for greater aid.

Exchange Vitality ✨

Standard action

Cost: See text.

You are briefly empowered (add rank to damage). Then, you may remove one of your vital wounds. If you remove a vital wound in this way, you increase your fatigue level by two. This effect repeats at the end of the current round.

Rank 7 – Sacrificial Covenant++ ✨

Your understanding of your chosen covenant reaches its full potential.

Covenant of Bloodforging: The durability bonus from the armor increases to +5. In addition, the defense bonus increases to +5.

Covenant of Bloodsharing: The healing increases to 1d10 hit points plus 1d10 per 2 power.

Covenant of Soul cursing: You can convert conditions into Curse effects with this ability regardless of the number of Curse effects active on the target.

Pact Magic ✨

This archetype grants you the ability to cast pact spells. All abilities from this archetype are magical ✨.

Rank 1 – Pact Spells ✨

Your soulkeeper grants you the ability to use pact magic. You gain access to two pact mystic spheres, plus the universal mystic sphere (see Pact Mystic Spheres, page 251). At least one of those mystic spheres must be from your soulkeeper (see Soulkeeper Spheres, below). You can only learn pact spells from pact mystic spheres that you have access to.

You automatically learn all cantrips from each of your mystic spheres. In addition, you learn two rank 1 pact spells. You can also spend insight points to learn one additional rank 1 spell per two insight points.

Pact spells require verbal components and somatic components to cast (see Ability Usage Components, page 43). For details about mystic spheres and casting spells, see Spell and Ritual Mechanics, page 249.

When you gain access to a new mystic sphere or spell rank, you can forget any number of spells you know to learn that many new spells in exchange, including spells of the higher rank.

Advancement: The maximum rank of pact spells that you can learn is equal to your rank in this archetype. Pact spells also increase in power in unique ways based on your rank in this archetype, as indicated in their descriptions.

Rank 1 – Soulkeeper Spheres ✨

Your soulkeeper has a particular affinity for two mystic spheres. You add them to your list of pact mystic spheres if they are not already present. In addition, you must always know least one of your soulkeeper spheres.

- Devil: Astromancy, Pyromancy
- Fae: Enchantment, Photomancy
- Moirai: Fabrication, Revelation
- Precursor: Chronomancy, Polymorph

Rank 1 – Survival Pact ✨

You gain a +1 bonus to your durability.

Pact Spell Mastery ✨

This archetype improves your ability to cast spells with the power of your dark pact. You must have the Pact Magic archetype to gain the abilities from this archetype. All abilities from this archetype are magical ✨.

Rank 1 – Desperate Pact ✨

You can use the desperate exertion ability without increasing your fatigue level (see Desperate Exertion, page 37). When you do, you suffer no immediate negative consequences. After 10 minutes, your maximum hit points are reduced to three-quarters of normal until you complete a long rest. Each time this penalty takes effect, your hit points are reduced by an additional quarter, so using it three times would reduce your maximum hit points to a quarter of their normal value. If your hit points would be reduced below 1 in this way, your body and soul are ripped through the planes directly into your soulkeeper's realm. This is invariably lethal, and leaves no corpse behind.

Rank 2 – Metamagic ✨

You learn how to further refine your spellcasting abilities. Choose two metamagic abilities from the list below.

Some metamagic abilities affect specific spells. Each individual spell can only have one metamagic applied. Whenever you learn a new spell, you may change which specific spells your metamagic abilities affect.

Desperate Spell: Choose a pact spell you know. When you cast the spell, you may choose to increase your fatigue level by one. If you do, you become empowered (add rank to damage) and focused (roll attacks twice) that round. However, you cannot use the desperate exertion ability to affect the spell. You can choose this ability multiple times, choosing a different spell each time.

Distant Spell: Choose a pact spell you know with a standard range: Short (30 ft.), Medium (60 ft.), Long (90 ft.), Distant (120 ft.), or Extreme (180 ft.). You increase that spell's range to the next standard range category, to a maximum of Extreme range. You can choose this ability multiple times, choosing a different spell each time.

Powerful Spell: Choose a damaging pact spell you know. It deals extra damage equal to your rank in this archetype. You can choose this ability multiple times, choosing a different spell each time.

Rituals: You gain the ability to perform pact rituals to create unique magical effects (see Spell and Ritual Mechanics, page 249). The maximum rank of pact ritual you can learn or perform is equal to the maximum rank of pact spell that you can cast. When you gain this ability, you can memorize a rank 1 pact ritual from any pact mystic sphere you have access to. Whenever you gain access to a new spellcasting rank, you can memorize an additional ritual of that rank or lower. You cannot choose this ability multiple times.

Widened Spell: Choose a pact spell you know with a standard area: Tiny (5 ft.), Small (15 ft.), Medium (30 ft.), Large (60 ft.), Huge (90 ft.), or Gargantuan (120 ft.). You increase that spell's area to the next standard area category, to a maximum of a Gargantuan area. You can choose this ability multiple times, choosing a different spell each time.

Rank 3 – Spell Knowledge ✨

You learn an additional pact spell.

Rank 4 – Spell-Trained Mind ✨

You gain a +1 bonus to your Willpower.

Rank 5 – Metamagic+ ✨

You gain an additional metamagic ability.

Rank 6 – Attunement Point ✨

You gain an additional attunement point.

Rank 7 – Experienced Spellcaster ✨

You gain a +1 bonus to your accuracy and fatigue tolerance.

Pactbound Warrior

This archetype grants you martial prowess through your pact.

Rank 1 – Pact Maneuvers

You can use magically enhanced weaponry to overwhelm your foes in combat. You gain access to one combat style based on your soulkeeper:

- Devil: Herald of War or Rip and Tear
- Fae: Flurry of Blows or Mobile Hunter
- Moirai: Ebb and Flow or Perfect Precision
- Precursor: Brute Force or Unbreakable Defense

You may spend insight points to gain access to one additional combat style per insight point, including combat styles other than those from your soulkeeper. You can only learn pact maneuvers from pact combat styles that you have access to.

You learn two rank 1 pact maneuvers. You may spend insight points to learn one additional maneuver per insight point.

When you gain access to a new rank in this archetype, you can exchange any number of maneuvers you know for other maneuvers, including maneuvers of a higher rank.

Advancement: Some pact maneuvers also increase in power in unique ways based on your rank in this archetype, as indicated in their descriptions.

Rank 1 – Soulblade

The pact you made to gain martial prowess infuses your weaponry with mystic power. All strikes you make are magical ✨ abilities. This means you use your magical power to determine your damage instead of your mundane power (see Power, page 14).

Rank 2 – Augmented Maneuvers

You gain the ability to customize your pact maneuvers. For each rank 1 pact maneuver you know, choose one augment from the list below and apply it to that maneuver. Augments scale in power with your “excess rank”. Your excess rank with a maneuver is equal to your rank in this archetype minus the rank of the maneuver.

Whenever you increase your rank in this archetype, you can change your augments. However, you must still apply them to rank 1 pact maneuvers.

Finishing Maneuver: You gain an accuracy bonus equal to twice your excess rank against creatures who are injured.

Mighty Maneuver: You take a -1 accuracy penalty, but you deal extra damage equal to twice your excess rank.

Precise Maneuver: You gain an accuracy bonus equal to your excess rank.

Reckless Maneuver: You gain an accuracy bonus equal to twice your excess rank. However, you briefly take a -4 penalty to your defenses after you use the maneuver. You can only apply this augment to maneuvers which cause you to make a melee strike.

Spellfused Maneuver ✨: Choose a ranged pact spell you know that does not have the Attune or Sustain tags. Its rank must not exceed your excess rank with the maneuver. You treat your rank with that spell as being equal to your excess rank, which limits the bonuses it gains from rank scaling. Each target of the maneuver is also affected by that spell, using separate attack rolls for the spell and maneuver. You do not have to spend time casting the spell, but each target must still meet any targeting requirements for the spell, such as range or touch.

You can only apply this augment to maneuvers which cause you to make a melee strike, and you must choose a different spell each time you apply this augment to a maneuver. After you use this maneuver, you briefly cannot use any spellfused maneuver again.

Rank 3 – Pact Maneuvers+

You gain access to rank 3 pact maneuvers.

Rank 4 – Augmented Maneuvers+

You can also choose an augment for each of your rank 3 pact maneuvers.

Rank 5 – Pact Maneuvers+

You gain access to rank 5 pact maneuvers.

Rank 6 – Augmented Maneuvers+

You can also choose an augment for each of your rank 5 pact maneuvers.

Rank 7 – Pact Maneuvers+

You gain access to rank 7 pact maneuvers.

Soulforged ✨

This archetype enhances your connection to your soulkeeper, granting you abilities relating to your pact. All abilities from this archetype are magical ✨.

Rank 1 – Body and Soul As One ✨

Your body is shaped by your soulkeeper's influence.

Devil – Calculating: You gain a bonus to your mundane power and magical power equal to half your Intelligence.

Fae – Unconcerned: You gain a +1 bonus to accuracy and all checks. However, you cannot use the desperate exertion ability.

Moirai – Inevitable: You gain a +2 accuracy bonus. However, you roll 1d8 instead of 1d10 for attack rolls, and your attack rolls cannot explode.

Precursor – Burgeoning: You gain a +2 bonus to your durability (see Durability, page 13). In addition, you gain a tentacle natural weapon (see Natural Weapons, page 156). It deals 1d6 damage, has the Maneuverable weapon tag, and does not require a free hand.

Rank 2 – Soulforged Spell ✨

If you have access to pact magic, you learn an additional pact spell. The spell can be up to rank 2, even if you do not have access to rank 2 spells. It gains a special effect based on your soulkeeper. This is a metamagic effect, so the spell cannot have other metamagic applied to it. When you gain access to new spell ranks, you can change which spell you know with this ability, including spells with a higher rank.

Devil – Tormenting Spell: Each creature hit by the spell becomes tormented by the spell as a condition. If it is injured while it is tormented, the spell repeats on that creature, and all instances of the condition are removed. You gain a +2 accuracy bonus with the repeat for each additional instance of this condition, but the spell still only repeats once.

Fae – Hidden Spell: The spell does not have verbal components or somatic components. In addition, if it does not deal damage, it gains the Subtle tag.

Moirai – Inevitable Spell: Whenever you would make an attack roll, you can instead determine if an attack result of 6 + your accuracy with the spell would result in a hit. If it does, you hit the target without making an attack roll. Otherwise, you roll the attack roll normally. This does not allow you to bypass other effects that can cause you to miss without making an attack roll, such as a miss chance.

Precursor – Eldritch Spell: You gain a +2 accuracy bonus with the spell. However, whenever you cast the spell, you briefly take a -2 penalty to all defenses.

Rank 2 – Soulforged Weaponry ✨

If you do not have access to pact magic, choose a magic weapon property with a rank no higher than your rank in this archetype (see Magic Weapons, page 185). It must not be a deep attunement. You can attune to that magic weapon property. If you do, you always treat one weapon you wield as having that property. This applies in addition to any other special material or magical properties. However, it does not stack if the item would already have that property normally. If you wield more than one weapon at a time, you can choose which of your weapons gains this effect as a free action once per round.

Whenever you increase your rank in this archetype, you can change which magic weapon property you have with this ability.

Rank 3 – Soulbound Resilience ✨

You gain a +3 bonus to your durability. In addition, you take half the normal penalties for being resurrected (see Resurrection, page 149).

Rank 4 – Body and Soul As One+ ✨

Your body continues to be shaped by your soulkeeper's influence.

Devil – Specialized Torment: You gain a +4 accuracy bonus for the purpose of determining whether your attacks get a critical hit against creatures that are vulnerable (-4 defenses) to the attack.

Fae – Free Spirit: At the end of each round, you have a 50% chance to remove a random poison or condition affecting you. This ability is briefly disabled whenever you take damage from a cold iron weapon.

Moirai – Inexorable: You gain a +2 bonus to all checks. However, you roll 1d8 instead of 1d10 for checks, and your checks cannot explode even if another ability would cause them to explode.

Precursor – Grotesque: You gain a +1 bonus to your Constitution. In addition, your tentacle gains the Sweeping (1) weapon tag (see Weapon Tags, page 156).

Rank 5 – Soulforged Armory ✨

If you do not have access to pact magic, choose a magic body armor property with a rank no higher than your rank in this archetype (see Magic Armor, page 194). You can attune to that magic body armor property. If you do, you treat your body armor as if it had that property. This applies in addition to any other special material or magical properties. However, it does not stack if the item would already have that property normally.

Whenever you increase your rank in this archetype, you can change which magic body armor property you have with this ability.

Rank 5 – Soulforged Spell+ ✨

You learn an additional spell with this ability. It can be up to rank 5, even if you do not have access to rank 5 spells.

Rank 6 – Soulbound Resilience+ ✨

The durability bonus increases to +5. In addition, you take no penalties for being resurrected.

Rank 7 – Body and Soul As One+ ✨

Your body continues to be shaped by your soulkeeper's influence.

Devil – Calculating+: You gain a bonus to your Mental defense equal to half your Intelligence.

Fae – Unconcerned+: The bonus to accuracy and checks increases to 1d4.

Moirai – Inevitable+: The bonus to accuracy and checks increases to +3.

Precursor – Burgeoning+: The durability bonus increases to +4. In addition, your tentacle now deals 1d10 damage.

Wizard

Wizards are arcane spellcasters who study magic to unlock its powerful secrets. They have spent years studying the primal forces that define the universe. Their extensive research has revealed complicated ways in which those forces can be accessed and manipulated by mere mortals.

Wizards are almost never completely self-taught. The primal forces of the universe do not give up their power easily, and the methods used to access that power are unintuitive. Most wizards learn at arcane colleges or through direct mentorship by older, wiser wizards. Even wizard prodigies who learn alone have some access to the research performed by wizards over the centuries, generally in the form of massive books.

There are two fundamental principles of arcane magic that are shared by all wizards. The first principle is the creation of links between planes. A wizard can expend a small amount of energy to open an extremely small, extremely short-lived interdimensional gate that leads to a source of power. The destination for this gate depends on the mystic sphere the wizard are manipulating. As a simple example, pyromancy spells generally require gates to the Plane of Fire. Other spheres can be more complex. For example, revelation spells generally require gates that lead to prescient entities or extraplanar sites with powerful ambient magic.

The second principle is the manipulation of raw power accessed through these gates. Wizards learn how to create complex magical bindings that can store power and release it in highly specific ways. This allows them to create long-lasting effects that were fueled by extremely brief flashes of power.

Sorcerers are an endless fascination and source of frustration to wizards. While wizards must spend years or decades perfecting their art, sorcerers are able to easily and intuitively replicate the same techniques for accessing and binding magical energy. This often makes younger wizards jealous. Wizards have spent centuries trying to understand how to mimic the shortcuts that sorcerers use, with little success. However, sorcerers lack the ability to perform complex arcane rituals that do not allow any simple shortcuts. Many older wizards regard this as a crippling weakness.

Alignment: Any.

Archetypes: Wizards have the Arcane Magic, Arcane Spell Mastery, Alchemist, Arcane Scholar, and School Specialist archetypes.

You can only learn arcane spells from arcane mystic spheres that you have access to.

You automatically learn all cantrips from each of your mystic spheres. In addition, you learn two rank 1 arcane spells. You can also spend insight points to learn one additional rank 1 spell per insight point.

Arcane spells require both verbal components and somatic components to cast (see Ability Usage Components, page 43). For details about mystic spheres and casting spells, see Spell and Ritual Mechanics, page 249.

When you gain access to a new mystic sphere or spell rank, you can forget any number of spells you know to learn that many new spells in exchange, including spells of the higher rank.

Advancement: The maximum rank of arcane spells that you can learn is equal to your rank in this archetype. Arcane spells also increase in power in unique ways based on your rank in this archetype, as indicated in their descriptions.

Rank 1 – Mage Armor ✨

Mage Armor ★

Standard action

You create a translucent suit of magical armor on your body and over your hands. This functions like body armor that provides a +2 bonus to your Armor defense and durability. It does not require proficiency with armor to use.

You can also use a free hand to wield the barrier as a shield. This functions like a buckler, granting you a +1 bonus to your Armor and Reflex defenses, except that you do not need to be proficient with light armor. Since this bonus comes from a shield, it does not stack with the benefits of using any other shield.

This ability lasts until you dismiss it or until you use it again. In addition, it is automatically dismissed if you wear other body armor of any kind.

Arcane Spell Mastery ★

This archetype improves the arcane spells you cast. You must have the Arcane Magic archetype from the wizard class to gain the abilities from this archetype. All abilities from this archetype are magical.

Rank 1 – Intricate Spell ★

Whenever you cast a spell, you can use this ability to make the spell's incantations more nuanced and complex. If you do, you gain a +1 accuracy bonus with the spell this round. However, you take a -2 penalty to all defenses this round. This defense penalty is Swift.

Rank 2 – Expert Metamage ★

You can spend insight points to learn one additional metamagic ability per insight point.

Rank 2 – Metamagic ★

You learn how to further refine your spellcasting abilities. Choose two metamagic abilities from the list below.

Some metamagic abilities affect specific spells. Each individual spell can only have one metamagic applied. Whenever you learn a new spell, you may change which specific spells your metamagic abilities affect.

Calculated Spell: Choose an arcane spell you know. As a minor action, you can calculate the effect that the spell would have. When you do, roll 1d10. If you cast that spell that round, you use that die result as your accuracy roll for any attacks that round, exploding as normal if the die result was a 10. After calculating in this way, you briefly cannot do so again, whether or not you cast the spell. You cannot choose this ability multiple times.

Distant Spell: Choose an arcane spell you know with a standard range: Short (30 ft.), Medium (60 ft.), Long (90 ft.), Distant (120 ft.), or Extreme (180 ft.). You increase that spell's range to the next standard range category, to a maximum of Extreme range. You can choose this ability multiple times, choosing a different spell each time.

Researched Spell: Choose an arcane spell you know. You use your Intelligence in place of your Willpower to determine your power with that spell. You can choose this ability multiple times, choosing a different spell each time.

Rituals: You gain the ability to perform arcane rituals to create unique magical effects (see Spell and Ritual Mechanics, page 249). The maximum rank of arcane ritual you can learn or perform is equal to the maximum rank of arcane spell that you can cast. When you gain this ability, you can memorize a rank 1 arcane ritual from any arcane mystic sphere you have access to. Whenever you gain access to a new spellcasting rank, you can memorize an additional ritual of that rank or lower. You cannot choose this ability multiple times.

Widened Spell: Choose an arcane spell you know with a standard area: Tiny (5 ft.), Small (15 ft.), Medium (30 ft.), Large (60 ft.), Huge (90 ft.), or Gargantuan (120 ft.). You increase that spell's area to the next standard area category, to a maximum of a Gargantuan area. You can choose this ability multiple times, choosing a different spell each time.

Rank 3 – Spell Knowledge ✨

You learn an additional arcane spell.

Rank 4 – Spell-Trained Understanding ✨

You gain a +1 bonus to your Intelligence.

Rank 5 – Metamagic+ ✨

You gain an additional metamagic ability.

Rank 6 – Attunement Point ✨

You gain an additional attunement point.

Rank 7 – Experienced Spellcaster ✨

You gain a +1 bonus to your accuracy and Mental defense.

Alchemist

This archetype improves your ability to use alchemy to create unusual concoctions to aid your allies and harm your foes.

Rank 1 – Portable Workshop ✨

You carry materials necessary to refine low-grade alchemical items wherever you are. This includes any item created using Craft (alchemy), such as potions, elixirs, and alchemist's fire. Where you lack material components, you fill in with some of your own magic, allowing you to create items more easily. The items are just as effective when used as items created normally. However, they are less durable, since they are partially sustained by your magic.

You can use this ability to create alchemical items with a rank lower than your rank in this archetype (see Item Ranks, page 153). Creating an item in this way functions in the same way as crafting items normally (see Crafting Items, page 131), with the following exceptions:

- You do not require any raw materials or an alchemist's lab.
- Items created with this ability deteriorate and become useless after 24 hours or after you finish a long rest, whichever comes first.
- You can only maintain the existence of four items with this ability at once. If you try to create an item beyond this limit, you must first dismiss another item created. This removes any lingering effects from the removed item, such as the protective qualities of an antitoxin elixir.
- Items you create with this ability still have a lingering magic tied to you when destroyed or consumed. With five minutes of work, you can recreate all of those items. This removes any lingering effects from the recreated item.

You can invest any number of insight points into this ability. Unlike normal for insight points, this does not directly grant you any additional abilities known. Instead, for each insight point invested, the number of items you can maintain simultaneously with this ability increases by one.

Rank 2 – Alchemical Discovery ✨

You learn how to create alchemical items more effectively. You gain your choice of one of the following benefits. Each benefit can only be chosen once. You may spend insight points to gain access to one additional alchemical discovery per two insight points.

You can only apply one of your alchemical discoveries whenever you create an item. For example, if you had both the Aerodynamic Construction and Expanded Construction discoveries, you could not create an item with both double throwing range and double area. You would have to choose which alchemical discovery to apply when creating the item.

Advanced Workshop: You can use your portable workshop ability to create items with a rank equal to your rank in this archetype.

Aerodynamic Construction: You double the range of thrown alchemical items you create. This does not affect alchemical items that are not designed to be thrown.

Efficient Crafting: You do not need an alchemist's lab to craft alchemical items (see Crafting Items, page 131). In addition, you reduce the difficulty value to craft alchemical items by 5.

Enduring Construction: The duration of alchemical items you create is doubled. In addition, alchemical items that last for a fixed number of uses have that number of uses doubled.

Expanded Construction: The area affected by any alchemical item you create is doubled.

Explosive Construction: Whenever you create an alchemical item that deals damage, you can enhance its destructive potential. Attacks with the item gain a +2 accuracy bonus. However, if the attacker rolls a 1 or 2 on the attack roll, ignoring dice rolled for explosions, they suffer a glancing blow from the attack.

Repetitive Construction: Whenever you use your portable workshop ability, you can create two copies of the same alchemical item. This only counts as one item for the purpose of determining the number of items you can maintain with that ability.

Rank 3 – Alchemical Precision

You gain a +1 accuracy bonus with alchemical items.

Rank 3 – Alchemical Tolerance

You gain a +1 bonus to your Fortitude defense. In addition, you are immune to Poison attacks.

Rank 4 – Alchemical Discovery+

You gain an additional alchemical discovery ability.

Rank 5 – Experienced Quaffing

You can drink up to two doses of potions, elixirs, and other drinkable alchemical items as part of the same standard action.

Rank 6 – Alchemical Discovery+

You gain an additional alchemical discovery ability.

Rank 7 – Alchemical Tolerance+

You gain a +1 bonus to your Constitution. In addition, you are immune to Acid attacks.

Arcane Scholar

This archetype deepens your study of arcane magic. You must have the Arcane Magic archetype from the wizard class to gain the abilities from this archetype. All abilities from this archetype are magical .

Rank 1 – Ritualist

You gain the ability to perform arcane rituals to create unique magical effects (see Spell and Ritual Mechanics, page 249). The maximum rank of arcane ritual you can learn or perform is equal to the maximum rank of arcane spell that you can cast. In addition, you automatically learn one free arcane ritual of each rank you have access to, including new ranks as you gain access to them.

Rank 1 – Spell Knowledge

You learn an additional spell from any arcane mystic sphere that you have access to.

Rank 2 – Scholastic Insight

You gain one of the following insights. Some insights can be chosen multiple times, as indicated in their descriptions. You may spend insight points to gain access to one additional scholastic insight per two insight points.

Arcane Tattoo: You gain a +3 bonus to your Brawn, Fortitude, Reflex, or Mental defense.

You can choose this insight multiple times, choosing a different defense each time.

Esoteric Spell Knowledge: You learn a single spell from any arcane mystic sphere. You do not need to have access to that mystic sphere. This does not grant you access to that mystic sphere for any other purposes. Whenever you gain access to a new mystic sphere or spell rank, you may choose a different spell with this ability.

You can choose this insight multiple times, learning an additional spell each time.

Expanded Sphere Access: You gain access to a new mystic sphere.

You can choose this insight multiple times, gaining access to an additional mystic sphere each time.

Soulwoven Spell: Choose a rank 1 spell you know with the Attune tag that is not a deep attunement. That spell becomes permanently active on you without requiring an attunement point. No outside force can remove it, and you cannot consciously suppress its effects. If the spell would normally release its own attunement or otherwise end as part of its own effect, it is automatically applied to you again after one minute. Whenever your rank in this archetype increases, you can change which spell you have soulwoven with this ability. The spell's maximum rank is equal to half your rank in this archetype.

You cannot choose this insight multiple times.

Sphere Specialization: Choose a mystic sphere you have access to. You gain +1 accuracy bonus with abilities from that mystic sphere. You also memorize all rituals from that mystic sphere that your spellcasting rank gives you access to. In exchange, you must lose access to another mystic sphere you have. You must exchange all spells you know from that mystic sphere with spells from other mystic spheres you have access to.

You cannot choose this insight multiple times.

Rank 3 – Contingency

You gain the ability to prepare a spell so it takes effect automatically if specific circumstances arise.

Contingency

One minute

Tags: Attune

Cost: Two fatigue levels (see text).

When you use this ability, you choose a spell that you know. The spell has no immediate effect. Instead, you specify circumstances that will automatically cause the spell to take effect. You cannot consciously control the spell after setting the circumstances, and any attacks made as part of the spell's resolution are reactive attacks. When the spell takes effect, you increase your fatigue level by two.

The spell can be set to trigger in response to any circumstances that a typical human observing you and your situation could detect. For example, you could specify "when I fall at least 50 feet" or "when I take a vital wound", but not "when there is an invisible creature within 50 feet of me" or "when I have only one hit point remaining." The more specific the required circumstances, the better – vague requirements, such as "when I am in danger", may cause the spell to trigger unexpectedly or fail to trigger at all. If you attempt to specify multiple separate triggering conditions, such as "when I take damage or when an enemy is adjacent to me", the spell will randomly ignore all but one of the conditions.

If the spell needs to be targeted, the trigger condition can specify a simple rule for identifying how to target the spell, such as "the closest enemy". If the rule is poorly worded or imprecise, the spell may target incorrectly or fail to activate at all. Any spells which require decisions other than targeting, such as the dimension door spell, must have those decisions made when this ability is used. You cannot alter those decisions when the contingency takes effect.

Rank 7 – Contingency++

You gain an additional attunement point that can only be used to attune to the contingency ability. In addition, you can attune to the contingency ability up to three times. Each contingency must have a different associated spell and triggering condition. Only one contingency can trigger each round. If multiple contingencies would activate simultaneously, choose one to activate randomly.

Rank 4 – Scholastic Insight+

You gain an additional scholastic insight.

Rank 5 – Contingency+

When your contingency activates, you only increase your fatigue level by one.

Rank 5 – Ritual Leader

Whenever you lead a ritual, it requires half the normal number of fatigue levels and half the normal time to complete, to a minimum of one fatigue level.

Rank 6 – Scholastic Insight+

You gain an additional scholastic insight.

School Specialist ✨

This archetype improves your ability to cast spells from a particular school of magic while sacrificing some versatility. You must have the Arcane Magic archetype from the wizard class to gain the abilities from this archetype. All abilities from this archetype are magical ✨.

Rank 1 – School Specialization ✨

The arcane mystic spheres can be divided into six traditional schools of magic. Choose one of the following schools of magic. You are a specialist in your chosen school. You cannot gain access to any arcane mystic spheres outside of your specialized school, and you cannot learn spells or rituals from those spheres by any means. In exchange, you gain a benefit based on your specialized school.

Abjuration: The telekinesis and thaumaturgy mystic spheres. If you specialize in this school, you gain a +1 bonus to your Armor and Reflex defenses.

Conjuration: The astromancy and fabrication mystic spheres. If you specialize in this school, you gain a +15 foot bonus to the range of arcane spells you cast.

Evocation: The cryomancy, electromancy, and pyromancy mystic spheres. If you specialize in this school, you gain a +2 bonus to your magical power.

Illusion: The enchantment, photomancy, and umbramancy mystic spheres. If you specialize in this school, you gain a +1 accuracy bonus.

Necromancy: The revelation and vivimancy mystic spheres. If you specialize in this school, you gain a +3 bonus to your durability.

Transmutation: The chronomancy, polymorph, and terramancy mystic spheres. If you specialize in this school, you gain a +2 bonus to your Brawn, Fortitude, Reflex, or Mental defense. You can change which defense this bonus applies to as a minor action. This ability has the Swift tag, so it protects you from attacks during the current phase.

Rank 2 – School Knowledge ✨

You learn an additional spell from any mystic sphere within your chosen school, even if you do not have access to that mystic sphere.

Rank 3 – School Resilience ✨

You gain a defensive ability based on your chosen school.

Abjuration: You are immune to push and fling effects unless you choose to be affected.

Conjuration: You passively flicker into the Astral Expanse, causing all targeted attacks against you to have a 10% failure chance.

Evocation: You are impervious (+4 defenses) to attacks from your choice of one of the following tags: Cold, Electricity, or Fire.

Illusion: You are immune to being dazzled (20% miss chance, no special vision) and blinded (50% miss chance, -2 defenses).

Transmutation: You gain a +1 bonus to vital rolls.

Necromancy: Whenever you injure a creature, you briefly become impervious (+4 defenses) to their attacks.

Rank 4 – School Specialization+ ✨

Your understanding of your chosen school improves.

Abjuration: You also reduce your injury threshold by three times your rank in this archetype.

Necromancy: The durability bonus increases to +5.

Transmutation: The defense bonus increases to +3.

Rank 5 – School Knowledge+ ✨

You learn an additional spell from any mystic sphere within your chosen school, even if you do not have access to that mystic sphere. If you already know at least three spells from all mystic spheres within your chosen school, you can instead gain an additional attunement point. You can only use this attunement point to attune to spells from your chosen school.

Rank 6 – School Resilience+ ✨

Your defensive ability based on your chosen school improves.

Abjuration: You cannot be grappled.

Conjuration: The failure chance increases to 20%.

Evocation: You are impervious (+4 defenses) to Cold, Electricity, and Fire attacks.

Illusion: You are immune to Emotion and Visual attacks.

Transmutation: The vital roll bonus increases to +2.

Necromancy: You are impervious to attacks from injured creatures and undead creatures.

Rank 7 – School Specialization+ ✨

Your understanding of your chosen school reaches its full potential.

Abjuration: The defense bonus increases to +2.

Conjuration: The range improvement increases to +60 feet.

Evocation: The power bonus increases to +4.

Illusion: The accuracy bonus increases to +2.

Necromancy: The durability bonus increases to +7.

Transmutation: The defense bonus increases to +4.

Chapter 7

Skills

Skills represent the myriad of talents that people can have, such as cooking or swimming. This chapter describes each skill, including common uses for those skills.

Skill Overview

This section describes how you learn and use skills. Most skills are used to make checks. For details about how checks are made, see Checks, page 9.

Skill Modifiers

You are either trained or untrained with each skill. If you are untrained in a skill, your bonus with that skill is equal to its associated attribute (if any). If you are trained in a skill, your bonus with that skill is equal to $3 + \text{half your level} + \text{its associated attribute}$ (if any). Many abilities can increase or decrease your bonus with particular skills.

Class Skills

Each class has an associated set of skills that members of that class often know. These are called class skills. Your base class automatically grants you training with a specific number of skills from among your class skills. The class skills from each class are summarized in Table 7.1: Class Skills.

Tasks

Each skill contains a brief description of how the skill is usually used. This description is followed by a series of specific ways in which the skills can be used. These tasks are simply examples, and do not list everything the skill can be used for. You should be creative with your skills, rather than only using the tasks explicitly listed.

Learning Languages

You can replace skill training from your class or Intelligence with learning languages. For each trained skill you forgo, you learn two common languages or one rare language (see Communication and Languages, page 148).

Improvising

Unlike maneuvers or spells, skills have a broad and ambiguous purview. They are not just a set of specific actions with precise rules. As a player, you should feel free to improvise actions that sound related to skills you have. However, you generally shouldn't use a skill to try to duplicate the effect of another ability, especially a combat ability. Skills are primarily intended to be useful out of combat, not to replace the power of maneuvers and spells.

1. Any attribute could apply depending on how the skill is used.

Awareness (Per)

The Awareness skill represents your ability to observe things which you might otherwise fail to notice. It can be used to observe hidden creatures and traps, as well as to identify fleeting or subtle sensations.

The Awareness skill governs the result regardless of the specific sense or senses used. It is most commonly used with sight and hearing, though other senses can be used, such as smell or touch. Whenever you make an Awareness check, you roll only once, and most creatures have the same Awareness modifier with all of their senses. However, the difficulty value of the check, and the information granted by success, can be very different between senses. For example, it is impossible to see through walls or without light, but that does not make hearing impossible.

Common Awareness Tasks

Identify Disguise: If you succeed at an opposed Awareness vs. Disguise check, you can determine whether a creature or object is disguised.

Identify Forgery: If you succeed at an opposed Awareness vs. Craft check, you can determine whether an object is a forgery.

Notice Hidden Creature: If you succeed at an opposed Awareness vs. Stealth check, you can notice a hidden creature (see Stealth, page 144). Success with a sight-based Awareness check means you can see the creature perfectly. Success with any other sense just means you know its exact location, and are still partially unaware (-2 defenses) of it.

Notice Hidden Object: If you succeed at an opposed Awareness vs. Craft or Devices check, you can notice hidden objects such as traps and secret doors.

Notice Magic Trap: If you succeed at an Awareness check, you can notice hidden magical effects such as traps. The difficulty value to is equal to $15 + \text{twice the rank}$ of the ability.

Notice Sleight of Hand: If you succeed at an opposed Awareness vs. Sleight of Hand check, you can notice a creature's attempt to use the Sleight of Hand skill.

Notice Subtle Effect: If you succeed at an Awareness check, you can notice the general effects of a Subtle ability affecting you. The difficulty value to notice the effect when it is first applied to you is $15 + \text{twice the rank}$ of the ability. In addition, you can make another check when the ability ends to notice that you feel normal again.

Read Lips: When you see a creature speaking, you can make an sight-based Awareness check to read its lips. The difficulty value is 10 for ordinary conversation, or up to 20 if the speaking creature makes an effort to avoid moving its lips. You must be able to understand the language spoken. Success means you can understand what is being said.

Common Awareness Modifiers

While sleeping, you take a -10 penalty to the Awareness skill. You gain a +20 bonus to notice the presence of creatures and events that directly touch or damage you, such as a creature shoving you or making a strike against you.

There are three common circumstances that can make Awareness checks more difficult: obstructions, distance, and similar background sensations. Minor obstructions, short distances, and slightly similar backgrounds increase the difficulty value by 2. Significant obstructions, long distances, and very similar backgrounds increase the DV by 5 or more. If a sensation is difficult to detect for multiple reasons, the difficulty modifiers stack.

The difficulty value of non-opposed checks changes depending on the size of the sensation. The difficulty value increases by 5 for each size category larger than Medium, and decreases by 5 for each size category smaller than Medium. Multiple sensations of the same type can also be treated as a single larger sensation, which makes them easier to detect. Non-visual sensations may not have a literal size category to rely on, so the GM can decide how this modifier applies.

Balance (Dex)

The Balance skill represents your ability to maintain your balance and poise on unsteady terrain. It also represents your ability to precisely position your movements, such as to avoid touching traps that you are aware of. Generally, creatures only have to roll Balance checks if the terrain is unsteady for some reason.

Common Balance Tasks

Agile Charge: You can make a difficulty value 10 Balance check while using the charge ability to change directions while charging (see Charge, page 37). Success means you can make a single turn of up to 90 degrees during the movement.

Creature Balance: As part of movement, you can make a Balance vs. Reflex attack against a creature you touch. The target must be two or more size categories larger than you. On a hit, you can balance on the target's body, allowing you to walk on or jump from its body. You must repeat this attack at the end of each subsequent round to stay balancing on the creature. For each consecutive round that you balance on a non-alley in this way, you take a cumulative -2 penalty to this attack.

Maintain Balance: If you take damage while on an unsteady surface, you must make a Balance reactive check based on the surface. Failure means that you fall prone (half speed, -2 Armor and Ref). You only need to make this check once per round, even if you take damage from more than one source.

Rapid Stand: You make a difficulty value 15 Balance check as a move action to stand up from a prone position. Success means that you stand up so quickly that you can immediately make another movement. Failure simply means that you stand up.

Walk While Balancing: When you move using your walk speed on an unsteady surface, you must make a Balance check based on the surface. If you choose to move at half speed, you gain a +5 bonus to the check. Success means you move along the surface. Failure means you stop moving and the rest of your movement is wasted.

Common Balance Modifiers

The base difficulty value to balance on a normal terrain is 0. There are four common circumstances that make Balance checks more difficult: slippery, mobile, narrow, and uneven surfaces. Slightly impaired surfaces increase the difficulty value by 2. Significantly impaired surfaces increase the DV by 5 or more. If a surface is impaired for multiple reasons, add all relevant modifiers. Some specific examples are listed below.

Ice	DV
Rough, hardpacked ice, like a frozen lake	+2
Typical ice	+5
Recently frozen or ultra-smooth ice	+10
Liquid	DV
Water-covered ground, such as from rain	+2
Ankle-deep moving stream	+5
Knee-deep static water	+5
Oil-coated ground	+5
Knee-deep moving stream	+10
Narrow Surface	DV
About two feet wide	+2
About one foot wide	+5
About six inches wide	+10
About two inches wide	+15
Less than two inches wide	+20
Sand	DV
Water-logged beach sand	+2
Hard-packed desert sand	+2
Typical beach or desert sand	+5
Quicksand	+10
Unusually smooth, wind-tossed desert sand	+10
Uneven Ground	DV
Infrequent ankle-high bumps and dips	+2
Constant ankle-high bumps and dips	+5
Infrequent knee-high bumps and dips	+5
Constant knee-high bumps and dips	+10

Climb (Str)

The Climb skill represents your ability to climb obstacles. A creature that is climbing without a climb speed is unsteady (-2 accuracy, Armor, Brawn, Ref). Moving with the Climb skill requires using the climb forward ability (see Movement Abilities, page 33).

Common Climb Tasks

Creature Climb: As a standard action, you can make a Climb vs. Reflex attack against a creature you touch. This requires one free hand, and the target must be two or more size categories larger than you. On a hit, you latch onto the target and can climb on it as if it was a surface with a difficulty value equal to its Reflex defense. The creature takes a -2 accuracy penalty with strikes against you. You must repeat this attack at the end of each subsequent round to stay climbing on the creature. For each consecutive round that you climb on a non-ally in this way, you take a cumulative -2 penalty to this attack.

Grab Surface: You can make a Climb check as part of movement to grab a surface that you are passing by. The difficulty value is 10 higher than normal for the surface if you were moving for reasons out of your control (such as if you are falling). Success means you grab onto the wall and interrupt your movement. This does not prevent you from taking falling damage appropriate for the distance you fell.

Maintain Hold: Whenever you take damage while climbing on a surface, suddenly acquire significantly more weight (such as by catching a falling character), or otherwise are significantly distracted, you must make a Climb check based on the surface. Failure means you fall off of the surface, and are prone (half speed, -2 Armor and Ref) when you land.

Wall Jump: You can make a difficulty value 10 Climb check as part of movement to jump off of a wall you are adjacent to. This difficulty value increases by 5 for each time you have used this ability since landing on solid ground. Success means you can jump off of the wall (see Jumping, page 34). Failure means your jump fails, and your movement ends, which typically makes you fall to the ground.

Wallrun: You can make a Climb check as part of your movement while you are touching a solid surface. The difficulty value is 10 higher than normal for the surface. Success means you can move using your walk speed along the wall during the current phase. You move at half speed while going up. Failure means you fall. For every phase in which you use this ability on the same wall without reaching a stable stopping point, the DV increases by 5.

Common Climb Modifiers

Slippery and mobile surfaces make Climb checks more difficult. If you can brace against multiple surfaces, such as in a corner or between two opposed walls, climbing can be significantly easier.

Climb Difficulty Value Examples

DV	Surface or Activity	Example
0	Steep slope	A hill too steep to walk up
5	Large, sturdy hand and foot holds	Knotted rope, heavily damaged stone wall, ship's rigging
10	Small, sturdy hand and foot holds	Surface with pitons or carved holes, weathered stone wall
10	Inconsistent or unsteady hand and foot holds	Unknotted rope, unweathered natural rock, shoddy brick or brick wall
10	Only large hand holds	Tree limbs, pulling yourself up by your hands while dangling
15	Rough surface with few holds	Weathered natural rock face, quality wood or brick wall
20	Rough surface without holds	Quality stone wall
25	Smooth surface without holds	Window

Climb Speed

Some creatures have a listed climb speed. A creature with a climb speed must still make a Climb check to climb on surfaces. However, it can climb with its speed as part of normal movement abilities rather than relying on the climb forward ability.

Craft (Int)

The Craft skills represent your ability to construct objects from raw materials. Like Knowledge, Perform, and Profession, Craft is actually a number of separate skills. You could have several Craft skills, each with a separate degree of training. Common Craft skills are listed below, with additional description for some skills. Other Craft skills exist in the universe, but are less generally useful for adventurers.

- Alchemy (Alchemist's fire, tanglefoot bags, potions)
- Bone
- Ceramics (Glass, pottery)
- Leather
- Manuscripts (Books, official documents, scrolls)
- Metal
- Poison
- Stone
- Textiles (Cloth, fabric)
- Wood

A Craft skill is specifically focused on physical objects. If nothing can be created by an endeavor, it probably falls under the heading of a Profession skill. Complex structures, such as buildings or siege engines, may require Knowledge (engineering) in addition to an appropriate Craft skill.

Common Craft Tasks

Create Item: You can make a Craft check to create an item. For details, see Crafting Items, page 131.

Create Disguised Item: You can craft an item that superficially appears to function like a similar, but different, item. This functions like creating the item normally, except that you treat the item's rank as being one higher than it actually is. A creature studying the item with the Identify Item task only identifies the item's false purpose unless they get a critical success on the check.

Create Forgery: You can make a Craft check to create a false or defective version of an item. This functions like creating the item normally, except that you treat the item's rank as being one lower than it actually is (to a minimum of 0). Forgeries which have a function, such as a weapon, are always defective in some way which makes them unsuitable for sustained usage. However, a forgery may function once or twice to pass cursory inspection.

Identify Forgery: If you succeed at an opposed Craft vs. Craft check, you can determine whether an object is a forgery.

Identify Item: You can make a Craft check to identify any unusual properties or functions of a magic item or esoteric mundane item. The difficulty value is equal to 5 + twice the item's rank. Items that are particularly common in a particular setting may be easier to identify, which can reduce the difficulty value by 2 or more. Success means that you know the item's general purpose, and how to activate its functions, including any magical effects. You also know the item's rank, which lets you estimate its value.

Rebuild Item: You can make a Craft check to repair a destroyed item. This functions like creating the item normally, except that you treat the item's rank as being one lower than it actually is (to a minimum of 0). Success means the item is restored to full hit points and functionality.

Repair Item: You can make a Craft check to repair a broken or damaged item. This takes as much time as creating an item two ranks lower than the item (to a minimum of 0), and does not require any raw materials other than the broken item. Success means the item is restored to full hit points and functionality.

Crafting Items

You can use the Craft skill to create an item by expending time and material components. Creating an item generally requires multiple consecutive Craft checks. Success on a check means you make progress on completing the item. Failure means you failed to make progress, but can try again without penalty.

The difficulty value to craft an item is normally equal to 5 + twice its rank.

Crafting Time

The time required to craft an item depends on the weight category of the constructed item:

- Fine–Tiny: 4 hours per rank.
- Small: 8 hours per rank.
- Medium: 24 hours per rank.
- Large: 40 hours (one week) per rank.
- Huge: 120 hours (three weeks) per rank.
- Gargantuan: 320 hours (two months) per rank.
- Colossal: 960 hours (six months) per rank.

When you make a Craft check to craft an item, you make progress on the item based on how long you spend crafting. For every 5 points by which you beat the Craft check, you accomplish twice as much work in the same amount of time. Once your total effective working time meets or exceeds the time required to craft the item, you have finished the item.

Individual items may be more or less time-consuming to craft than normal. Consumable items, such as potions and arrows, typically take half the normal time to craft. At the GM's discretion, individual items may be more time-consuming to craft. For example, mail armor was historically quite time-consuming to make, but item-specific modifiers like that are beyond the scope of Rise's rules.

Multiple crafters can work on the same item, as long as it is physically possible to work on separate components of the item and then combine them together. For example, potions and alchemical items typically can't be split between crafters in this way, but multiple people can work on the same set of body armor.

Crafting Materials

Crafting an item requires the expenditure of raw materials. Typically, raw materials of a given item rank can be used to make two items of that rank. Note that raw materials for some items, particularly alchemical items, may be hard to come by in less civilized areas.

You can attempt to craft items from inferior or ad-hoc materials. The materials do not have to be well-suited to the item's construction, but they must be physically capable of performing any necessary actions. For example, you could construct a simple arrow-throwing trap from bent sticks or creatively strung rope, but not from sand. Generally, using ill-suited materials increases the difficulty value of the Craft check by at least 5, and it may negatively impact the item's function or longevity.

Crafting Tools

Creating an item requires artisan's tools to give the best chance of success. If improvised tools are used, the check may be made with a penalty of -5 or greater, or it may be impossible, depending on the tools available and the item to be crafted. For example, crafting a bow with improvised woodworking tools would impose a -5 penalty, but cutting a diamond without specialized tools is impossible.

Creature Handling (Per)

The Creature Handling skill represents your ability to influence non-sapient creatures. With it, you can convince them to do what you want or train them to follow commands. This skill has no effect on creatures with an Intelligence of -5 or higher.

Common Creature Handling Tasks

Command	Standard action
Tags: Auditory , Compulsion , Sustain (standard)
Make a Creature Handling vs. Mental attack against a creature within Medium (60 ft.) range. In addition, choose and state an action that the creature could take.
Hit: The target is unable to take any actions except to use the total defense ability (see Universal Abilities, page ??).
Critical hit: The target performs the chosen action if it is physically capable of performing it.
You take a -10 accuracy penalty against an actively hostile target. You take a -5 penalty to accuracy with this attack if the target is not an animal, as normal for Creature Handling attacks and checks. If the target is damaged or feels that it is in danger, this effect is automatically ended.

Perform Trained Action: You can make a difficulty value 5 Creature Handling check to convince an ally to perform an action it is already trained to perform.

Rear a Wild Creature: You can make a Creature Handling check to raise a wild creature from infancy so that it becomes domesticated. The time required depends on how long it takes the creature in question to reach adulthood. The difficulty value for this check is equal to 5 + twice the creature's level in its adult form. This check must be repeated once per year during the process of raising the creature, and when that process is complete. Failure means that an additional year of training is required. A successfully domesticated creature can be taught tricks at the same time it's being raised, or it can be taught as a domesticated creature later.

Teach Trick: You can make a Creature Handling check to teach an ally a trick. A trick is a specific behavior that generally requires a single-word command, like "fetch" or "stay". A creature can learn a maximum of two tricks per point of Intelligence it has above -10. Teaching a trick generally takes at least a week of intermittent training. Simple tricks have a difficulty value of 5, while complex tricks have a difficulty value of 10 or more.

Common Creature Handling Modifiers

Animals are easier to handle than other kinds of creatures. You take a -5 penalty to your Creature Handling skill when using it to affect non-animals.

Teaching Tricks

Generally speaking, teaching a creature a new trick requires spending at least four hours a day in training over the course of a week.

It is not generally possible to accelerate the process by spending more time each day; the creature must take time to learn the new behavior. If a creature is taught more tricks than its Intelligence allows it to retain, it will forget one of its old tricks during the course of learning the new trick. The trainer can choose which old trick will be replaced in this way.

A list of specific tricks that creatures can be taught is given below. Of course, players should feel free to define new tricks to accomplish more specific goals. However, complicated tricks are probably more difficult for an animal to learn, so the difficulty value to teach a custom trick might be 15 or higher.

Attack (DV 10): The creature attacks apparent enemies. You may point to a particular creature that you wish the creature to attack, and it will comply if able. This trick includes teaching the creature how to stop attacking if you give it a command to relent.

Come (DV 5): The creature comes to you.

Defend (DV 10): The creature defends you (or is ready to defend you if no threat is present), even without any command being given. Alternatively, you can command the creature to defend a specific other character.

Down (DV 5): The creature breaks off from combat or otherwise backs down. A creature that doesn't know this trick continues to fight until it must flee (due to injury, a fear effect, or the like) or its opponent is defeated.

Fetch (DV 5): The creature goes and gets something. If you do not point out a specific item, the creature fetches some random object.

Guard (DV 10): The creature stays in place and prevents others from approaching.

Heel (DV 5): The creature follows you closely, even to places where it normally wouldn't go.

Messenger (DV 15): The creature carries a small item to a destination. Once it arrives, it waits for up to 24 hours for someone to take the item from it. The destination must be known to the creature.

When you instruct the creature to deliver the item, you must communicate the destination to the creature. This normally requires a DV 20 Creature Handling check as a standard action. The DV of this check is lowered to 15 for locations the creature is extremely familiar with, such as its home. If you have other means of communicating the destination to the creature, such as the animal speech druid ability (see Animal Speech, page 72), that check is unnecessary.

Perform (DV 10): The creature performs a variety of simple tricks, such as sitting up, rolling over, roaring or barking, and so on.

Seek (DV 5): The creature moves into an area and looks around for anything that is obviously alive or animate.

Stay (DV 5): The creature stays in place, waiting for you to return. It does not challenge other creatures that come by, though it still defends itself if it needs to.

Track (DV 10): The creature tracks the scent presented to it. (This requires the creature to have the scent ability)

Work (DV 5): The creature pulls or pushes a medium or heavy load.

Bonus Tricks

Some trainers can teach creatures bonus tricks in addition to their normal maximum number of tricks known. Once a creature has learned a bonus trick, that trick may not be retrained into a different trick by a trainer who does not have the same ability to grant bonus tricks.

Training Non-Domesticated Creatures

Although non-domesticated creatures of any type can be taught tricks with patience and training, they are not naturally obedient. When outside their trainer's influence, or in stressful situations, they tend to revert to their natural behaviors. In general, even the most skilled trainers can only control one non-domesticated creature in battle.

In rare circumstances, a skilled trainer may temporarily gain the service of an elite monster. While acting at the behest of another creature using Creature Handling, elite monsters can only take one standard action or one elite action during each action phase, not both.

Deception (Per)

The Deception skill represents your ability to lie or otherwise mislead people without being caught. Using a Deception check is part of conversation or other actions, so it requires no special action to perform.

Common Deception Tasks

Blend In: If you succeed at an opposed Deception vs. Awareness check, you can avoid notice among a crowd of similar creatures. If you act or look significantly different from the creatures around you, observers gain a bonus to their Awareness check to notice you.

Convey Hidden Message: If you succeed at an opposed Deception vs. Social Insight check, you can convey a hidden message in the guise of an ordinary conversation. Failure means that an observer recognizes that a hidden message is being conveyed, and may even recognize what that message is. In general, you must already have a pre-established code or understanding with the intended recipients of your hidden message so they can grasp its true meaning more easily than outside observers.

Distract: If you succeed at an opposed Deception vs. Social Insight check, you can distract a creature you are talking with. This generally makes the distracted creature briefly partially unaware (-2 defenses) of you, which can allow you to hide or backstab them. Normally, the creature realizes that you tricked them once the distraction ends, which prevents them from being distracted again and may influence their behavior.

Fascinate: If you succeed at an opposed Deception vs. Social Insight check, you can keep attention focused on you during a conversation. This generally gives distracted creatures a -5 penalty to the Awareness and Social Insight skills to notice anything other than you. You repeat this check once per minute, with a cumulative -5 penalty for each minute that the distraction has lasted.

Impersonate: If you succeed at an opposed Deception vs. Social Insight check, you can impersonate another creature's mannerisms and speech patterns. If you are unable to replicate important aspects of the impersonation, such as the beautiful singing voice of a famous bard, you may suffer a penalty to the Deception check. This does not allow you to mimic a creature's appearance, which requires the Disguise skill.

Lie: If you succeed at an opposed Deception vs. Social Insight check, you can lie without giving any indication that you are lying. Failure means that the observer recognizes that you are intentionally lying. Even if you succeed at this check, you still need the Persuasion skill to believe or take actions based on your lies. This check only prevents a creature from recognizing the lie based on your body language and behavior.

When your overall intention is to mislead or conceal information in a conversation, you may need to make this check even if everything you are saying is technically true. Generally, using half-truths and similar trickery instead of bald-faced lies gives you a bonus to your Deception check, but a skilled observer can still see through your ruse.

Deduction (Int)

The Deduction skill represents your ability to make logical deductions based on evidence. It includes both determining which facts and observations are relevant to use as evidence, and reaching conclusions based on that evidence. However, this skill cannot protect you from coming to inaccurate conclusions if you rely on inaccurate or incomplete facts and observations.

Common Deduction Tasks

Identify Surroundings: You can make a Deduction check as a standard action to understand what aspects of your environment are important and why. This may require a successful Awareness check to locate hidden objects or subtle clues.

Reach Conclusion: You can combine information that you know to reach a specific conclusion. This may require other checks, such as Knowledge or Awareness checks, to ensure that you have enough information to work with. The time required to reach a conclusion can vary dramatically depending on how much evidence you have to work with and how easy the conclusion is to reach. You can reach simple conclusions immediately after learning all of the relevant information, but complicated scenarios might require days of study and analysis to eliminate all possibilities. In general, sifting through a mixture of helpful and misleading evidence increases the difficulty of the Deduction check and the time required to complete it.

Devices (Int)

The Devices skill represents your ability to manipulate mechanical devices such as locks, traps, and other contraptions. With enough skill, you can even manipulate magical devices. Each device has a base difficulty value based on its complexity. Some tasks are much easier than others, and modify the difficulty value accordingly.

Many Devices checks require the use of thieves' tools, which contains items like lockpicks and precision cutting implements. If you do not have a proper set of tools, you may be able to improvise from your surroundings. Generally, this imposes a penalty of at least -5 to the Devices check.

Table 7.2: Devices Difficulty Values

Device Type	Difficulty Value
Simple device (wagon wheel, typical knot)	5
Average device (door hinge, complex knot)	10
Difficult device (typical lock)	15
Extraordinary device (expert lock)	20
Impossible device (magically sealed lock)	25
Mundane trap	10 + twice rank
Magic trap	15 + twice rank

Common Devices Tasks

Activate Device: You can make a Devices check using thieves' tools to make a device perform a function it was designed to do, even if you lack the normal requirements. For example, you could tie or untie a knot, lock or unlock a lock without its key, or activate a trap without using its normal triggering mechanism (hopefully without being in its line of fire).

Analyze Device: You can make a Devices check to study a device and understand how it functions. The difficulty value to analyze a device is 5 lower than the device's base difficulty value.

Break Device: You can make a Devices check using thieves' tools to break a device. The device ceases to function in its intended way, and the sabotage is obvious to an observer. For example, you could jam a lock so it becomes unlocked and can never be locked again. Breaking a trap generally triggers the trap in an unpredictable way, which may be dangerous. The difficulty value to break a device is 2 lower than the device's base difficulty value.

Create Bindings: You can make a Devices check with a +5 bonus to create bindings from rope or similar materials. Binding a helpless foe in this way generally requires a minute of work, though tying up very large creatures may take longer. The Flexibility difficulty value to escape the binding is equal to your check result.

Improvise: You can make a Devices check to construct ad-hoc devices. This functions like creating the item with a Craft check (see Crafting Items, page 131), with two exceptions. First, the item is flimsy, and it breaks after being used once or twice. Second, the time requirement is dramatically reduced. It takes five minutes to make a device of up to Tiny size. You can make a Small device in the time required to make four Tiny devices, a Medium device in the time required to make four Small devices, and so on.

Remove Device: You can make a Devices check using thieves' tools to fully disable a device and remove it if possible. This can allow you to bypass traps without ever triggering them, and even take them with you if they are small and portable. Magical traps and large-scale physical traps, such as pit traps, are generally not portable. The difficulty value to remove a device is 5 higher than the device's base difficulty value.

Disguise (Int)

The Disguise skill represents your ability to create disguises to conceal the appearance of creatures or objects. This skill does not help you act appropriately while disguised, which generally the Deception skill and may also require Social Insight.

Many Disguise checks require the use of a disguise kit, which contains items like makeup and false beards. If you do not have a proper kit, you may be able to improvise from your surroundings. Generally, this imposes a penalty of at least -5 to the Disguise check.

Common Disguise Tasks

Camouflage: You can make an opposed Disguise vs. Awareness check to blend into your surroundings and avoid being noticed. This generally takes at least a minute of work to prepare your disguise to match your exact surroundings. It only protects you from visual observation, so you would generally need the Stealth skill to avoid being heard while moving (see Stealth, page 144).

Change Appearance: You can make an opposed Disguise vs. Awareness check using a disguise kit to change a creature's appearance. Generally, applying a disguise takes at least a minute, though complex makeup applications or clothing changes can take much longer. You take a penalty to the Disguise check based on how radical your changes are, especially to the creature's basic proportions.

Emulate Appearance: You can make a creature look like a different specific creature. This functions like the change appearance task, except that the result of your Disguise check can't exceed the result of an Awareness check you or someone helping you made to observe the creature you are trying to emulate.

Common Disguise Modifiers

It is generally easier to enlarge a creature or add new features than it is to shrink a creature or remove existing features. You can use the table below a guide, and the GM can improvise penalties for more unusual disguises if necessary. If you make multiple alterations, the penalties stack.

Body Shape Change	Disguise Penalty
Per age category of difference	-2
To a different gender	-2
Per removed arm	-2
Per removed leg	-5
Per additional arm or leg	-5
Species Change	Disguise Penalty
To a noticeably larger species (halfling to human)	-5
To a noticeably smaller species (human to halfling)	-15
To a larger size category (human to ogre)	-15
To a smaller size category (ogre to human)	-30

Endurance (Con)

The Endurance skill represents your ability to persevere through physical trials.

Common Endurance Tasks

Hold Breath: You can make an Endurance check to hold your breath. While holding your breath, you must make an Endurance check at the end of every 5 rounds that you spend without taking any actions, or at the end of any round in which you take an action. The difficulty value starts at 0, and increases by 1 for each subsequent check until you breathe in air. Failure means that you try to breathe in air, and you gain a vital wound if there is no air available to breathe.

Essentially, you can fight while holding your breath for a number of rounds equal to your Endurance modifier with no risk of failure. If you stay still, you can hold your breath for a number of minutes equal to half your Endurance modifier with no risk of failure.

Maintain Exertion: Some activities are difficult to maintain indefinitely. For example, sprinting typically exhausts a creature in a minute or less. Even walking at a steady pace can become exhausting after hours without rest. You can make an Endurance check to continue performing a strenuous activity without rest. Most active abilities, such as casting spells and making strikes, are considered strenuous activity. However, performing rituals is not strenuous.

Generally, this requires a difficulty value 10 Endurance extended check when you have performed the task for as long as a normal human can do it without rest. Each time you succeed at this check, you can maintain the exertion for half that length of time. At the end of that time, you must repeat this check to continue the activity, but the difficulty value increases by 5. If you fail the check, you must rest. The details of how long you have to rest depends on the activity you were performing, at the GM's discretion.

For example, a human can normally sprint for 10 rounds without rest. If they pass a DV 10 Endurance extended check, they could sprint for an additional 5 rounds. After that time, they would need to make a DV 15 Endurance extended check for the next 5 rounds, then DV 20, and so on.

Overland Exertion: You can make an Endurance check while travelling overland to cover more ground (see Overland Movement, page 147). This works in the same way as maintaining exertion, described above. There are two ways that you can exert yourself: hustling, which doubles your distance travelled during a given hour, and making a forced march, which allows you to travel for an extra hour beyond the normal travel time. Making a forced march only increases the difficulty value of the check by 2 for each additional hour, instead of the normal 5.

Stay Awake: You can make an Endurance extended check to stay awake beyond healthy limits. A typical creature needs a minimum of 6 hours of sleep for every 18 hours spent awake, and a minimum of 50 hours of sleep every week. The difficulty value starts at 5, and increases by 5 for each subsequent check until you catch up on your missed sleep. Failure means you increase your fatigue level by three. You must make another extended check every 8 hours as long as you are still beyond your normal sleep limits.

Flexibility (Dex)

The Flexibility skill represents your ability to escape bindings and move through small areas by contorting your body.

Table 7.3: Flexibility Difficulty Values

Restraint	Difficulty Value
Net	8
Common manacles	15
High-quality manacles	20
Extraordinary manacles	25
Tight Space	Difficulty Value
Can fit with outstretched elbows	5
Can fit one outstretched elbow	10
Can fit head and shoulders only	15
Can fit head only	25

Common Flexibility Tasks

Escape Bindings: As a standard action, you can make a Flexibility check to escape physical bindings. For simple restraints like nets and manacles, the difficulty value generally depends on the quality of the restraint. For complex restraints like carefully tied rope bindings, make an opposed Flexibility vs. Devices check against the creature that created the restraint.

Escape Grapple: As a standard action, you can make a Flexibility check to escape a grapple. For details, see Escape Grapple, page 38.

Tight Squeeze: You can make a Flexibility check to squeeze into spaces too small to normally fit you (see Squeezing, page 35).

Intimidate (Varies)

The Intimidate skill represents your ability to intimidate and coerce people into doing what you want.

Choosing an Attribute: No attribute is a key attribute for Intimidate. However, depending on how you are trying to intimidate creatures, you can add any attribute's base value to your Intimidate check. For example, if you intimidate a creature by smashing a table and threatening to smash its head in, you can add your Strength to the Intimidate check. On the other hand, if you intimidate a creature by staring it down in a cold fury, you can add your Willpower to the Intimidate check.

Common Intimidate Tasks

Coerce: You can make an Intimidate check to convince a creature to do what you want. This functions like a Persuasion check to form an agreement with a group, except that you do not apply a relationship modifier (see Persuasion, page 140). Generally, people dislike being coerced.

Demoralize:

Demoralize	Standard action
Make an Intimidate vs. Mental attack against up to two creatures within Short (30 ft.) range.

Hit: If the target is injured, it becomes frightened (-2 Mental, -2 accuracy vs. source) by you as a condition.

Jump (Str)

The Jump skill represents your ability to jump. Unlike most skills, you have no numeric modifier to Jump, and you never make a Jump check. Instead, the distance you can jump changes depending on whether you are trained with the Jump skill. For details, see (see Jumping, page 34).

Knowledge (Int)

The Knowledge skills represent your understanding of particular aspects of the world. Like the Craft, Profession, and Perform skills, Knowledge actually encompasses a number of separate skills. Knowledge represents a study of some body of lore, such an academic or even scientific discipline. Typical fields of study are listed below, but the GM may create additional fields or decide that some fields are irrelevant in a particular setting.

- Arcana (arcane spells, dragons, highly magical creatures, complex magical phenomena)
- Dungeoneering (aberrations, caverns, oozes, spelunking, subterranean monsters)
- Engineering (architecture, buildings, bridges, fortifications, siege weapons)
- Items (magic items, artifacts, constructs)
- Local (myths and legends, laws and customs, history, nobility and royalty, religious practices, humanoids)
- Nature (nature spells, animals, fae, plants, terrain and climate, planets of the Material Plane)
- Souls (divine and pact spells, soulforged, undead, deities, Spiritual Planes, the afterlife, resurrection)

Common Knowledge Tasks

Identify Monster: You can make a Knowledge check to identify a monster and recall its special powers or vulnerabilities. Each monster notes in its description the specific information that you learn from a successful Knowledge check. In general, the difficulty value for basic information is equal to 5 + the monster's level. Legendary monsters such as dragons can be much easier to recognize.

Identify Item: You can make a Knowledge check to identify any unusual properties or functions of a magic item or esoteric mundane item. The difficulty value is equal to 5 + twice the item's rank. Items that are particularly common in a particular setting may be easier to identify, which can reduce the difficulty value by 2 or more. Success means that you know the item's general purpose, and how to activate its functions, including any magical effects. You also know the item's rank, which lets you estimate its value.

Recall Information: You can make a Knowledge check to remember information related to your field of study. The difficulty value varies depending on the difficulty of the question (see Standard Difficulty Values, page 10).

Identify Magical Effect: You can make a Knowledge check to identify the general nature of a magical effect that you observe. The difficulty value is generally equal to 10 + twice the effect's rank. Unusually obscure or obvious magical effects can have higher or lower difficulty values.

You must use a Knowledge skill relevant to the magical effect. Arcane effects require Knowledge (arcana), divine effects require Knowledge (nature), nature effects require Knowledge (nature), and pact effects require Knowledge (planes). In some circumstances, other Knowledge skills could be used if they are directly relevant to the magical effect. For example, Knowledge (dungeoneering) could be used to identify many spells from the terramancy mystic sphere.

Medicine (Int)

The Medicine skill represents your practical understanding of how to tend to the wounds of living creatures. In order to use this skill to aid a creature, you must be able to see and touch it, and the creature must be alive.

Many Medicine checks require the use of a medical kit, which contains items like bandages and salves. If you do not have a proper kit, you may be able to improvise from your surroundings. Generally, this imposes a penalty of at least -5 to the Medicine check.

Common Medicine Tasks

Accelerate Recovery: You can make a difficulty value 15 Medicine extended check using a medical kit to accelerate the recovery of up to four creatures from among yourself and your allies during a long rest. Success means that each creature removes an additional vital wound (see Removing Vital Wounds, page 30). For every 10 points by which you succeed, each creature removes an additional vital wound.

First Aid: As a standard action, you can make a Medicine check using a medical kit to prevent a creature from dying from a vital wound with a negative vital roll. The difficulty value is equal to 10 for a vital roll of 0. The DV increases by 5 for each point by which the vital roll is below 0. Success means that the target treats the vital roll as a 1 instead of its original value. This changes the effect of the vital wound, generally preventing the target from dying. For details, see Vital Wounds, page 30.

Identify Affliction: You can make a Medicine check to identify a poison, disease, or similar affliction currently affecting a creature. The difficulty value is equal to $5 + \text{twice the rank}$ of the poison or disease.

Treat Disease: With five minutes of work, you can make a Medicine check to treat a creature that is currently diseased. The next time it is attacked by its current disease, it can use your Medicine check or its Fortitude defense, whichever is higher.

Treat Poison: As a standard action, you can make a Medicine check to treat a creature that is currently poisoned. The next time it is attacked by its current poison, it can use your Medicine check or its Fortitude defense, whichever is higher.

Perform (Dex)

The Perform skills represent your ability to create particular forms of entertainment. Like Craft, Knowledge, and Profession, Perform is actually a number of separate skills. You could have several Perform skills, each with a separate degree of training. Each of the nine categories of the Perform skill includes a variety of methods, instruments, or techniques, a small list of which is provided for each category below.

- Acting (drama, impersonation, mime)
- Comedy (buffoonery, limericks, joke-telling)
- Dance (ballet, waltz, jig)
- Keyboard instruments (harpsichord, piano, pipe organ)
- Oratory (epic, ode, storytelling)
- Percussion instruments (bells, chimes, drums, gong)
- Singing (ballad, chant, melody)
- String instruments (fiddle, harp, lute, mandolin)
- Wind instruments (flute, pan pipes, recorder, shawm, trumpet)

Performance Types

There are four types of performances: dance, instrumental, manipulation, and vocal.

- Dance: You use your body to dance or act. This limits your ability to defend yourself, giving you a -2 penalty to your Armor and Reflex defenses as a Swift effect. Dance performances have the Visual tag.
- Instrumental: You use an instrument to make music. This requires at least one free hand to use the instrument. Instrumental performances have the Auditory tag.
- Manipulation: You use objects or gestures to perform, such as juggling or puppetry. This requires at least one free hand to use the objects. Manipulation performances have the Visual tag.
- Vocal: You use your voice to orate or sing. This prevents you from talking or using other abilities with verbal components. Vocal performances have the Auditory tag.

Limitations while Performing

It takes a minor action to initiate and sustain a performance. While you are performing, you take a -5 penalty to the Perform skill for any other performances. This penalty stacks, and applies separately for each simultaneous performance. For example, if you were playing a lyre, singing, and juggling balls with your feet, you would take a -10 penalty to all three performances. These limitations are in addition to any restrictions imposed by your method of performing, such as your hands being occupied playing an instrument.

You can otherwise act normally while performing, including attacking in combat, if doing so is physically possible.

Performance Time: In general, you can maintain a performance for up to an hour. After that time, you must finish a short rest before performing again.

Common Perform Tasks

Distract: If you succeed at an opposed Perform vs. Social Insight check, you can distract a creature observing your performance. This generally makes the distracted creature briefly partially unaware (-2 defenses) of you, which can allow you to hide or backstab them. Normally, the creature realizes that you tricked them once the distraction ends, which prevents them from being distracted again and may influence their behavior.

Entertain: You can make a Perform check to provide entertainment or to show off your skills.

Earn Income: You can make a Perform check to practice your trade and make a decent living. You earn about half your Perform check result in silver pieces per week of dedicated performance.

Fascinate: If you succeed at an opposed Perform vs. Social Insight check, you can keep attention focused on you while you perform. This generally gives distracted creatures a -5 penalty to the Awareness and Social Insight skills to notice anything other than you. You repeat this check once per minute, with a cumulative -5 penalty for each minute that the distraction has lasted.

Persuasion (Per)

The Persuasion skill represents your ability to convince people to think what you want them to. Depending on how it is used, it represents a combination of verbal acuity, tact, argumentative ability, grace, etiquette, and personal magnetism. Using a Persuasion check usually takes at least a minute of sustained conversation.

Not all social interactions require Persuasion checks. Much of the time, being extraordinarily persuasive is unnecessary, and creatures can be convinced with normal, inartful conversation and good reasoning. Persuasion checks should only be used when your personal persuasiveness matters.

Common Persuasion Tasks

Compel Belief: As part of conversation, you can make a Persuasion check to cause creatures to believe something you say to be true. If you are lying, you must also make a Deception check to avoid revealing the lie. The base difficulty value is equal to each creature's Mental defense. It is generally easier to convince creatures of things that are highly plausible or beneficial to them. Similarly, it is generally harder to convince creatures of things that are highly unlikely or detrimental to them.

Form Agreement: As part of conversation, you can make a Persuasion check to cause creatures to accept a deal or arrangement you propose. The base difficulty value is equal to each creature's Mental defense. It is generally easier to convince creatures if the deal is good for them, and harder if it is bad for them.

Gather Information: You can make a Persuasion check to gather information from people around you. The difficulty value is 5 for basic information, 10 for information that most people wouldn't know, and even higher for secrets or intentionally concealed information. This generally requires spending a few hours to meet a variety of people and learn what they know.

Common Persuasion Modifiers

The Persuasion skill has unusually large circumstantial modifiers compared to other skills. This is because the social context surrounding any given persuasion attempt is of critical importance, and only a GM can reliably determine that. Note that these modifiers apply regardless of whether you are telling the truth (see Deception, page 133).

Relationship Modifiers

All Persuasion checks are affected by your relationship with the target.

Relationship	DV Modifier	Risk vs. Reward	DV Modifier
Intimate: Someone with whom you have an implicit trust. Example: A lover or spouse.	-15	Fantastic: The reward for accepting the deal is very worthwhile; the risk is either acceptable or extremely unlikely. The best-case scenario is a virtual guarantee. Example: An offer to pay 10gp for directions to the well-known local tavern.	-10 or more
Friend: Someone with whom you have a regularly positive personal relationship. Example: A long-time buddy or a sibling.	-10	Good: The reward is good and the risk is minimal. The target is very likely to profit from the deal. Example: An offer to pay someone twice their normal daily wage to spend their evening in a seedy tavern and later report on everyone they saw there.	-5
Ally: Someone on the same team, but with whom you have no personal relationship. Example: A cleric of the same religion or a knight serving the same king.	-5	Favorable: The reward is appealing, but there's risk involved. If all goes according to plan, though, the deal will end up benefiting the target. Example: A request for a mercenary to aid the party in battle against a weak goblin tribe in return for a cut of the money and first pick of the magic items.	-2
Acquaintance (Positive): Someone you have met several times with no particularly negative experiences. Example: The blacksmith that buys your looted equipment regularly.	-2	Even: The reward and risk more or less even out; or the deal involves neither reward nor risk. Example: A request for directions to a place that isn't a secret.	+0
Just Met: No relationship whatsoever. Example: A guard at a castle or a traveler on a road.	+0	Unfavorable: The reward is not enough compared to the risk involved. Even if all goes according to plan, chances are it will end badly for the target. Example: A request to free a prisoner the target is guarding for a small amount of money.	+5
Acquaintance (Negative): Someone you have met several times with no particularly positive experiences. Example: A town guard that has arrested you for drunkenness once or twice.	+2	Bad: The reward is poor and the risk is high. The target is very likely to get the raw end of the deal. Example: A request for a mercenary to aid the party in battle against a fearsome dragon for a small cut of any non-magical treasure.	+10
Opposition: Someone who is part of a group that consistently works against your interests, with whom you have no personal relationship. Example: An outlaw (to a law-abiding person), a paladin of law (to an outlaw), or a soldier who fights for a country at war with your country.	+5	Horrible: There is no conceivable way that the proposed plan could end up with the target ahead or the worst-case scenario is guaranteed to occur. Example: An offer to trade a broken sword hilt for a shiny new longsword.	+15 or more
Enemy: Someone with whom you have a specifically antagonistic relationship. Example: An evil warlord whom you are attempting to thwart, a bounty hunter who is tracking you down for your crimes, or a bandit currently robbing you.	+10
Nemesis: Someone who has sworn to do you, personally, harm, or vice versa. Example: The brother of a man you murdered in cold blood, or the person who murdered your brother in cold blood.	+15

Compel Belief Modifiers

Believability	DV Modifier
Expected to be true ("Nothing interesting happened while I was on patrol")	-5
Plausible ("The mayor is too busy to see you now.")	+0
Unlikely ("That bloodstain was just an accident I had with a razor.")	+5
Extremely unlikely ("Your neighbor is secretly a werewolf.")	+10
Virtually impossible ("That crime was committed by my identical twin, not me.")	+15 or more
Incentive	DV Modifier
Extremely beneficial ("You have an uncle who died and left you his inheritance.")	-5
Somewhat beneficial ("That dress looks lovely on you.")	-2
No particular impact ("I really like bananas.")	+0
Somewhat detrimental ("You can't come with us to the party.")	+5
Extremely detrimental ("Your brother is a murderer.")	+10 or more

Form Agreement Modifiers

Profession (Varies)

The Profession skills represent your practical understanding of a particular profession. Like Craft, Knowledge, and Perform, Profession is actually a number of separate skills. You could have several Profession skills, each with a separate degree of training. While a Craft skill represents ability in creating or making an item, a Profession skill represents an aptitude in a vocation requiring a broader range of less specific knowledge. Most commoners have some training in a Profession skill.

Choosing an Attribute: No attribute is a key attribute for Profession. However, depending on how you are using your Profession, you can add any attribute's base value to your Profession check. For example, if you use your experience as a farmer to harrow a field, you can add your Strength to the Profession check. On the other hand, if you use your experience as a sailor to determine the right angle for sails in the current wind, you can add your Perception to the Profession check.

Common Profession Tasks

Earn Income: You can make a Profession check to practice your trade and make a decent living. If you make a difficulty value 8 Profession check, you earn 1gp with five days of work. For every 5 points by which you beat that difficulty value, you make twice as much.

Identify Item: You can make a Profession check to identify any unusual properties or functions of a magic item or esoteric mundane item. The difficulty value is equal to 5 + twice the item's rank. Items that are particularly common in a particular setting may be easier to identify, which can reduce the difficulty value by 2 or more. Success means that you know the item's general purpose, and how to activate its functions, including any magical effects. You also know the item's rank, which lets you estimate its value.

Perform Task: You can make a Profession check to perform some tasks related to your profession. This allows you to use Profession in place of other skills when it is appropriate. For example, a sailor could use Profession to tie common knots in place of Devices or Survival, or a farmer could use Profession to identify common animals and plants in place of Knowledge (nature). The difficulty value when using Profession may be higher than it would be to use the normal skill for the task, depending on the relevance of the Profession skill.

Ride (Dex)

The Ride skill represents your ability to ride and control horses and other mounts. Typical riding actions don't require checks. You can saddle, mount, ride, and dismount from a mount without a problem. However, some special actions require Ride checks.

Unless an ability says otherwise, you can only use this skill to ride allies that are exactly one size category larger than you.

Common Ride Modifiers

If a creature is not trained as a mount, the DV to ride it increases by 5. If it lacks a saddle and other riding gear, the DV to ride it increases by 5. If it takes a standard action other than movement, such as attacking, the DV to ride it that round increases by 5. If it uses a movement mode other than a walk speed, the DV to ride it that round increases by 10.

Common Ride Tasks

Guide Mount: When riding on a creature, you can make a Ride check to direct your mount's movement. While travelling, this check is only necessary when giving the mount directions. In battle, this check must be repeated at the start of each round. If the mount is trained for battle, the difficulty value of this check is 0. Otherwise, the DV is 5. Success means the mount understands your direction, and will obey if it is willing and able. Failure means the mount does not understand your direction, and acts of its own volition.

If you can communicate with your mount in other ways, such as by speaking with it, this check may be unnecessary.

Maintain Ride: Whenever you take damage or your mount makes a sudden motion, you must make a DV 5 Ride check to continue riding the creature. Sudden motions include jumping, attacking, and moving at more than half speed. Failure means you fall off of your mount.

Take Cover: You can make a DV 15 Ride check as a move action to drop low and take cover behind your mount. This requires the use of a free hand. Failure means you can't get low enough and gain no benefit from the action.

Sleight of Hand (Dex)

The Sleight of Hand skill represents your ability to pick pockets, palm objects, and perform other feats of legerdemain.

Common Sleight of Hand Modifiers

All Sleight of Hand checks apply a special modifier based on the size of the action taken or object affected, as shown on Table 7.4: Sleight of Hand Difficulty Modifiers.

Table 7.4: Sleight of Hand Difficulty Modifiers

Size	Difficulty Modifier
Fine	-10
Diminutive	-5
Tiny	+0
Small	+5
Medium	+10
Large	+15
Huge	+20
Gargantuan	+25
Colossal	+30

Common Sleight of Hand Tasks

Conceal Object: You can make an opposed Sleight of Hand vs. Awareness check to conceal an ally or unattended object on your person. The target must be at least one size category smaller than you are.

Conceal Action: You can make an opposed Sleight of Hand vs. Awareness check to conceal an action that you take. The space required to perform the action is the size of the action, and applies a size-based bonus or penalty appropriately. The action must be at least two size categories smaller than you are. This generally makes it impossible to conceal attacks or spellcasting, but you can pick pockets or apply poison to food.

Pickpocket: You can make an Sleight of Hand check to steal an object from another creature. The object must be loose and accessible, such as in a pocket. All observers, including the creature you are stealing from, can make an Awareness check against your Sleight of Hand check result to observe your attempt. If your check result beats the target's Reflex defense, you steal the object.

Social Insight (Per)

The Social Insight skill represents your ability to read body language and emotion.

Common Social Insight Tasks

Discern Enchantment: You can make a Social Insight check to notice whether a creature is affected by any behavior-altering effects. Noticing a Compulsion effect is difficulty value 5, and noticing an Emotion or Subtle effect is difficulty value 20. You can use this task to notice effects on yourself in addition to other creatures.

Discern Hidden Message: You can make an opposed Social Insight vs. Deception check to recognize when a hidden message is being conveyed in a conversation.

Discern Lies: You can make an opposed Social Insight vs. Deception check to recognize when a creature is intentionally lying or concealing the truth.

Notice Subtle Effect: If you succeed at a Social Insight check, you can notice the general effects of a Subtle ability affecting a creature you are talking with. The difficulty value to notice the effect is $20 + \text{twice the rank of the ability}$.

Social Assessment: You can make a Social Insight check to get a general assessment of a social situation after a minute of observation. The base difficulty value is equal to 10. Simple and familiar social situations are easier to understand, while complex and unfamiliar social situations can be much harder to understand. Success means you learn relevant information about the situation, such as a general understanding of expected behaviors or a rough understanding of the social hierarchy.

Stealth (Dex)

The Stealth skill represents your ability to escape detection while moving or taking large-scale actions. All Stealth checks are made as part of movement or other actions, so they require no special action to perform. If you have been noticed by a creature, you automatically fail all Stealth checks against that creature until you can escape its notice, such as by disappearing out of sight.

Common Stealth Tasks

Avoid Notice: You can make an opposed Stealth vs. Awareness check to prevent creatures from noticing you. Success means that the observer's awareness of you, such as unaware or partially unaware, does not change. Failure means that the observer can observe you using any senses they detected you with. Generally, success with sight-based senses causes creatures to become fully aware of you, while success with other senses causes creatures to be partially unaware (-2 defenses) of you. You must repeat this check whenever you take an action that you want to conceal, such as moving, or your circumstances otherwise meaningfully change in a way that would make you easier to observe.

Hide: You can make an opposed Stealth vs. Awareness check to make creatures that are aware of you lose track of your position. In order to use this ability, you must move in a way that makes observers lose sight of you for at least ten feet of your motion. In addition, you must have cover or concealment for the entire duration of your movement. This can be achieved by moving through total darkness, moving out of line of sight, teleporting at least ten feet, or similar activities. Success against an observer means that they become partially unaware (-2 defenses) of you instead of fully aware of you.

Common Stealth Modifiers

A creature smaller than Medium size gains a +4 bonus to the Stealth skill for each size category by which it is smaller than Medium. Similarly, a creature larger than Medium size takes a -4 penalty to the Stealth skill for each size category by which it is smaller than Medium. These effects are summarized below.

- Fine: +16
- Diminutive: +12
- Tiny: +8
- Small: +4
- Medium: +0
- Large: -4
- Huge: -8
- Gargantuan: -12
- Colossal: -16

Stealth checks generally require cover or concealment (see Cover, page 41 and Concealment, page 40). For this purpose, do not consider any cover that would be hidden as a result of a successful check, such as an object you hold in front of you. You take a -20 penalty to Stealth checks against creatures who can observe you without any interfering cover or concealment. This includes creatures who can ignore concealment with abilities like blindsight.

You take a -10 penalty to Stealth checks against creatures who can know your location with a special ability like blindsight. This does not stack with the penalty for not having cover or concealment.

Moving stealthily is more difficult than hiding in place. If you use a movement speed to move, you take a penalty to your Stealth check to conceal that movement. This is a -5 penalty if you move at no more than half your speed. If you use the sprint ability or move faster than half your speed, this penalty increases to -10.

Making a strike, using somatic components, and taking other similar large-scale actions imposes a -10 penalty to the Stealth check. If you make a strike with a Heavy weapon, this penalty increases to -20. This is separate from and stacks with the +20 bonus that a creature gets to notice you if you hit it with a strike (see Common Awareness Modifiers, page 128).

Survival (Per)

The Survival skill represents your ability to take care of yourself and others in the wilderness, including the ability to follow tracks.

Common Survival Tasks

Find Sustenance: You can make a Survival check to hunt or forage for food and water. This generally takes a few hours of work to find enough sustenance for you and a small group of allies. The difficulty value and details of what you find depend on the terrain.

Follow Tracks: You can make a Survival check to follow tracks at up to half your normal movement speed. You can move at full speed if you accept a -5 penalty to the check. The difficulty value depends on how easy the tracks are to notice. You must repeat this check whenever the trail changes significantly, such as when it crosses other tracks or passes through a different environment.

Navigate Wilderness: You can make a Survival check while moving overland to avoid natural terrain hazards and getting lost. The difficulty value and consequences of failure depend on the terrain. Overland travel often follows standard roads or paths, which may make this check unnecessary depending on the quality of the road.

Predict Weather: You can make a difficulty value 10 Survival check to predict the local weather for the next day.

Terrain Difficulty Values

These are general guidelines, not exact rules. The GM can tell you more about the specific landscape you are traversing.

Terrain	Navigation Value	Difficulty Value	Sustenance	Difficulty Value
Desert	10	20
Forest	10	10
Jungle	15	5
Mountains	10	15
Hills	5	10
Plains	5	10
Swamp	15	15

Tracking

One of the key uses for the Survival skill is to follow tracks left by creatures. You can use the Awareness skill to notice signs of passage, but the Survival skill is necessary to follow tracks for any distance. Some suggestions for determining the difficulty of following a trail can be found in Table 7.5: Example Tracking Difficulty Values and Table 7.6: Example Tracking Difficulty Modifiers. The GM may also apply other circumstantial modifiers not listed here.

Table 7.5: Example Tracking Difficulty Values

Surface	Description	Difficulty Value
Very soft ground	Any surface (fresh snow, thick dust, wet mud) that holds deep, clear impressions of footprints.	0
Soft ground	Any surface soft enough to yield to pressure, but firmer than wet mud or fresh snow, in which a creature leaves frequent but shallow footprints	5
Firm ground	Most normal outdoor surfaces (such as lawns, fields, woods, and the like) or exceptionally soft or dirty indoor surfaces (thick rugs and very dirty or dusty floors)	10
Hard ground	Any surface that doesn't hold footprints at all, such as bare rock or a streambed	15
Scent	Tracking using the scent ability instead of vision	5

Table 7.6: Example Tracking Difficulty Modifiers

Condition	Difficulty Modifier
Every three creatures in the group being tracked	-1
Size of creature or creatures being tracked: ¹
Fine	+20
Diminutive	+15
Tiny	+10
Small	+5
Medium	+0
Large	-5
Huge	-10
Gargantuan	-15
Colossal	-20
Every 24 hours since the trail was made	+1 ³
Every hour of rain since the trail was made	+1
Fresh snow cover since the trail was made	+10
Poor visibility: ²
Overcast or moonless night	+6
Moonlight	+3
Fog or precipitation	+3
Tracked party hides trail (and moves at half speed)	+5

1 For a group of mixed sizes, apply only the modifier for the largest size category.

2 Apply only the largest modifier from this category.

3 With scent-based tracking, apply this modifier per hour since the trail was made. High winds can increase this modifier even more quickly.

Swim (Str)

The Swim skill represents your ability to swim. Moving with the Swim skill requires using the swim forward ability (see Movement Abilities, page 33). A creature that is immersed or submerged in water without a swim speed is unsteady (-2 accuracy, Armor, Brawn, Ref). For details, see Fighting In Water, page 42.

Most creatures are naturally buoyant, so they float in calm water. If the weight category of a creature's held items and equipment is at least half of its carrying capacity, it sinks instead of floating.

Creatures that are native to water, such as fish and monsters with a swim speed but no walk speed, gain a +10 bonus to Swim checks.

Swim Speed

Some creatures have a listed swim speed. A creature with a passive swim speed must still make a Swim check to move in liquid. However, it can swim with its speed as part of normal movement abilities rather than relying on the swim forward ability.

Swim Difficulty Values

Liquid	Difficulty Value
Calm water	5
Rough water	10
Viscous liquid, like a muddy swamp	10
Stormy water	15
Extremely stormy water	20

Chapter 8

Adventuring

Resting

When you have a moment to relax, you can rest to regain some of your expended resources. There are two main types of rests: a short rest and a long rest. The benefits of taking a short rest or long rest happen automatically after you spend enough time avoiding strenuous activity. You do not have to declare that you are using the “short rest” or “long rest” ability. Resting at night is often combined with sleeping, but you can rest at any time without sleeping.

Short Rest

Resting for ten minutes is considered a short rest. When you finish a short rest, you gain the following benefits.

- Your hit points become equal to your maximum hit points.
- You regain any attunement points you released from deep attunement effects (see Deep Attunement, page 46).
- You remove all conditions affecting you.
- Some other abilities have specific effects that last until you finish a short rest.

Long Rest

Resting for eight hours is considered a long rest. When you finish a long rest, you gain the following benefits.

- You remove one of your vital wounds (see Removing Vital Wounds, page 30). The Medicine skill can increase this healing (see Accelerate Recovery, page 139).
- Your fatigue level becomes 0.
- Some other abilities have specific effects that last until you finish a long rest.

You can take multiple long rests consecutively to recover from extensive vital wounds.

Sleep and Fatigue

A typical creature needs a minimum of 6 hours of sleep for every 18 hours spent awake, and a minimum of 50 hours of sleep per week. You can stay awake beyond those limits with the Endurance skill (see Stay Awake, page 136).

Overland Movement

This section provides rules governing overland movement speeds. Not every game should think about overland movement travel speed in a detailed way. It’s fine to just spend “a few days” walking around between various important locations. However, sometimes the details are important, such as when you are on a strict timetable. The GM can tell you when overland movement matters.

Standard Travel Days

Characters covering long distances cross-country use overland movement. Overland movement is measured in miles per hour or miles per day. A day normally represents 8 hours of actual travel time. However, sailing ships and other methods of travel that keep moving without requiring a rest are listed with a full 24 hours of travel time.

You can make an Endurance check to push beyond a standard 8-hour travel day. In addition, you can make an Endurance check to travel faster within a normal travel day. For details, see Endurance, page 468.

Standard travel distances on foot are listed in Table 8.1: Travel Distance By Movement Speed, page 148. When using mounts or ships, Table 8.2: Mounts and Vehicles, page 148 will be more convenient.

Table 8.1: Travel Distance By Movement Speed

— — — Speed — — —
	15 feet	20 feet	30 feet	40 feet
One Hour (Overland)
Walk	1-1/2 mile	2 miles	3 miles	4 miles
Hustle (Exertion)	3 miles	4 miles	6 miles	8 miles
One Day (Overland)
Walk	12 miles	16 miles	24 miles	30 miles
Hustle (Exertion)	—	—	—	—

Table 8.2: Mounts and Vehicles

Mount/Vehicle	Per Hour	Per Day
Mount (carrying load)
Light horse or warhorse	5 miles	40 miles
Draft horse	4 miles	32 miles
Pony or war pony	4 miles	32 miles
Donkey or mule	3 miles	24 miles
Dog, riding	4 miles	32 miles
Cart or wagon	2 miles	16 miles
Ship
Raft or barge (poled or towed) ¹	1/2 mile	4 miles
Keelboat (rowed) ¹	1 mile	8 miles
Rowboat (rowed) ¹	1-1/2 miles	12 miles
Sailing ship (sailed)	2 miles	48 miles
Warship (sailed and rowed)	2-1/2 miles	60 miles
Longship (sailed and rowed)	5 miles	120 miles
Galley (sailed and rowed)	6 miles	144 miles

¹ Rafts, barges, keelboats, and rowboats are used on lakes and rivers. If going downstream, add the speed of the current (typically 3 miles per hour) to the speed of the vehicle. In addition to 10 hours of being rowed, the vehicle can also float an additional 14 hours, if someone can guide it, so add an additional 42 miles to the daily distance traveled. These vehicles can't be rowed against any significant current, but they can be pulled upstream by draft animals on the shores.

Overland Terrain

Travelling over a flat, paved highway is much faster than trailblazing through a jungle. You can use Table 8.3: Terrain and Overland Movement, page 148 as a reference for common terrain.

A highway is a straight, major, paved road. A road is typically a dirt track. A trail is like a road, except that it allows only single-file travel and does not benefit a party traveling with vehicles. Trackless terrain is a wild area with no significant paths.

Table 8.3: Terrain and Overland Movement

Terrain	Highway	Road or Trail	Trackless
Desert, sandy	x1	x1/2	x1/2
Forest	x1	x1	x1/2
Hills	x1	x3/4	x1/2
Jungle	x1	x3/4	x1/4
Moor	x1	x1	x3/4

Communication and Languages

Literacy: All characters with an Intelligence of -2 or higher are presumed to be literate, allowing them to read and write any language they speak. Each language has an alphabet, though sometimes several spoken languages share a single alphabet.

Language Rarity: Some languages are widely spoken in the world, while others are only encountered in unusual circumstances. Common and rare languages are listed in Table 8.4: Languages, below. Rare languages are more difficult to learn, and are usually only spoken by unusual creatures.

Some intelligent but non-civilized monsters, such as gnolls and lizardfolk, have their own language. You can learn the language of a single type of monster as a rare language. They are not all listed individually here due to the sheer number of languages.

Learning Languages: Learning a language is a time-consuming process, and most characters only know a few languages based on their species. You can learn two common languages or one rare language in place of training a skill (see Skills, page 126). In addition, you can talk to your GM about knowing an additional language based on your character's personal background.

Writing Systems: There are four common writing systems: letters, glyphs, runes, and sigils. Each writing system can express multiple languages.

Table 8.4: Languages

Common Language	Typical Speakers	Writing System
Common	Civilized creatures	Letters
Draconic	Dragons, kobolds	Glyphs
Dwarven	Dwarves	Runes
Elven	Elves	Glyphs
Giantish	Ogres, giants	Runes
Goblin	Goblins, hobgoblins	Runes
Halfling	Halflings	Letters
Human	Humans	Letters
Orcish	Orcs	Runes
Rare Language	Typical Speakers	Writing System
Abyssal	Evil soulforged	Sigils
Elysian	Good soulforged	Sigils
Moirain	Lawful soulforged	Sigils
Monster languages	Various monsters	Varies
Protean	Chaotic soulforged	Sigils
Sylvan	Dryads, fae	Glyphs
Undercommon	Underground creatures	Runes

Common Magical Effects

Resurrection

Some abilities can return dead creatures to life. This is called resurrection.

When a living creature dies, its soul departs its body, travels through the Astral Expanse, and forms a new body on the appropriate Spiritual Plane. The destination of a soul is determined by its affinity (see Affinity, page 438). Bringing a creature back from the dead means retrieving their soul and returning it to their body.

A creature has no hit points when it returns to life. It is cured of all vital wounds, conditions, and other negative effects, but the body's shape is unchanged. Any missing or irreparably damaged limbs or organs remain missing or damaged. The creature may therefore die shortly after being resurrected if its body is excessively damaged. Some resurrection abilities can restore more damaged corpses to life, as indicated in their descriptions.

Coming back from the dead is an ordeal. The creature's maximum fatigue tolerance is reduced by 2. This penalty stacks if the creature is resurrected multiple times. Every thirty days, and whenever the creature gains a level, this penalty is reduced by 1. If this penalty would reduce a creature's maximum fatigue tolerance below 0, the creature cannot be resurrected.

Resurrection is always voluntary. A soul infallibly knows the name, alignment, and patron deity (if any) of the character attempting to revive it and may refuse to return on that basis. If a dead creature's soul refuses to return to life, no effect can compel it to be resurrected. Similarly, if a dead creature's soul has been subsumed into the planar essence of its afterlife plane, it has already been resurrected, or the soul is otherwise inaccessible, resurrection is impossible.

Although you can resurrect creatures who have died of old age, it is usually pointless. They will die again before long from some malady resulting from their advanced age.

Limits of Resurrection

While dead, souls gradually lose their cohesion and independent sense of self. A typical creature can maintain its existence in the afterlife for a number of years equal to 5 times the sum of its level and Willpower. This can vary significantly for individual creatures, and being tormented in the afterlife can significantly reduce this time.

Enemies can take steps to make it more difficult for a character to be returned from the dead. Except for true resurrection, every ritual to raise the dead requires some part of the creature's body, so keeping or destroying the body is an effective deterrent. The soul bind ritual prevents any sort of revivification unless the soul is first released.

Shapeshifting

When a creature shapeshifts, its physical body completely transforms into a different shape. It generally retains all of its original statistics and abilities, with the following exceptions. Some specific abilities that cause a creature to shapeshift have additional effects.

- The creature's size changes to match the new form. This can change the creature's base speed, Reflex defense, and other statistics as normal (see Size Categories, page 15).
- The creature's mundane movement modes and natural weapons are replaced with the movement modes and natural weapons of its new shape. If the new form does not specifically mention a walk speed, it has an average walk speed.
- If the new shape is not normally capable of speech, the creature cannot speak. This may prevent it from casting spells with verbal components and using similar abilities.
- The creature is limited by the number of free hands present in the new form. In addition, it cannot gain more free hands by shapeshifting than it originally had in its base form. Even if you shapeshift to a form with many hands, you do not have the mental coordination necessary to use them all effectively.
- Any special properties that a creature had that were originally a result of its pure physical composition change to match its new form. For example, a ghost would stop being incorporeal if it shapeshifted.

All of a shapeshifted creature's equipment that is physically incompatible with the creature's new shape meld into its body. This does not break attunement, and the creature still gains the benefit of any magical properties of melded items. However, it does not gain the benefit of nonmagical properties from melded items. For example, a creature that shapeshifts into an amorphous gas would still benefit from all attuned effects from its equipped items, such as boots of speed. However, it would gain no benefit to its Armor defense or durability from any melded body armor, and it would not be able to attack with any of its melded weapons. Items exceeding a creature's carrying capacity are not melded, and simply fall to the ground in place.

When a shapeshifted creature dies, it returns to its original form.

Teleportation

Some abilities can teleport creatures or objects. When you are teleported, you stop existing at your previous location at the same instant that you arrive at your new location.

All teleportation abilities require both line of sight and line of effect to both their target and their destination. In addition, the destination must be an unoccupied location on a stable surface. That surface must be able to support the weight of the creature or object being teleported. If any of these conditions is not met, the teleportation fails without effect. Some teleportation abilities are less restricted, as indicated in their description.

Teleportation conserves vertical momentum, but not horizontal momentum. For example, teleporting to the ground while falling means you still take falling damage from the distance you fell before teleporting. However, teleporting from a moving ship to the shore leaves you standing steady on the ground, not stumbling forward.

Teleporting Up Slopes

In general, you can teleport up slopes that are no more than 45 degrees. Steeper slopes prevent you from seeing stable ground to teleport to it. The GM can provide guidance for individual slopes, which may be easier or harder to navigate with teleportation.

Teleportation Noise

Creatures and objects that are teleported make a sound when they depart and arrive. This noise is caused by the displacement of air (or other substances) created by the teleportation. The base difficulty value of an Awareness check to hear this sound for a Medium creature or object is 10. This difficulty value changes based on the size of the teleported creature or object:

- Fine: 30
- Diminutive: 25
- Tiny: 20
- Small: 15
- Medium: 10
- Large: 5
- Huge: 0
- Gargantuan: -5
- Colossal: -10

Carrying Objects

When a creature is teleported, it can bring along equipment and held objects as long as two conditions are met. First, the combined weight of the objects cannot exceed the creature's maximum carrying capacity (see Weight Limits, page 15). If a creature is teleported while carrying more than its maximum carrying capacity, all excess objects are left behind, starting with the heaviest object and proceeding in order of weight.

Second, no object can extend more than five feet away from the creature's body. Any objects that extend beyond that distance are left behind. For example, a creature wearing handcuffs will arrive at its teleportation destination still wearing the handcuffs. However, a creature that is tied to a post by a long rope will arrive at its teleportation destination without the rope.

Astral Beacons

Some abilities allow long-distance teleportation, such as the overland teleportation ritual. This sort of teleportation is much easier if you are travelling to an astral beacon. The specific effects of an astral beacon are defined in the teleportation ability being used. An astral beacon covers an area, rather than a single point in space.

Each astral beacon has a unique name. The name represents the beacon's precise location in the Astral Expanse, so no two beacons can have identical names. For example, astral beacons created by rituals have their name defined by the precise color of ritual inks, details of drawn patterns, timing and inflection of ritual incantations, and similar subtleties.

It is possible, though unlikely, to find astral beacons simply by wandering in the Astral Expanse. They are similar in size and shape to scrying sensors, but their appearance is visually distinct, and they are visible rather than invisible. Inspecting a beacon can reveal the location it points to, and destroying the beacon in the Astral Expanse removes its effects.

Horizontal Teleportation

Some planes have a curved primary surface. On those planes, "horizontal" teleportation isn't objectively horizontal. Instead, it is horizontal relative to the surface of the plane.

Breaking Objects

There are two main ways of breaking objects. You can deal damage to objects with attacks, similarly to how you can deal damage to creatures. Alternately, you can attempt to sunder the object with sheer strength.

Damaging Objects

Objects have hit points like creatures. They can also have hardness, which reduces damage they take. Whenever an object takes damage, it first subtracts its hardness from that damage before applying that damage to its hit points. Objects are not normally subject to critical hits. When objects lose enough hit points, they can become broken (see Broken and Destroyed Objects, page 151).

Vulnerable and Impervious Objects

An object that is impervious (+4 defenses) to an attack doubles its hardness against that attack. Likewise, an object that is vulnerable (-4 defenses) to an attack has no hardness against that attack.

Sundering Objects

As a standard action, you can attempt to break an object with raw strength instead of damage. This requires two hands. When you sunder an object, make a Strength check. The difficulty value of the check is equal to the object's hardness, +5 for each weight category above Tiny. Success means the object becomes broken. Critical success means the object becomes destroyed.

Object Statistics

An object's size primarily influences the number of hit points it has. The primary material it is constructed from determines its hardness, and can modify the number of hit points it has. Details are given in Table 8.5: Object Statistics By Size, page 151 and Table 8.6: Object Statistics By Material, page 151.

Oddly shaped objects, such as a ladder or pillar, should generally use some size category in between their largest and smallest dimensions. Consider these examples:

- A 20 foot cube would have the hit points of a Huge object.
- A stone pillar that is 20 feet wide, 20 feet long, and 100 feet tall would have the hit points of a Huge object.
- A 20 foot tall, 20 foot wide wall of typical thickness would have the hit points of a Large object.

These rules are more detailed than you should really need. During a typical game session, it's often best to just guess whether a character could plausibly sunder or smash an object rather than consulting these tables.

Table 8.5: Object Statistics By Size

Size	Hit Points	Sunder DV Modifier
Fine	2	0
Diminutive	5	0
Tiny	10	0
Small	25	+5
Medium	50	+10
Large	100	+15
Huge	250	+20
Gargantuan	500	+25
Colossal	1000	+30

Table 8.6: Object Statistics By Material

Material	Hardness ¹	HP Multiplier ²
Adamantine	30	x3
Glass	5	x1/2
Ice	0	x1/2
Iron or steel	15	x2
Leather or hide	5	—
Mithral	20	x2
Packed earth	5	—
Paper or cloth	0	x1/2
Rope	5	—
Stone	10	x2
Wood	5	—

1. An object's hardness also increases the difficulty value of checks to sunder it with raw Strength.
2. Any value here modifies the number of hit points the object would normally have based on its size.

Broken and Destroyed Objects

If an object would gain its first vital wound, typically by reaching negative hit points, it becomes broken instead. Unlike creatures, objects do not reset their negative hit points to 0 at the end of the round or when they are healed. Instead, it continues to track its negative hit points indefinitely. If its negative hit points reach ten times its maximum hit points, it becomes destroyed.

Broken Objects: Broken objects cannot be used for their intended purpose, but still retain enough of their original form to be repaired without too much work. For example, a broken wall lies in pieces on the ground and no longer blocks passage, but can be repaired with far less effort than would be required to create a wall from scratch. Magic items that are broken retain their magical properties once fixed. Broken (but not destroyed) objects can be repaired with the Craft skill (see Craft, page 130).

Most magical effects that create temporary objects are fully destroyed when they become broken.

Destroyed Objects: Destroyed objects have been damaged beyond hope of any sort of repair short of crafting the object again from raw materials. For example, a destroyed wall is reduced to dust or small, useless chunks of rubble. Magic items that are destroyed irrevocably lose their magical properties. The remains of a destroyed object generally occupy a space one size category smaller than the original object. Destroyed objects can be rebuilt with the Craft skill, but it requires significant time and investment.

Breaking Equipment

Normally, a character's equipment cannot be damaged or otherwise affected by attacks. This includes worn items, anything held in your hands, and anything in a secure storage like a small backpack. Such items are considered attended. They are unaffected by damage caused by area effects, and cannot be targeted individually. Some abilities can specifically target attended objects, as indicated in their descriptions.

Loose Equipment

Some items are explicitly loose equipment. Loose equipment does not gain the protections listed above while worn as equipment. It can be individually targeted by attackers, and is affected by area effects just like any other object in the area.

Poison

Poisons are organic substances that are dangerous to living creatures. They can deal damage or inflict debilitating effects. Some effects which are not literally poisonous, such as animal venom or fungal spores, are considered poisons. Poisons are not conditions, and cannot be removed by abilities that remove conditions (see Conditions, page 46). Common poisons are listed in Table 9.12: Consumables, page 176. You can use the Craft (poison) skill to create poisons (see Crafting Items, page 131).

Poisons always have the Poison tag, even if the ability inflicting the poison does not have that tag. They never apply extra damage from any source.

Poison Effects

When you come in contact with a poison, it makes a reactive attack against your Fortitude defense. On a hit, you become poisoned by the poison. On a miss, the poison has no effect on you.

While a creature is poisoned, the poison makes an attack against its Fortitude at the end of each subsequent round. On a hit, the poison escalates. Some poisons have stronger effects after they escalate a certain number of times. On a miss, the creature makes progress towards removing the poison. If the poison misses three times, the creature stops being poisoned.

If you become poisoned again by the same poison, it does not intensify the effects of the poison. However, it cancels any progress you had made towards removing the poison. A poison is considered the same if it has the same name. If you are affected by multiple different poisons with the same name, but different accuracy bonuses, use the highest accuracy bonus.

Poisons have no effect on non-living creatures.

Poison Stages

Poison effects are divided into stages. Becoming poisoned does not have any ill effects until the poison progresses to its first stage.

Many poisons have a Stage 1 effect. This effect happens as soon as the poison's attack first succeeds against you. Some poisons also have a Stage 3 effect.

Poison Accuracy

A poison's accuracy depends on the way it was applied. Item-based poisons have a specific accuracy listed in their description. This accuracy does not depend on the skill of the creature inflicting the poison.

Poisons inflicted by creature abilities use the creature's accuracy. They may also have additional modifiers listed in the ability's description. For monsters, the poison's accuracy will be listed in the monster description.

Poison Transmission

There are three ways that poisons can be contracted.

Contact: A contact poison affects any creature that touches it with bare skin.

Ingestion: An ingestion poison affects any creature that eats, drinks, or breathes it, depending on the type of poison. Ingestion poisons have no effect when touched or used to coat weapons. This means you can avoid negative effects from ingestion poisons by holding your breath and avoiding eating or drinking.

Injury: An injury poison affects any creature that loses hit points from something bearing the poison. Almost all injury poisons take liquid form, and are typically used to coat weapons.

Poison Forms

There are four forms of poison. If a poison can be thrown, throwing one dose of the poison requires a standard action.

Gas: Gaseous poisons are difficult to store, but easy to affect foes with. Unless otherwise noted, a gas poison can be thrown at a location within Short (30 ft.) range, and affects a Tiny (5 ft.) radius zone. Once active, gas poisons typically linger for one minute before dispersing, though high wind can clear them much more rapidly. Walking through the gas cloud will affect creatures with contact poisons, but generally not with ingestion poisons.

Liquid: Liquid poisons are the most common type of poison. Liquid poisons can be used to coat weapons, slipped into food, or simply thrown at foes. A dose of a liquid poison is usually about one ounce of the poison. Unless otherwise noted, a liquid poison can be thrown at something within Short (30 ft.) range.

Pellet: Some rare poisons come in small, solid pellets or cubes. Typically, these pellets contain a powerful liquid poison that becomes inert quickly after being exposed. Pellet poisons are typically applied by being slipped into food.

Powder: Poison in powder form cannot be used to coat weapons, but can be slipped into food or thrown at foes. Unless otherwise noted, a powder poison can be thrown at something within 10 foot range.

Coating Weapons with Poison

As a standard action, you can coat a weapon with a single dose of a liquid contact-based or injury-based poison. The next time a creature takes damage from a strike using that weapon, the struck creature comes in contact with the poison. This removes one dose of the poison from the weapon. Coated poisons expire and lose their effectiveness after ten minutes.

An injury-based poison has no effect if the strike does not cause an injury, but the dose is still removed from the weapon. For this reason, injury-based poisons are typically applied to secondary weapons that can be used after the subject is already weakened.

A weapon can hold up to three poison doses of the same poison. Mixing different poison types on the same weapon is ineffective, as each poison dilutes the others. Only the highest rank poison on the weapon has any effect.

Poison Materials

Creating a poison requires special materials. The type of materials required, and how those materials can be acquired, depend on the type of poison:

- Alchemical: Alchemical poisons require alchemical materials. These normally can't be found in nature. In unusual circumstances, these components can be synthesized from natural chemicals or magical materials. This takes an hour of work, and requires a Craft (alchemy) check equal to 10 + twice the poison's rank.
- Plant: Plant-based poisons can typically be harvested by making a Survival extended check to search in appropriate terrain. This usually takes an hour of work. The difficulty value is usually equal to 10 + twice the poison's rank.
- Venom: Venom requires an appropriate body part from a creature – often, poison it naturally produces. This usually takes a minute of work. Harvesting a body part from a creature requires a Medicine or Survival check equal to 5 + twice the poison's rank.

Chapter 9

Items and Equipment

This chapter defines the items and equipment that exist in the universe of Rise, including both magical and nonmagical items.

Wealth and Item Ranks

The worth of an item can be measured with money, or with the more abstract concept of an item's rank. Both measurements are closely connected. In general, gold pieces are a more useful concept at low levels, and item ranks are more useful at high levels. However, both concepts function at any level, so you can use whichever makes more sense in a particular game.

Coins

Most common people would use the silver piece (sp) for daily usage, with copper pieces (cp) used for change and trivial matters. However, adventurers and nobility typically deal with the gold piece (gp). A gold piece is worth 100 silver pieces, and a silver piece is worth 100 copper pieces.

The standard coin weighs about a third of an ounce (fifty to the pound).

Table 9.1: Coin Exchange Values

	CP	SP	GP
Copper piece (cp)	=	1	1/100
Silver piece (sp)	=	100	1
Gold piece (gp)	=	10,000	100

Item Ranks

Each item has a rank associated with it. An item's rank is generally correlated with the item's effectiveness, rarity, and value. A magic item's power is equal to twice its rank. In general, five items of a given rank are worth the same as a single item that is one rank higher. These effects are summarized in Item Ranks, below.

Rank	Typical Item Price	Power
0	1 gp or less	0
1	4 gp	2
2	20 gp	4
3	100 gp	6
4	500 gp	8
5	2,500 gp	10
6	12,500 gp	12
7	62,500 gp	14
8	312,500 gp	16

Items with a rank of 0 or 1 may be found among common folk, though few commoners would have more than one magic item of any value. Items with a rank of 2 or higher are usually only owned or used by nobility, wealthy merchants, and adventurers.

Buying and Selling Items

Items of any rank can be exchanged for other items based on their rank. In general, items with a rank of 3 or less can be bought or sold in exchange for gold pieces. Items with a rank of 4 or higher are exceptionally rare. The monetary value of such items is so exorbitant that they are almost never purchased or sold with gold pieces. Instead, they are typically exchanged for similarly rare magic items or gems.

Wandering adventurers typically have a limited time frame to sell their items. It can be difficult to find a buyer for valuable items on short notice, so they must accept lower prices than merchants can charge. When selling for gold pieces, you can expect to receive a fifth of the item's typical value according to its rank. When selling for another item, you can expect to receive an item or trade good of one rank lower in exchange. These ratios can be negotiated, and favorably disposed merchants or nobles may give better deals.

Some items have no listed price, such as arrows. They are not literally free in-universe, but the price of those items is typically not meaningful to track. If it's relevant, their price should generally be measured in silver pieces, at the GM's discretion.

Trade Goods

Some items are considered trade goods. Trade goods have a widely agreed upon value, but no intrinsic use. Gold pieces and gems are examples of trade goods. Trade goods differ from other items in that even adventurers can typically receive their full value when selling them to established merchants. Some common trade goods are detailed in Table 9.2: Trade Goods, page 154.

Table 9.2: Trade Goods

Cost	Item
10 cp	One pound of wheat
20 cp	One pound of flour
1 sp	One pound of iron, or one chicken
5 sp	One pound of tobacco or copper
10 sp	One pound of cinnamon, or one goat
20 sp	One pound of ginger or pepper, or one sheep
30 sp	One pig
40 sp	One square yard of linen
50 sp	One pound of salt or silver
1 gp	One square yard of silk, or one cow
2 gp	One pound of saffron or cloves, or one ox

Typical Wealth Acquisition

A typical character finds one non-consumable item appropriate for them per level. That item would have a rank equal to that character's highest rank at the time. For example, a typical 5th level character would have five items: two rank 2 items, and 3 rank 1 items. In addition, characters typically find several consumable items per level that are appropriate to their rank.

Over time, lower rank items stop being useful, so most characters use no more than five or six different items at a time, plus various consumables. A typical 20th level character does not carry around 20 different items. However, the lower level items are essentially irrelevant from the perspective of calculating wealth, so the "one item per level" guideline is still useful.

This is a drastic simplification of the sometimes messy process of accumulating wealth and magic items over the course of a typical campaign. Characters will often find additional items that they have no immediate use for. Players may go several sessions without acquiring any particular items until they complete their current quest, which may reward them with a large number of items at once. This is all fine, and the GM should not feel compelled to keep item acquisition perfectly on rails. Rise is only loosely balanced around this general pace of item acquisition, and it is not hard - or always necessary - to adjust encounters to deal with unusually wealthy or poor characters.

Using Items

Manipulating Objects

There are two ways to determine how difficult an object is to interact with: its weight, and how it is contained. Use the slowest action type from among the both methods. Some objects have special rules that indicate how much time they take to interact with, such as Heavy weapons. Those rules override these general guidelines.

- Containment: If the item is freely accessible, interacting with that item is a free action. Drawing or sheathing an item from a dedicated container for that item, such as a weapon sheath, is normally a minor action. Withdrawing an item from a disorganized heap, such as a bag or backpack, requires a standard action.

- Weight: If an item's weight category is no heavier than your carrying capacity, interacting with that item is a free action (see Weight Limits, page 15). Pushing or dragging something that exceeds your carrying capacity requires a standard action.

Manipulating Objects as a Free Action

Some objects are light and accessible enough to interact with them as a free action. You can only use one free action object manipulation per round. However, you can use a minor action or a standard action in place of a free action for this purpose, allowing you to manipulate up to three objects per round.

The object manipulation rules are intended to cover interactions that take some amount of time and effort, such as drawing a weapon or opening a door. Simply dropping an object in your hands is so trivial that it does not count against your one free action object manipulation per round. Other similarly simple interactions may not count against that limit at the GM's discretion.

Moving Items Between Hands

In general, you can move weapons and similar handheld objects between your hands without using an action, as long as you are strong enough to hold their combined weight in one hand. For example, if you were holding two short swords, you could quickly hold them both in one hand to open a door or cast a spell, and then return to holding one in each hand. Likewise, you can reload a longbow without worrying about when you are holding the longbow (and string) with two hands or holding it in one hand while retrieving an arrow from a quiver with the other hand. Since shields are more cumbersome to don and remove, this does not allow you to use your shield hand as a free hand in the same way.

Storing Items

A character can only store a limited number of weapons in locations that are easy to access in combat. Generally, a humanoid creature can carry no more than five ordinary weapons or shields on their body. Items carried outside of easy reach in combat, such as in a backpack, are ignored for this purpose.

A Heavy weapon takes up twice the space of an ordinary weapon, and a Light weapon takes up half that space. Compact weapons do not take up a meaningful amount of space, and can be ignored for this purpose. Ammunition is typically stored in a quiver or pouch. Treat ammunition storage as a separate Light item that can hold an unlimited quantity of any ammunition other than lances.

For example, you could carry up to ten Light weapons, four normal weapons and a standard shield, or two Heavy weapons plus a normal weapon.

Magic Item Activation

Some magic items have to be explicitly activated to have unusual effects. For example, the seven league boots can be activated to teleport you across great distances. Other magic items constantly have magical effects. For example, a ring of protection passively grants you a defense bonus.

The description of a magic item effect will specify what mechanical actions must be taken, if any, to activate the effects of the item. For example, a belt of healing requires a standard action to activate. However, the item description will not specify the exact nature of the action. Different items, even if they have the same effect, can have different physical actions that are required to activate the item. These activation actions can come in one of the following forms:

- Command word: You must speak a specific word that the item will hear and react to. For example, you may need to say the word “healing” in Elven to activate an item that heals you.
- Mental command: You must mentally direct the item to activate, such as by visualizing the item or thinking a particular word. For example, you may need to imagine a warm blanket around you to activate an item that protects you from cold damage or environmental effects.
- Physical motion: You must perform a specific physical motion, usually involving the item in some way. For example, you may need to rapidly stomp one foot on the ground to activate an item that allows you to move faster.

Magic Item Limitations

There are three restrictions on your ability to use magic items. First, you cannot equip two apparel items that take up the same physical location on your body. For example, you cannot equip two different gauntlet sets and gain the effects of both, but you could equip several amulets or up to ten rings.

Second, all magic items require you to attune to them to gain their effect unless they indicate otherwise in their description. You can attune to a magic item with the item attunement ability, below.

Third, you cannot attune to two items with the same name, or if one is simply an upgrade of another one.

Item Attunement

As a standard action, you can use the item attunement ability to attune to items. This is a magical ✨ ability.

Item Attunement	Standard action
Tags: Attune
Choose a magic item you are touching. Any abilities the target has that require attunement become active, allowing you to use its full potential.

Shared Item Attunement: Multiple creatures can attune to the same item simultaneously. Since most items only function while worn or wielded, this does not usually allow multiple creatures to gain the benefits of the item. However, the creatures can swap the item between them without having to reattune to it each time.

Magic Item Power

The power of an item is equal to twice its item rank. This rarely matters.

Magic Item Defenses

An item’s Fortitude and Mental defenses are equal to $5 + \text{its item rank}$. Its Armor, Brawn, and Reflex defenses are not affected by its rank, and are solely determined by its size and shape. This rarely matters, since attended items can’t generally be attacked directly.

Removing Magic Items

Unless otherwise noted, magic items that have effects on the creature using the item must continue to be worn or held as long as the effect lasts. If a magic item has an ability with a duration, removing the item also ends the ability. Items which are consumed when used or which do not affect their user are unaffected by this rule.

Weapons

Each weapon has a weapon group and any number of weapon tags. In addition, each weapon has a particular accuracy modifier and defines the weapon damage for attacks using that weapon. This section explains each of those concepts and defines the statistics for weapons in Rise.

Unless otherwise specified, a weapon must be held in a single free hand. You can use two hands to hold a weapon if you want, but that provides no special benefit unless that weapon has the Versatile Grip tag (see Weapon Tags, page 156).

Weapon Groups

Weapons are organized into thematically related categories called weapon groups. They are described in Table 9.3: Weapon Groups. For example, all axes belong to the “axes” weapon group. Some weapons can be found in multiple weapon groups. For example, a dagger is a simple weapon, a blade, and a thrown weapon.

Exotic Weapons: Some weapons are rare and have unusual fighting styles. These weapons are called exotic weapons. Although many characters are proficient with non-exotic weapons, proficiency with exotic weapons is rare. Some specific class abilities grant proficiency with exotic weapons.

Weapon Proficiency

You normally take a -2 accuracy penalty with a weapon you are not proficient with.

Improvised Weapons

Sometimes objects not crafted to be weapons nonetheless see use in combat. In general, treat improvised weapons as being equivalent to the non-exotic manufactured weapon that seems most similar in shape and composition. However, since you are not proficient with the improvised weapon, you take a -2 accuracy penalty with it. If you become proficient with improvised weapons, this accuracy penalty is removed.

Natural Weapons

Natural weapons are weapons that are part of a creature’s body instead of being manufactured and wielded. Many monsters have natural weapons, like claws or a bite attack. Natural weapons do not normally require a free hand to use. All bipedal creatures also have two punch/kick natural weapons.

Common natural weapons are listed in Table 9.6: Natural Weapons, page 163. In addition, some monsters and effects have unique natural weapons, such as the stonefist spell.

Physical Size: Like all objects and creatures, weapons have a size category that represents how physically large they are. Most weapons are one size category smaller than their wielder, but Heavy weapons are the same size category as the wielder. All weapons are lightweight unless otherwise noted.

Inappropriately Sized Weapons: You can use weapons that are sized for creatures that are one size category larger or smaller than you. However, you take a -2 accuracy penalty on attacks using an inappropriately sized weapon.

Weapon Range Limits

Ranged weapon attacks become less accurate if the target is far away. Ranged weapons have two range limits listed, with a slash between them, such as 90/270. The first number indicates the maximum range for a weapon’s close range. The second number indicates the maximum range for a weapon’s long range. You cannot attack a target that is beyond a weapon’s long range limit.

Attacks at close range have no penalty. Attacks at long range have a -4 accuracy penalty. This is called a longshot penalty, and some abilities can reduce this penalty.

Weapon Tags

Many weapons found on Table 9.4: Weapons have tags that indicate that they have special properties. Some special properties are shared between weapons and other abilities, and are listed in Ability Tags, page 584. If a weapon has one of those tags, it means that all strikes using the weapon have that tag. A list of properties that can only be found on weapons is given below.

Ammunition: When you hit with a strike using this weapon, it becomes broken. It cannot have magic weapon properties and cannot be made of special materials. However, whenever you buy or craft this weapon, you receive multiple copies, as indicated in the table below.

Bow: This weapon is a bow used to shoot arrows. You need two hands to shoot a bow. Drawing an arrow from a quiver and notching it into a bow requires one free hand while holding the bow in another hand. This is not considered an independent action, so you can fire a bow any number of times per round.

Compact: This weapon is unusually small. It is one size category smaller than normal (that is, two size categories smaller than

Club-like weapons	Cavalry mace, club, greatclub, greatmace, morning star, sap, torch	Culacula, gnomish trick mace, knobkerrie, totokia
Crossbows	Heavy crossbow, light crossbow, pellet crossbow	Arbalest, pistol crossbow, repeating crossbow
Flexible weapons	Flail, heavy flail, nunchaku, sling, two-section staff, whip	Bladed whip, chain whip, meteor hammer, net, three-section staff
Headed weapons	Dart, light hammer, pick, sickle, sledgehammer, warhammer	Dwarven shorthammer, heavy pick, longhammer, obuch
Monk weapons	Jitte, kama, kunai, nunchaku, quarterstaff, shuriken, two-section staff	Hook sword, sai, three-section staff, war fan
Polearms	Bardiche, halberd, javelin, lance, poleaxe, quarterstaff, scythe, spear	Cavalry lance, fauchard, glaive, longhammer, pike, war scythe
Simple weapons	Claw sheath, club, dagger, quarterstaff, sickle, torch	—

the creature it is intended for). This makes it easier to conceal (see Sleight of Hand, page 143). In addition, you only take a -5 penalty to Stealth when trying to conceal strikes with a Compact weapon instead of the normal -10 or -20 penalty for concealing a strike (see Stealth, page 144).

Heavy: Heavy weapons are larger than other weapons. You normally need two hands to use a Heavy weapon, whether you are throwing it or using it in melee. Drawing a Heavy item from a sheath, or returning it to a sheath, requires a standard action. Unlike most items, Heavy weapons can have two magic item properties (see Magic Weapons, page 185).

If you have a Strength of 3 or higher, you draw or sheathe a Heavy item at the same speed as non-Heavy items. In addition, you can wield a Heavy weapon in one hand, but you take a -1 accuracy penalty with the weapon while doing so. This cannot be used if the weapon always requires two hands to shoot, such as a titanbow. If your Strength is 6 or higher, this accuracy penalty is removed.

While holding a Heavy weapon in two hands, you add your full power to damage with strikes using the weapon, rather than only half your power as normal (see Strikes, page 36).

Light: Light weapons are smaller and easier to handle than other weapons. Drawing a Light item from a sheath, or returning it to a sheath, is a free action rather than a minor action (see Manipulating Objects, page 154). Attacking with two weapons at once is more accurate with Light weapons (see Dual Strikes, page 37).

Long: This weapon can be used to make melee strikes against targets within 10 feet of you. If you use an ability with more specific targets than simply making a melee strike, such as affecting “all enemies adjacent to you”, this weapon tag does not increase your range with that ability.

Maneuverable: Whenever you use a Brawling ability that would normally require a free hand, you can use this weapon instead of a free hand. This has no benefit other than removing the requirement for a free hand. As a result, being grappled does not prevent you from making strikes using your hands that are holding Maneuverable weapons. You do not apply the weapon’s accuracy modifier with strikes to any Brawling ability you use in this way.

Mounted: If you are mounted, and your mount moves in the same phase that you make a strike with a Mounted weapon, you gain a +2 accuracy bonus with the strike.

Parrying: This weapon grants you a +1 bonus to Armor defense while you wield it in at least one hand. You must be proficient with the weapon to gain this bonus. This bonus is treated as coming from a shield, and it does not stack with the benefits of using any other shield.

Projectile: This weapon fires ammunition at range to deal damage. The ammunition generally breaks when used. Projectile weapons have two range limits listed in their description (see Weapon Range Limits, page 156). They must be reloaded after being fired. The time required to reload a projectile weapon is given in the weapon description. You take a -4 accuracy penalty with Projectile weapons against creatures within 5 feet of you. While riding a moving mount, you take a -4 accuracy penalty with Projectile weapons, and your range limits are halved.

Sweeping: When you make a melee strike with this weapon, you may add additional targets to the strike. Each additional target must be a valid target for the strike, which typically means it must be adjacent to you. Sweeping weapons have a number that indicates the number of targets you can add, such as Sweeping (2). If a weapon or strike has the Sweeping tag from multiple sources, add the values together to determine the total Sweeping value.

Thrown: This weapon is designed to be thrown to deal damage at range. Thrown weapons have two range limits listed in their description (see Weapon Range Limits, page 156). Thrown weapons can normally be used in melee without penalty.

Versatile Grip: This weapon is designed to be held in either one hand or two hands. While holding a Versatile Grip weapon in two hands, you add your full power to damage with strikes using the weapon, rather than only half your power as normal (see Strikes, page 36).

Weapon Table

Here is the format for weapon entries in the Weapons table, below.

Accuracy: This number modifies your accuracy with strikes using the weapon.

Damage: This dice pool indicates the damage dealt by the weapon on a hit.

Item Rank (Cost): The first value indicates the item rank of the item (see Item Ranks, page 153). The second value in parentheses indicates the average cost to buy the item. Items crafted for unusually large or small creatures are more expensive. For each size category larger or smaller than Medium, the item's rank increases by one, which increases its price.

Weapon Tags: Some weapons have special properties. See Weapon Tags, page 156 for details.

Individual Weapon Descriptions

Some weapons in Table 9.4: Weapons have additional abilities which are described below.

Arbalest: You draw an arbalest back by turning a small winch. Reloading an arbalest requires two standard actions. Each standard action requires one free hand while holding the arbalest in another hand.

Armblade: This weapon is not held in a hand. Instead, it is affixed to the arm of body armor with a medium or heavy usage class. When you attack with an armblade, you cannot use the arm it is attached to for any other combat purpose in the same phase. You can use that arm to hold items, but not to maintain a grapple or perform similar actions.

Bladed Whip: A bladed whip can be used to attack targets within 15 feet instead of the normal 10 feet for a Long weapon.

Boot Dagger: A boot dagger is a modified boot or boot sole which contains a hidden dagger. The dagger is normally concealed, and requires an Awareness check with a difficulty value of 15 to find. Attacking with a boot dagger does not require a free hand, but you must make a Balance check with a difficulty value of 10 during whenever you attack with it. If you fail this check, you fall prone (half speed, -2 Armor and Ref) after the attack.

After you attack with a boot dagger, the dagger remains plainly visible. Concealing the dagger again requires a standard action.

Cavalry Lance: A cavalry lance can only be used effectively while mounted. Using a cavalry lance on foot imposes a -2 accuracy penalty for not being proficient with that use of the weapon.

Claw Sheath: A claw sheath is not a weapon on its own. Instead, it wraps around one of your natural weapons. This gives no intrinsic benefit, but claw sheaths can be imbued with magic weapon properties that apply to the wrapped natural weapon. Claw sheaths are made for claws, but an equivalent can be made for any natural weapon that requires a free hand to use, such as a slam. A claw sheath for a punch/kick natural weapon is made for one hand and only affects punches with that hand.

Flatbow: A flatbow is too unwieldy to use while you are mounted. Unlike a longbow, a flatbow is flat when not under tension and has approximately rectangular limbs. This spreads stress more evenly over the bow's structure, allowing more precise shots, though the shooting technique is different and less commonly known. A flatbow is the same size category as the creature it is sized for.

Fire Arrows: Attacks with these arrows have the Fire tag. These arrows are treated with alchemist's fire so they can be ignited before being shot. If you have access to an active flame that is at least as intense as a torch, you can ignite a fire arrow as part of drawing it from a quiver.

Heavy Crossbow: You draw a heavy crossbow back by turning a small winch. Loading a heavy crossbow is a standard action that requires one free hand while holding the crossbow in another hand.

Javelin: Unlike most Thrown weapons, a javelin cannot be used effectively in melee. If you make a melee attack with a javelin, you treat it as an improvised weapon (see Improvised Weapons, page 156).

Light Crossbow: You draw a light crossbow back by turning a small winch. Loading a light crossbow is a minor action that requires one free hand while holding the crossbow in another hand.

Lightning Arrows: Attacks with these arrows have the Electricity tag. These arrows are treated with a reactive alchemical substance so they deal electricity damage on contact.

Longbow: A longbow is the same size category as the creature it is sized for.

Longflight Arrows: Attacks with these arrows reduce their longshot penalty by 2. The process requires thickening the arrow shaft, reducing the precision of the arrow.

Net: A net is used to entangle enemies. When you throw a net, you make an attack vs. Brawn and Reflex against your target. If you hit, the target is slowed (-10 speed, -2 Armor and Ref).

A netted creature can escape with a difficulty value 8 Flexibility check (see Flexibility, page 137). The net has 8 hit points and can be broken with a difficulty value 8 Strength check as a standard action.

A net has no effect on creatures that are Tiny or smaller, or Huge or larger. It must be folded to be thrown effectively, which takes a minute of work. You take a -4 accuracy penalty with an unfolded net.

Pellet Crossbow: You need two hands to fire a pellet crossbow. You draw a pellet crossbow back by turning a small winch. Loading a pellet crossbow is a minor action that requires one free hand while holding the crossbow in another hand. Unlike most crossbows, a pellet crossbow uses round bullets as ammunition instead of bolts.

Pike: A pike can be used to attack targets within 15 feet instead of the normal 10 feet for a Long weapon. However, you cannot use it to attack targets adjacent to you.

Pistol Crossbow: You can draw a pistol crossbow back by hand. Loading a pistol crossbow is a minor action that requires one free hand while holding the crossbow in another hand. You can hold two pistol crossbows in one hand for reloading purposes, and reload them both with a single minor action. This makes them easy to make dual strikes with (see Moving Items Between Hands, page 154).

Punch/Kick: All bipedal creatures have access to the punch/kick natural weapon. Normally, this represents a punch, which requires a free hand. If you are trained in the Balance skill, have a Dexterity of at least 3, or are currently flying or gliding, you can make it a kick instead. A kick does not require a free hand, but is not otherwise more powerful than a punch.

Recurve Bow: A recurve bow is the same size category as the creature it is sized for.

Repeating Crossbow: The repeating crossbow holds 5 crossbow bolts. As long as it holds bolts, you can fire it without reloading, allowing you to use it entirely one-handed. Loading a new case of 5 bolts is a standard action that requires one free hand while holding the crossbow in another hand.

Spear: This weapon only has the Long weapon tag while it is being held in two hands using its Versatile Grip weapon tag.

Shortbow: Unlike most Projectile weapons, your range limits are not penalized when shooting a shortbow while riding a moving mount, and the accuracy penalty is reduced to -2 instead of -4.

Sling: Loading a sling is a minor action that requires one free hand while holding the sling in another hand.

You can hurl ordinary stones with a sling, but stones are not as dense or as round as bullets. You take a -1 accuracy penalty with ordinary stones.

Spiked Knee: This weapon is not held in a hand. Instead, it is affixed to the leg of body armor with a medium or heavy usage class (see Armor Usage Classes, page 165).

Takedown Bow: A takedown bow is a bow assembled from multiple independent components that can be reconfigured into two different combinations. In its longbow configuration, it functions like a longbow, and in its shortbow configuration, it functions like a shortbow. In addition, when it is fully disassembled, it takes up space equivalent to a Compact weapon, making it easier to transport and conceal.

Talon: A talon is always attached to a foot. In order to attack with a talon, you must be trained in the Balance skill, have a Dexterity of at least 3, or be currently flying or gliding.

Titanbow: A titanbow is too unwieldy to use while you are mounted. It is the same size category as the creature it is sized for.

Torch: Attacks with a torch have the Fire tag while the torch is lit. Lighting a torch typically requires a standard action using flint and steel.

Tower Shield: Although you can hold a tower shield in one hand to defend yourself, you need to support it with your other hand to effectively smash it into an enemy. That makes it a Heavy weapon.

Whip: A whip can be used to attack targets within 15 feet instead of the normal 10 feet for a Long weapon.

Weapon Special Materials

Nonmagical weapons can be made from special materials that can alter the properties of the item. These special materials are described in Table 9.7: Weapon Special Materials. Depending on the construction of the weapon, it may be entirely composed of the special material, or it may only have its striking surface altered. For example, a dragonfang spear may have a wooden haft and still gain the full benefits of being a dragonfang weapon. An adamantine club would only have a thin layer of adamantine around the outside, rather than being entirely forged from adamantine, because the weight and cost would otherwise be absurd.

A weapon that is made from a special material cannot have any magic item properties. Any individual weapon can only ever gain the combat benefits of a single special material, even if it contains multiple special materials in its construction. That special material is chosen at the time the weapon is crafted and cannot be altered without recrafting it.

Weapon Special Material Prices

Weapon special materials are listed as having a single rank and price in Table 9.10: Armor Special Materials. This is the price for an amount of the special material sufficient to forge a typical weapon, when combined with other normal weaponsmithing materials.

Adamantine: An adamantine weapon deals 2 extra damage. In addition, strikes with it deal double damage to objects that are not made of pure or ordinary adamantine. Unlike other weapons, adamantine weapons are not lightweight, so Heavy adamantine weapons typically require a minimum Strength of 2.

Adamantine, Pure: A pure adamantine weapon deals 1d8 extra damage. In addition, strikes with it deal double damage to objects that are not made of pure adamantine. Unlike other weapons, pure adamantine weapons are not lightweight, so Heavy adamantine weapons typically require a minimum Strength of 2.

Cold Iron: Cold iron is resistant to magic, and can be harmful to creatures that are strongly composed of magic. Many fey creatures are vulnerable (-4 defenses) to cold iron weapons.

Diamondsteel: A diamondsteel weapon grants you a +1 bonus to accuracy with strikes using it for the purpose of determining whether you get a critical hit.

Diamondsteel, Pure: A pure diamondsteel weapon grants you a +2 accuracy bonus with strikes using it for the purpose of determining whether you get a critical hit.

Dragonfang: Strikes with a dragonfang weapon have that dragon's associated tag (see Table 12.2: Dragon Types, page 415).

Dragonfang, Ancient: Strikes with an ancient dragonfang weapon deal 2 extra damage and have that dragon's associated tag (see Table 12.2: Dragon Types, page 415). You also gain the dragonfang breath ability while wielding an ancient dragonfang weapon.

Dragonfang Breath

Standard action

Cost: You briefly cannot use this ability with this weapon again.

Make a strike that deals double damage using one ancient dragonfang weapon. It cannot be a dual strike. If the dragon's breath weapon is normally a line, the strike targets everything in a Large (60 ft.), 10 ft. wide line from you. Otherwise, the strike targets everything in a Medium (30 ft.) cone from you. On a miss, you still deal half damage.

Mithral: A non-Heavy mithral weapon gains the Light weapon

Table 9.7: Weapon Special Materials

Material	Special Effect	Item Rank (Cost)
Adamantine	+2 extra damage, double damage to objects, extra weight	5 (2,500 gp)
Adamantine, pure	+1d8 extra damage, double damage to objects, extra weight	8 (312,500 gp)
Cold iron	Common vulnerabilities	2 (20 gp)
Diamondsteel	+1 accuracy with critical hits	3 (100 gp)
Diamondsteel, pure	+2 accuracy with critical hits	5 (2,500 gp)
Dragonfang	Deals energy damage	3 (100 gp)
Dragonfang, ancient	+2 extra damage, deals energy damage, grants breath attack	6 (12,500 gp)
Mithral	Lighter	4 (500 gp)
Mithral, pure	+1 accuracy, lighter	7 (12,500 gp)
Silver	Common vulnerabilities	2 (20 gp)
Sanctified silver	+2 extra damage, common vulnerabilities	6 (12,500 gp)
Starmetal	+2 extra damage, -1 accuracy, extra weight	3 (100 gp)
Starmetal, pure	+1d6 extra damage, -1 accuracy, extra weight	6 (12,500 gp)
Voidstone	+1d4 extra damage, extremely heavy, Earth tag	4 (500 gp)
Voidstone, pure	+1d10 extra damage, extremely heavy, Earth tag	7 (12,500 gp)

tag. A Heavy mithral weapon loses that tag and instead gains the Versatile Grip weapon tag.

Mithral, Pure: A pure mithral weapon has a +1 accuracy bonus. In addition, a non-Heavy mithral weapon gains the Light weapon tag. A Heavy mithral weapon loses that tag and instead gains the Versatile Grip weapon tag.

Sanctified Silver: A sanctified silver weapon deals 2 extra damage. It is also silver, so any creature that is vulnerable to silver weapons is also vulnerable to sanctified silver.

Silver: Silver has purifying properties. Diseased and festering creatures, such as vampires and werewolves, are vulnerable (-4 defenses) to silver weapons.

Starmetal: A starmetal weapon deals 2 extra damage. However, it also has a -1 accuracy penalty. Unlike other weapons, starmetal weapons are not lightweight, so Heavy starmetal weapons typically require a minimum Strength of 2.

Starmetal, Pure: A pure starmetal weapon deals 1d6 extra damage. However, it also has a -1 accuracy penalty. Unlike other weapons, pure starmetal weapons are not lightweight, so Heavy pure starmetal weapons typically require a minimum Strength of 2.

Voidstone: A voidstone weapon deals 1d4 extra damage, and all strikes with it have the Earth tag. In addition, it is staggeringly heavy. If the weapon was previously Light, it loses that tag. If it was previously Heavy, it takes a -1 accuracy penalty. Otherwise, it gains the Heavy tag.

Unlike other weapons, voidstone weapons are heavyweight. That means a normal voidstone weapon requires a minimum Strength of 2, and a voidstone weapon that would normally have the Heavy tag requires a minimum Strength of 5.

Voidstone, Pure: A pure voidstone weapon deals 1d10 extra damage, and all strikes with it have the Earth tag. In addition, it is staggeringly heavy, as voidstone.

Armor

Most characters use armor to protect themselves. There are two kinds of armor: body armor, such as full plate armor, and shields. Body armor is worn on your body. You can only benefit from one body armor at a time. If you somehow wear multiple layers of body armor, the penalties stack and the benefits do not stack. A shield requires a free hand instead of being worn on the body.

Armor Mechanics

Armor Usage Classes

An armor's usage class is a measure of how the armor is used, and how much effort is required to use it. It indicates whether armor, when used by a creature the armor is sized for, is considered light armor, medium armor, or heavy armor.

Armor Proficiency

Proficiency with armor is defined by the armor's usage class. If you wear or use armor you are not proficient with, it provides half its normal defense bonus. In addition, you apply that armor's normal bonus to Armor defense as a penalty to your accuracy.

Getting Into And Out Of Armor

The time required to don armor depends on its type; see Table 9.8: Donning Armor. Donning and removing body armor and shields takes two hands.

Don: This column tells how long it takes a character to put the armor on. (One minute is 10 rounds.)

Remove: This column tells how long it takes to get the armor off.

Table 9.8: Donning Armor

Armor Type	Don	Remove
Buckler	1 standard action	1 standard action
Standard shield	1 standard action	1 standard action
Tower shield	1 standard action	1 standard action
Light body armor	1 minute	1 minute
Medium body armor	5 minutes	1 minute
Heavy body armor	5 minutes	5 minutes

Weight and Size

The size category of body armor is the same as the size category of the creature it is sized for. Bucklers and standard shields are one size category smaller than the creature they are sized for, while tower shields are the same size category as the creature they are sized for. All armor and shields except for heavy body armor are lightweight objects. This means that you must have a Strength of at least -1 to use body armor or a tower shield normally. Heavy body armor weighs so much that only creatures with a Strength of at least 2 can wear it (see Weight Limits, page 15).

Barding

Armor is normally designed for creatures with two arms and two legs, matching the normal humanoid shape. Creatures with more esoteric shapes can wear armor if they are proficient, but it is not as effective. This is called barding.

The Armor defense bonus provided by barding is reduced by 2. This penalty also applies to magical effects that mimic armor, such as mage armor, if those bonuses do not stack with wearing regular armor. Barding must also be custom made for the creature's body type, so unusual creatures cannot simply wear armor designed for humanoid creatures.

Using Multiple Armors

You cannot benefit from multiple sets of body armor. If you wear more than one body armor, only the outer layer gives you any benefit.

You can hold multiple shields. The Armor and Reflex bonuses do not stack, but you use the highest Armor and Reflex bonus from all of your shields. You also benefit from all special properties of all of your shields, including magic shield properties.

Armor Table

Here is the format for armor entries (given as column headings on Table 9.9: Armor and Shields, below).

Armor: This value indicates how much the armor increases your Armor defense.

Reflex: This value indicates how much the armor increases your Reflex defense.

Durability: This value indicates how much the armor increases your durability (see Durability, page 13).

Vital Rolls: This value indicates how much the armor increases your vital rolls (see Vital Rolls, page 30).

Speed: This penalty applies to speed with all of your movement modes while wearing the armor.

Dex Bonus: This multiplier affects the contribution of your Dexterity to your Armor defense. It does not change any other effects that Dexterity has. If you use multiple armor pieces that modify this bonus, use the lowest value from any single piece rather than multiplying them. For example, a creature using brigandine and a standard shield would still add half their Dexterity to their Armor defense.

Dex Skills: This modifier applies to your Dexterity-based skills. If you use multiple armor pieces that modify this bonus, add the modifiers together. For example, a creature using full plate and a tower shield would have a -6 penalty to Dexterity-based skills.

Item Rank (Cost): The first value indicates the item rank of the item (see Item Ranks, page 153). The second value in parentheses indicates the average cost to buy the item. Items crafted for unusually large or small creatures are more expensive. For each size category larger than Medium or smaller than Small, the item's rank increases by one, which increases its price.

Individual Armor Descriptions

Any special benefits or accessories to the types of armor found on Table 9.9: Armor and Shields are described below.

Buckler: This small metal shield is worn strapped to your forearm. At the start of each phase, you choose whether you treat the hand using a buckler as a free hand. If you do, you can wield weapons or otherwise take actions using the arm bearing the buckler, but do not gain any benefits from the buckler during that phase.

You can't make strikes with a buckler.

Full Plate: Each suit of full plate must be individually fitted to its owner by an armorsmith. A captured suit can be resized to fit a new owner with a day of work and a difficulty value 10 Craft (metalworking) check. The new owner must still be of the same size category and general body shape, such as humanoid, that the suit was originally designed for.

Shield, Standard, Wooden or Steel: You strap a shield to your forearm and grip it with your hand. A standard shield is so cumbersome that you can't use your shield hand for anything else. You can use a standard shield as a weapon (see Table 9.4: Weapons, page 159). However, you cannot make dual strikes with a shield.

Shield, Tower: This massive shield is nearly as tall as an average human. When you use the total defense ability while wielding a tower shield, you treat the tower shield as cover (see Cover, page 41). This means that you gain a +2 bonus to your Armor and Reflex defenses, and attacks that would miss you or get a glancing blow against you affect the shield instead of you. A tower shield is so cumbersome that you can't use your shield hand for anything else. You can use a tower shield as an exotic weapon (see Table 9.5: Exotic Weapons, page 161). However, you cannot make dual strikes with a shield.

While wielding a tower shield, you take a -1 penalty to accuracy because of the shield's unwieldy nature.

Shield Spikes: These spikes improve the effectiveness of a standard shield or tower shield when used as a weapon. For details, see Table 9.4: Weapons, page 159. You can't put spikes on a buckler.

Studded Leather: The studs on studded leather are made of metal, but this amount of metal is not generally enough to make the item count as being made of metal. Studded leather armor made with studs from special materials does not grant the wearer the properties of the special material.

Armor Special Materials

Nonmagical body armor can be made from special materials that can alter the properties of the item. These special materials are described in Table 9.10: Armor Special Materials.

The benefits of special materials only apply to body armor that is fully made from the given special material. If you combine mulmultiple special materials in any way, such as by wearing deepforged leggings with a mithral breastplate, you do not gain any benefits for having special materials.

Body armor that is made from a special material cannot have any magic item properties. However, you can combine magic items that are not body armor with any set of body armor. For example, a set of full plate armor typically comes with gauntlets and heavy boots. However, you could wear magic boots and magic gauntlets without sacrificing the benefits of the body armor.

Armor Special Material Prices

Armor special materials are listed as having a single price in Table 9.10: Armor Special Materials. This is the price for an amount of the special material sufficient to forge light or medium armor, when combined with other normal armorsmithing materials. Heavy armor requires twice as much of the special material.

Adamantine: Adamantine body armor is heavier than other armor. Light and medium body armor weighs as much as a normal item of its size category. Heavy body armor is a heavyweight item of its size category. For Medium creatures, light and medium adamantine armor requires a minimum Strength of 2 to wear, and heavy adamantine requires a minimum Strength of 5. It also provides a +2 durability bonus and a -2 penalty to Dexterity-based skills.

Adamantine, Pure: Pure adamantine body armor is heavier than other armor, as described by adamantine armor. It also provides a +4 durability bonus and a -2 penalty to Dexterity-based skills.

Cold Iron: Cold iron armor grants you a +1 bonus to your defenses against magical ✨ abilities. However, it provides -1 Armor defense and -1 durability (minimum 0).

Cold Iron, Pure: Pure cold iron armor grants you a +2 bonus to your defenses against magical ✨ abilities. However, it provides -1 Armor defense and -2 durability (minimum 0).

Diamondsteel: Diamondsteel body armor grants you a +2 bonus to your defenses when determining whether an attack gets a critical hit against you instead of a normal hit.

Diamondsteel, Pure: Pure diamondsteel body armor grants you a +4 bonus to your defenses when determining whether an attack gets a critical hit against you instead of a normal hit.

Dragonhide: Each dragonhide body armor is made from the hide of a particular type of dragon. It also provides a +1 durability bonus and makes you impervious (+4 defenses) to attacks with that dragon's ability tag (see Table 12.2: Dragon Types, page 415).

Dragonhide, Ancient: Each ancient dragonhide body armor is made from the hide of a particular type of dragon. It also provides a +1 durability bonus and makes you immune to attacks with that dragon's ability tag (see Table 12.2: Dragon Types, page 415).

Dragonscale: Each dragonscale body armor is made from the scales of a particular type of dragon. It also provides a +1 durability bonus and makes you impervious (+4 defenses) to attacks with that dragon's ability tag (see Table 12.2: Dragon Types, page 415). Dragonscale is not considered to be metal, which may affect abilities like the heat metal spell.

Dragonscale, Ancient: Each ancient dragonscale body armor is made from the scales of a particular type of dragon. It also provides a +1 durability bonus and makes you immune to attacks with that dragon's ability tag (see Table 12.2: Dragon Types, page 415). Dragonscale is not considered to be metal, which may affect abilities like the heat metal spell.

Shadeweave: Shadeweave body armor is exceptionally stealthy. It provides a +1 bonus to Dexterity-based skills, but reduces the durability from the armor by 1 (minimum 0). In addition, you gain a +3 enhancement bonus to the Stealth skill while wearing it.

Shadeweave, Umbral: Umbral shadeweave body armor is exceptionally stealthy. It provides a +1 bonus to Dexterity-based skills, but reduces the durability from the armor by 1 (minimum 0). In addition, you gain a +5 enhancement bonus to the Stealth skill while wearing it.

Starmetal: Starmetal body armor is heavier than other armor, as described by adamantine armor. In addition, it provides a +1 durability bonus and a -2 penalty to your Dexterity-based skills.

Starmetal, Pure: Pure starmetal body armor is heavier than other armor, as described by adamantine armor. In addition, it provides a +2 durability bonus and a -2 penalty to your Dexterity-based skills.

Vineweave: Vineweave body armor provides a +1 durability bonus. However, it makes you vulnerable (-4 defenses) to Fire attacks.

Vineweave, Braided: Braided vineweave body armor provides a +2 durability bonus. However, it makes you vulnerable (-4 defenses) to Fire attacks.

1. This armor has special rules explained below.

Tools, Goods, and Mounts

The world of Rise has a wide range of minor items like backpacks, blankets, and ten-foot poles. In general, the cost of those items is so insignificant from the perspective of an adventuring party that it's not worth the effort to track their cost in detail. A subset of particularly expensive items is included in Table 9.11: Permanent Tools, Goods, and Mounts, page 170.

Standard Adventuring Kit

A standard adventuring kit is a rank 0 item (1 gp), weighs 50 pounds, and contains the following items:

- Backpack
- Bedroll
- Flint and steel
- Rations, trail (8 days)
- Rope, hempen (60 ft.)
- Sack (empty)
- Tent
- Torch
- Waterskin

Alchemist's Lab Kit – Craft (alchemy)	Rank 2 (20 gp)
This is a Medium workstation that contains a wide variety of compounds and reagents. It is very difficult to create items using the Craft (alchemy) skill without this item (see Craft, page 130).

Artisan's Tools Kit – Craft (metal)	Rank 0 (1 gp)
These are Small tools that are appropriate to a particular Craft skill other than Craft (alchemy). It is very difficult to create items using the Craft skill without this item (see Craft, page 130).

Rank 2 (20 gp): The tools are incredibly versatile, making them suitable for any Craft skill other than Craft (alchemy).

Bag of Holding Craft (textiles)	Rank 4 (500 gp)
This bag appears to be a bulky Medium cloth sack. However, it reduces the size and weight of any unattended , nonmagical objects placed inside of it by one size category and weight category. This allows it to hold items of up to Large size as long as they can fit inside the bag's opening, which is five feet in diameter.

If this bag is destroyed, the items within it return to their original size.

Rank 6 (12,500 gp): The bag reduces the size and weight of contained objects by two size and weight categories instead of one.

Bag of Shrinking Craft (textiles)	Rank 1 (4 gp)
This bag appears to be a common Small cloth sack. However, it reduces the size of any unattended , nonmagical objects placed inside of it by one size category. This allows it to hold items of up to Medium size as long as they can fit inside the bag's opening, which is two feet in diameter. This reduction does not affect the weight of those objects.

If this bag is destroyed, the items within it return to their original size.

Rank 3 (100 gp): The bag reduces the size of contained objects by two size categories instead of one.

Battering Ram Craft (wood)	Rank 0 (1 gp)
If you use this portable battering ram with two hands while trying to break down a door or similar object, you gain a +3 bonus to your Strength check.

Bear Trap Trap – Craft (metal)	Rank 2 (20 gp)
You can deploy this trap on a space on the ground adjacent to you as a standard action. While this trap is deployed, a creature can notice it with a difficulty value 13 Awareness check. A creature that notices the trap can avoid triggering it while moving. The first time something enters the trap's space without avoiding the trap, the trap activates.

When the trap is activated, it makes a +3 reactive attack vs. Armor and Reflex against the source of that activation. After the trap triggers, it must be manually deployed again.

Hit: 3d10 piercing damage. If the target takes damage, it is slowed (-10 speed, -2 Armor and Ref) until it breaks free of the trap. Breaking free of the trap requires making a DV 10 Strength or Devices check as a standard action.

Rank 4 (500 gp): The accuracy increases to +7, the Awareness DV increases to 19, and the damage increases to 7d8.

Belt Lantern Craft (metal)	Rank 1 (4 gp)
This is a belt with an attached lantern. As a standard action, you can light the lantern if you have flint and steel or another source of flame handy. When you do, it sheds bright illumination in a Small (15 ft.) radius.

The lantern burns for one hour before it must be refueled with oil. You can extinguish the lantern to preserve its remaining oil.

The lantern is loose equipment, making it vulnerable to damage and being attacked directly. It has 10 hit points and 2 hardness. It takes double damage from Cold abilities. For details about repairing a damaged or broken belt lantern, see Common Craft Tasks, page 130.

Rank 3 (100 gp): The lantern's hit points increase to 15, and its hardness increases to 5.

Caltrops Trap – Craft (alchemy, metal)	Rank 2 (20 gp)	Fireburst Trap Trap – Craft (alchemy, metal)	Rank 2 (20 gp) Fire
A caltrop is a four-pronged iron spike crafted so that one prong faces up no matter how the caltrop comes to rest. As a standard action, you can scatter caltrops on the ground in the hope that your enemies step on them or are at least forced to slow down to avoid them. One 2-pound bag of caltrops covers a 5-foot square. They can generally be noticed with a difficulty value 8 Awareness check. Whenever a creature moves into the area, unless the creature moves at half speed to avoid the danger, the caltrops make a +3 reactive attack vs. Armor against the creature. Hit: 1d10 piercing damage. Caltrops may not be effective against creatures with an unusual anatomy. Multiple applications of caltrops in the same area have no additional effect.
Rank 4 (500 gp): The accuracy increases to +7, and the damage increases to 2d10. Rank 6 (12,500 gp): The accuracy increases to +10, and the damage increases to 5d8.
Carriage Craft (textiles and wood) This four-wheeled vehicle can transport as many as four people within an enclosed cab, plus two drivers. In general, two horses (or other beasts of burden) draw it. A carriage comes with the harness needed to pull it.			Rank 2 (20 gp)
Disguise Kit Kit – Craft (alchemy, textiles) This is a Small kit that contains a wide variety of fabrics, makeup, and other useful tools for disguising your appearance. It is very difficult to create disguises using the Disguise skill without this item (see Disguise, page 135).			Rank 1 (4 gp)
Galley Craft (metal, textiles, and wood) This three-masted ship has seventy oars on either side and requires a total crew of 200. A typical galley is 130 feet long and 20 feet wide, and it can carry 150 tons of cargo or 250 soldiers. Some rare galleys are fitted with a ram and castles with firing platforms fore, aft, and amidships. This ship cannot make sea voyages and sticks to the coast. It moves about 6 miles per hour when being rowed or under sail.			Rank 5 (2,500 gp)
You can deploy this trap on a space on the ground adjacent to you as a standard action. While this trap is deployed, a creature can notice it with a difficulty value 13 Awareness check. A creature that notices the trap can avoid triggering it while moving. The first time something enters the trap's space without avoiding the trap, the trap activates. When the trap is activated, it makes a +3 reactive attack vs. Reflex against everything in a Small (15 ft.) radius of it. After the trap triggers, it must be repaired with a DV 13 Devices check before it can be deployed again. Hit: 2d10 damage.
Rank 4 (500 gp): The accuracy increases to +7, the damage increases to 7d8, and the Awareness and Devices DVs each increase to 19. Rank 6 (12,500 gp): The accuracy increases to +10, the damage increases to 11d10, and the Awareness and Devices DVs each increase to 25.
Foothold Trap Trap – Craft (metal) You can deploy this trap on a space on the ground adjacent to you as a standard action. While this trap is deployed, a creature can notice it with a difficulty value 10 Awareness check. A creature that notices the trap can avoid triggering it while moving. The first time something enters the trap's space without avoiding the trap, the trap activates. When the trap is activated, it makes a +1 reactive attack vs. Reflex against the source of that activation. After the trap triggers, it must be manually deployed again. Hit: The target is slowed (-10 speed, -2 Armor and Ref) until it breaks free of the trap. Breaking free of the trap requires making a DV 10 Strength or Devices check as a standard action.			Rank 1 (4 gp)
Rank 3 (100 gp): The accuracy increases to +5, and the Awareness DV increases to 16.

Horse, Draft Mount	Rank 1 (4 gp)	Manacles Craft (metal)	Rank 0 (1 gp)
This is a Large draft horse intended for working a farm or similar labor. It is not trained to be effectively ridden in battle. It has 16 hit points.
Horse, Light Mount	Rank 1 (4 gp)	Rank 1 (4 gp): The Devices DV increases to 15. Rank 2 (20 gp): The Flexibility DV increases to 20.
This is a Large light horse intended for riding. It is not trained to be effectively ridden in battle. It has 12 hit points.
Keelboat Craft (metal, textiles, and wood)	Rank 3 (100 gp)	Manacles, Mystic ★ Craft (metal)	Rank 4 (500 gp)
This 50 to 75 foot long ship is 15 to 20 feet wide and has a few oars to supplement its single mast with a square sail. It requires a total crew of 15 and can carry 40 to 50 tons of cargo or 100 soldiers. It can make sea voyages, as well as sail down rivers (thanks to its flat bottom). It moves about 1 mile per hour.			This is a set of magical manacles designed for Medium humanoid creatures. Equivalent manacles might exist for creatures of different sizes or shapes. Escaping the manacles while they are being worn requires a difficulty value 12 Flexibility check or a difficulty value 15 Strength check (see Flexibility, page 137). In addition, creatures held in the manacles cannot be teleported by any means.
Lock Craft (metal)	Rank 0 (1 gp)	Medical Kit Kit – Craft (textiles)	Rank 1 (4 gp)
This is a lock. Opening the lock without the appropriate key requires a difficulty value 12 Devices check (see Devices, page 134).			This is a Small kit that contains a wide variety of bandages, salves, and other useful tools for treating wounds. It is very difficult to treat wounds using the Medicine skill without this item (see Medicine, page 139).
Rank 1 (4 gp): The Devices DV increases to 15. Rank 2 (20 gp): The Devices DV increases to 20.
Lock, Mystic ★ Craft (metal)	Rank 4 (500 gp)	Outfit, Courtier's Craft (textiles)	Rank 1 (4 gp)
This is a magical lock. Opening the lock without the appropriate key requires a difficulty value 25 Devices check (see Devices, page 134). Anchoring ★	Rank 5 (2,500 gp)
Craft (as base weapon)	Attune

Whenever you hit with this weapon, that target becomes dimensionally anchored. Creatures are anchored as a condition, and objects are anchored briefly. While dimensionally anchored, the target cannot be teleported. An object subject to this effect is left behind if it is carried by a creature that teleports.

Anchoring Burst ★	Rank 2 (20 gp)
Craft (as base weapon)	Attune

As a standard action, you can make a mundane strike using this weapon. On a hit, the target briefly cannot be teleported. An object subject to this effect is left behind if it is carried by a creature that teleports.

Arcing ★	Rank 4 (500 gp)

Rank 5 (2,500 gp): The accuracy bonus increases to +3.
Rank 7 (62,500 gp): The accuracy bonus increases to +4.

Bloodfuel ★	Rank 3 (100 gp)

Rank 7 (62,500 gp): The HP loss increases to 16, and the extra damage increases to 2d6.

Boomerang ★	Rank 3 (100 gp)
Craft (as base weapon)	Attune

After being thrown, this weapon flies back into your hand immediately after attacking all targets. If you can't catch it, the weapon drops to the ground in the square from which it was thrown.

In addition, whenever you make a thrown strike with this weapon, choose one creature within a line between you and one target of the strike. The strike also targets that creature in addition to any other targets.

If the effect has a special method of being removed, such as the entangle spell, that removal method still functions normally.

This can allow you to ignore cover, or even attack without line of effect. It does not allow you to ignore any equipment used by the target of your attack.

Rank 6 (12,500 gp): Your strikes can penetrate through any number of solid unattended objects with a combined thickness of five feet or less.

Prismatic ★	Rank 4 (500 gp)
Craft (as base weapon)	Attune, Cold, Electricity, Fire

This weapon's striking surface is ephemeral, and it echoes the thoughts of anyone touching it back into their head. You can suppress or resume its psionic nature as a free action. While the weapon is psionic:

Routing ★	Rank 2 (20 gp)
Craft (as base weapon)	Attune

You deal 1d4 extra damage with strikes using this weapon against creatures that are suffering penalties for being frightened (-2 Mental, -2 accuracy vs. source) or panicked (-4 Mental, cannot attack source).

Rank 5 (2,500 gp): The extra damage increases to 1d10.

Seeking ★	Rank 2 (20 gp)
Craft (as base weapon)	Attune

Rank 5 (2,500 gp): Your strikes with the weapon are also unaffected by 50% miss chances.

Soulreaving ★	Rank 5 (2,500 gp)
Craft (as base weapon)	Attune

This weapon is translucent and has no physical presence for anyone except you. It has no effect on anything without a soul, such as an object or construct. Creatures with a soul cannot be impervious (+4 defenses) or immune to damage from this weapon.

Attacks with this weapon deal no damage immediately. This means that any effects which trigger when you deal damage with the attack, such as conditions, do not happen. Instead, the damage is delayed. Damage that would be dealt by the weapon can be delayed indefinitely. While the damage is delayed, it cannot be removed by any means short of the destruction of this weapon or the creature's death.

As a minor action, you can hurt yourself with this weapon to activate it. This deals a single point of damage to you. When you do, each creature with delayed damage from this weapon takes damage equal to the total delayed damage built up by the weapon for that target. Creatures farther than one mile away from the weapon are unaffected by this damage. This ability expends all delayed damage built up by the weapon for all targets, including targets farther than one mile from the weapon.

Steady ★	Rank 2 (20 gp)
Craft (as base weapon)	Attune, Water

You do not take an accuracy penalty with attacks using this weapon while unsteady (-2 accuracy, Armor, Brawn, Ref.).

- It deals 2 extra damage.
- Poisons delivered with strikes using it gain a +2 accuracy bonus.

Rank 6 (12,500 gp): The damage bonus increases to 1d6.

Vorpal ★	Rank 7 (62,500 gp)
Craft (as base weapon)	Attune
Strikes with this weapon deal 1d8 extra damage. As a standard action, you can make a mundane melee strike. If the target is injured and your attack result hits its Reflex defense, the strike deals quadruple damage. If the damage dealt by this strike is at least half the creature's maximum hit points, it immediately dies. Creatures that do not have a head are immune to this death effect.

Shield of Arrow Catching ★	Rank 1 (4 gp)
Shield – Craft (bone, metal, or wood)	Attune

Whenever an ally adjacent to you is targeted by a ranged strike, the attack is redirected to target you instead. Resolve the attack as if it had initially targeted you, except that the attack is not affected by cover or any miss chance.

Rank 3 (100 gp): The redirection extends to your allies within a Small (15 ft.) radius emanation from you.
Rank 5 (2,500 gp): The redirection extends to your allies within a Large (60 ft.) radius emanation from you.

Shield of Arrow Reflection ★	Rank 2 (20 gp)
Shield – Craft (bone, metal, or wood)	Attune

Whenever a creature within Long (90 ft.) range of you misses or glances you with a ranged strike, it treats itself as a target of that attack in addition to any other targets.

Rank 5 (2,500 gp): The attacker takes a -4 penalty to all defenses against attacks reflected in this way.

Shield of Medusa ★	Rank 3 (100 gp)
Shield – Craft (bone, metal, or wood)	Attune, Visual

This shield normally has a cloth covering its face. As a standard action, you can pull the cloth back and reveal the horrifying face emblazoned on the shield. If the cloth is prematurely pulled back, allowing creatures to see the shield without a dramatic reveal, the shield has no effect on them.

When you activate the shield, make an attack vs. Fortitude against all creatures within a Medium (30 ft.) cone. Your minimum accuracy is +5. After using this ability, you briefly cannot use it again.

Hit: The target slowly turns to stone as a condition. While it is injured, it is slowed (-10 speed, -2 Armor and Ref). During this condition, if it takes a vital wound that leaves it unconscious, it immediately dies. If the target dies in this way, its body is petrified in the form of a stone statue.

Critical hit: The condition must be removed an additional time before the effect ends.

Rank 6 (12,500 gp): Your minimum accuracy increases to +10, and the condition also causes each target to be stunned (-2 defenses) while it is injured.

Shield of Mystic Reflection ★	Rank 4 (500 gp)
Shield – Craft (bone, metal, or wood)	Attune

Whenever you use the total defense ability, you can activate this shield. When you do, any targeted magical abilities that target you this round also target the creature using that ability in addition to you. It cannot choose to reduce its accuracy or damage against itself. Any other targets of the ability are affected normally.

You are shielded (+2 Armor and Ref).

Rank 7 (62,500 gp): This item does not require deep attunement.

Soulguard Shield ★	Rank 4 (500 gp)
Shield – Craft (bone, metal, or wood)	Attune

Whenever you would be affected by a condition, you have a 50% chance to avoid gaining that condition. This does not prevent any other effects of the attack.

Soulweave Armor ★	Rank 3 (100 gp)
Body armor – Craft (bone, leather, or metal)	Attune

You gain a +5 enhancement bonus to your durability. However, you take a -2 penalty to your power with all abilities.

Rank 5 (2,500 gp): The durability bonus increases to +6, but the power penalty increases to -3.

This armor does not penalize your movement speed for being heavy (see Armor Usage Classes, page 165). If the armor is not heavy armor, this has no effect.

Trimmed Armor ★	Rank 5 (2,500 gp)
Body armor – Craft (bone, leather, or metal)	Attune

If your Dexterity bonus to your Armor is reduced by at least 2 due to your armor, you gain a +2 enhancement bonus to your Armor defense. This typically requires a Dexterity of 4.

Voidsoul Armor ★	Rank 5 (2,500 gp)
Body armor – Craft (bone, leather, or metal)	Attune

Your maximum hit points are halved. However, you are immune to conditions.

Magic Apparel

Magic apparel items must be worn to gain their effects.

Body Slots

The main limiting factor on how many items you can have equipped is your attunement points, not the physical location of your items on your body. However, there are limits to how many items you can wear of the same type, as described below. For item types not listed here, use reasonable judgment about what would be plausible.

Whenever you would kill an undead creature with a healing ability, you may activate this amulet. If the creature's character rank is less than or equal to your rank, and it is not elite, it becomes dominated (must obey commands) by you instead of dying.

This effect lasts for 24 hours. You can only control one undead at a time in this way. If you activate this amulet again, the effect ends on any previously dominated undead. Whenever this effect ends for any reason, the previously dominated creature immediately dies.

Rank 7 (62,500 gp): Gliding does not make you unsteady.

Baneswallow Ring ★	Rank 3 (100 gp)
Ring – Craft (bone, metal, or wood)	Attune

You can activate this ring as a standard action. When you do, you may remove a condition affecting you. If you remove a condition in this way, you are briefly empowered (add rank to damage).

At the end of each round, if your fatigue level does not exceed your fatigue tolerance, you automatically remove one of your vital wounds. You can choose to stop this regeneration if you are conscious, but it happens automatically if you are unconscious due to vital wounds. When you remove a vital wound in this way, you increase your fatigue level by three.

Bladespawn Gloves ★	Rank 1 (4 gp)
Gloves – Craft (leather or textiles)	Attune, Manifestation
Once per round, you can activate these gloves as a free action. When you do, a dagger briefly appears in each of your free hands. The daggers disappear when this effect ends.

Boots of Gravitation ★	Rank 3 (100 gp)
Boots – Craft (bone, leather, or metal)	Attune

Once per round, while you are within 5 feet of an unattended object at least one size category larger than you, you can activate these boots as a free action. When you do, gravity pulls you towards that surface instead of in the normal direction. This allows you to walk normally on walls or even ceilings.

Whenever you change the direction that gravity pulls you, you must make a difficulty value 10 Balance check to keep your feet. Failure means you fall prone (half speed, -2 Armor and Ref) and your movement for that phase ends.

Rank 5 (2,500 gp): The maximum distance increases to 15 feet. This can allow you to pull yourself towards distant objects, though you may take falling damage if you fall too far.

If you are below the surface of the liquid, you rise towards the surface at a rate of 60 feet per round. Thick liquids, such as mud and lava, may cause you to rise more slowly.

Bracers of Armor ★	Rank 1 (4 gp)
Bracers – Craft (bone, metal, or wood)	Attune

You have a translucent suit of magical armor on your body and over your hands. This functions like medium body armor that provides a +3 bonus to Armor defense, a +4 bonus to your durability, and a +1 bonus to your vital rolls. Unlike normal medium body armor, it does not reduce your Armor defense bonus from Dexterity.

The armor provided by this effect is dismissed if you have other body armor of any kind.

Rank 4 (500 gp): The durability bonus increases to +5.

Rank 7 (62,500 gp): The Armor defense bonus increases to +4.

Bracers of Blessed Protection ★	Rank 1 (4 gp)
Bracers – Craft (bone, metal, or wood)	Attune (deep)

Whenever you are hit by a critical hit, this item automatically activates. When it does, the attacker rerolls the attack against you, which may prevent the attack from getting a critical hit against you. This does not protect any other targets of the attack. You stop being attuned to this item when it activates in this way, and you must attune to it again to gain its effects.

Rank 4 (500 gp): This item can activate twice before you stop being attuned to it. It can only reroll any individual attack once.

Rank 3 (100 gp): The minimum accuracy increases to +5 and the push or fling distance increases to 30 feet.

Rank 6 (12,500 gp): The minimum accuracy increases to +10 and the push or fling distance increases to 60 feet.

Cirlet of Reliable Intuition ★	Rank 1 (4 gp)

Challenger's Crown ★	Rank 3 (100 gp)
Crown – Craft (bone or metal)	Attune, Compulsion

Each creature suffering penalties for being goaded (-2 accuracy vs. non-goaded creatures) by you takes an additional -1 accuracy penalty against creatures other than you.

Rank 6 (12,500 gp): The penalty increases to -2.

Cloak of Mist ★	Rank 4 (500 gp)
Cloak – Craft (leather or textiles)	Attune

At the end of each round, fog briefly fills a Small (15 ft.) radius zone from you. This fog does not fully block sight, but it provides concealment. There is no time gap between the disappearance of the old fog and the appearance of the new fog, so you can keep continuous fog cover by staying in the same place or moving slowly.

Rank 6 (12,500 gp): The fog's area increases to a Large (60 ft.) radius.

Cloak of Nondetection ★	Rank 2 (20 gp)
Cloak – Craft (leather or textiles)	Attune

You are impervious (+4 defenses) to attacks with the Detection or Scrying tags.

Rank 5 (2,500 gp): You are immune instead of impervious. This does not help against abilities that do not make attacks, so you can still be seen in scrying sensors that are not targeted on you personally.

Cloak – Craft (leather or textiles)	Attune

You gain a slow fly speed with a maximum height of 15 feet (see Flight, page 36).

Instead, each vital wound is treated as having a vital roll of 1, which prevents the mount from dying from its wounds.

Rank 4 (500 gp): This cloak does not increase your fatigue level when it activates.

Cloak of the Unseen Hunter ★	Rank 4 (500 gp)
Cloak – Craft (leather or textiles)	Attune

When you move using one of your movement speeds, you can move through creatures freely. This does not allow you to move through inanimate objects. Ring – Craft (bone, metal, or wood)	Attune
When you or an adjacent ally casts a spell that does not have the Attune or Sustain tags, you can invest the magic of the spell in the ring. If you do, the spell does not have its normal effect. All decisions about the spell's effect, except for targeting, must be made at the time that the spell is invested in this way. The desperate exertion ability cannot be used to affect the spell, either at the time it is invested or when it is activated. Only one spell can be stored this way.
You can activate this ring as a standard action. When you do, you cause the effect of the last spell invested in the ring. You choose the area and targets affected by the spell at this time. This does not require verbal components or somatic components, even if they would normally be required to cast the spell. The spell's effect is determined based on the power and other abilities of the original caster who invested the spell into the ring, not yours. You do not have to have the ability to cast the spell to activate a spell in this way.
After you use a spell in this way, the energy in the ring is spent, and you must invest a new spell to activate the ring again. Any lingering effects of spells activated through this ring automatically end after ten minutes, and whenever you invest a new spell into the ring.
Rank 6 (12,500 gp): You can invest up to two spells in the ring. When you activate the ring, you choose which spell to use.

Skydancing Boots ★	Rank 3 (100 gp)

You can activate these boots as a free action. When you do, you may treat air as if it were solid ground to your feet for the rest of the current phase. Tattoo of Imbuement (1) ★	Rank 1 (4 gp)
Tattoo – Craft (manuscripts or textiles)	Attune

This tattoo must be applied to one of your natural weapons that do not require a free hand to use, such as a bite. It provides that natural weapon with a specific rank 1 magic weapon property which is not a deep attunement.

If that natural weapon would already be affected by a magic weapon property, this tattoo has no effect on it. Different versions of this item exist for each rank 1 magic weapon property.

Twinhunter Amulet ★	Rank 3 (100 gp)
Amulet – Craft (bone, metal, or wood)	Attune

When you use the quarry ranger ability, you may target an additional creature.

Utility Belt ★

Belt – Craft (leather or textiles)

Rank 2 (20 gp)

Attune

This belt contains five pockets, each of which is larger on the inside than the outside. The inside of each pocket is a six inch cube. You can put anything you want in each pocket, but you still carry the weight of anything in the pockets. If you put reactive objects in a pocket, such as acid or burning alchemist's fire, it may destroy the pocket until the belt is repaired.

As long as each pocket is no more than half full, or is full of completely interchangeable items, you can reach into any pocket just as easily as you can reach into a nonmagical pocket. Overstuffed pockets may take more time to sift through to find the specific item you want, just like rummaging through a backpack.

If you take off this belt or stop attuning to it, the items in the belt become inaccessible. If this belt is destroyed, the items within it become lost in the Astral Expanse.

Rank 5 (2,500 gp): The belt has ten pockets instead of five, and each pocket is a one foot cube instead of a six inch cube.

Rank 5 (2,500 gp)

Attune

When you use the smite paladin ability using a Heavy weapon, you deal extra damage equal to half your power.

Rank 7 (62,500 gp): The extra damage increases to be equal to your power.

Magic Implements

Like magic weapons, magic implements must be wielded to gain their effects. However, while weapons are used to deal damage to enemies, implements are used to grant or enhance magical abilities.

There are three types of implements: staffs, rods, and wands. Staffs improve your existing magical abilities. Rods grant new magical abilities, even to those who cannot cast spells. Wands grant spellcasters the knowledge of specific spells.

Staffs are long and thin, with even short staffs measuring no less than four feet long. Rods are about three feet long, but sturdily constructed. Wands are only about a foot long and very thin.

Somatic Components: While wielding an implement, you may gesture with it to perform somatic components. This means you do not need a separate free hand to perform those components.

Staff Types: There are two types of staffs that you can find. A short staff only requires one hand, but it is not suitable as a weapon. A long staff functions like a quarterstaff weapon. It can have two magic properties instead of one, and you can freely mix weapon properties and implement properties. However, it must be held in two hands to grant its benefits.

Mobile Hunter

Move around the battlefield with ease to avoid threats or hunt weak foes.

Rank 1 Maneuvers

Adrenaline	Standard action
	Rank 1

Cost: One fatigue level (see text).

You briefly gain a +10 foot bonus to your speed and are primed (always explode). If you have a vital wound, this ability does not increase your fatigue level.

Carve the Air	Standard action
	Rank 1

You jump and move as normal for the jump (see Jumping, page 34). You can make a melee strike with a -1 accuracy penalty from any location you occupy during the motion. This includes both your initial leap and any fall afterwards that happens during the current round.

Fall Back	Standard action
	Rank 1

Make a melee strike. Then, you can move up to half your movement speed.

Prepared Sprint	Standard action
	Rank 1

Your movement speed is briefly doubled. However, you cannot use the sprint ability during that time.

Push Through	Standard action
	Rank 1

Make a melee strike.

Hit: If the target is a creature, you briefly do not consider it to be an obstacle when moving through its space. You still cannot end your movement in its space.

Rushdown	Standard action
	Rank 1

You can move up to half your speed, then make a melee strike.

Sprinting Charge	Standard action
	Rank 1

Cost: One fatigue level.

This maneuver functions like the charge ability, except that you can move up to twice your speed instead of up to your speed, and the defense penalty is removed.

Unbalancing Backstep	Standard action
Tags: Swift (see text)	Rank 1

You are braced (+2 defenses) this round. In addition, choose a creature you can see. You can move up to 5 feet away from that creature. Whenever that creature misses or glances you with a melee strike this round, it takes a -2 penalty to Armor defense during the next round. As normal, this bonus does not stack with itself, even if the same creature misses you with multiple melee attacks.

The defense bonus and reactive penalty trigger are Swift effects, but not the movement.

Rank 3 Maneuvers

Fall Back+	Standard action
	Rank 3

Make a melee strike. Then, you can move up to your speed.

Flash Charge	Standard action
	Rank 3

You can move in a straight line up to your speed. During this movement, you move too quickly to be seen, making you invisible. You become visible at your destination, and you can then make a melee strike there.

Leap Slam	Standard action
Tags: Earth	Rank 3

You jump and move as normal for the jump (see Jumping, page 34). When you land, if the vertical distance in feet between the highest point of your leap and your landing point was at least ten feet, you emit a small shockwave. If you do, make an attack vs. Reflex against all enemies adjacent to you that are on the same stable surface as you.

Hit: 1d10 damage + half power.

Miss: Half damage.

	Rank 3

You can move up to your speed, then make a melee strike with a -2 accuracy penalty that deals double weapon damage.

Momentous Impact	Standard action Rank 3
-------------------------	---------------------------

Make a melee strike. If your movement during the movement phase of this round consisted entirely of moving at least 20 feet in a straight line towards your target, the strike deals extra damage equal to half your power.

Reaping Harvest	Standard action Rank 3
------------------------	---------------------------

Move up to your speed in a straight line. You can also make a melee strike. The strike targets all enemies adjacent to you at any point during your movement.

Rank 5 Maneuvers

Adrenaline+	Standard action Rank 5

Fearsome Rushdown	Standard action Rank 5
--------------------------	---------------------------

Move up to half your movement speed and make a melee strike that deals double damage.

Hit: If your attack result also hits the target's Mental defense, it is briefly frightened (-2 Mental, -2 accuracy vs. source) by you.

Flash Sweep	Standard action Rank 5
--------------------	---------------------------

You can move in a straight line up to your speed. During this movement, you move too quickly to be seen, making you invisible. After making the strike, you become visible at your destination.

Frenzied Charge	Standard action Rank 5
------------------------	---------------------------

After using this ability, you briefly take a -4 penalty to all defenses.

--------------------------	---------------------------

Move up to half your movement speed and make a melee strike that deals triple damage.

Hit: The target briefly treats you as being invisible.

Flash Flurry	Standard action Rank 7
---------------------	---------------------------

You can move in a straight line up to your speed. During this movement, you move too quickly to be seen, making you invisible. While still invisible, you can make two melee strikes that deal double weapon damage at any point during your movement. After making the strikes, you become visible at your destination.

Leap Slam+	Standard action Rank 7
-------------------	---------------------------

This maneuver functions like the leap slam maneuver, except that the damage increases to 1d8 damage plus 1d8 per 2 power.

Leaping Impact	Standard action Rank 7
-----------------------	---------------------------

You jump and move as normal for the jump (see Jumping, page 34). You can make a melee strike that deals double damage from your final location after jumping. On a hit, the target takes half of the falling damage that you would normally take based on the height of the jump, ignoring any of your abilities that reduce that damage.

Reaping Harvest+	Standard action Rank 7
-------------------------	---------------------------

Move up to your speed in a straight line. You can also make a melee strike that deals triple damage. The strike targets all enemies adjacent to you at any point during your movement.

--------------------	---------------------------

Choose a number from 1–10, then make a strike. If you roll that number on your attack roll, you gain a +5 accuracy bonus. Any die rolled as part of an attack that explodes counts for this purpose, and you use your final die result after applying any rerolls. Effects which would replace your attack roll with a fixed value, such as a law paladin’s aligned aura ability, do not apply to this strike.

Chargebreaker	Standard action Rank 1
----------------------	---------------------------

You ready a reactive melee strike (see Ready Reaction, page 38). The strike triggers against any enemy that you couldn’t already hit with a melee strike at the start of the phase, such as enemies already adjacent to you. You gain a +2 accuracy bonus with the reactive strike.

Desperate Pierce	Standard action Rank 1
-------------------------	---------------------------

Cost: See text.

Make a strike. The attack is made against the target’s Reflex defense instead of its Armor defense.

Distant Shot	Standard action Rank 3

Pressure Point Puncture	Standard action Rank 7
--------------------------------	---------------------------

Make a melee strike that deals triple damage.

Hit: If your attack result also hits the target's Fortitude defense, it takes a -1 penalty to all defenses as a condition. Chapter 11

Spells and Rituals

Spell and Ritual Mechanics

Spells and rituals are common types of magical ✨ abilities with some special rules. Every spell and ritual belongs to a thematically related grouping called a mystic sphere. To learn a spell or lead a ritual, you must have access to the mystic sphere that it belongs to.

Magic Sources

There are four magic sources that characters can use to cast spells and perform rituals: arcane (cast by sorcerers and wizards), divine (cast by clerics and paladins), nature (cast by druids), and pact (cast by votives). Each magic source has a set of associated mystic spheres.

Characters with Multiple Magic Sources: Multiclass characters can have access to multiple magic sources. Their mystic spheres, spells, and rituals are tracked separately for each source of magic they have access to.

Casting Components

All rituals require both verbal components and somatic components (see Ability Usage Components, page 43). Unless otherwise noted, all spells require verbal components. In addition, spells from the arcane and pact mystic sources require somatic components.

Learning Spells

When you gain the ability to cast spells, you will also learn some number of spells. You choose those spells from among all spells offered by your mystic spheres, up to the maximum spell rank that you have access to. If you know a spell, you can generally cast it as often as you want, unless the spell's description says otherwise.

You can choose to learn the same spell multiple times. This does not allow you to bypass restrictions on repeatedly casting the same spell. For example, the accelerated dodge spell briefly prevents you from casting it again. That restriction would apply to all copies of the spell that you know. However, learning the same spell multiple times can be useful if you have abilities that customize the spell's effects, such as metamagic (see the cleric's Metamagic ability, page 57).

Rituals

Some characters have the ability to lead rituals. Like spells, rituals are magical abilities that are grouped into mystic spheres.

Ritual Requirements

Every ritual has three requirements to perform:

- Fatigue: Every ritual takes at least one fatigue level, and some require much more. Once per minute, the ritual leader can allocate one fatigue level to a creature that participated during that full minute. Non-leading ritual participants that are suffering a fatigue penalty cannot have any additional fatigue levels allocated to them from a ritual.
- Leader: The ritual must be led by a spellcasting creature with access to one of the ritual's mystic spheres. They must also be able to cast a spell of the ritual's rank or higher. Finally, they must have knowledge of the ritual, either because they have it memorized or because they have a ritual book for the ritual. If at any time a ritual does not have a participating leader, it ends with no effect.
- Time: Every ritual takes at least one minute to perform, and some can take much longer.

Ritual Books

Unlike spells, you cannot learn additional rituals with insight points. Instead, you must acquire ritual books to learn additional rituals. A ritual book contains the instructions for how to perform one or more rituals. A typical ritual book is Tiny, and can contain rituals with a maximum combined rank of 10.

The act of inscribing such potent magical instructions imbues the books with intrinsic magic. That magic tends to escape or fade over time, so ritual books made of ordinary ink quickly become unreadable. Scribing a ritual book that can last requires expensive magical ink and thick, sturdy pages. The cost to scribe a ritual book of a given rank is equal to an item of the ritual's rank (see Item Ranks, page 153). High rank ritual books tend to be made of exotic materials, like dragonhide or mithral.

Ritual Participation

While a ritual is being performed, creatures can participate in the ritual. Participating in a ritual involves spending a standard action each round, which requires both verbal components and somatic components. Creatures must be able to speak at least one language to participate in a ritual. They must also be able to receive instruction about the appropriate actions to take during the ritual.

Only the ritual leader needs to know how to perform the ritual, either by having it memorized or with a ritual book. Non-leading ritual participants must be given instructions by the leader on the steps they should perform during the ritual. Creatures can freely start or stop participating in rituals. The ritual can even change leaders, as long as it always has at least one ritual leader.

Ritual Mystic Spheres

Each ritual belongs to multiple mystic spheres. You can only lead rituals from mystic spheres that you have access to. Some rituals have special effects based on which mystic sphere is used to access it. If you have access to a ritual through multiple different mystic spheres, you choose which mystic sphere you are using to perform the ritual when the ritual starts.

Ritual Scaling

Some rituals can be performed at a higher level, such as the create water ritual. You do not need to scribe each level of the ritual separately. If you know how to perform the normal version of the ritual, you can choose to perform any higher level version if you have access to a spell of that level.

Cantrips

Feather Fall ✶

Standard action

Tags: Air

Choose yourself or an ally within Long (90 ft.) range. The target treats all falls as if they were 30 feet shorter for the purpose of determining falling damage this round.

Rank 2: The distance reduction increases to 60 feet.

Rank 4: The distance reduction increases to 90 feet.

Rank 6: The distance reduction increases to 120 feet.

The air beneath you suddenly accelerates into a great wind, softening the force of your unexpected fall.

Rank 1 Spells

Guiding Winds ✶

Standard action

Tags: Air

Rank 1

Make an attack vs. Reflex against up to two creatures within Distant (120 ft.) range.

Hit: The target briefly takes a -2 penalty to defenses against Air abilities and projectile strikes.

The attack's accuracy increases by +1 for each rank beyond 1.

The air around your foe ripples with hidden air currents that seem to guide the flight of arrows.

Propulsion ✶

Standard action

Tags: Air

Rank 1

Cost: You can increase your fatigue level by one to make this ability Swift. If you do, you can only target yourself with it.

Choose either yourself or one unattended object or ally within Medium (60 ft.) range. If you choose something other than yourself, it must have a weight category of Medium or less.

You fling the target up to 30 feet in any direction, to a maximum of a 30 foot height limit. Moving the target upwards costs twice the normal movement cost.

If you leave the target midair, it is normally unsteady (-2 accuracy, Armor, Brawn, Ref) until it lands. It normally falls at the end of the round, causing it to take falling damage (see Falling Damage, page 16).

Updraft ✶

Standard action

Tags: Air, Attune

Rank 1

Whenever you push or fling a creature or object, you can increase the distance of that push or fling by up to ten feet. In addition, you gain a +10 foot enhancement bonus to your maximum horizontal jump distance (see Jumping, page 34). This increases your maximum vertical jump distance normally.

The air rises beneath you and pushes you up, propelling you farther when you leap.

Wall of Wind ✶

Standard action

Tags: Air, Barrier, Sustain (attunable, minor)

Rank 1

Cost: You briefly cannot use this ability or any other Barrier ability.

You create a Medium (30 ft.) wall of wind within Long (90 ft.) range. It does not block passage or significantly obstruct sight. However, ranged strikes that pass through the wall take a -4 accuracy penalty.

Wind Screen ★	Standard action
Tags: Air, Attune	Rank 1
You gain a +2 bonus to your defenses against ranged strikes .

Windblast ★	Standard action
Tags: Air	Rank 1
Make an attack vs. Brawn and Reflex against everything in a Medium (30 ft.) cone from you.

The damage increases by 1d6 for each rank beyond 1.

Zephyr Shield ★	Standard action
Tags: Air, Swift	Rank 1
Choose yourself or one ally within Distant (120 ft.) range. This round, the target is shielded (+2 Armor and Ref) and gains a +2 bonus to all defenses against ranged strikes . Because this is a Swift ability, it affects attacks against the target during the current phase.

Rank 2 Spells

Air Walk ★	Standard action
Tags: Air, Attune	Rank 2
You can walk on air up to a foot above the ground. This allows you to ignore difficult terrain from all sources other than creature abilities. The extra height is insufficient to change your space in battle.

Asphyxiate ★	Standard action
Tags: Air	Rank 2
Make an attack vs. Fortitude with a -4 accuracy penalty against one creature within Medium (60 ft.) range. If the target does not need to breathe air, this attack has no effect.
Hit: 1d6 damage per 2 power. The damage increases by 1d6 for each rank beyond 2.

Buffet ★	Standard action
Tags: Air	Rank 2
Make an attack vs. Brawn against up to two creatures within Medium (60 ft.) range that each have a weight category of Medium or lighter.
Hit: If the target is injured, you fling it up to 15 feet upwards or horizontally (see Fling Effects, page 36). Moving it upwards costs twice the normal movement cost. Each target of this spell must be knocked back in the same direction. You can leave the target midair after the fling, which usually makes it unsteady (-2 accuracy, Armor, Brawn, Ref). It normally falls at the end of the round, potentially causing it to take falling damage (see Falling Damage, page 16).

Building Tempest ★	Standard action
Tags: Air, Sustain (minor)	Rank 2

Mistform ★

Tags: Air, Sustain (attunable, standard)

Standard action

Rank 4

You shapeshift into a cloud of mist. This makes you floating, intangible, and legless. You cannot speak and you have no free hands. All of your normal movement modes are replaced with a slow fly speed with a 30 foot height limit (see Flight, page 36). Since you have no walk speed, flying in this way does not make you unsteady (-2 accuracy, Armor, Brawn, Ref). You are unable to take any standard actions other than sustaining this effect, but you can still take move actions in place of standard actions.

Tags: Air

Standard action

Rank 5

When you cast this spell, you choose a Medium (30 ft.) radius within Medium (60 ft.) range. A tornado begins forming in that area. Creatures can generally identify what area the tornado will form in with a DV 10 Awareness check.

During your next action, the tornado forms in your chosen area, and you make a reactive attack vs. Brawn and Reflex against everything in the area. If there is not at least sixty feet of open space above your chosen area, this spell fails with no effect.

Hit: 1d6 damage plus 1d6 per 2 power.

Miss: Half damage.

The damage increases by 2d6 for each rank beyond 5.

Dust Storm ★

Tags: Air, Sustain (standard)

Standard action

Rank 5

You create a dust storm in a zone around you. The area affected by the storm increases over time. It affects a Large (60 ft.) radius in the first round, a Huge (90 ft.) radius in the second round, and a Gargantuan (120 ft.) radius in all subsequent rounds. Any effect which increases or changes this spell's area affects all of its areas equally, not just the area in the first round.

When you cast this spell, and during each of your subsequent actions, make an attack vs. Reflex against all enemies in the area.

Hit: The target is dazzled (20% miss chance, no special vision) as a condition.

Critical hit: The condition must be removed an additional time before the effect ends.

The attack's accuracy increases by +1 for each rank beyond 5.

Mighty Asphyxiate ★	Standard action

Retributive Winds ★	Standard action
Tags: Air, Attune (deep)	Rank 5
Whenever a creature within Medium (60 ft.) range of you attacks you, make a reactive attack vs. Armor against them. Any effect which increases this spell's range increases the range of this retaliation by the same amount. You can only make this attack against a given target once per phase.
Hit: 1d8 damage + power.
The damage increases by 1d6 for each rank beyond 5.

Intense Buffet ★	Standard action
Tags: Air	Rank 6
Make an attack vs. Brawn against up to three creatures within Medium (60 ft.) range that each have a weight category of Large or lighter.
Hit: If the target is injured, you fling it up to 30 feet upwards or horizontally (see Fling Effects, page 36). Moving it upwards costs twice the normal movement cost. Each target of this spell must be knocked back in the same direction.
You can leave the target midair after the fling, which usually makes it unsteady (-2 accuracy, Armor, Brawn, Ref). It normally falls at the end of the round, potentially causing it to take falling damage (see Falling Damage, page 16).
The attack's accuracy increases by +1 for each rank beyond 6.

Windtheft ★	Standard action
Tags: Air	Rank 5
Make an attack vs. Reflex against one object within Medium (60 ft.) range. The object must have a weight category of Small or less. If the object is attended by a creature, the attack must also beat the attending creature's Brawn and Reflex defenses. If it is held in two hands or well secured, this attack automatically fails.
Hit: You fling the object up to 60 feet towards you. You can use a free hand to catch the object if it reaches you.
The attack's accuracy increases by +1 for each rank beyond 5.

Massive Hurricane ★	Standard action

Skyseal ★	Standard action
Tags: Air	Rank 6

Make an attack vs. Brawn against all Huge or smaller grounded enemies in a Large (60 ft.) radius from you.

Hit: The target is briefly borne aloft by heavy winds. You fling it five feet upwards, where it hovers in midair, which normally makes it unsteady (-2 accuracy, Armor, Brawn, Ref). Although it cannot use a walk speed or most other normal movement modes while midair, it gains an average fly speed with a 5 foot height limit that it intuitively knows how to use. Although it can move around in the air with this fly speed, it cannot get lower than 5 feet above the ground.

The attack's accuracy increases by +1 for each rank beyond 6.

You push the target up to 30 feet horizontally. You can change the direction of the push partway through the movement, allowing you to push the target around obstacles. Sudden Liquification ★

Tags: Attune, Water

Standard action

Rank 1

When you would suffer a critical hit, this spell automatically activates. When it does, your body liquifies in an instant, limiting the damage to vital areas. This causes the critical hit to become only a regular hit, and you remain briefly steeled (immune to crits). Then, this ability is dismissed.

Wall of Water ★Tags: Barrier, Manifestation, Water, Sustain
(attunable, minor)

Standard action

Rank 1

Cost: You briefly cannot use this ability or any other Barrier ability.

You create a Medium (30 ft. long) wall of water within Medium (60 ft.) range. The wall is four inches thick. Sight through the wall is possible, though distorted. The wall provides both cover and concealment to targets on the opposite side of the wall (see Obstacles and Cover, page 40). In addition, ranged strikes that pass through the wall take a -4 accuracy penalty. Creatures can pass through the wall unharmed, though it costs five extra feet of movement to move through the wall.

The wall has hit points equal to twice times your power, and is destroyed when its hit points become negative.

Fluid Motion ★	Standard action
Tags: Attune, Water	Rank 3

When you move using one of your movement speeds, you can shapeshift into a rushing flow of water with a volume roughly equal to your normal volume until your movement is complete. You can only transform into water in this way once during your movement, and you return to your normal form at the end of the movement.

While transformed into water, you may move wherever water could go. However, you cannot take other actions, such as jumping, attacking, or casting spells. Your speed is halved when moving up a steep slope and doubled when moving down a steep slope. You may move through squares occupied by enemies without penalty. When you transform into water, you stop being grappled.

If the water is split, you may reform from anywhere the water has reached, to as little as a single ounce of water. If not even an ounce of water exists contiguously, your body reforms from all of the largest available sections of water, cut into pieces of appropriate size. This usually causes you to die.

Fog Cloud ★	Standard action
Tags: Manifestation, Water, Sustain (attunable, standard)	Rank 3

Fountain ★	Standard action
Tags: Manifestation, Water	Rank 3

The damage increases by 1d6 for each rank beyond 3.

You must have a free hand to cast this spell.

Make an attack vs. Fortitude against one creature you touch. You gain a +2 accuracy bonus with the attack if there is a Large or larger body of water within Short (30 ft.) range.

Hit: The target's body starts to liquify as a condition. While it is injured, its lower body shapeshifts into a puddle of water. This has the following effects:

- It has no functioning legs, causing it to be permanently prone (half speed, -2 Armor and Ref). It can still slush across the ground, but at half speed, as normal for being prone.
- During each of your subsequent actions, if it is immersed in liquid or not grounded, it takes 1d6 damage per 2 power as its body melts away.

The damage increases by 1d6 for each rank beyond 3.

Misty Shroud ★	Standard action

Whenever you make a strike with the tentacles, you can attack with all of the tentacles at once, with each tentacle attacking a different target. This functions as if your attacks had the Sweeping (7) tag, with no limit on how far each secondary target must be from the primary target. Alternately, you can make dual strikes with the tentacles. If you do, your attacks have Sweeping (3) instead of Sweeping (7).

Astromancy

Transport creatures and objects instantly through space.

Special Rules: Many abilities from this mystic sphere cause creatures or objects to teleport. Unless otherwise specified, teleportation requires line of sight, line of effect, and an unoccupied destination on stable ground. For details, see Teleportation, page 149.

flicker: Some spells from this sphere can cause creatures or objects to very briefly teleport to other locations. This is called flickering. If the space occupied by a flickered target is occupied or otherwise inaccessible when it returns, it instead reappears in the closest available open space. Flickering works even if the target is not on stable ground.

When a creature or object flickers, it returns at the end of your current turn unless the ability specifies a different duration. That means that you can't make any additional attacks against it during your turn. If one of your allies takes a turn after you, they will be able to attack the flickered target normally, since it will have returned by then.

If the target cannot be teleported, the flicker fails. This also prevents effects that trigger when it returns, such as the damage from the astral jaunt spell.

Cantrips

Translocate Object ★	Standard action
Choose one Tiny or smaller unattended object within Medium (60 ft.) range. It teleports into your hand or into an unoccupied location within the same range.
A tankard of ale disappears from the counter, appearing directly in your hand. The barkeep frowns, about to say something, before a gold coin suddenly appears in the tankard's place.

Rank 1 Spells

Blink ★	Standard action
Tags: Swift	Rank 1
All attacks against you this round have a 20% failure chance. In addition, you gain a +2 bonus to all defenses. This ability has the Swift tag, so it protects you from attacks during the current phase.

The damage increases by 1 for each rank beyond 1.

You create a connection to Ignis, the fire planet, and channel its powerful flames.

Phasestep ★	Standard action
Tags: Attune	Rank 1
When you move using one of your movement speeds, you can move through creatures freely. This does not allow you to move through inanimate objects. You must still end your movement in an unoccupied space. If you are not able to move normally, such as if you are grappled , this spell does not help you.
You augment your body with the ability to travel short distances through the Astral Expanse to reach your destination.

Splicing Grasp ★	Standard action
	Rank 1
You must have a free hand to cast this spell.
Make an attack vs. Mental against a creature you touch. Hit: 1d10 damage + half power. If the target is Large or smaller, you may teleport it up to 15 feet.

The damage increases by 1d6 for each rank beyond 1.

Your touch makes your foe disappear. Most of it reappears intact elsewhere, but something important - and painful - was lost in transit.

Translocation ★	Standard action
	Rank 1
Cost: You can increase your fatigue level by one to make this ability Swift . If you do, you can only target yourself with it.
Choose either yourself or one unattended object or ally within Medium (60 ft.) range. If you choose something other than yourself, it must be Medium or smaller. The target teleports up to 30 feet.

One by one, you teleport your allies across the chasm. The orcs tracking you will never be able to follow your trail now.

Choose two creatures from among yourself and your Medium or smaller allies within Medium (60 ft.) range. Both targets must be within Short (30 ft.) range of each other. The number of targets affected by this spell cannot be modified by abilities.

Each target teleports into the other's location. If the teleportation is invalid for either target, it fails for both targets.

Rank 2 Spells

Astral Jaunt ★	Standard action Rank 2	Instant Retrieval ★	Standard action Rank 2

Astral Refuge ★	Minor action Rank 2	Astral Instability ★	Standard action Rank 3
Choose yourself or one Medium or smaller ally or unattended object within Medium (60 ft.) range. You flicker the target into a nearby safe location in the Astral Expanse. When you cast this spell, you choose how many rounds the target spends in the Astral Expanse, up to a maximum of five rounds. It returns at the end of the last round.
Dimension Walk ★	Standard action Tags: Attune Rank 2	At the start of each phase, you may flicker to a nearby safe location in the Astral Expanse. You do not return until the end of the round. After you flicker in this way, you briefly cannot flicker with this ability again.
Once per phase, you can teleport horizontally instead of moving using your walk speed . Teleporting a given distance costs movement equal to that distance. If this teleportation fails for any reason, you still expend that movement.
Why would you walk when you can teleport?
Distant Spells ★	Standard action Tags: Attune Rank 2	Astral Rupture ★	Standard action Rank 3
You gain a +15 foot enhancement bonus to the range of all of your ranged spells. This does not affect spells that do not have a range listed in feet.
By channeling your spells through the Astral Expanse, you can reach foes that are farther away than would normally be possible.

Conjoined Conjuration – Ventus ★	Standard action
Tags: Air	Rank 3
Cost: You must be midair and at least 10 feet away from solid ground to cast this spell.
Make an attack vs. Mental against up to two creatures within Long (90 ft.) range that each have a weight category of Medium or lighter.
Hit: 1d6 damage + half power.
Injury: You fling the target up to 15 feet vertically or horizontally (see Fling Effects, page 36). Moving it upwards costs twice the normal movement cost. Each target of this spell must be knocked back in the same direction.
You can leave the target midair after the fling, which usually makes it unsteady (-2 accuracy, Armor, Brawn, Ref). It normally falls at the end of the round, potentially causing it to take falling damage (see Falling Damage, page 16).
The damage increases by 2 for each rank beyond 3.
You create a connection to Ventus, the wind planet, and channel air to buffet your foes.
Hostile Translocation ★	Standard action
	Rank 3

Hit: You teleport the target up to 30 feet.
The attack's accuracy increases by +1 for each rank beyond 3.
You teleport your foe across the chasm. The orc will never be able to reach you now.
Phasing Blade ★	Standard action
Tags: Attune	Rank 3
Whenever you make a strike , your weapon or projectile can pass through a single physical obstacle up to one foot thick on its way to the strike's target. This can allow your attacks to ignore cover , or even attack through solid walls. It does not allow you to ignore armor, shields, or similar items carried or worn by the targets of your attacks.
You augment your weapons with the ability to travel short distances through the Astral Expanse to reach their targets.
Silent Translocation ★	Standard action
	Rank 3
This spell functions like the translocation spell, except that this spell has no verbal components . In addition, the target's departure and arrival with this spell are silent.
One by one, you teleport your allies into hidden vantage points overlooking your enemies. It took some effort to convince the dwarven paladin to try a surprise attack, but the results will be worth it.
Tactical Translocation ★	Standard action
Tags: Attune	Rank 3
Once per round, when you would make a melee strike or use an ability that requires touch on a creature other than yourself, you can first teleport up to 10 feet. Your destination must be adjacent to the target.
Twinned Portals ★	Standard action
Tags: Sustain (attunable, minor)	Rank 3
Choose two unoccupied squares on stable ground within Long (90 ft.) range. A shimmering portal appears in each of the two squares. Each portal appears as an opaque colored disc five feet in diameter.
Once per phase, when a Medium or smaller creature or object touches the portal in its square, it passes through that portal. If it does, it teleports to the portal in the other chosen square, regardless of line of sight or line of effect between the two portals. Objects maintain their speed when passing through the portal, but moving objects have an unpredictable trajectory, so shooting projectiles through a portal is ineffective.
If multiple creatures attempt to pass through the portals simultaneously, they roll initiative to determine the first creature into the portal. A creature that attempts to pass through the portal in a phase where the portal was already activated stops its movement in the square with the portal.
You create a pair of portals that allow instant passage from one to the other.

Chronomancy

Manipulate the passage of time to inhibit foes and aid allies.

Special Rules: Some spells from this mystic sphere can create a time lock on creatures.

time lock: A time lock causes an aspect of a creature to be frozen in time. It always locks a specific statistic or status, such as a creature's current hit points or location.

Some effects can unseal the time lock. This restores the creature to match the state it was in when the time lock was created. For example, the creature's hit points might be restored to their original value. Only the specific aspect of the creature sealed by the time lock is changed. Everything else about the creature remains the same unless otherwise stated. Unsealing a time lock ends the effect.

If a time locked creature dies, the time lock ends without being unsealed.

Temporal Duplicate ★	Minor action
	Rank 7

Cost: One fatigue level, and you briefly cannot cast this spell again.

Choose yourself or one ally within Medium (60 ft.) range. You reach into a possible future and create a duplicate of the target. The duplicate is identical in all ways to the target when the spell resolves.

The target and its duplicate can act during the next round. At the end of that round, the target and its duplicate cease to exist. During that round, time does not pass for the target. At the end of the following round, the target reappears in the place where it ceased to exist. If that space is occupied, it appears in the closest unoccupied space. When the target reappears, its condition is unchanged from when it left. Its hit points, conditions, and all other statistics are unaffected, regardless of any damage or other negative effects suffered by the duplicate.

The duplicate is fragile, and its actions are limited. It cannot use abilities that have limitations on their usage, such as only being usable once per short rest. It cannot use abilities that would increase its fatigue level, cause it to lose hit points, or otherwise directly suffer negative consequences as a cost of the action. If it loses any hit points, it ceases to exist.

Curated Threat ★	Standard action
Tags: Attune, Emotion, Subtle	Rank 1

When you cast this spell, you choose to appear either powerful or weak.

Whenever an enemy enters a Large (60 ft.) radius emanation from you, make a reactive attack vs. Mental against them. After you attack a creature this way, it becomes immune to this attack from you until it finishes a short rest.

Hit: As a condition, the target's assessment of the threat you pose matches your intention. If you chose to appear powerful, they consider you to be their most powerful currently present foe. Likewise, if you chose to appear weak, they consider you to be their weakest currently present foe. This effect only changes how the target perceives you relative to its other enemies, and does not correlate to a specific level of power. Depending on the creature's personality and intentions, this may cause them to prioritize you as a target or avoid you.

Critical hit: The condition must be removed an additional time before the effect ends.

The attack's accuracy increases by +1 for each rank beyond 1.

This spell has no verbal components or somatic components.

Make an attack vs. Mental with a +2 accuracy bonus against one creature within Medium (60 ft.) range.

Hit: As a condition, the target is forced to speak out loud constantly whenever it can. This does not control what it talks about, so a reasonably savvy creature may be able to avoid revealing anything of great interest. In combat, most creatures with an intelligence of 0 or less will explain their thoughts about the combat, which can help you predict their actions.

Critical hit: The condition must be removed an additional time before the effect ends.

In addition, while the target is injured, it is slowed (-10 speed, -2 Armor and Ref).

After it makes this attack against itself, it becomes immune to this effect until it finishes a short rest.

Enduring Confusion ★	Standard action
Tags: Compulsion	Rank 7

Solipsism ★	Standard action
Tags: Emotion, Subtle	Rank 7
Make an attack vs. Mental against up to two creatures within Medium (60 ft.) range.
Hit: If the target is injured, it becomes deluded as a condition. It believes that it is the only real creature, and the rest of the world is an illusion. It may wander aimlessly, but generally takes no action to defend itself or attack others. This generally means it is at least partially unaware (-2 defenses) of any attacks against it. It still avoids obvious environmental hazards, such as cliff edges or fires. If it takes any damage or is otherwise harmed, including significant subjective discomfort, this effect is automatically broken.
After this effect ends, the target becomes immune to it until it finishes a short rest.

Make a Craft check with a +5 bonus to determine how closely the appearance and function of the copy matches the original. The copy is always mundane, even if the original was magical. It may appear to be made of a special material such as adamantine, but functions as if it was made of an ordinary material like wood or iron.

Instant Shield ★	Standard action
Tags: Attune, Manifestation	Rank 2
You can activate this effect as a minor action . When you do, you create a shield that you are proficient with in one free hand . This allows you to use it immediately, but prevents you from using that hand for any other purpose.

Personal Sphere ★

Standard action

Tags: Barrier, Manifestation, Sustain (standard)

Rank 3

Cost: You briefly cannot use this ability or any other Barrier ability.

You create a sphere of magical energy around yourself. The sphere is visible as a shimmering magical membrane that does not block sight. Nothing can pass through the field until it is destroyed. This prevents you from having line of effect to anything outside of the area.

The sphere is immobile, so it normally prevents you from leaving the area. You cannot dismiss it. It disappears as a Swift effect if you stop sustaining it, as normal for sustained abilities.

The field as a whole has hit points equal to twice your power, and is destroyed when its hit points become negative. It is also destroyed if you leave the area by any means. Whenever you sustain this effect, the field regains hit points equal to your power.

Tags: Attune (target)	Rank 6

Rank 7 Spells

Behold the Narrow Path ★	Standard action
	Rank 7

All allies within a Large (60 ft.) radius from you are honed (+4 accuracy with crits) this round.

Rank 5 Spells

Clairvoyance ★	Standard action
Tags: Scrying, Sustain (attunable, minor)	Rank 5

A scrying sensor appears floating in the air in any unoccupied square within Medium (60 ft.) range. You do not need line of sight or line of effect to target a location. You must specify a distance and direction to target a location you cannot see. This can allow you to cast the spell beyond walls and similar obstacles.

At the start of each round, you choose whether you see and hear from this sensor or from your body. While viewing through the sensor, your observation ability is the same as your normal body, except that it does not share the benefits of any magical ★ effects that improve your vision. You otherwise act normally, though you may have difficulty moving or taking actions if the sensor cannot see your body or your intended targets, effectively making you blinded (50% miss chance, -2 defenses).

If undisturbed, the sensor floats in the air in its position.

Foresee Distant Safety ★	Standard action
Tags: Subtle	Rank 5

At the start of the next round, you become briefly braced (+2 defenses).

Greater Precognitive Defense ★

Tags: Attune

Standard action

Rank 7

You can activate this ability as a minor action. When you do, your attunement to this effect ends and you become briefly braced (+2 defenses) and steeled (immune to crits). This is a Swift effect, so it protects you from attacks during the current phase.

Greater Precognitive Precision ★

Tags: Attune

Standard action

Rank 7

You gain a +2 enhancement bonus to accuracy.

Telekinesis

Manipulate kinetic energy at a distance.

Special Rules: All Barrier effects from this mystic sphere are made of telekinetic force, not physical objects. They can still be destroyed normally, but this makes them especially effective against incorporeal creatures. Incorporeal creatures cannot enter or pass through the barriers, and must move around them in the same way that any other creature does. This allows a telekinetic barrier to completely block passage in a hallway for an incorporeal creature as long as the surrounding walls are too thick for it to pass through.

Cantrips

Distant Hand ★

Standard action

Tags: Sustain (attunable, minor)

Choose one Medium or smaller unattended object within Medium (60 ft.) range. You can telekinetically control the target object as if you were holding it in a single extra hand. Your maximum modifier to accuracy and checks using the object is equal to your rank with this cantrip.

During the movement phase, you can move the target up to 15 feet in any direction, to a maximum height limit of 5 feet. Your weight limits are calculated as if your Strength was -1, so you can carry a Small object normally or push a Medium object at half speed. At the end of each round, if the target is outside of this ability's range, this ability is dismissed.

Although you can control the object's motion, you do not have it equipped. This means that a shield does not grant you its defense bonus, a magic ring does not grant its benefits to you, and so on.

Rank 1 Spells

Animated Weapon ★

Standard action

Rank 1

This spell has no somatic components.

Make a magical ★ melee strike using one weapon you hold in a single hand. The weapon flies out of your hand to strike at range, granting this strike the Long tag (see Weapon Tags, page 156). It flies back into your hand after making the strike.

The attack's accuracy increases by +1 for each rank beyond 1.

Desperate Levitation ★	Standard action
Tags: Attune	Rank 1
Whenever you use the total defense or recover ability, you can activate this ability. If you do, you move 20 feet up into the air and levitate there. This movement is Swift, so it can help you avoid attacks during the current phase. While levitating in this way, your telekinesis provides you with a stable platform to maneuver, so you are not unsteady (-2 accuracy, Armor, Brawn, Ref). At the end of the round, you descend 20 feet without taking falling damage, then this ability is dismissed.
Fling Object ★	Standard action
Tags: Attune	Rank 1
Choose a Tiny or Small unattended object within Medium (60 ft.) range. You fling that object at another creature or object within Medium (60 ft.) range of you. When you do, make an attack vs. Armor against the target. You gain a +2 accuracy bonus if you fling a Tiny object. Hit: The target and the thrown object each take 1d6 damage + half power. Floating Armament ★	Standard action
Tags: Attune (deep)	Rank 1

Moving it upwards costs twice the normal movement cost. The attack's accuracy increases by +1 for each rank beyond 1.
Telekinetic Lift ★	Standard action
Tags: Sustain (attunable, minor)	Rank 1
Choose yourself or one Medium or smaller unattended object within Medium (60 ft.) range. The target's weight is reduced by one weight category, which makes it easier to lift and move. It also gains a +10 foot enhancement bonus to its maximum horizontal jump distance, if applicable (see Jumping, page 34).
Wall of Force ★	Standard action
Tags: Barrier, Manifestation, Sustain (attunable, minor)	Rank 1
Cost: You briefly cannot use this ability or any other Barrier ability. You create a Small (15 ft. long) wall of magical energy within Short (30 ft.) range. The wall is visible as a shimmering magical field that does not block sight. Nothing can pass through the wall until it is destroyed. The damage increases by 1d6 for each rank beyond 2.

Compression ★	Standard action Rank 2	Kinetic Redirection ★	Standard action Rank 2
Make an attack vs. Brawn against something within Short (30 ft.) range.			You are shielded (+2 Armor and Ref) this round. In addition, whenever a creature misses or glances you with a melee strike this round, it treats itself as a target of that strike in addition to any other targets. It cannot choose to reduce its accuracy or damage against itself. This ability is Swift , so it protects you from attacks in the current phase.
Hit: 1d6 damage + half power. During your next action, the target takes 1d6 damage + half power again. Critical hit: All instances of damage are doubled, not just the initial damage.
The damage increases by 2 for each rank beyond 2.
Interposing Force ★	Standard action Rank 2	Mighty Distant Hand ★	Standard action Rank 2
Make an attack vs. Brawn against one creature within Medium (60 ft.) range.			This spell functions like the distant hand spell, except that the weight limits of the hand are calculated as if your Strength was equal to 2.
Hit: The target is briefly unable to move closer to you without effort. This does not impede its movement unless its movement would bring it closer to you while it is within Medium (60 ft.) range of you. As part of the movement, it can make a Strength check with a difficulty value of 6. If it succeeds, its movement towards you costs double the normal movement speed. Otherwise, it is unable to move towards you, and that part of its movement is wasted.			For each rank beyond 2, the hand's effective Strength increases by 1.
The attack's accuracy increases by +1 for each rank beyond 2.
Kinetic Impedance ★	Standard action Rank 2	Mind Arrow ★	Standard action Rank 2
Make an attack vs. Brawn against up to two creatures within Short (30 ft.) range.			This spell has no somatic components.
Hit: The target is impeded as a condition . While it is within Short (30 ft.) range of you, it is slowed (-10 speed, -2 Armor and Ref). It suffers no ill effects beyond that range. Critical hit: The condition must be removed an additional time before the effect ends.			Make a magical ★ strike using an arrow as if you were shooting it from a longbow. As normal for a longbow, the strike deals damage equal to 1d6 + half your power , and your range limits with this strike are 90/270.
The attack's accuracy increases by +1 for each rank beyond 2.			The arrow must be easily accessible on your person, such as in a quiver. You do not have to be proficient with bows, and you do not have to manually draw the arrow.
			The attack's accuracy increases by +1 for each rank beyond 2.
Kinetic Rebound ★	Standard action Tags: Attune (deep) Rank 2	Mind Shove ★	Standard action Rank 2
Whenever a creature makes a melee attack against you using a free hand or non- Long weapon, make a reactive attack vs. Brawn against them. Hit: 1d6 damage + half power.			Make an attack vs. Brawn against everything that is Large or smaller in a Medium (30 ft.) radius within Long (90 ft.) range.
The damage increases by 2 for each rank beyond 2.			Hit: You push each target up to 15 feet. Each target of this spell must be pushed in the same direction.
			The attack's accuracy increases by +1 for each rank beyond 2.

Kinetic Discharge ★

Standard action

Tags: Sustain (minor), Swift (see text)

Rank 3

During your next action after you stop sustaining this spell, make a reactive attack vs. Brawn against all enemies in a Medium (30 ft.) radius from you. You gain an accuracy bonus with this attack equal to the number of kinetic charges you built up, to a maximum of +4.

If you build up 8 kinetic charges, you immediately stop sustaining this spell, and the attack targets you and all creatures in a Medium (30 ft.) radius from you.

Hit: 1d6 damage + half power.Miss: Half damage.

The damage increases by 2 for each rank beyond 3.

Rank 1 Spells

Desperate Stoneskin ★	Standard action

Earthcraft ★	Standard action
Tags: Earth, Attune (target)	Rank 1

Choose yourself or an ally within Medium (60 ft.) range.

This spell creates up to two weapons, suits of body armor, or shields from a Large or smaller unattended body of earth or stone within 5 feet of you. The body targeted must be at least as large as the largest item you create. You can create any weapon, shield, or body armor that you are proficient with, and which would normally be made of metal. The item's rank cannot exceed your spellcasting rank with this spell. It is sized appropriately for the target, up to a maximum of a Medium size item. The items appear in your hand or on the ground at your feet.

Rank 2: If you create body armor or a weapon, it can be created from any special material other than cold iron, dragonscale, and dragonfang (see Armor Special Materials, page 167, and Weapon Special Materials, page 164). Its rank cannot exceed your spellcasting rank with this spell.

Rank 2 Spells

Boulder Heave ★	Standard action
Tags: Earth, Manifestation	Rank 2
When you cast this spell, you create a boulder in midair above your space and choose a target within Medium (60 ft.) range. If the area above you is occupied, this spell fails without effect. During your next action, if that target is still within Medium (60 ft.) range, make a reactive attack vs. Armor against it. Otherwise, the boulder disappears and this spell is wasted.
Hit: 1d8 damage + power. The damage increases by 1d6 for each rank beyond 2.

Earthbind ★	Standard action
Tags: Earth	Rank 2
Make an attack vs. Brawn against up to two creatures within Medium (60 ft.) range that are no more than 60 feet above a stable surface that could support their weight. You gain a +2 accuracy bonus if you are grounded on stone.
Hit: As a condition, the target is pulled towards the ground with great force, approximately doubling the gravity it experiences. The attack's accuracy increases by +1 for each rank beyond 2.

Earthen Anchor ★	Standard action
Tags: Attune, Earth	Rank 2
You are immune to push, fling, and teleport effects from attacks, unless the effects come from an attack that scores a critical hit. In addition, you are always considered either grounded or not grounded, whichever is more beneficial for you.
For example, you would not take damage from the earthquake spell. You must still stand on appropriate materials for effects like rock throw which require a specific type of grounding.

Personal Gravitation ★	Standard action
Tags: Attune, Earth	Rank 2
Once per phase, while you are within 5 feet of an unattended object at least one size category larger than you, you can adjust your personal gravity as a free action. When you do, gravity pulls you towards that object instead of in the normal direction. This allows you to walk normally on walls or even ceilings.
Whenever you change the direction that gravity pulls you, you must make a difficulty value 10 Balance check to keep your feet. Failure means you fall prone (half speed, -2 Armor and Ref) and your movement for that phase ends.

Rippling Earthwave ★	Standard action
Tags: Earth	Rank 2
Make an attack vs. Brawn against all Large or smaller grounded enemies in a Medium (30 ft.) cone from you.
Hit: The target is knocked prone (half speed, -2 Armor and Ref).

You crack the earth around you, shaking everyone violently.

Tags: Earth, Sustain (attunable, standard)	Rank 3

Earthspike ★	Standard action
Tags: Earth, Manifestation	Rank 3

Make an attack vs. Armor and Reflex against one creature in Short (30 ft.) range.

Hit: 1d6 damage plus 1d6 per 2 power, and any extra damage is doubled.

Wall of Stone ★	Standard action
Tags: Barrier, Earth, Manifestation, Sustain (attunable, minor)	Rank 2

Cost: You briefly cannot use this ability or any other Barrier ability.

You create a Small (15 ft. long) wall of stone within Short (30 ft.) range. Every square of the wall must be grounded. Nothing can pass through the wall until it is destroyed.

The wall has hit points equal to three times your power, and is destroyed when its hit points become negative. If the entire wall is directly supported by stone, its hit points are doubled.

Rank 4: The wall's hit points increase to four times your power.

Rank 6: The wall's hit points increase to five times your power.

Meld into Stone ★	Standard action
Tags: Earth, Sustain (attunable, standard)	Rank 3

You and up to 100 pounds of nonliving equipment meld into one stone object you touch that is at least as large as your body. If you try to bring excess equipment into the stone, the spell fails without effect.

As long as the spell lasts, you can move within the stone as if it was thick water. However, at least part of you must remain within one foot of the place you originally melded with the stone. You gain no special ability to breathe or see while embedded the stone, and you cannot speak if your mouth is within the stone. The stone muffles sound, but very loud noises may reach your ears within it. If you fully exit the stone, this ability is dismissed.

If this spell ends before you exit the stone, or if the stone stops being a valid target for the spell (such as if it is broken into pieces), you are forcibly expelled from the stone. When you are forcibly expelled from the stone, you take 4d8 bludgeoning damage and become stunned (-2 defenses) as a condition.

Rank 3 Spells

Crushing Gravity ★	Standard action
Tags: Earth	Rank 3

Make an attack vs. Brawn against a grounded creature or object within Medium (60 ft.) range. You gain a +1 accuracy bonus for each weight category by which the target is heavier than Medium.

Hit: 1d8 damage + power.

The damage increases by 1d6 for each rank beyond 3.

Volcano ★

Standard action

Tags: Earth, Manifestation, Sustain (minor)

Rank 3

You create a volcano at a grounded location within Short (30 ft.) range. The area affected by the volcano increases over time. It affects a Small (15 ft.) radius zone in the first round, a Medium (30 ft.) radius in the second round, and a Large (60 ft.) radius in all subsequent rounds. Any effect which increases or changes this spell's area affects all of its areas equally, not just the area in the first round. When you cast this spell, and during each of your subsequent actions, make an attack vs. Reflex against everything in the area.

Hit: 1d6 damage + half power.Miss: Half damage.

The damage increases by 2 for each rank beyond 3.

You create a small volcano that showers everything nearby in burning shrapnel.

Rank 4 SpellsEarthen Fortification ★

Standard action

Tags: Earth, Manifestation, Sustain (attunable, minor)

Rank 4

You construct a fortification made of packed earth within Medium (60 ft.) range. This takes the form of up to ten contiguous 5-foot squares, each of which is four inches thick. The squares can be placed at any angle and used to form any structure as long as that structure is stable. Since the fortifications are made of packed earth, their maximum weight is limited, and structures taller than ten feet high are usually impossible. A typical Large wall made of earth has 50 hit points, 5 hardness, and a Sunder DV of 20.

The fortifications form slowly, rather than instantly. The structure becomes complete at the end of the next round after this spell is cast. This makes it difficult to trap creatures within structures formed.

Rank 6: You can also construct fortifications from stone. This makes them more resistant to attack and allows the construction of more complex structures. A typical Large wall made of stone has 50 hit points, 10 hardness, and a Sunder DV of 25.

Fall to Earth ★

Standard action

Tags: Earth

Rank 4

This spell functions like the earthbind spell, except that you gain a +2 accuracy bonus for each weight category by which the target is heavier than Medium. This accuracy bonus is doubled if the target is not grounded.

The attack's accuracy increases by +1 for each rank beyond 4.

The heavier they are, the harder they fall.

Meteor ★

Standard action

Tags: Earth, Manifestation

Rank 4

When you cast this spell, you choose a Small (15 ft.) radius, 60 foot tall cylinder-shaped zone within Medium (60 ft.) range. The bottom of the area must be grounded, and you must have line of sight and line of effect to both the top and bottom of the area. This means you cannot cast this spell in tight tunnels.

A meteor appears at the top of the area. Creatures can generally identify what area the meteor will fall into with a DV 10 Awareness check. During your next action, the meteor crashes into the ground, and you make a reactive attack vs. Armor and Reflex against everything in a Medium (30 ft.) radius of your chosen location. Creatures under overhanging structures may have cover from the attack or be entirely excluded from the effect based on their location.

Hit: 1d6 damage plus 1d6 per 2 power.Miss: Half damage.

The damage increases by 2d6 for each rank beyond 4.

Mighty Rock Throw ★

Standard action

Tags: Earth, Manifestation

Rank 4

Make an attack vs. Armor against something within Short (30 ft.) range. You gain a +2 accuracy bonus if you are grounded on stone.

Tremorsight ★

Rank 5 SpellsDistant Personal Gravitation ★

Tags: Attune, Earth

Mighty Tremor ★

Tags: Earth

Standard action

Rank 5

The earth shakes in a Medium (30 ft.) radius zone from your location. Make an attack vs. Reflex and Brawn against everything in the area that is grounded. During your next action, this effect repeats in the same area.

Hit: 1d8 damage + power, and the target falls prone (half speed, -2 Armor and Ref.).

Miss: Half damage.

The damage increases by 1d6 for each rank beyond 5.

You crack the earth around you, shaking everyone violently.

Solid Earthglide ★

Tags: Earth, Sustain (attunable, standard)

Standard action

Rank 5

You gain a slow burrow speed. Unlike most burrow speeds, this burrow speed also allows you to pass through solid stone. This does not allow you to breathe while inside the earth or stone, so your ability to traverse long distances may be limited.

Rank 6 SpellsMassive Wall of Stone ★

Tags: Barrier, Earth, Manifestation, Sustain

Standard action

Rank 6

(attunable, minor)

Cost: You briefly cannot use this ability or any other Barrier ability.

This spell functions like the wall of force spell, except that the area increases to a Large (60 ft. long) wall within Medium (60 ft.) range, and its hit points increase to five times your power.

Mighty Crushing Gravity ★

Tags: Earth

Standard action

Rank 6

Make an attack vs. Brawn against a grounded creature or object within Medium (60 ft.) range. You gain a +1 accuracy bonus for each weight category by which the target is heavier than Medium.

Hit: 1d8 damage plus 1d8 per 2 power, and any extra damage is doubled.

The damage increases by 2d8 for each rank beyond 6.

Mighty Earthspike ★

Tags: Earth, Manifestation

Hit: 1d6 damage plus 1d6 per power, and any extra damage is doubled.

The damage increases by 4d6 for each rank beyond 6.

Mighty Stonefist ★

Tags: Attune, Earth, Manifestation

Standard action

Rank 6

This spell functions like the stonefist spell, except that the damage dealt by the weapon increases to 2d6, and it gains the Impact weapon tag (see Weapon Tags, page 156).

Mighty Volcano ★

Tags: Earth, Manifestation, Sustain (minor)

Standard action

Rank 6

This spell functions like the volcano spell, except that the damage increases to 1d6 damage per 2 power.

The damage increases by 1d6 for each rank beyond 6.

You create a small volcano that showers everything nearby in burning shrapnel.

Rapid Earthglide ★	Standard action
Tags: Earth, Sustain (attunable, standard)	Rank 6

You gain an average burrow speed. This does not allow you to breathe while inside the earth, so your ability to traverse long distances may be limited.

Mighty Meteor ★	Standard action
Tags: Earth, Manifestation	Rank 7

This spell functions like the meteor spell, except that the damage increases to 1d6 damage plus 1d6 per power.

Twinned Earthen Shield ★	Standard action
Tags: Earth	Rank 6

Choose up to two creatures from among yourself and your allies within Medium (60 ft.) range. Each target must be grounded. Each is briefly shielded (+2 Armor and Ref). If a target moves from its location or stops being grounded, this effect immediately ends on it. Because this is a Swift ability, it affects attacks against each target during the current phase.

Swallowed by Earth ★	Standard action
Tags: Earth	Rank 7

Make an attack vs. Reflex and Brawn against all Large or smaller grounded enemies in a Small (15 ft.) radius in Short (30 ft.) range.

Hit: 1d6 damage plus 1d6 per 2 power, and the target is briefly slowed (-10 speed, -2 Armor and Ref).

Injury: If the target was already slowed by this ability, it is also swallowed by the earth as a condition. While it is swallowed by the earth, it does not have line of sight or line of effect to any creature other than itself. During each of your subsequent actions, it takes 1d6 damage plus 1d6 per 2 power as the earth grinds it into paste.

The target can remove this condition by making a difficulty value 12 Strength check as a standard action. If the earth or stone it is swallowed by is destroyed or otherwise rendered unable to contain the creature, this ability is dismissed. When this effect ends, the target reappears in the closest unoccupied space to where it was swallowed by the earth. Some effects such as teleportation can also remove the target from the fissure, which also ends the condition.

Critical hit: All instances of damage are doubled, not just the initial damage.

Miss: Half damage.

Rank 7 Spells

Earthquake ★	Standard action
Tags: Earth	Rank 7

The earth shakes in a Large (60 ft.) radius zone from your location. Make an attack vs. Reflex and Brawn against everything in the area that is grounded. During your next action, this effect repeats in the same area.

You crack the earth around you, shaking everyone violently.

You open up a rift in the ground that swallows and traps a foe.

Gravity Well ★	Standard action
Tags: Earth, Sustain (attunable, minor)	Rank 7

You create an area of intense gravity in a Medium (30 ft.) radius zone within Medium (60 ft.) range. When you cast this spell, and during each of your subsequent actions, make an attack vs. Brawn against all enemies in the area.

Hit: The target is briefly slowed (-10 speed, -2 Armor and Ref).

Intense Earthbind ★	Standard action
Tags: Earth	Rank 7

This spell functions like the earthbind spell, except that as part of the same condition, the target is also slowed (-10 speed, -2 Armor and Ref) while it is injured. At the start of each round, the target can make a DV 10 Strength check. Success means that it stops being slowed during that round.

Thaumaturgy

Suppress and manipulate magical effects.

Cantrips

Detect Magic ★

Standard action

Tags: Detection

Choose a Large (60 ft.) cone from you. You know whether any magical ★ effects exist in the area. This includes active spell effects, magical items, and any other magic that is currently affecting the area or creatures in the area. It does not include passive magical abilities on creatures in the area, such as the ability to cast spells. It also does not provide any information about the number or location of those magical effects.

Magic Missile ★

Standard action

Rank 1

Hit: 1d6 damage + half power.

Miss: Half damage.

The damage increases by 2 for each rank beyond 1.

An unerring projectile made of pure magical energy streaks towards your foe, inflicting damage unavoidably.

Negate ★

Standard action

Hit: 1d8 damage + power.

The damage increases by 1d6 for each rank beyond 1.

Spellseal ★

Standard action

Rank 1

Make an attack vs. Fortitude against one creature within Medium (60 ft.) range.

Hit: The target's magic is partially sealed as a condition. The first time it tries to cast a spell, the spell automatically fails with no effect instead. When the target fails to cast a spell in this way, this ability is dismissed, and the target becomes immune to this spell until it finishes a short rest.

The attack's accuracy increases by +1 for each rank beyond 1.

Enhance Magic – Might ★

Standard action

Rank 1

Tags: Attune

Whenever you cast a non-attunable spell, you can activate this effect as a minor action. If you do, the spell deals 1d6 extra damage when it deals damage for the first time. After you enhance a spell in this way, this ability is dismissed.

Rank 3: The extra damage increases to 2d6.

Rank 5: The extra damage increases to 2d10.

Rank 7: The extra damage increases to 4d10.

Enhance Magic – Precision ★

Standard action

Rank 1

Tags: Attune

Imbue Weapon ★

Standard action

Rank 1

Tags: Attune

Choose one weapon you are touching and proficient with. You can use the higher of your magical power and mundane power to determine your damage with strikes using that weapon (see Power, page 14).

Dimensional Seal ★

Standard action

Rank 2

Tags: Sustain (attunable, minor)

Make an attack vs. Mental with a +2 accuracy bonus against something within Medium (60 ft.) range.

Hit: The target cannot be teleported. An object affected by this spell is left behind if it is carried by a creature that teleports.

The attack's accuracy increases by +1 for each rank beyond 2.

Dismissal ★	Standard action Rank 2
--------------------	---------------------------

Make an attack against something within Medium (60 ft.) range. If the target is an effect of an ongoing magical ★ ability, such as a summoned monster or created object, its defense against this attack is equal to 5 + twice the rank of the effect. Otherwise, this spell has no effect.

Hit: The target is treated as if the ability that created it was dismissed. This usually causes the target to disappear.

The attack's accuracy increases by +1 for each rank beyond 2.

Suppress Magic ★	Standard action Rank 2
-------------------------	---------------------------

Choose a single 5-ft. square within Medium (60 ft.) range. Make an attack against a random magical ★ effect active in that square, if any exist. This can only target magical effects that are sustained or which have a specific duration. This includes brief effects, conditions, and Sustain abilities, but it does not include attuned effects or permanent magical abilities on creatures. It also does not include Curse effects, which are more difficult to remove. The attack cannot explode by any means.

The target's defense against this attack is equal to 5 + twice its rank. For effects that have no specific rank, such as some monster abilities, treat their rank as being equal to one third of their level.

This spell cannot be used to interrupt or negate immediate effects, such as spells being cast. Identifying non-visual magical effects can be difficult, so you may have to guess which area to target.

Hit: The effect is suppressed as long as you sustain this ability.

The attack's accuracy increases by +1 for each rank beyond 2.

Mystic Backlash ★	Standard action Rank 2
--------------------------	---------------------------

Make an attack vs. Mental against a creature within Medium (60 ft.) range.

Hit: You weave a trap into the target's magic. If it uses a magical ★ ability as a standard action or elite action, it takes 1d6 damage per 2 power. After it takes damage in this way, this effect ends. It cannot trigger this trap in the same round that you cast this spell.

The damage increases by 1d6 for each rank beyond 2.

Rank 3 Spells

Arcane Fuel ★	Standard action Rank 3
----------------------	---------------------------

You take half damage from magical ★ effects this round. This is a Swift effect, so it protects you from attacks during the current phase. In addition, whenever a creature within Medium (60 ft.) range of you misses or glances you with a magical ★ attack this round, that creature treats itself as a target of that attack in addition to any other targets. The attacker cannot choose to reduce its accuracy or damage against itself.

Cryptic Spells ★	Standard action Rank 3
-------------------------	---------------------------

Whenever you cast a spell, you may choose to mimic the identifying characteristics of a different spell you know. If you do, the verbal components, somatic components, visual effects, and magical aura of the spell you are casting change to match the mimic spell. This affects inspection of the spell itself by any means. However, it does not alter the mechanical effects of the spell in any way. This change cannot fully remove verbal, somatic, or visual components. If the mimic spell does not have an identifying characteristic, the original characteristic of the spell you are casting is unchanged.

An observer who gets a critical success to identify the spell's effects can identify the true spell that you are casting (see Identify Magical Effect, page 138).

Suppress Item ★	Standard action Rank 2
------------------------	---------------------------

Make an attack vs. Mental with a +4 accuracy bonus against one Large or smaller magical ★ object within Medium (60 ft.) range. If the object is attended by a creature, the attack must also beat the attending creature's Mental defense.

Hit: All magical properties the target has are suppressed.

The attack's accuracy increases by +1 for each rank beyond 2.

Extract Magic ★	Standard action Rank 3
Make an attack vs. Fortitude against a creature within Medium (60 ft.) range. This attack automatically fails if the target does not have any magical ★ abilities.

Mighty Magic Missile ★	Standard action Rank 4
Make an attack vs. Armor against something within Short (30 ft.) range. This attack ignores cover and all miss chances.
Hit: 1d6 damage per 2 power, and any extra damage is doubled. Miss: Half damage. The damage increases by 1d6 for each rank beyond 4.

An unerring projectile made of pure magical energy streaks towards your foe, inflicting massive damage unavoidably.

Mystic Convergence ★	Standard action Rank 3
When you cast this spell, magical energy visibly coalesces around you, causing you to radiate multicolored light as a torch. Next round, you can spend a standard action to make an attack vs. Mental against each enemy within a Medium (30 ft.) radius from you. If you do, each of your allies in the area becomes empowered (add rank to damage) during that round.
Hit: 1d10 damage + half power. The damage increases by 1d6 for each rank beyond 3.

Second Mind ★	Standard action Rank 4
Tags: Attune
Choose a magical ★ ability you are currently sustaining that requires either a free action or a minor action to sustain. That ability is automatically sustained as long as this effect lasts. This can allow you to sustain that ability for longer than 5 minutes. However, the ability automatically ends after 10 minutes, ending your attunement to this spell.
Automatically sustaining an ability with this spell does not allow you to make any new choices, such as giving summoned creatures new instructions. Instead, you always make the same choice you made the last time you manually sustained the effect. You can still manually sustain the ability to change your choices while this spell is active.

Rank 4 Spells

Dimensional Lock ★	Standard action Rank 4
Tags: Sustain (attunable, minor)

This spell creates a dimensional lock in a Large (60 ft.) radius zone from your location. Extraplanar travel into or out of the area is impossible. This prevents all Manifestation effects and effects teleport targets or move them between planes.

Dispel Magic ★	Standard action Rank 4
Tags: Attune

Enhance Magic – Echo ★	Standard action Rank 4
Tags: Attune

Whenever you cast a non-attunable spell, you can activate this effect as a minor action. If you do, the spell repeats during your next action. After you enhance a spell in this way, this ability is dismissed.

Delay Teleportation ★	Standard action Rank 5
Tags: Attune
Whenever a creature or object would teleport into a Huge (90 ft.) radius emanation from you from outside of that area, that teleportation is delayed by a round. The teleporting creature or object remains stuck in the Astral Expanse and can take no actions during that time. Creatures delayed in this way do not experience a delay, though they may be able to deduce that they were delayed based on observable evidence.
Whenever something is delayed in this way, you learn its approximate size and location within the area, allowing you to know which space or spaces it will occupy when it arrives. Creatures and objects delayed by this effect remain delayed even if you move such that their destination is no longer within the area of this effect. This does not affect teleportation away from or within the area.

Objects, creatures, and mundane abilities can pass through the wall freely, but any magical ★ ability treats the wall as an impassable barrier.

Rank 7: The wall's hit points increase to four times your power.

Mighty Extract Magic ★	Standard action
	Rank 6

Make an attack vs. Fortitude against a creature within Short (30 ft.) range. This attack automatically fails if the target does not have any magical ★ abilities.

Shadowform ★

Standard action

Tags: Attune (deep)

Rank 3

You collapse to the ground, taking the appearance and shape of a shadow. This has a number of effects, as described below.

- You are nearly flat, allowing you to pass under doors and through other narrow passages. Your horizontal dimensions are unchanged, and you cannot enter spaces that are more narrow than you can normally fit through.
- You can freely move through space occupied by other creatures, and other creatures can freely move through your space.
- While you are in a space occupied by an shadowed ally, you have concealment, and you can use the hide ability without moving in a way that causes observers to lose sight of you (see Stealth, page 144).
- You gain a slow climb speed, and you can climb without using any hands.
- You are always treated as being prone (half speed, -2 Armor and Ref), though your movement speed is not reduced.

At the end of each round, if you are not shadowed, this effect is suppressed and you return to your normal size and shape. If doing so is impossible, such as if you are in a space too small to contain your body, you gain a vital wound and this effect persists briefly. This form offers you no special immunity to damage, as creatures can simply attack the shadow.

You can suppress or resume this ability as a free action.

You strike your foe's shadow instead of hitting it directly, but it takes damage just the same.

Sever Shadow ★	Standard action
Tags: Sustain (minor)	Rank 5
You separate your shadow from your body so you can control it independently. As a move action , you can move your shadow using your climb speed or walk speed. It can fit through any gap that allows light to pass through, such as under a door. Each time you move your shadow, it frays. You can move it up to five times before this effect ends.

If either you or your shadow ever stops being shadowed, this effect ends. Your shadow is constantly hiding and requires a difficulty value 15 Awareness check to notice. That check is modified by all normal Awareness modifiers to notice a hiding creature, such as requiring cover or concealment.

At the start of each round, you choose whether you see from your shadow or from your body. While viewing through your shadow, your observation ability is the same as your normal body, except that it does not share the benefits of any magical ★ effects that improve your vision. You otherwise act normally, though you may have difficulty moving or taking actions if the shadow cannot see your body or your intended targets, effectively making you blinded (50% miss chance, -2 defenses).

Universal

Spells and rituals that can be accessed by any spellcaster.

Special Rules: The universal mystic sphere does not work in the same way as other mystic spheres. Every spellcaster has access to this mystic sphere without needing to spend insight points. You cannot lose or sacrifice your access to this mystic sphere in any way. It contains a variety of simple magical effects that all spellcasters can manage to replicate, though the details can change based on their individual fields of specialization.

Whenever you learn a spell or ritual from the universal mystic sphere, you must choose a different mystic sphere that you have access to. Treat that spell or ritual as if it belonged to your chosen mystic sphere instead of this one. This allows you to gain the benefits of any sphere-specific effects when you use the spell or ritual, such as a wizard's specialization ability (see Sphere Specialization, page 123). In addition, the chosen mystic sphere determines which targets are valid and may add an ability tag, as listed in Table 11.1: Universal Mystic Spheres, page 374. If the spell is mystic bolt, your chosen mystic sphere also determines the spell's defense. You can learn the same spell from this mystic sphere any number of times, choosing different base mystic spheres for that spell each time.

The names of the abilities from this mystic sphere have fairly generic names to reflect their universal nature. As with all other spells, you should feel free to rename them for your own character to make them more interesting and relevant for you. For example, a pyromancer might rename their mystic bolt spell to something more fire-themed, like firebolt or flamelance.

Rank 1 Rituals

Accelerated Reading ★
 Tags: Sustain (attunable, minor)

One minute
 Rank 1

You can read at twice your normal speed. However, the mental effort imposes a -2 penalty to your Mental defense.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Chronomancy, Revelation

Alarm ★
 Tags: Attune, Scrying

One minute
 Rank 1

A scrying sensor appears floating in the air in the target location. The sensor passively observes its surroundings. As with other Scrying effects, its visual acuity is the same as yours. You can choose the minimum size category that the alarm will notify you for when you cast this spell. If it sees a creature or object of that size or larger moving within 50 feet of it, it will trigger a mental "ping" that only you can notice. You must be within 1 mile of the sensor to receive this mental alarm. The alarm is strong enough to wake you from normal sleep, but does not otherwise disturb concentration.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Photomancy, Revelation

Alter Object ★

One minute
 Rank 1

Choose one unattended, nonmagical object you touch. You make a Craft check to alter it (see Craft, page 130), except that you do not need any special tools to make the check (such as an anvil and furnace). The maximum hardness of a material you can affect with this ability is equal to your power.

Each time you perform this ritual, you can accomplish work that would take up to one minute with a normal Craft check.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Cryomancy, Polymorph, Terramancy

Mystic sphere effects:

- Cryomancy: The target must be ice or water. If you choose water, it becomes ice during the ritual.
- Terramancy: The target must be a body of earth or unworked stone.
- Verdamancy: The target must be a living plant rather than an object. As long as the plant's new shape is structurally sound and conducive to life, this reshaping does not harm the plant. It will continue growing as if it had always had its new shape.

Rank 3: The amount of work you accomplish with the spell increases to two minutes.

Rank 5: The amount of work you accomplish with the spell increases to three minutes.

Rank 7: The amount of work you accomplish with the spell increases to five minutes.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Terramancy, Toxicology, Verdamancy

Limited Air Supply ★	One minute Rank 1
Tags: Attune (target)
Choose up to six ritual participants. Each target gains a temporary supply of air that it can use to breathe. It can activate the air supply as a free action . When it does, it gains the ability to breathe clear, clean air regardless of its surroundings for one minute. This can allow it to breathe underwater and avoid inhalation-based poisons.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Heat Air ★	One minute Rank 1
Tags: Attune
The temperatutre of the air within a Large (60 ft.) radius emanation from you is increased by an amount of your choice, to a maximum increase of 20 degrees Fahrenheit. You cannot increase the temperature above 100 degrees in this way. This typically imposes no direct penalties on other creatures, but it may make them more or less comfortable depending on their preferred temperature.
This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.
Mystic spheres: Pyromancy
Rank 3: The maximum temperature change increases to 25 degrees.
Rank 5: The area increases to a Huge (90 ft.) radius.

Rank 3: The maximum size increases to Medium.
Rank 5: The maximum size increases to Large.
Rank 7: The maximum size increases to Huge.

Heat Tolerance ★	One minute Rank 1
Tags: Attune
Choose yourself or an ally or unattended object within Medium (60 ft.) range. The target suffers no harm from being in a hot environment. It can exist comfortably in conditions as high as 140 degrees Fahrenheit. Its equipment, if any, is also protected. This does not protect the target from Fire attacks.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Cryomancy, Polymorph, Pyromancy

Manifest Equipment ★	One hour
Tags: Manifestation, Attune (target)	Rank 1

Choose one ritual participant. You can create any one weapon, shield, or body armor that you are proficient with. It is sized appropriately for the target, up to a maximum of a Medium size item. You can choose whether the item appears in the target's hand, on their body fully donned, or on the ground at their feet. It disappears when this ritual's effect ends.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Cryomancy, Fabrication, Terramancy

Mystic sphere effects:

- Cryomancy: The ritual requires a body of water at least as large as the created item.
- Terramancy: The ritual requires a body of earth or stone at least as large as the created item.

You can perform this ritual at a higher rank to craft with special materials. If you create body armor or a weapon, it can be created from any special material other than cold iron, dragonscale, and dragonfang (see Armor Special Materials, page 167, and Weapon Special Materials, page 164). The item's rank cannot exceed this ritual's rank.

Poisoncraft ★	One hour
Tags: Poison	Rank 1

You can create a rank 1 poison. This functions like crafting a poison normally with the Craft (poison) skill, except that you do not need the appropriate materials to craft the poison (see Crafting Items, page 131). Instead, you must supply ritual components equal to a rank 1 item (4 gp).

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Fabrication, Toxicology

You can perform this ritual at a higher rank. This increases the cost of the ritual components to be equal to a consumable item of the ritual's rank (see Wealth and Item Ranks, page 153). The maximum rank of a poison you can craft with this ritual is equal to this ritual's rank.

Preservation ★	One minute
Tags: Attune	Rank 1

Choose one Large or smaller unattended, nonmagical object within Short (30 ft.) range. It does not decay or spoil with the passage of time. This can extend the time a poison or similar item lasts before becoming inert. The target can still be attacked and damaged normally.

If used on a corpse, this effectively extends the time limit for effects that require a fresh or intact body. Additionally, this can make transporting a fallen comrade more pleasant.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Chronomancy, Cryomancy, Toxicology, Vivimancy

Rainstorm ★	One minute
Tags: Manifestation, Sustain (attunable, minor)	Rank 1

Mystic spheres: Aquamancy

Manipulate Air ★	One minute
Tags: Sustain (attunable, minor)	Rank 1

A successful Awareness check that beats your Disguise check only reveals that your body's appearance has been magically altered.

Soothing Presence ★	One minute Rank 1
Tags: Sustain (attunable, minor)
All creatures within a Large (60 ft.) radius emanation from you are soothed. They feel pain and discomfort less intensely, and perceive themselves to be less tired. This does not actually remove injuries or restore fatigue.

Animal Messenger ★	One minute
Tags: Attune	Rank 2

Make an attack vs. Mental against one Small or Tiny animal within Medium (60 ft.) range. You take a -10 penalty to accuracy with this attack against creatures who have made an attack or been attacked since the start of the last round.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Hit: The target is compelled to deliver a message for you. You can give the animal a small piece of parchment or similarly sized item containing up to 25 words. In addition, choose a destination that you can clearly visualize. You must have a general idea of the direction and distance to that location from your current location. You must also visualize what a valid recipient for the message looks like. You can leave this description vague, such as "any humanoid creature", or be more specific, like "a hawk-nosed human wearing a red cloak".

The animal will attempt to travel to that destination to the best of its ability, following the directions you have given it. It will not willingly part with its message until it reaches its destination. Once it reaches its destination, it will wait until it observes a valid recipient, leaving the destination only briefly as necessary to sustain itself. When the animal has delivered its message, this ability is dismissed, allowing you to know that the message has been delivered.

Mystic spheres: Enchantment

Augury ★	One hour
	Rank 2

You receive a limited glimpse into your immediate future. When you perform this ritual, you specify a course of action that you could hypothetically take during the next hour. You can be as broad or as detailed as you want in your description of your plan, though more specific and plausible plans generally yield more accurate results. The GM specifies one of four possible outcomes for the augury based on what is most likely to occur if you follow your plan. This is not a guarantee of success or failure, especially for plans that have some intrinsic randomness or chance of failure (such as planning to defeat a monster in combat).

- Weal: The plan is likely to yield good outcomes for you.
- Woe: The plan is likely to yield bad outcomes for you.
- Weal and Woe: The plan is likely to yield a mixture of good and bad outcomes for you.
- None: Either plan is unlikely to have any significant outcomes, or the outcomes of the plan are too vague to accurately predict.

This ritual only yields accurate results once for any given situation. If you perform the ritual again in a situation that has not meaningfully changed, the augury always has no outcome regardless of the plan you specify. For example, if you are presented with seven doorways, with one doorway leading to a magnificent treasure and all other doorways leading to certain death, you cannot simply perform this ritual six times to determine the correct doorway.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Revelation

Animated Attendant ★	One minute
Tags: Attune	Rank 2

You create a Small creature that follows your instructions. Its speed is 20 feet, and it can carry one object that is neither larger nor heavier than Tiny. It cannot take any actions other than picking up objects, putting them down, and moving. Its combat statistics are the same as summon monster, except that it is destroyed if it takes any damage rather than if it gains a vital wound.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Fabrication, Polymorph, Telekinesis

Mystic sphere effects:

- Fabrication: The ritual gains the Manifestation tag.
- Polymorph: The ritual requires a Small object or collection of objects, which are animated by the ritual, bending as necessary to support the creature's motion. When the effect ends, the objects are unharmed unless the creature was damaged during the effect.
- Telekinesis: The creature is invisible and shapeless. It gains an average fly speed with a height limit of 5 feet.

Beacon of Darkness ★	One minute
Tags: Sustain (attunable, minor)	Rank 2

You constantly emit dim illumination in a Medium (30 ft.) radius. This illuminates dark areas, but does not suppress brighter light. Unlike normal light, this light is completely invisible outside of the radius that it illuminates.

Once per round, you can adjust the illumination you provide as a free action with the Swift tag. You can choose one of the following effects:

- Suppress the light
- Resume the light
- Change the area to a Small (15 ft.) radius
- Change the area to a Medium (30 ft.) radius

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Umbramancy

Rank 4: You can also change the area to a Large (60 ft.) radius.

Rank 6: You can also change the area to a Huge (90 ft.) radius.

Bestow Darkvision ★	One minute
Tags: Visual, Attune (target)	Rank 2
Choose up to six ritual participants. Each target gains darkvision with a range of 60 feet. If it already has darkvision, the range of its darkvision increases by 60 feet instead. This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.
Mystic spheres: Polymorph, Umbramancy

Commune with Elements ★	One minute
Tags: Sustain (attunable, minor)	Rank 2
You can speak with air, earth, fire, or water within a Huge (90 ft.) zone from your location. You can ask it simple questions and understand its responses. In general, elements are only able to give information about what they touch. This includes the general shapes, sizes, and locations of creatures and objects they interacted with, but not any details about color or subjective appearance.

The element you can speak with, and the scope of its memory and awareness, depends on the mystic sphere you use to perform this ritual.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Aeromancy, Aquamancy, Pyromancy, Terramancy

Mystic sphere effects:

- Aeromancy: You speak with air. Air can remember events up to an hour ago on a very calm day or only a few minutes ago on a windy day. Moving air is aware of events near where it blew through, not necessarily in your current location.
- Aquamancy: You speak with water. Water can remember events up to a day ago in a very calm pool or only a few minutes ago in a turbulent river. Moving water is aware of events near where it moved through, not necessarily in your current location.
- Pyromancy: You speak with fire. Fire can remember everything it touched and consumed since it started burning. Individual pieces of a very large fire, such as a particular burning tree in a forest fire, are not aware of the current status of the entirety of the fire. However, the fire on that tree could tell you how it got to the tree and everything it burned along the way, including the source of the forest fire.
- Terramancy: You speak with earth. Earth can remember events up to a year ago, but its awareness is extremely limited. It can only remember very large events, such as giant creatures tearing up the terrain, earthquakes, or major construction. Earth can tell you whether there exist underground tunnels within the area, but any sort of detailed mapping is beyond its ability to communicate.

Bind Object ★	One hour
Tags: Attune (target)	Rank 2
Choose a Small or smaller unattended object that must be placed at the center of the ritual. You bind that object to its current location or to a ritual participant. If you choose a location, you must attune to the spell. Otherwise, the target creature must attune to the spell. The object cannot be moved from the location or separated from the creature by more than 5 feet without breaking the bond. Breaking the bond requires a standard action and a difficulty value 15 Strength check. This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.
Mystic spheres: Electromancy, Polymorph, Telekinesis, Terramancy

Mystic sphere effects:

- Electromancy: The object must be metallic.
- Terramancy: You can only choose a location, not a ritual participant.

You can perform this ritual at a higher rank. The difficulty value of the Strength check increases by 2 per rank above 2.

Cleansing Meditation ★	One minute
Tags: Compulsion	Rank 2
Choose up to six ritual participants. You can designate unconscious creatures as ritual participants for this ritual. Once the ritual finishes, each target enters a deep meditative state for ten minutes. At the end of that time, it removes all Emotion and Compulsion effects affecting it, including curses. It also gains the normal benefits of a short rest. This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.
Mystic spheres: Enchantment, Prayer, Thaumaturgy

Conceal Trail ★	One minute
Tags: Attune	Rank 2
Choose up to five creatures within Medium (60 ft.) range from among you and your allies. At the end of each round, the footprints, scent, and other tracks left by each target during that round are magically concealed. This increases the difficulty value to follow the trail by 10, but does not prevent creatures from seeing or smelling each target normally in combat. At the end of each round, if any target is outside of Long (90 ft.) range from you, the effect is broken for that target and its trail is revealed.
This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.
Mystic spheres: Chronomancy, Photomancy, Verdamancy
You can perform this ritual at a higher rank. The difficulty value increases by 2 per rank above 2.

Discern Location ★	24 hours
	Rank 2
When you perform this ritual, choose a creature or object. You must have seen the chosen creature or object in person and either be able to clearly visualize its appearance or know its proper name to find it with this ritual. A creature or object without a proper name cannot be identified by name in this way. If you specify the chosen creature or object's appearance incorrectly, or if it has significantly changed its appearance, you may accidentally affect a different creature, or the ritual may simply fail.
If the chosen creature or object is within 500 miles of you, you learn the location (place, name, business name, or the like), community, country, and continent where the target was at when you started performing this ritual. If there is no corresponding information about an aspect of the target's location, such as if the target is in a location which is not part of a recognized country, you learn only that that aspect of the information is missing.
This ritual requires 8 fatigue levels from its participants.
Mystic spheres: Revelation
Rank 4: There is no distance limitation. The target must simply be on the same planet as you.

Manipulate Water ★	One minute
Tags: Sustain (attunable, minor)	Rank 2

You change the speed of water within a Large (60 ft.) radius emanation from you by up to 5 miles per hour. If you decrease the water's speed to 0, you can increase it again with the remainder of your speed change and choose any direction for it to travel. You choose the speed change and direction when you cast this spell, and that choice persists for the duration of this effect.

In addition to allowing you to change the direction of currents within large bodies of water, you can also use this to propel water across surfaces. Generally, moving water uphill costs at least 5 miles per hour of speed for every foot of elevation that you are trying to climb, which can limit your ability to move water up large distances.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Aquamancy

Meld Shut ★	One hour
Tags: Attune	Rank 2

Choose one Large or smaller closable, nonmagical object within Short (30 ft.) range, such as a door or box. The target changes its form so it cannot be opened. A box becomes fully sealed instead of hinged, a door expands slightly to merge with its frame, and so on. To a casual observer, it may not be obvious that there was ever an opening, though a difficulty value 15 Awareness check would reveal the alteration. Opening the object without breaking it requires a difficulty value 20 Devices check.

When you perform this ritual, you may choose a Fine object within Short (30 ft.) range to function as a key. When the chosen key touches the sealed object, this ritual is suppressed for one minute, allowing the object to be opened normally.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Polymorph

You can perform this ritual at a higher rank. The difficulty value increases by 2 per rank above 2.

Nightmare ★	One minute
Tags: None	Rank 2

This ritual has no verbal components.

Choose one sleeping creature within Medium (60 ft.) range. The target has a nightmare within the next hour of its sleep. You can choose the general structure or theme of the nightmare, but not its exact details. For example, you could specify that the nightmare is related to drowning or spiders. This nightmare prevents the target from getting a restful night's sleep. Some people will change their behavior based on their nightmare, especially superstitious people.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Enchantment, Revelation

Observe the Future ★	One hour
Tags: None	Rank 2

You receive a limited insight into your immediate future. When you perform this ritual, you specify a course of action that you could hypothetically take during the next hour. At the end of the ritual, a version of yourself from an hour into the future appears. That person is a version of yourself who took your described course of action. You can visibly observe any changes in their appearance, and they can briefly gesture to indicate whether they recommend following that action, but no words can be exchanged.

If no version of yourself appears, it is likely that you would not survive taking your proposed course of action. The future is variable and chaotic, so making the same decisions does not guarantee the same results as your future self, but it should be likely to have a similar outcome.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants and the consumption of diamond dust with the equivalent value of a rank 2 item (200 gp).

Purify Water ★	One minute
Tags: Sustain (attunable, minor)	Rank 2
You can separate out dirt, sand, salt, poison, and similar minor pollutants from up to one thousand gallons of water within Short (30 ft.) range. That roughly corresponds to a single 5-ft ³ cube of water. The waste material moves to the edge of the water so it falls out or can be easily removed. It remains separated until this ritual's effect ends. This does not remove magical effects or contaminants heavier than half a pound. Using this to gradually purify a very large body of water is difficult, since the waste material can easily mix with the water unaffected by a single use of this ritual.
This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Seal Shut ★	One minute

Sending ★	One hour
Tags: Sustain (standard)	Rank 2

Choose a creature within 500 miles of you. You do not need line of sight or line of effect to the target. However, you must specify your target with a precise mental image of its appearance. The image does not have to be perfect, but it must unambiguously identify the target. If you specify its appearance incorrectly, or if the target has changed its appearance, you may accidentally target a different creature, or the ritual may simply fail.

You send the target a short verbal message. The message must be twenty-five words or less, and speaking the message must not take longer than five rounds.

After the target receives the message, it may reply with a message of the same length as long as the ritual's effect continues. Once it speaks twenty-five words, or you stop sustaining the effect, the effect ends.

Track Item ★	One hour
Tags: Attune	Rank 2

When you perform this ritual, choose a Tiny or larger object you touch. You constantly know the exact distance and direction to the object, even if it is attended, as long as it is within 500 miles of you. This connection ignores line of sight and line of effect.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Revelation

Tidy ★	One minute
Tags: Sustain (attunable, minor)	Rank 2

You create a tidy area in a shapeable Medium (30 ft.) radius zone from your location. At the end of each round, all dirt, grime, and other blemishes on unattended objects within the area are cleansed.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Aeromancy, Aquamancy, Polymorph, Telekinesis

Mystic sphere effects:

- Polymorph: All unattended objects in the area also regain one hit point at the end of each round. This can remove nicks, scratches, and similar damage. It does not restore broken or destroyed objects.

Rank 3 Rituals

Air Supply ★	One minute
Tags: Attune (target)	Rank 3

Choose up to six ritual participants. Each target gains the ability to breathe clear, clean air regardless of its surroundings. This can allow it to breathe underwater and avoid inhalation-based poisons.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Aeromancy, Aquamancy, Polymorph

Mystic sphere effects:

- Aquamancy: The target can only gain air in this way while it is underwater.

Animate Dead ★	One hour
	Rank 3

Choose a Medium humanoid corpse within Short (30 ft.) range. Its character rank must be lower than your rank with this ritual, and it cannot be elite. The target permanently becomes an undead creature.

The target becomes your choice of any skeleton or zombie of its rank or lower. Creating a zombie require a mostly intact corpse, including most of the flesh. Creating a skeleton only requires a mostly intact skeleton. If a skeleton is made from an intact corpse, the flesh falls off the animated bones over the next few minutes as it moves around.

This ritual does not give you any specific control over the newly awakened undead. They may attack you once they become fully active, which typically happens one minute after the ritual is complete. If you also know how to perform the command undead ritual, you can combine that ritual with this one. Doing so doubles the time required to complete the ritual, but it applies the effects of command undead to the creature you create.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants and the consumption of diamond dust with the equivalent value of a rank 3 item (1,000 gp).

Mystic spheres: Vivimancy

Arboreal Communion ★One hour
Rank 3

You ask the trees within a Gargantuan (120 ft.) radius from you for information. Trees are not highly aware of their surroundings, and generally ignore complex questions. However, they have long memories of any injuries they suffered or obvious danger that they faced, such as nearby fires. They can only track time to the day until about a month into the past, at which point they simply refer to events by their season. You could use this spell to determine if any campfires were in the area recently, if any rot or infestation is present in the area, or other similar issues that are of concern to trees.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Revelation, Verdamancy

Astral Chest ★One hour
Rank 3

When you cast this spell, you choose whether to send an object to the Astral Expanse or retrieve the object you stored there. If you send an object to the Astral Expanse, choose a Medium or smaller unattended object within Medium (60 ft.) range of you. That object teleports to a random location in the Astral Expanse.

If you retrieve an object, choose an unoccupied space on stable ground within Medium (60 ft.) range of you. The object you previously stored in the Astral Expanse with this ritual appears at that location. The object normally returns exactly as it was sent away, since the Astral Expanse is vast and small objects rarely attract attention from its inhabitants. There is a 1% chance per year that the object spends in the Astral Expanse that it has been lost irretrievably.

Blighted Field ★24 hours
Rank 3

This ritual creates an area of death and decay in a shapeable one mile radius zone from your location. Normal plants within the area become half as productive as normal for the next year. This ritual does not stack with itself. If the fertility ritual is also applied to the same area, the most recently performed ritual takes precedence.

This ritual requires 18 fatigue levels from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Terramancy, Toxicology, Verdamancy

Command Undead ★Tags: Attune (deep)One hour
Rank 3

Choose one simple-minded undead creature within Medium (60 ft.) range. Its character rank must be lower than your rank with this ritual, and it cannot be elite. The target becomes dominated (must obey commands) by you. You can attune to this ritual multiple times, commanding an additional undead each time.

As a minor action, you can mentally command any number of undead you control using this ritual. The command must be no more than 10 words, and overly complex commands may cause strange and unintended behavior. Each target of the command must be within Distant (120 ft.) range of you. Undead commanded in this way will obey their most recent command indefinitely, even if it causes them great danger.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Vivimancy

Commune with the Dead ★24 hours
Rank 3

You ask the soul of a dead creature a single yes or no question. To contact a creature in this way, you must know its name and have something that belonged to it in life. The object must have some importance to the creature, not just a gold piece that it owned for a time. This could be one of its possessions or a body part from its corpse.

You receive a correct answer to that question to the limit of that creature's knowledge. The answer is typically given as "yes" or "no", but it may answer "unclear" if the source does not know the answer. In cases where a one-word answer would be misleading or contrary to the creature's interests, a short phrase may be given as an answer instead.

This ritual requires 18 fatigue levels from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Astromancy, Prayer, Revelation, Vivimancy

Comprehend Languages ★	One minute
Tags: Attune (target)	Rank 3

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Enchantment, Revelation

Dispel Curse ★	24 hours
	Rank 3
Choose yourself or one ally within Short (30 ft.) range. Each curse affecting the target is removed if its rank is no greater than your rank with this ritual. This ritual cannot remove a curse that is part of the effect of an item the target has equipped. However, it can allow the target to remove any cursed items it has equipped.
This ritual requires 18 fatigue levels from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Prayer, Thaumaturgy

Corpse Communion ★	One hour
	Rank 3
You ask a corpse a single yes or no question. In its afterlife, the soul that inhabited the corpse becomes aware of your question and can answer yes or no as it chooses. It receives no magical insight into your identity, but it hears your question in your words. The corpse answers yes or no if the soul wishes to, but no other communication is possible. This requires a corpse with an intact mouth or other speaking apparatus.
This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Enduring Reinforcement ★	24 hours

You require none of the tools that would normally be necessary, such as an anvil and furnace. The total size of all targets combined must be Medium size or smaller.
This ritual takes time equal to one tenth of the time that would normally be required to craft the object, to a minimum of one hour.
This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Polymorph, Telekinesis

Rank 5: the maximum combined size of all targets increases to Large.
Rank 7: the maximum combined size of all targets increases to Huge.

Enduring Time Lock – Location ★	One minute
	Rank 3
Choose yourself or an ally within Medium (60 ft.) range. You create a time lock for the target's current location. You can unseal the time lock as a standard action.
Unsealing the time lock causes the creature to disappear from its current location and reappear in the locked location. This looks and behaves similarly to teleportation, but it is not a teleportation effect and does not require line of sight or line of effect. If the locked location is occupied, the creature reappears in the closest open space. When the time lock is unsealed, this effect ends.

This effect lasts for 24 hours, or until you unseal the time lock.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Astromancy, Chronomancy

Explosive Runes ★	One hour
Tags: Attune, Trap	Rank 3
Choose one Medium or smaller unattended object with writing on it within Short (30 ft.) range. The writing on the object is altered by the runes in subtle ways, making it more difficult to read. It becomes a trap. To read the writing, a creature must concentrate on reading it, which requires a standard action. If a creature reads the object, the object explodes. After the object explodes in this way, the ritual is dismissed. If the object is destroyed or rendered illegible, the ritual is dismissed without exploding.
When the object explodes, make an attack vs. Reflex against everything within a Medium (30 ft.) radius from the object.
Hit: 1d8 damage + power. Miss: Half damage.
This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Find the Path ★	24 hours
Tags: Attune	Rank 3
When you perform this ritual, you must unambiguously specify a location on the same planet as you, and you choose up to six ritual participants to guide. You know exactly what direction you must travel to reach your chosen destination by the most direct physical route. You are not always led in the exact direction of the destination – if there is an impassable obstacle between the target and the destination, this ability will direct you around the obstacle, rather than through it.
The guidance provided by this ability adjusts to match your current physical capabilities, including flight and other unusual movement modes. It does not consider teleportation spells or any other active abilities which could allow the creatures to bypass physical obstacles. It does not see into the future, and changing circumstances may cause the most direct path to change over time. It also does not consider movement impediments or dangers, including hostile creatures or treacherous terrain, which may endanger or slow progress without rendering it impossible.
This ritual requires 18 fatigue levels from its participants.

Fertile Field ★	24 hours
	Rank 3
This ritual creates an area of bountiful growth in a shapeable one mile radius zone from your location. Normal plants within the area become twice as productive as normal for the next year. Mystic spheres: Aeromancy, Prayer, Revelation, Terramancy, Verdamancy

Forge Astral Beacon ★	24 hours
	Rank 3

You draw a magic circle in a Small (15 ft.) radius during this ritual. The circle creates an astral beacon, making it easier for creatures to teleport into the circle. When you create the beacon, you must give it a unique name that matches its construction and the patterns you chose for the circle. A creature who knows the name of an beacon can use rituals like guided teleportation to teleport to it.

The beacon persists for one year. You can use this ritual to renew the duration of an existing beacon instead of creating a new beacon.

This ritual requires 18 fatigue levels from its participants and the consumption of diamond dust with the equivalent value of a rank 3 item (1,000 gp).

Mystic spheres: Aquamancy, Astromancy, Channel Divinity, Fabrication, Prayer, Terramancy, Thaumaturgy, Verdamancy

Mystic sphere effects:

- Aquamancy: The astral beacon must be within a Huge or larger body of water. If the water is moved or destroyed, the astral beacon is destroyed.
- Pyromancy: The astral beacon must be anchored to a Medium or larger active fire. While the fire is extinguished, the astral beacon is inactive, but it becomes active again if the fire is rekindled.
- Terramancy: The astral beacon must be anchored to a Large or larger boulder, statue, or other structure made of stone that touches the ground within the area. If the stone is moved or broken, the astral beacon is destroyed.
- Verdamancy: The astral beacon must be anchored to a Large or larger living tree with its trunk within the area. If the tree dies, the astral beacon is destroyed.

Guided Translocation ★	One hour
	Rank 3

Choose an astral beacon up to 500 miles away from you, and up to six Medium or smaller ritual participants. Each target is teleported to the area defined by the beacon. This does not require line of sight or line of effect to the destination.

If the astral beacon does not have enough open space to contain your group, the ritual has no immediate effect. You can continue the ritual for any length of time. At the end of each round during this continuation, if the astral beacon has room for your group, the teleportation succeeds and the ritual ends.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Aeromancy, Astromancy, Channel Divinity, Electromancy, Verdamancy

Mystic sphere effects:

- Aeromancy: Both your destination and current location must be outdoors.

- Verdamancy: As part of the ritual, each target must touch a living plant at least one size category larger than themselves. The destination must have a plant at least one size category larger than the largest target. Each target emerges that plant after teleporting.

Locate Creature ★	One hour
	Rank 3

When you perform this ritual, choose a creature. You must have seen the chosen creature in person and either be able to clearly visualize its appearance or know its proper name to find it with this ritual. A creature without a proper name cannot be identified by name in this way. If you specify the chosen creature's appearance incorrectly, or if it has significantly changed its appearance, you may accidentally affect a different creature, or the ritual may simply fail.

If the creature is within 500 miles of your location, you unerringly learn the relative direction from your location to the location it was in when you started performing this ritual.

Memory Echo ★	One hour Rank 3

The vision lasts for one minute, and shows events as they appeared from wherever you currently stand. This allows you to walk around to view the vision from different angles. The vision is blurry and indistinct, so the maximum check result you can get on Awareness or similar checks to understand details of the vision is limited to 5. Scry Creature ★	One hour
Tags: Scrying	Rank 3
Make an attack vs. Mental against one creature within 500 miles of you. You do not need line of sight or line of effect to the target. However, you must specify your target with a precise mental image of its appearance. The image does not have to be perfect, but it must unambiguously identify the target. If you specify its appearance incorrectly, or if the target has changed its appearance, you may accidentally target a different creature, or the spell may simply fail without effect. This attack roll cannot be dismissed.
This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.
Hit: A scrying sensor appears in the target's space. This sensor functions like the sensor created by the mystic eye spell, except that you cannot move the sensor manually. A fragment of the soul of the creature that the target corpse belongs to is magically imprisoned in the chosen gem. This does not remove the creature from its intended afterlife. However, it prevents the creature from being resurrected, and prevents the corpse from being used to create undead creatures, as long as the gem is intact. A creature holding the gem may still resurrect or reanimate the creature. If the gem is shattered, the creature's soul becomes whole.

Sunlight Ward ★	One hour
Tags: Attune (target)	Rank 3

Each target can communicate mentally through telepathy with each other target. This communication is instantaneous, though it cannot reach more than 500 miles or across planes.
Each target must attune to this ritual independently. If a target breaks its attunement, it stops being able to send and receive mental messages with other targets. The temperature in a two mile radius cylinder-shaped zone from your location decreases rapidly. Over the next minute after you finish this ritual, the temperature decreases by 40 degrees Fahrenheit, to a minimum of -30 degrees. Unlike normal, this effect does not require line of effect to you. Instead, it affects all outdoor locations within the area. Even a thin barrier, such as a tent, is enough to protect locations from the effect of this ritual.
This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Cryomancy

Control Weather ★	One minute
Tags: Attune (deep)	Rank 4

Choose a new weather pattern. You can only choose weather which would be reasonably probable in the climate and season of the area you are in. For example, you can normally create a thunderstorm, but not if you are in a desert. The change in the weather's intensity also cannot exceed what would be possible in an hour without magic in the current location and season. For example, you can change a clear sky into a light thunderstorm, but you cannot create a hurricane or tornado from untroubled air.

When you complete the ritual, the weather begins to take effect in a cylinder-shaped zone from your location with a two mile radius. After ten minutes, your chosen weather pattern fully takes effect.

At any time during this effect, any creature attuned to it can choose a new weather pattern as a standard action. When they do, the weather transitions from the original pattern to the new pattern over a ten minute period.

This effect can control the general tendencies of the weather, such as the direction and intensity of the wind. It cannot control specific applications of the weather, such as the location of lightning strikes. Contradictory weather conditions are not possible simultaneously, such as rain and lightning without clouds.

After the effect ends, the weather continues on its natural course, which typically causes your chosen weather pattern to end. If another ability would magically manipulate the weather in the same area, the most recently used ability takes precedence.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Aeromancy, Aquamancy

Distant Translocation ★	24 hours
	Rank 4

Choose a destination up to 500 miles away from you, and up to six Medium or smaller ritual participants. Each target is teleported to the chosen destination. This does not require line of sight or line of effect to the destination.

You can specify the destination by naming an astral beacon. If you do, this ritual's fatigue cost is reduced to one fatigue per target. Alternately, you can specify the destination with a precise mental image of its appearance. The image does not have to be perfect, but it must unambiguously identify the destination. If you specify its appearance incorrectly, or if the area has changed its appearance, the destination may be a different area than you intended. The new destination will be one that more closely resembles your mental image. If no such area exists, the ritual simply fails.

This ritual requires 32 fatigue levels from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Aeromancy, Astromancy, Channel Divinity, Electromancy, Verdamancy

Prophetic Dream ★

One hour

Rank 4

The next time you fall asleep, you have a dream that foreshadows some important event or decision in your future. The dream may be vague or even self-contradictory, since the future is never certain, but its contents always provide some hint about what may lie ahead of you. Generally, a prophetic dream concerns events no more than a month before they occur, though staggeringly important events can be prophesied years in advance.

Once you have performed this ritual, performing it again always yields the same dream until the prophesied event has happened or is no longer a relevant or likely future. This can happen as if your actions prevent the event from coming to pass.

This ritual requires one fatigue level from its participants.

Mystic spheres: Revelation, Umbramancy

Prophetic Dream ★

One hour

Rank 4

When you next fall asleep, you have a vivid dream. The dream is relevant to your future within the next week. It may show you a nightmare of what will happen if you make a poor choice, a warning of unavoidable danger, or a grand vision of tantalizing success if you make the right choices. If any powerful entities such as deities have a particular interest in you, they may also influence the dream to communicate with you. Your dream generally does not literally come true, especially if you change your actions based on the dream, but its general guidance is true.

After you perform this ritual, it has no effect until the circumstances foretold by your dream come to pass.

Rank 4

Choose one Diminutive or larger piece of a humanoid corpse. It must have been part of the original creature's body at the time of death. The creature the corpse belongs to is resurrected in a new healthy body (see Resurrection, page 149).

A reincarnated creature is identical to the original creature in all respects, except for its species. The creature's species is replaced with a random species from Table 11.2: Humanoid Reincarnations, page 400. Its appearance changes as necessary to match its new species, though it retains the general shape and distinguishing features of its original appearance. The creature loses all attribute modifiers and abilities from its old species, and gains those of its new species. However, its languages are unchanged.

This ritual can only be learned through the nature magic source.

Tags: Attune, Emotion	Rank 4

Choose a creature type: aberration, animal, animate, dragon, humanoid, magical beast, monstrous humanoid, soulforged, or undead. In addition, choose one Large or smaller object within Medium (60 ft.) range. If the target is moved, this ability is dismissed.

Whenever a creature of the chosen type enters a Large (60 ft.) radius emanation from the target, make a reactive attack vs. Mental against it. After you make this attack against a particular creature, you do not make this attack against it again until it finishes a short rest.

This ritual requires 32 fatigue levels from its participants.

Hit: The creature is fascinated by the chosen object until it finishes a short rest. It can take no actions other than staring at the object. It is unaware (-5 defenses) of any attacks against it, and anything else going on its environment. Any act by you or by creatures that appear to be your allies that threatens or harms the creature breaks the effect. Harming the creature is not limited to dealing it damage, but also includes causing it significant subjective discomfort.

Critical hit: The creature is also compelled to get as close as possible to the chosen object to admire it in greater detail.

Forge Planar Rift ★	One week Rank 7
Tags: Sustain (standard)
Choose any location on your current plane. You create a planar rift between your current location and your chosen location, allowing travel between the two locations in either direction. The planar rift takes the form of a 15-foot radius circular disk, oriented in a direction you choose (typically vertical). It is a physical connection between the two locations, and anything that passes through arrives at the other location. When it opens, it pushes aside anything in the way. If it encounters an immovable obstacle with 10 or more hardness, the planar rift stops its expansion in that direction.
This ritual cannot be sustained for more than 10 minutes, and is automatically dismissed at the end of that time. When this ritual ends for any reason, the planar rift spends a round slowly closing, allowing anything currently in transit to choose which side of the rift it wants to end up on. Anything still in the middle when it closes is severed cleanly in half.
You must specify the planar rift's destination with a precise mental image of its appearance. The image does not have to be perfect, but it must unambiguously identify the location. Incomplete or incorrect mental images may result in the ritual leading to an unintended destination or simply failing entirely.
This ritual requires 98 fatigue levels from its participants.

Chapter 12

Feats

A feat grants a character specialized abilities in a specific area. Feats are optional rules, and not every campaign benefits from including them. They allow more distinct and unique character customization, but also increase gameplay complexity.

Gaining Feats

There are two main ways the GM can use feats in their game. Regardless of how you gain feats, you can never gain the same feat twice.

Species Feat Only: With this option, characters gain a single feat at 1st level based on their species, and no other feats. This makes your choice of species more significant without dramatically increasing character complexity.

Feat Progression: For more complex and powerful characters, a feat progression system can be used. For example, you could gain a feat at 1st level, and additional feats at 3rd and 6th level. Alternatively, you could gain feats after completing major story events. In general, it is inadvisable to gain more than four feats total, or to gain feats after 10th level.

Species Bonus Feats

If you use this rule, each species grants a bonus feat at 1st level. Most species can only choose from a small group of feats. The specific feats for each species are listed below. A character must meet any prerequisites for these bonus feats, as normal.

Human: Any feat.

Dwarf: Any from the following list: Battle Armory, Blindfighter, Craft Specialization and Endurance Specialization, Iron Will, Martial Training, or Toughness.

Elf: Any Casting feat (see Casting Feats, page 409), or any from the following list: Awareness Specialization and Balance Specialization, Sniper, or Rapid Reaction.

Halfling: Any from the following list: Balance Specialization, Stealth Specialization, Climb Specialization, Iron Will, or Rapid Reaction.

Kobold: Any Casting feat (see Casting Feats, page 409), or any from the following list: Draconic Ancestry, Fortune's Friend, Rapid Reaction, or Spellwarped.

Mixed: Any feat.

Orc: Any Combat feat (see Combat Feats, page 410), or any from the following list: Endurance Specialization and Intimidate Specialization, or Toughness.

Uncommon Species

The feat lists for each uncommon species are given below. Note that uncommon species are normally ineligible for any Ancestry feats.

Animal Hybrid: Any feat strongly associated with the chosen animal. For example, a hybrid shark might choose from Awareness Specialization, Survival Specialization, Swiftrunner, or Swim Specialization. A hybrid wolf might choose from Awareness Specialization, Rapid Reaction, Stealth Specialization, Survival Specialization, or Swiftrunner.

Awakened Animal: Any feat strongly associated with the chosen animal. For example, an awakened cat might choose from Awareness Specialization, Climb Specialization, Flexibility Specialization, Rapid Reaction, Stealth Specialization, or Swiftrunner.

Changeling: Any feat.

Dragon: Iron Will, Toughness, or any Casting feat (see Casting Feats, page 409).

Drakkenfel: Draconic Ancestry. The type of dragon chosen for the drakkenfel's draconic ancestry must match its draconic essence.

Dryaidi: Mental Magic, Regenerator, Sphere Focus: Toxicology, Sphere Focus: Verdamancy, or Toughness.

Eladrin: Boongiver, Chameleon, Deception Specialization and Persuasion Specialization, Maneuverist, or Spellwarped.

Kit: Balance Specialization and Stealth Specialization, Deception Specialization and Social Insight Specialization, or Swiftrunner.

Naiadi: Boongiver, Leadership, Mental Magic, Persuasion Specialization and Swim Specialization, or Sphere Focus: Aquamancy.

Ozeborn: Blindfighter, Chameleon, Climb Specialization and Flexibility Specialization, Juggernaut, Regenerator, Sphere Focus: Toxicology, or Toughness.

Tiefling: Deception Specialization and Intimidate Specialization, Executioner, Spellwarped, or Sphere Focus: Pyromancy.

Changing Species

In extraordinary cases, a creature may change its species. For example, the reincarnation ritual returns a creature to life as a different species. Regardless of its new species, the creature keeps its original species bonus feat.

Feat Mechanics

Prerequisites

You cannot take a feat unless you meet all of its prerequisites. Prerequisites can include a minimum attribute value, other feats, a minimum skill training level, or other character properties. You can take a feat at the same level you first meet its prerequisites.

A character who no longer meets a feat's prerequisites loses all abilities from that feat.

Skill Feats

Skill feats are weaker and more narrow in their focus than other feats. Whenever you would choose a single feat, you may instead choose two skill feats.

Feat Tags

All feats are organized into different groups by tags.

General: General feats can have a wide variety of effects. They often grant new abilities or improve general survivability.

Combat: Combat feats enhance your martial combat abilities. They often improve your strikes or improve your defenses against strikes.

Casting: Casting feats improve your spellcasting abilities. They are useless to characters who cannot cast spells.

Skill: Skill feats improve your skills. They make you more likely to succeed with skill checks and grant new abilities relevant to your skills.

Ancestry Feats: These feats allow characters with unusual ancestry to gain relevant abilities. You can only have one Ancestry feat.

Magical Feats: All abilities granted by feats with the Magical tag are magical ✨ in nature. Many feats are not entirely magical, but have specific magical effects.

Feat Descriptions

Each feat has a set of benefits it provides to a character with the feat. Some feats also have specific requirements that a character must meet before taking the feat. These are listed under a Prerequisites heading. If a character loses the prerequisites for a feat, they lose all benefits of the feat until they meet the prerequisites again.

Arbalist [Combat]

Prerequisite: Dexterity 2, Perception 1.

1st – Rapid Reload: Crossbows that normally require a minor action for you to reload instead take a non-action, like bows. This allows you to reload them any number of times per round. You must still have a free hand, if one would normally be required.

1st – Steady Bolts: You reduce your longshot penalty with crossbows by 1.

6th – Multiload: Whenever you load a non-repeating crossbow, you can load it with two bolts instead of one. When you shoot a multiloaded crossbow, you take a -1 accuracy penalty, but the strike has an additional secondary target within 15 feet of the primary target. That extra target cannot already be a target of the strike. If the two bolts have different properties, you choose which target is affected by which bolt when you shoot the crossbow.

12th – Rapid Reload+: Once per round, you can reload a crossbow that would normally require a standard action to reload as a free action. When you do, you increase your fatigue level by one. You can combine this with reloading the same crossbow as a standard action if the crossbow would need multiple standard actions to reload.

12th – Steady Bolts+: The penalty reduction increases to 2.

18th – Multiload+: The number of secondary targets increases to two, and the maximum distance between the primary target and each secondary target increases to 30 feet.

Ascetic [General]

Prerequisite: Willpower 1.

1st – Ascetic Archetype: Choose one archetype from your base class that you do not already have any ranks in. You are rank 1 in that archetype, and gain the appropriate abilities. Your rank in that archetype increases by 1 at 6th level, and every 3 levels thereafter.

1st – Deny Wealth: You cannot knowingly own, consume, or use any item or collection of items that is worth more than 1gp. If you do, you lose all benefits of this feat, and you suffer a -2 penalty to all attacks, checks, and defenses. These penalties last until you spend a month following this restriction again. If you break this prohibition under duress, including magical compulsion, these penalties only last for three days.

Any item you craft yourself is exempt from this limitation, as long as the raw materials used to create the item have a value less than 1gp. You are allowed to carry valuable items as long as you gain no direct benefit from them, so you can hold items for your allies or carry gold until you can find an appropriate place to donate.

it. You can also interact with expensive structures that you do not own, such as ornate doors.

1st – Sanctified Garb: Any clothing you wear provides a +3 bonus to your Armor defense and a +2 bonus to your durability. You can still wear body armor on top of your clothing. However, this bonus is considered to come from body armor, so you use the higher Armor defense value and durability bonus from your clothing and your armor.

You can attune any number of times to your sanctified garb. Each attunement increases the durability it provides by 2. For example, if you attune to it twice, it would provide a +6 bonus to your durability.

6th – Open Mind: You gain an additional insight point.

6th – Simple Life: You reduce your maximum attunement points by one. In exchange, you gain a +1 bonus to your non-Armor defenses.

12th – Sanctified Garb+: The Armor defense bonus increases to +4.

12th – Simple Life+: The non-Armor defense bonus increases to +2.

18th – Sanctified Garb+: The durability bonus you gain from each attunement increases to 3.

18th – Simple Life++: The non-Armor defense bonus increases to +3.

Awareness Specialization [Skill]

Prerequisite: Awareness as a trained skill.

1st – Specialization: You gain a +2 bonus to the Awareness skill.

6th – Extraordinary Senses: You gain one of the following senses: blindsight (15 ft.), darkvision (60 ft.), low-light vision, or tremorsense (15 ft.). As normal, if you already have the chosen sense from another source, you sum the ranges from both abilities to determine your total range with that sense.

12th – Specialization+: The bonus from your specialization ability increases to +4.

18th – Extraordinary Senses+: You can choose an additional sense from the list given in your extraordinary senses ability, except that the range is doubled. You cannot choose the same sense that you chose with your extraordinary senses ability. However, you can also change the sense you chose with that ability.

Balance Specialization [Skill]

Prerequisite: Balance as a trained skill.

1st – Specialization: You gain a +2 bonus to the Balance skill.

6th – Precise Step: You are unaffected by difficult terrain from mundane natural sources, such as heavy undergrowth.

12th – Specialization+: The bonus from your specialization ability increases to +4.

18th – Air Dancer: You can attempt to move on surfaces that cannot support your weight, as described below.

- Surfaces that can support at least a quarter of your weight, such as thin tree branches and dense liquids, are difficulty value 15.

- Surfaces that can support at least a tenth of your weight, such as water, are difficulty value 20.
- Surfaces that can support at least a hundredth of your weight, such as tree leaves, are difficulty value 25.
- Surfaces that cannot support your weight at all, such as air, are difficulty value 30.

Success means you move along the surface. Failure means you fall through the surface, and you cannot use this ability again during the current phase. The difficulty value increases by 5 for each consecutive round that you spend moving in this way.

Barbaric Ancestry ✨ [Ancestry, Magical]

Prerequisite: Strength, Dexterity, and Constitution sum to at least 3

Special: You can only have one Ancestry feat.

1st – ✨Ancestral Battlecry:

Ancestral Battlecry ✨

Standard action

Tags: Swift

Cost: You can increase your fatigue level by one to use this ability as a minor action.

Three ghostly spirits of your ancestors appear around you. They cannot be attacked or interacted with. Whenever you make a melee strike, each spirit mimics you. For each spirit that mimics you, the strike can affect an additional secondary target of your choice within 15 foot range of you, even if you are not adjacent to it.

At the end of each subsequent round after you use this ability, one of the spirits disappears. When all of the spirits have disappeared, this effect ends.

6th – Blood of My Ancestors: You gain a +1 bonus to vital rolls and a +2 bonus to your durability.

12th – ✨Ancestral Protectors: While you have at least one ghostly spirit active from your ancestral battlecry ability, you gain a +1 bonus to your Armor defense. In addition, you create four spirits when you use that ability rather than three.

18th – ✨Ancestral Guide: The last ghostly spirit from your ancestral battlecry ability lasts indefinitely. You can choose to dismiss it as a free action.

18th – Blood of My Ancestors+: The vital roll bonus increases to +2, and the durability bonus increases to +4.

Battle Armory [Combat]

Prerequisite: Strength 1, Dexterity 2.

1st – Mobile Armory: You can store up to ten items for easy access on your body, rather than five (see Storing Items, page 154).

1st – Overburdened Quickdraw: Once per round, you can draw or sheathe any non-shield weapon as a free action. This does not count against your normal one free action object manipulation per round (see Manipulating Objects, page 154). If you have the Armed and Ready fighter ability with the same effect, you can use both free actions separately, allowing you to draw or sheathe two weapons per round as a free action.

6th – ✨Rapid Attunement: Once per round, you can use the item attunement ability to attune to a weapon or armor as a free action (see Item Attunement, page 155).

12th – Versatile Force: You gain a +1 bonus to your magical power and mundane power.

18th – ✨Magic Armory: You gain an additional attunement point.

18th – Versatile Force+: The power bonus increases to +2.

Blindfighter [Combat]

Prerequisite: Perception 2.

1st – Unerring: You are unaffected by 20% miss chances, such as from concealment. When you have a 50% miss chance, such as while blinded (50% miss chance, -2 defenses), you reroll the miss chance once and keep the better result. This does not prevent your attacks from failing for other reasons.

6th – Blindsight: You gain blindsense with a 90 foot range, allowing you to sense your surroundings without light (see Blindsight, page 588). If you already have blindsense, the range of your blindsense increases by 90 feet. In addition, you gain blindsight with a 30 foot range, allowing you to see without light (see Blindsight, page 588). If you already have blindsight, the range of your blindsight increases by 30 feet.

12th – Unseeing Precision: You gain a +1 accuracy bonus.

12th – Unerring+: You are unaffected by all miss chances.

18th – Blindsight+: The range of your blindsense increases by 90 feet. In addition, the range of your blindsight increases by 150 feet.

Blood Magic ✨ [Casting, Magical]

Prerequisite: Access to a mystic sphere, Constitution 2.

1st – ✨Bloodspell: Whenever you cast a spell, you may use this ability. When you do, you gain a +1 accuracy bonus with the spell. In exchange, you lose two hit points. This hit point loss increases to four hit points at level 7, eight hit points at level 13, and sixteen hit points at level 19.

6th – ✨Blood-Sworn Allegiance: You can swear a blood oath to your allies in a ritual. You automatically fail any attack rolls you make against a creature that you have sworn this blood oath with. Any missed attacks against those creatures have no effect, even if the attack would normally deal damage on a miss. Those creatures have the same effects if they try to attack you. This allows you to safely use area spells that include your allies as targets, since they will suffer no ill effect from the attack.

12th – ✨Fountain of Blood: You gain a +5 bonus to your durability.

18th – ✨Bloodspell+: The accuracy bonus increases to +2.

Boongiver ✨ [Casting, Magical]

Prerequisite: Access to a mystic sphere.

1st – ✨Share Boon:

Share Boon ✶

Triggered

You can use this ability when you cast a spell with the Attune tag. The spell's Attune tag changes to Attune (target). Choose one ally within Medium (60 ft.) range. That ally is the target of the spell, and the spell affects that creature as if it were you instead of affecting you.

If the spell would normally grant you special actions, the target uses its own statistics to determine the results of those actions rather than your statistics. For example, it would use its own accuracy and magical power to attack if you cast the eyes of flame spell on it.

You can only use this ability to affect one spell at a time. If you use it again, the original ally's attunement to the old spell ends.

6th – ✶ Versatile Boon Lore: You learn additional spell. The spell must have the Attune tag, but you do not need to have access to the mystic sphere it is from. The mystic sphere it is from must still be part of your magic source. As normal, you can exchange this spell for other spells as you gain access to new spell ranks, but the spell must always have the Attune tag.

12th – ✶ Share Boon+: You can use your share boon ability on up to two spells at once. If you use the ability while it already affects another spell, you choose which spells are affected by the ability.

18th – ✶ Sustain Attunement: Whenever you cast an Attune spell that is not a deep attunement, you can choose to replace its Attune tag with the Sustain (minor) tag.

Brawler [Combat]

Prerequisite: Strength 1, Dexterity 1.

1st – Unarmed Warrior: You deal 1d6 damage with the punch/kick natural weapon (see Natural Weapons, page 156). In addition, you treat that weapon as having the Light weapon tag, which allows you to make dual strikes with it more easily (see Dual Strikes, page 37). This ability does not stack with the ability of the same name from the Perfected Form monk archetype (see Perfected Form, page 85).

1st – Brawling Expertise: You gain a +1 bonus to your brawling accuracy (see Brawling Accuracy, page 13).

6th – Larger than Life: You are treated as one size category larger than your actual size for the purpose of Size-Based Brawling abilities.

12th – Unarmed Warrior+: The damage increases to 1d8.

12th – Brawling Expertise+: The bonus from your brawling expertise ability increases to +2.

18th – Grapple Supremacy: When you grapple a target with the grapple ability, you automatically take control of the grapple (see Controlling a Grapple, page 40).

18th – Unarmed Warrior++: The damage increases to 1d10.

Celestial Ancestry ✶ [Ancestry, Magical]

Prerequisite: Non-evil alignment.

Special: You can only have one Ancestry feat.

1st – ✶ Celestial Benevolence:

Celestial Benevolence ✶

Standard action

Tags: Swift

Choose an ally within Short (30 ft.) range. While the target is within Short (30 ft.) range of you, it takes half damage from all damaging effects (minimum 1). Whenever it takes damage that is reduced in this way, you take the same amount of damage. This does not cause you to suffer any other non-damaging effects of the attack. This ability lasts until you dismiss it or until you use it again.

A creature that sees an attack against an ally redirected in this way can observe that you are the cause of the redirection with a difficulty value 5 Awareness check. While this ability is active, you cannot be affected by other creatures using this ability on you.

6th – ✶ Scouring Light:Scouring Light ✶

Standard action

Cost: You briefly cannot use this ability again.

Make an attack vs. Reflex against all enemies in a Medium (30 ft. long), 10 ft. wide line from you. Whether you hit or miss, each target suffers a -2 penalty to its Armor and Reflex defenses this round, and you briefly radiate brilliant illumination in a Medium (30 ft.) radius from you.

Hit: 1d10 damage + half power.

Level 9: The damage increases to 1d8 damage + power.

Level 12: The damage increases to 1d6 damage per 2 power.

Level 15: The damage increases to 1d6 damage plus 1d6 per 2 power.

Level 18: The damage increases to 1d8 damage plus 1d8 per 2 power.

Level 21: The damage increases to 1d10 damage plus 1d10 per 2 power.

12th – ✶ Angel Wings: You gain feathery wings that sprout from your back. These wings grant you a slow fly speed with a maximum height of 15 feet (see Flight, page 36). As a free action, you can increase your fatigue level by one to ignore this height limit until the end of the round. The wings themselves are mundane, but the ability to fly and glide with them is magical ✶.

18th – ✶ Angel Wings+: The height limit increases to 30 feet.

18th – ✶ Celestial Benevolence+: You take only half of the damage that the target takes, not the same amount of damage as the target.

Chameleon [General]

Prerequisite: Disguise as a trained skill, Intelligence 2.

1st – Adaptive Specialty: As a free action, if you do not already have an adaptive specialty active, you can choose an adaptive specialty from the list below. You immediately gain the benefits of that adaptive specialty as a Swift effect. Whenever you finish a short rest, you can deactivate your adaptive specialty, losing all of its benefits.

- Martial: You become proficient with all non-exotic weapons and an additional armor usage class of your choice. You must be proficient with light armor to become proficient with medium armor, and you must be proficient with medium armor to become proficient with heavy armor.
- Mystic ✨: You gain the ability to use wands as if you were able to cast arcane spells (see Magic Implements, page 216). Your maximum spell rank for this purpose is 1. This spell rank increases by 1 at 6th level, and every 3 levels thereafter.
- Primal: You gain a +2 bonus to your fatigue tolerance.
- Skilled: You gain a +1 bonus to all skills.

6th – Adaptive Archetype: Choose one archetype that you currently have, and two archetypes you do not have from among any of your classes. You cannot choose an archetype that you have which is a prerequisite for another archetype that you have. These three archetypes are your adaptive archetypes.

As a free action, if you do not already have an adaptive archetype active, you can choose one of your adaptive archetypes. You immediately gain all benefits of that archetype as a Swift effect. Whenever you finish a short rest, you can deactivate your adaptive archetype, losing all of its benefits. You must track which choices you made for each archetype that you lose access to in this way, such as which spells and maneuvers you learned. When you regain access to that archetype, you must make the same choices.

12th – Universal Adaptation: You gain a +1 bonus to your mundane power and magical power. You also gain a +2 bonus to your durability.

18th – Adaptive Specialty+: The effects of your adaptive specialty ability improve, as described below.

- Martial: You gain a +1 bonus to your Armor defense.
- Mystic: You gain a +2 bonus to your Mental defense.
- Primal: The fatigue tolerance bonus increases to +4.
- Skilled: The skill bonus increases to +2.

Climb Specialization [Skill]

Prerequisite: Climb as a trained skill.

1st – Specialization: You gain a +2 bonus to the Climb skill.

6th – Climb Speed: You gain an average climb speed (see Movement Modes, page 34).

12th – Specialization+: The bonus from your specialization ability increases to +4.

18th – Endless Creature Climb: You do not suffer a cumulative -2 penalty to your accuracy with the creature climb ability for each round you spend climbing (see Creature Climb, page 129).

Craft Specialization [Skill]

Prerequisite: Any Craft skill as a trained skill.

1st – Specialization: You gain a +2 bonus to all Craft skills.

6th – ★Craft Magic Item: You can imbue items with magic using your crafting skill. There are two ways to craft magic items: by sacrificing valuable raw materials or by salvaging other magic items. If you sacrifice valuable raw materials, you must destroy trade goods or gold pieces as if you were buying an item one rank lower than the item you are crafting (see Item Ranks, page 153). If you salvage another magic item, you must either destroy a non-consumable magic item that is at least one rank higher than the item you are crafting, or destroy a non-consumable magic item with the exact same effect as the item you are crafting. As normal, you can treat five items of one rank as being equivalent to a single item of one rank higher for either of these crafting methods.

Crafting a magic item in this way normally requires 24 hours of continuous work which may be split between any number of crafting sessions. You can make weaker items more quickly. The time required to craft magic items is halved for every rank by which your highest rank exceeds the item's rank, to a minimum of 15 minutes.

You can also mend a broken magic item if it is one that you could make, or transfer a magical property from one item to a nonmagical item. If you transfer an item property in this way, the magic item ability must be valid for the new item. If you do so, you treat the item as if it were two ranks lower than its actual rank for the purpose of determining the cost and crafting time, to a minimum rank of 0. You cannot mend a destroyed magic item.

12th – Specialization+: The bonus from your specialization ability increases to +4.

18th – Craft Magic Item+: The time required for you to craft a magic item is reduced to 8 hours.

Creature Handling Specialization [Skill]

Prerequisite: Creature Handling as a trained skill.

1st – Specialization: You gain a +2 bonus to the Creature Handling skill.

6th – Binding Command: You can sustain the effect of the command ability from the Creature Handling skill with a minor action instead of with a standard action. For details, see Creature Handling, page 132.

6th – Efficient Training: You can teach a creature a trick with 12 hours of work, split as you choose, rather than in a week of 4 hour sessions (see Teach Trick, page 132). In addition, you can train creatures to learn two bonus tricks beyond their normal maximum (see Bonus Tricks, page 133).

12th – Specialization+: The bonus from your specialization ability increases to +4.

18th – Battleforged Companion: You can teach a creature the Battleforged Companion trick. This does not work on creatures that are already significantly enhanced or altered from their natural state, such as a druid's natural servant or a ranger's animal companion. The difficulty value to train the trick is 20. A creature with the trick gains a +2 bonus to accuracy and all defenses.

Deception Specialization [Skill]

Prerequisite: Deception as a trained skill.

1st – Specialization: You gain a +2 bonus to the Deception skill.

6th – ⚡ Forked Tongue:

Forked Tongue

Minor action

Tags: Subtle, Sustain (minor)

Whenever you speak, you can say the same words with two different vocal patterns, such as tone or accent, though you cannot significantly change the volume. You can freely choose which creatures hear which pattern, treating all creatures you are not aware of as a single group.

You can freely choose different vocal patterns each round that you sustain this ability.

Level 12: You can speak entirely different words with your two voices.

Level 18: You can also speak with a third voice, using separate words and vocal patterns.

6th – Undetectable Lies: Any magical ⚡ abilities which detect lies are unable to detect lies you speak. This does not protect you from magical effects which control your actions, such as by compelling you to tell the truth.

12th – Specialization+: The bonus from your specialization ability increases to +4.

18th – ⚡ Deceive Reality:

Deceive Reality ⚡

Standard action

Cost: You cannot use this ability again until you finish a long rest.

You tell a lie that becomes true. The lie must not directly affect any creatures. The effects of the lie must be mundane, so you cannot create artifacts or specific spell effects. You cannot affect anything beyond one mile from you, ignoring line of sight and line of effect. In addition, all effects of this ability end after ten minutes. However, within those limits, you can generally alter reality around you.

Some examples of lies that would be valid to use with this ability are “I have a bathtub full of diamonds in the other room”, “Suddenly, all of the torches in the room were extinguished simultaneously”, and “Don’t worry, my basement cellar has always had an escape tunnel for emergencies”.

Devices Specialization [Skill]

Prerequisite: Devices as a trained skill.

1st – Specialization: You gain a +2 bonus to the Devices skill.

6th – Rapid Improvisation: It takes you only a standard action to make a device of up to Tiny size with the improvise ability (see Improvise, page 134).

12th – Specialization+: The bonus from your specialization ability increases to +4.

18th – Rapid Improvisation+: It takes you only a standard action to make a device of up to Small size with the improvise ability (see Improvise, page 134).

Disguise Specialization [Skill]

Prerequisite: Disguise as a trained skill.

1st – Specialization: You gain a +2 bonus to the Disguise skill.

6th – Versatile Disguise: Whenever you use the disguise creature and emulate creature abilities on yourself, you may simultaneously create two different disguises. This takes twice as long as creating a single disguise. You can change your appearance between the two chosen disguises as a minor action.

12th – Specialization+: The bonus from your specialization ability increases to +4.

18th – Quick Change: You can create disguises with the disguise creature, emulate creature, and versatile disguise abilities as a single standard action, regardless of the complexity of the disguise.

Draconic Ancestry [Ancestry]

Special: You can only have one Ancestry feat.

1st – Draconic Ancestry: Choose a type of dragon from among the dragons on Table 12.2: Dragon Types. You have the blood of that type of dragon in your veins. You are impervious (+4 defenses) to attacks with that dragon’s associated tag.

Table 12.2: Dragon Types

Dragon	Tag	Breath Weapon
Black	Acid	Medium (30 ft.), 5 ft. wide line
Blue	Electricity	Medium (30 ft.), 5 ft. wide line
Brass	Fire	Medium (30 ft.), 5 ft. wide line
Bronze	Electricity	Medium (30 ft.), 5 ft. wide line
Copper	Acid	Medium (30 ft.), 5 ft. wide line
Gold	Fire	Small (15 ft.) cone
Green	Acid	Small (15 ft.) cone
Red	Fire	Small (15 ft.) cone
Silver	Cold	Small (15 ft.) cone
White	Cold	Small (15 ft.) cone

1st – Scales: You gain a +1 bonus to your Armor defense.

1st – Draconic Weapons: You gain a bite natural weapon and two claw natural weapons, one on each arm. For details, see Table 9.6: Natural Weapons, page 163.

6th – Draconic Breath:

Draconic Breath	Standard action
Cost: You briefly cannot use this ability again.
This ability's tag matches your dragon's associated tag. Make an attack vs. Reflex against everything in the area defined by the type of dragon from your draconic ancestry ability (see Table 12.2: Dragon Types).
Hit: 1d8 damage + power.
Miss: Half damage.
Level 9: The area increases. A line breath weapon becomes a Large (60 ft.), 5 ft. wide line. A cone breath weapon becomes a Medium (30 ft.) cone.
Level 12: The damage increases to 1d6 damage plus 1d6 per 2 power.
Level 15: The area increases. A line breath weapon becomes a Huge (90 ft.), 10 ft. wide line. A cone breath weapon becomes a Large (60 ft.) cone.
Level 18: The damage increases to 1d10 damage plus 1d10 per 2 power.

12th – Draconic Ancestry+: You become immune to attacks with your dragon's ability tag.

12th – Draconic Wings: You gain leathery wings that sprout from your back. These wings grant you a slow fly speed with a maximum height of 15 feet (see Flight, page 36). As a free action, you can increase your fatigue level by one to ignore this height limit until the end of the round. The wings themselves are mundane, but the ability to fly and glide with them is magical ★.

18th – Scales+: The Armor defense bonus from your scales ability increases to +2.

18th – Draconic Wings+: The speed increases to average.

Duelist [Combat]

Prerequisite: Dexterity 2, Perception 1.

1st – Duel Focus: At the start of each round, you may choose a creature you can see. During that round, you gain a +1 bonus to your defenses against that creature's attacks.

6th – Deliver the Duel:

Deliver the Duel	Standard action
Make a melee strike . This strike only targets a single creature, even if your weapon would normally have the Sweeping tag. If you are the creature's only enemy adjacent to it, you deal 1d6 extra damage . If that creature is not adjacent to any of its allies , you deal 1d6 extra damage . This extra damage stacks if both circumstances apply.
Level 9: The strike deals double weapon damage .
Level 12: The extra damage from both circumstances increases to 2d6.
Level 15: The extra damage from both circumstances increases to 4d6.
Level 18: The extra damage from both circumstances increases to 4d10.

12th – Defensive Stance: You gain a +1 bonus to your Armor defense as long as you wield a non-Projectile weapon using at least one hand. This bonus is doubled if you are not using a shield, and are not gaining any shield bonus to your Armor defense by other means.

18th – Duel Focus+: The bonus from your duel focus ability increases to +2.

Endurance Specialization [Skill]

Prerequisite: Endurance as a trained skill.

1st – Specialization: You gain a +2 bonus to the Endurance skill.

6th – Delay Condition: Whenever you gain a condition, you can make an Endurance check. The difficulty value starts at 10 and increases by 5 in each subsequent round. Success means that you do not suffer the effects of the condition. You must repeat this check at the end of each subsequent round to continue to delay the effects of the condition. Failure means that the condition has its normal effect on you.

You can only delay one of your conditions in this way. If you gain a new condition, you can choose to either delay the new condition or continue delaying the old condition. If some other effect would delay the effects of the condition, such as a fighter's disciplined reaction ability, you do not have to start Endurance checks with this ability until after that delay ends.

12th – Specialization+: The bonus from your specialization ability increases to +4.

18th – Ignore Vital Wound: Whenever you gain a vital wound, you can choose to be unaffected by its vital wound effect after making the vital roll. It still penalizes your future vital rolls. You can only ignore one vital wound in this way at a time. If you ignore a new vital wound, you suffer the full effects of the old vital wound.

Entropist ★ [General, Magical]

Prerequisite: Willpower 2.

1st – ★ Sudden Entropy:

Sudden Entropy 	Standard action
Make an attack vs. Fortitude against one creature or object within Short (30 ft.) range. If the target is vulnerable (-4 defenses) to any ability tags, there is a 50% chance that this ability has that tag.
Hit: 1d10 damage + half power.
Miss: 50% of the time, you still deal half damage.
Level 3: The damage increases to 1d8 + power.
Level 6: The damage increases to 1d6 per 2 power.
Level 9: The damage increases to 1d6 + 1d6 per 2 power. In addition, any extra damage is doubled.
Level 12: The damage increases to 1d8 + 1d8 per 2 power.
Level 15: The damage increases to 1d10 + 1d10 per 2 power.
Level 18: The damage bonus increases to 1d6 + 1d6 per power.

6th –  Friend of Chaos: Whenever you roll to determine a random effect, such as a miss chance or a sorcerer's wild magic ability, you may reroll once. If you do, you must keep the second result. This includes random effects that do not explicitly tell you to roll, such as your behavior while confused (-2 defenses, randomly attack or defend), as long as they have a percentage chance that is internal to your character. However, vital rolls and your sudden entropy ability are unaffected by this ability.

12th –  Entropic Defense: Whenever you are hit by a critical hit, there is a 50% chance that the attack is treated as a regular hit against you instead of a critical hit. The attacker rolls this chance instead of you, so it is not affected by your friend of chaos ability.

18th –  Master of Chaos: Whenever you roll to determine a random effect, you can use this ability. When you do, you increase your fatigue level by one, and you may freely choose the random result. You can use this ability after seeing what your result would have been. Vital rolls and your sudden entropy ability cannot be affected by this ability. After using this ability, you briefly cannot use it again.

Executioner [Combat]

Prerequisites: Perception 2.

1st – Marked for Execution: You consider living creatures that either have a vital wound or are injured to be marked for execution. Several abilities from this feat affect creatures marked for execution. You can automatically identify whether creatures you see are marked for execution.

1st – Finishing Blow: You gain a +1 accuracy bonus against creatures that are marked for execution.

6th – Blood Sense: You gain lifesense with a 60 foot range, allowing you to sense the location of living things without light (see Lifesense, page 588). Your lifesense functions like lifesight against creatures who are marked for execution, allowing you to see them perfectly. In addition, you do not need line of sight or line of effect to see creatures that are marked for execution with lifesight. This allows you to see them through solid objects, but grants you no special ability to attack through solid objects, so your attacks are still affected normally by cover.

12th – Finishing Blow+: The accuracy bonus increases to +2.

18th – Death is Coming: Whenever you deal damage to a creature that is marked for execution, you are briefly honed (+4 accuracy with crits).

Fateweaver [General, Magical]

Prerequisite: Perception 2.

1st –  Inevitable Attack: Whenever you make an attack roll, your minimum attack result is equal to 5 + your accuracy with the attack, as if you had rolled a 5 on the die. If the attack roll is already affected by the Inevitable Spell ability from a moirai votive, the minimum attack result increases by 2.

6th –  Fateseal:

Fateseal 	Standard action
--	-----------------

Make an attack vs. Mental against one creature within Medium (60 ft.) range.

Hit: The target is fatesealed as a condition. Whenever a creature makes an attack roll against it, their minimum attack result is equal to 5 + their accuracy with the attack, as if they had rolled a 5 on the die.

Critical hit: This condition must be removed an additional time before the effect ends.

You gain a +2 accuracy bonus for every 3 levels beyond 6.

12th –  Inevitable Success: Whenever you make a check, your minimum check result is equal to 5 + your modifier with the check, as if you had rolled a 5 on the die.

18th –  Fated Victory: The minimum results from your inevitable attack and inevitable success abilities each increase to 7 + your accuracy or modifier.

Flexibility Specialization [Skill]

Prerequisite: Flexibility as a trained skill.

1st – Specialization: You gain a +2 bonus to the Flexibility skill.

6th – Rapid Escape: You can escape bindings and use the escape grapple ability as a move action, rather than as a standard action.

6th – Rapid Squeeze: Your movement speed is not reduced while squeezing (-2 Armor and Ref).

12th – Specialization+: The bonus from your specialization ability increases to +4.

18th – Rapid Escape+: You can also escape bindings and use the escape grapple ability as a minor action.

18th – Unnatural Flexibility: You take no penalties while squeezing (-2 Armor and Ref).

Fortune's Friend [General]

Prerequisite: None.

1st – Lucky Numbers: Choose any two numbers from 1 to 9. Those are your lucky numbers.

1st – Lucky Hit: Whenever you roll one of your lucky numbers on your first die for an attack roll, the attack roll explodes (see Exploding Attacks, page 29). This does not affect bonus dice from explosions.

6th – Lucky Break: Whenever you roll one of your lucky numbers on your first die for a check, the check explodes just like an attack. This does not affect bonus dice from explosions, so your checks can only explode once. This only applies the first time you attempt a task. If you retry the same task, your checks do not explode.

12th – Lucky Numbers+: You can choose a third lucky number from 1 to 9.

18th – Lucky Miss: All targeted attacks against you have a 10% miss chance. If they would already have a miss chance, that miss chance instead increases by 10%.

Gestalt [General]

1st – Archetype Fusion: Choose one archetype from your base class that you do not already have any ranks in. When you gain this ability, you become rank 1 in that archetype, and gain the appropriate abilities. Whenever you gain an additional archetype rank, you can choose to increase your rank in any of the archetypes you have access to, up to your normal maximum rank for your level. Since you have access to more archetypes than normal, you can split your archetype ranks between all of your archetypes, so they will not all have the same rank.

You must still increase your rank in each archetype in order. For example, you cannot choose the rank 1 and rank 3 abilities from an archetype without also gaining its rank 2 ability.

6th – Skill Fusion: Choose any two skills that have the same key attribute. You treat those skills as being the same for you. If you are trained in one skill, you are trained in both, but you gain no special benefit for being separately trained in both skills. Any other modifiers that you have which apply to one skill also apply to the other skill. Multiple enhancement bonuses do not stack, even if you have one enhancement bonus for one skill and another enhancement bonus for the other skill. The only exception is that size modifiers to the Stealth skill cannot be applied to other skills in this way (see Size and Weight, page 15).

12th – Archetype Fusion+: You can choose a second archetype from your base class that you do not already have ranks in. This does not increase your rank in that archetype, but you become eligible to increase your rank in that archetype when you level up.

18th – Archetype Rank: You gain an additional archetype rank.

Ghostblade ✶ [Combat, Magical]

Prerequisite: Dexterity 1, Willpower 2.

1st – Ghost Shroud: Your Constitution does not increase your injury point (see Injury Point, page 14). You can also use the lower of your Dexterity and Willpower in place of your Constitution to determine your hit points.

1st – Ghost Step: When you use the sprint ability, you can become invisible during that phase (see Invisible, page 589, and Sprint, page 39). This usually makes it impossible for creatures to react to your movement, such as by using the block or follow abilities (see Movement Abilities, page 33). This ability has the Swift tag, so it affects attacks against you during the current phase. After using this ability, you briefly cannot use it again.

6th – Spectral Slice:

Spectral Slice ✶	Standard action
Make a melee strike . The attack is made against the target's Reflex defense instead of its Armor defense. You use the higher of your magical power and your mundane power to determine your damage with this ability (see Power, page 14).
Hit: If your attack also hits the target's Fortitude defense, it is briefly slowed (-10 speed, -2 Armor and Ref).
Injury: If your attack also hits the target's Fortitude defense, it is slowed (-10 speed, -2 Armor and Ref) as a condition.
Level 9: The strike deals double weapon damage .
Level 12: The strike deals extra damage equal to half your power .
Level 15: The extra damage increases to 2d6 + half your power .
Level 18: The extra damage increases to 4d6 + your power .

12th – Ghost Step+: When you use your ghost step ability, you can also become incorporeal for the duration of the movement. This ability has the Swift tag, so it grants you the defensive benefits of being incorporeal during the current phase. If you choose not to become incorporeal, you do not have to wait briefly before being able to use your ghost step ability again.

12th – Spectral Shield: You are impervious (+4 defenses) to all attacks by incorporeal creatures.

18th – Half Spirit: Your injury point is set to 0, so you are only injured while you have no remaining hit points.

Greatweapon Warrior [Combat]

Prerequisite: Strength 3.

1st – Cleave: Whenever you make a melee strike using a weapon you hold in two hands, it gains the Sweeping (1) tag (see Weapon Tags, page 156). If the weapon already has the Sweeping tag, you instead increase the tag's value by 2, allowing you to choose two additional secondary targets.

6th – Great Power: You gain a +1 bonus to your magical power and mundane power.

12th – Great Reach: Whenever you make a melee strike using a weapon you hold in two hands, it gains the Long tag. If the weapon already has the Long tag, you can attack targets that are within 15 feet of you.

18th – Great Power+: The bonus increases to +2.

18th – Smash Apart: Whenever you deal damage to a creature or object with a melee strike using a weapon you hold in two hands, you can push that creature or object up to 15 feet in a straight line directly away from you. If the creature gained an injury from your attack, you fling it instead of pushing it. You can only move any individual creature or object in this way once per round. This is a Size-Based effect.

Heavenly Warrior [Combat]

Prerequisite: Str 2, Jump as a trained skill.

1st – Featherlight Leap: Your maximum jumping height is equal to your maximum horizontal jump distance, rather than half that distance (see Jumping, page 34). If you have the float like air monk ability with the same effect, you instead gain a +10 foot bonus to your horizontal jump distance.

6th – Call to Heaven:

Call to Heaven	Standard action
Tags: Brawling (see text)

Make a brawling attack vs. Brawn against one creature or object adjacent to you. If you hit, and you are strong enough to carry the target, you fling it up to 10 feet directly upwards. This leaves it midair, which normally makes it unsteady (-2 accuracy, Armor, Brawn, Ref). On a critical hit, the maximum fling distance is doubled. You can then jump up to their height, assuming it is within your maximum jump height. This jump ignores the normal limit on jumping farther than your base speed would allow.

Whether you hit or missed with the first attack, you can then make a melee strike against the target. The flinging attack has the Brawling tag, but the strike does not.

After you finish using this ability, if you hit with either attack, you and the target immediately fall up to 300 feet until you hit the ground. This typically causes the target to take falling damage (see Falling Damage, page 16).

Rank 4: The maximum fling distance increases to 20 feet.

Rank 5: The strike deals double damage.

Rank 6: The maximum fling distance increases to 40 feet.

Rank 7: The strike deals triple damage, and the maximum fling distance increases to 60 feet.

12th – Heavenly Domain: You gain a +2 accuracy bonus against creatures that are midair. In addition, you are immune to falling damage.

18th – Heavenly Descent:

Heavenly Descent	Triggered
Once per round, when you land from an intentional jump, you can make an attack vs. Fortitude against each enemy adjacent to you that is shorter than the apex of that jump.

Hit: The target is briefly stunned (-2 defenses).

Intimidate Specialization [Skill]

Prerequisite: Intimidate as a trained skill.

1st – Specialization: You gain a +2 bonus to the Intimidate skill.

6th – Greater Demoralize: When you use the demoralize ability, the target is frightened by you even if it is not injured. For details, see Demoralize, page 137.

12th – Specialization+: The bonus from your specialization ability increases to +4.

18th – Cower in Fear: Creatures that are frightened or panicked by you suffer a penalty to their Armor, Brawn, Fortitude, and Reflex defenses equal to the penalty they suffer to their Mental defense.

Iron Will [General]

Prerequisite: Willpower 2.

1st – Mental Discipline: You gain a +3 bonus to your Mental defense. In addition, you automatically detect any Compulsion or Emotion effects on you which are Subtle. This does not make you immune to those effects, but it may help you control your reactions.

6th – Unclouded Mind: You are immune to being stunned (-2 defenses) and confused (-2 defenses, randomly attack or defend).

12th – Mental Discipline+: The defense bonus from your mental discipline ability increases to +6.

18th – Unclouded Mind+: You are immune to all Compulsion and Emotion attacks.

Juggernaut [Combat]

Prerequisite: Strength 1, Constitution 2.

1st – Unstoppable: You are immune to being slowed (-10 speed, -2 Armor and Ref), and your movement speed is not reduced by difficult terrain. You can also move through spaces occupied by enemies, but you must still end your movement in an unoccupied space.

6th – Trample:

Trample	Standard action
Tags: Brawling, Size-Based

Move up to your speed in a straight line. Then, make a brawling attack vs. Brawn against each creature whose space you moved through in this way.

Hit: 1d8 damage + power.

Miss: Half damage.

Level 9: The damage increases to 1d6 damage per 2 power.

Level 12: The damage increases to 1d6 damage plus 1d6 per 2 power.

Level 15: The damage increases to 1d8 damage plus 1d8 per 2 power.

Level 18: The damage increases to 1d10 damage plus 1d10 per 2 power.

12th – Sheer Power: You gain a +1 bonus to your magical power and mundane power.

12th – Unblockable: Your attacks deal double damage to walls, doors, and similar vertical obstructions that block passage. This does not affect your damage to other objects. Whenever you touch a wall created by a Barrier ability, it is immediately destroyed unless its rank exceeds your character rank.

18th – Sheer Power+: The bonuses increase to +2.

18th – Unstoppable+: You are immune to teleport, push, and fling effects from attacks. This does not affect movement effects used by your allies. You are also immune to being grappled unless you initiate the grapple.

Knowledge Specialization [Skill]

Prerequisite: Any Knowledge skill as a trained skill.

1st – Specialization: You gain a +2 bonus to all Knowledge skills.

6th – Studied Defense: You gain +1 bonus to your choice of your Brawn, Fortitude, Reflex, or Mental defense. Whenever you finish a short rest, you can change the defense this bonus applies to.

12th – Specialization+: The bonus from your specialization ability increases to +4.

18th – Studied Defense+: The bonus increases to +2.

Leadership [Combat]

Prerequisite: Either Intelligence 2 or Willpower 2.

1st – Battle Command:

Battle Command	Standard action
Tags: Auditory
Choose an ally within Medium (60 ft.) range. The target becomes focused (roll attacks twice) and gains a +1 accuracy bonus this round.
Level 9: The accuracy bonus increases to +2.
Level 18: The accuracy bonus increases to +3.

6th – Encouraging Presence: As long as you are conscious, your allies who can see or hear you are immune to being frightened (-2 Mental, -2 accuracy vs. source) and panicked (-4 Mental, cannot attack source).

12th – Bolster:

Bolster	Standard action
Tags: Auditory , Emotion , Swift
Cost: You briefly cannot use this ability again.
Each ally within a Large (60 ft.) radius from you is either empowered (add rank to damage) or stealed (immune to crits) this round. You must make the same choice for all allies.
Level 18: Each target is both empowered and steeled this round.

18th – Stabilizing Presence: As long as you are conscious, your allies who can see or hear gain a +2 bonus to their vital rolls.

Legacy Item ✨ [General]

1st – Legacy Item: You choose a mundane weapon, body armor, shield, apparel item, or implement you own that is not made from a special material. That item becomes your legacy item. You choose a single magic item property of rank 3 or lower that does not require deep attunement, and your legacy item gains that property. You do not have to attune to your legacy item to gain its benefits, and it only functions for you. However, you reduce your maximum attunement points by one.

The property must be appropriate for the category of item you chose: weapon, armor, apparel, or implement. You do not have to precisely match the location of an apparel item, just the category. For example, you can choose an amulet as your legacy item and give it the effect of the boots of translocation, or apply the effects of a shield of arrow catching to your body armor.

If you lose your legacy item, you must retrieve it to regain its power. If your legacy item is destroyed, you can choose a new object to be your legacy item after one week. The new legacy item must keep the same magic item properties as your old legacy item.

6th – Expanded Legacy: You choose an additional magic item property of rank 3 or lower. Your legacy item gains that property in addition to its existing property.

12th – Legacy Item+: You can replace your legacy item's original property with a magic item property that is rank 5 or lower.

18th – Legacy Item++: You can replace your legacy item's additional property with a magic item property that is rank 7 or lower.

Living Weapon [Combat]

Prerequisite: Strength and Constitution sum to at least 3

1st – Made of Iron: You gain a +4 bonus to your defenses when determining whether an attack gets a critical hit against you instead of a normal hit.

1st – My Body Is My Weapon: You deal 1d8 damage with the punch/kick natural weapon. In addition, you treat that weapon as having the Light weapon tag, which allows you to make dual strikes with it more easily (see Dual Strikes, page 37). If you also have the Unarmed Warrior ability from the monk class or Brawler feat, you choose which style of punch/kick weapon to use whenever you make a strike.

6th – ✨ Consume Weapon: Whenever you destroy a magical weapon, you can permanently consume its magical property. You can attune to any property you have consumed in this way as a minor action. The property applies to all natural weapons you use. You can only attune to one property that you have consumed in this way at a time.

12th – Forged in the Flame of Life: You gain a +1 bonus to your Constitution.

12th – My Body Is My Weapon+: The damage increases to 1d10.

18th – Made of Steel: You are steeled (immune to crits).

18th – My Body Is My Weapon++: The damage increases to 2d6.

Maneuverist [Combat]

Prerequisite: Intelligence 2.

1st – Maneuver Access: You gain access to one combat style that you did not already have access to (see Maneuver Lists, page 224). In addition, you learn one rank 1 maneuver from that combat style. You may spend insight points to learn one additional maneuver from that combat style per insight point.

Maneuvers granted by this feat are not martial maneuvers. They cannot be improved with the enhanced maneuvers ability from fighter or any other class.

6th – Maneuver Expertise: You gain a +1 accuracy bonus with your rank 1 maneuvers from this feat. This bonus increases by 1 at 9th level, and every 3 levels thereafter.

18th – Maneuver Knowledge+: You learn one maneuver.

21st – Maneuver Rank: You become a rank 7 combat style user. This gives you access to maneuvers that require a minimum rank of 7.

Martial Training [Combat]

1st – Equipment Expertise: You choose one of the following benefits. Unless otherwise noted in its description, you can only choose each benefit once. In addition, you can spend insight points to gain one additional benefit per insight point.

- You gain proficiency with a usage class of armor (light, medium, or heavy). You can choose this ability multiple times, choosing a different usage class each time. Gaining proficiency with medium armor requires proficiency with light armor, and gaining proficiency with heavy armor requires proficiency with medium armor.
- You gain proficiency with all non-exotic weapons from one weapon group of your choice. You can choose this ability multiple times, choosing a different weapon group each time.
- You gain proficiency with exotic weapons from a weapon group of your choice. You must already be proficient with all non-exotic weapons from that weapon group. You can choose this ability multiple times, choosing a different weapon group each time.
- You gain a +1 bonus to your vital rolls.
- You gain a +1 bonus to your mundane power.

6th – Versatile Blow:

Versatile Blow	Standard action
Make a strike and choose either precision or power. If you choose precision, you gain a +3 accuracy bonus. If you choose power, the strike deals extra damage equal to half your power .
Level 9: +5 accuracy, or 1d4 + half power extra damage.
Level 12: +10 accuracy, or 1d4 + power extra damage

18th – Martial Expert: You gain a +1 accuracy bonus with strikes.

Medicine Specialization [Skill]

Prerequisite: Medicine as a trained skill.

1st – Specialization: You gain a +2 bonus to the Medicine skill.

6th – Healing Touch:

Healing Touch	Standard action
Tags: Swift
Cost: One fatigue level from the target.
Choose yourself or a living ally you touch . The target regains 6d6 hit points . In addition, make a Medicine check. For each poison on the target, if your check result beats a difficulty value equal to $10 + \text{twice its rank}$, the effect is removed.
Level 9: The healing increases to 5d10.
Level 12: The healing increases to 7d10.
Level 15: The healing increases to 10d10.
Level 18: The healing increases to 14d10.

12th – Specialization+: The bonus from your specialization ability increases to +4.

18th – Vital Touch: When you use your healing touch ability, the target can also remove one vital wound. If it does, its increases its fatigue level by three.

Mental Magic ✨ [Casting, Magical]

Prerequisite: Spellcasting ability, Willpower 3.

1st – ✨Mental Casting: You connect to the magical essence of the universe differently from other spellcasters, allowing you to cast spells with purely mental effort. None of your spells have somatic components or verbal components.

6th – ✨Fractured Mind: Once per round, you can sustain an ability with the Sustain (minor) tag as a free action.

12th – ✨Potent Mind: You gain a +1 bonus to your magical power.

you sustain a Sustain (standard) ability in this way, you increase your fatigue level by one.

18th – ★ Potent Mind+: The magical power bonus from your potent mind ability increases to +2.

Mystic Archer ★ [Casting, Magical]

Prerequisite: Access to a mystic sphere.

1st – ★ Imbue Projectile:

Imbue Projectile ★

Standard action

Tags: Attune

Choose a spell you know that does not have the Attune or Sustain tags. The spell's power is imbued in up to two projectiles you hold. Unlike most Attune abilities, you can attune to this ability any number of times, choosing a different spell and up to two projectiles each time. An individual projectile can only be imbued with this ability once, even if multiple creatures use this ability on the same projectile.

When you make a strike with that projectile, the spell takes effect on one primary target of the strike. Area spells use the corner of the target's square that is closest to you as their point of origin. If the spell has a direction, such as a cone or line, it faces directly away from you.

The spell takes effect even if the strike misses. Any attacks you make for the spell are reactive attacks, and are rolled separately from your attack roll with the strike.

After the spell takes effect, you briefly cannot trigger any more spells you imbued this ability, and this ability ends. If you fire multiple projectiles imbued with this ability at once, one of the spells takes effect and the others do not.

6th – ★ Guided Projectiles: Your ranged strikes with Projectile weapons are unaffected by all miss chances, such as from concealment. This does not prevent your attacks from failing for other reasons.

12th – ★ Archer's Eye: You gain a +1 accuracy bonus.

18th – ★ Phasing Projectiles: Your ranged strikes with Projectile weapons are unaffected by cover. In addition, you can ignore all physical obstacles in single one-foot span. This can allow you to fire projectiles through creatures or solid walls, though it does not grant you the ability to see through a wall.

Mystic Synthesist ★ [Casting, Magical]

Prerequisite: Access to a mystic sphere, Intelligence 3.

1st – ★ Invented Metamagic: Choose one invented metamagic ability from the list below. You apply that metamagic ability to one spell you know. You can spend insight points to learn one additional invented metamagic ability per insight point. Each individual spell can only have one metamagic applied, including metamagic from your class (if any). Whenever you learn a new spell, you may change which specific spells your metamagic abilities affect.

- Brutish: You use your Strength in place of your Willpower to determine your magical power with the spell.

- Chaining: The spell chains once. You can only apply this augment to targeted damaging spells.
- Delayed: The spell does not take effect immediately. Instead, it repeats during your next action.
- Dominating: You use your Willpower in place of your Perception to determine your accuracy with the spell. You can only apply this augment to non-damaging spells with the Compulsion tag.
- Finesse: You use your Dexterity in place of your Perception to determine your accuracy with the spell. However, when you cast the spell, you take a -1 penalty to your Armor and Reflex defenses that round as a Swift effect.
- Point Blank: You gain a +1 enhancement bonus to accuracy with the spell against each target that is within half the spell's maximum range from you. You can only apply this augment to targeted spells with a defined range.
- Sanguine: You use your Constitution in place of your Willpower to determine your magical power with the spell. However, when you cast the spell, you lose hit points equal to the spell's rank.
- Seeking: The spell ignores cover and concealment.
- Sympathetic: The spell includes you as a target and automatically hits you. As long as you are not immune to the spell or any part of its effects, this grants you a +2 enhancement bonus to accuracy with the spell against its other targets. You can only apply this augment to targeted damaging spells.

6th – ★ Prolific Inventor: You gain an additional insight point.

12th – ★ Prolific Inventor+: You gain an additional insight point.

18th – ★ Unbound Creativity: You can apply two metamagic effects to your spells, rather than the normal limit of one.

Null [General]

Prerequisite: Willpower 2.

1st – Nullify Magic: You gain a +4 bonus to your defenses against magical ★ abilities. In exchange, you lose the benefits of all magical abilities you possess, and you reduce your maximum attunement points by one. You are unable to attune to any magical abilities, such as magic items or spells cast by other creatures. You cannot use potions or other similar magic items or abilities that affect you personally, even if they do not require attunement. In addition, you are never considered an ally for a magical ability, even while unconscious.

6th – Shred Magic:

Shred Magic	Standard action
Make a strike that deals extra damage equal to half your power . You gain a +2 accuracy bonus with the strike for each of the following conditions that is true:
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The target has any magical ✨ abilities. The target is currently attuned to any effects. The target used a magical ✨ ability as a standard action or elite action during the previous round.
Level 9: The extra damage increases to 1d6 + half your power .
Level 12: The extra damage is reduced to 1d6, but the strike deals double damage.
Level 15: The extra damage increases to 2d6.
Level 18: The strike deals triple damage.

6th – Mundane Resilience: You gain a +1 bonus to your durability and non-Armor defenses.

12th – Disruptive Presence: Whenever an enemy within an Small (15 ft.) radius from you uses a magical ✨ ability as a standard action or elite action, the ability has a 20% chance to fail with no effect. This can only affect any individual creature once per round, so a creature that uses two magical abilities will have no failure chance on the second ability it uses. If that enemy's character rank is less than your character rank, this failure chance increases to 50%. This cannot cause passive abilities or triggered abilities to fail. Although this ability is mundane, it still affects intangible creatures.

12th – Mundane Resilience+: The bonuses increases to +2.

18th – Mundane Resilience++: The bonuses increases to +3.

18th – True Null: You are immune to all magical ✨ abilities.

Perform Specialization [Skill]

Prerequisite: Any Perform skill as a trained skill.

1st – Specialization: You gain a +2 bonus to all Perform skills.

6th – Synergistic Performance: You can use any Perform skill you have as a trained skill in place of other related skills. Each Perform skill has an associated skill that it can be used to replace, as listed below. When you replace a skill in this way, you add half your modifier with the Perform skill instead of your full modifier since the two skills do not exactly match.

- Acting: Deception
- Comedy: Deception
- Dance: Balance
- Keyboard instruments: Devices
- Oratory: Persuasion
- Percussion instruments: Creature Handling
- Singing: Persuasion
- String instruments: Devices
- Wind instruments: Creature Handling

12th – Specialization+: The bonus from your specialization ability increases to +4.

18th – ✨ Synergistic Performance+: You add your full Perform modifier instead of half your modifier.

Persuasion Specialization [Skill]

Prerequisite: Persuasion as a trained skill.

1st – Specialization: You gain a +2 bonus to the Persuasion skill.

6th – First Impressions: When you first meet creatures, you have an Ally relationship instead of a Just Met relationship (see Table ??: Persuasion Relationship Modifiers, page ??). This does not affect your relationship with creatures who would not normally have a Just Met relationship with you.

12th – Specialization+: The bonus from your specialization ability increases to +4.

18th – ✨ Suggestion:

Suggestion	Standard action
Tags: Emotion, Subtle, Sustain (minor)

Make an attack vs. Mental against a creature within Medium (60 ft.) range. Your accuracy is equal to your Persuasion skill. You must also make a verbal suggestion of a particular course of action to the target. If your suggestion does not seem reasonable, you take a -10 accuracy penalty on this attack. Exceptionally unreasonable suggestions can impose even greater penalties, and exceptionally reasonable suggestions can give accuracy bonuses. Whether you hit or miss, you cannot attack the target with this ability again until it finishes a short rest.

Hit: As a condition, the target thinks your suggestion is a good idea and will try to follow it to the best of its abilities. The effect ends once the target thinks it has completed the suggestion, or after ten minutes have passed. Any act by you or by creatures that appear to be your ally that damages the target or makes it feel that it is in danger breaks the effect. An observant target may interpret overt threats to its allies as a threat to itself.

Precognition [General]

Prerequisite: Intelligence 3.

1st – Foresight: You gain a +2 bonus to Awareness checks. In addition, you are never fully unaware (-5 defenses), though you can still be partially unaware (-2 defenses).

1st – Precognitive Offense: You can add your Intelligence to your mundane power instead of your Strength (see Power, page 14).

6th – Combat Prediction:

Combat Prediction	Standard action
Tags: Subtle, Sustain (minor)
Choose a creature within Long (90 ft.) range. That creature's intentions become obvious to you as long as you sustain this ability. This gives you a +1 bonus to accuracy and defenses against that creature.
In addition, when you choose your action during each phase, you can do so after learning the result of the actions the target took during that phase. This includes learning whether its attacks hit, and any obvious effects of those attacks. You do not gain any knowledge of actions that have no obvious signs, such as purely mental actions, or actions which you are not observant enough to notice. You cannot communicate your understanding of the creature's actions to your allies before they decide their actions.

12th – Mobile Foresight: During the movement phase, you choose your action after all other creatures have chosen their actions. When you choose your action, you have insight into the actions chosen by any creatures within Long (90 ft.) range that you can see. This insight gives you the same information as the insight from your combat prediction ability, except that it only provides information about their actions during the movement phase. You choose your actions simultaneously with any other creatures who have a similar ability.

Knowing another creature's action does not automatically allow you to interrupt that action. If you want to interrupt an action, such as by blocking a creature's intended movement, you must make an initiative check as normal.

18th – Combat Prediction+: The bonuses from your combat prediction ability increase to +2.

Prepared Spellcasting ✨ [Magical, Spell]

Prerequisite: Access to a mystic sphere, Intelligence 3.

1st – ✨Spellbook: Choose up to four spells you do not know from among mystic spheres you have access to. The spells must be of a rank that you know how to cast. Whenever you gain access to a new spell rank, you may change the spells in your spellbook for any other spells you can cast. You inscribe the knowledge of those spells into a book you carry with you. This book is your spellbook.

Whenever you finish a long rest, you may choose one of the spells in your spellbook. You learn how to cast that spell until you choose a different spell with this ability.

6th – ✨Ritual Book: You gain the ability to perform rituals to create unique magical effects (see Spell and Ritual Mechanics, page 249). In addition, you automatically learn one free ritual of each rank you have access to, including new ranks as you gain access to them.

12th – ✨Study of Magic: You gain a +1 bonus to your magical power.

18th – ✨Spellbook+: You can choose up to six spells to be in your spellbook instead of only four. In addition, whenever you finish a long rest, you may choose two spells in your spellbook with your spellbook ability instead of one. You learn how to cast both spells until you choose a different pair of spells in this way.

18th – ✨Study of Magic+: The bonus from your study of magic ability increases to +2.

Rapid Reaction [General]

Prerequisite: Dexterity 2.

1st – Lightning Reflexes: You gain a +3 bonus to your Reflex defense.

1st – Sidestep: If you have speed remaining after the movement phase, you may use that movement speed during the action phase as a free action once per round. You cannot carry over more than five feet of movement in this way. If you have the Reposition fighter ability with the same effect, you instead increase the amount of movement you can carry over with that ability by five feet.

6th – Evasive Reaction: You take no damage from glancing blows or misses caused by abilities that affect an area and attack your Armor or Reflex defense. This does not protect you from any non-damaging effects of those abilities, or from abilities that affect multiple specific targets without affecting an area. If you have the evasion monk or rogue ability with the same effect as this ability, you also gain a +2 bonus to your Armor and Reflex defenses against area attacks.

12th – Lightning Reflexes+: The bonus from your lightning reflexes ability increases to +6.

12th – Sidestep+: The movement you can carry over with your sidestep ability increases to ten feet. If you have the Reposition fighter ability, you instead increase the amount of movement you can carry over with that ability by ten feet.

18th – Evasive Reaction+: This ability also protects you from area attacks against your Brawn, Fortitude, and Mental defenses. If you have the evasion+ monk or rogue ability with the same effect as this ability, you also gain a +2 bonus to your Brawn, Fortitude, and Mental defenses against area attacks.

Regenerator [General]

Prerequisite: Constitution 3.

1st – Regenerative Recovery:

Regenerative Recovery	Standard action
Tags: Swift
Cost: One fatigue level.
You regain 2d10 damage hit points . If you gained any vital wounds during the previous round, your healing with this ability is doubled. If this would heal you above your maximum hit points, any excess healing applies at the end of the next round. Any excess healing at that point is lost.
Level 3: The healing increases to 3d10 damage. Level 6: The healing increases to 5d8 damage. Level 9: The healing increases to 7d8 damage. Level 12: The healing increases to 8d10 damage. Level 15: The healing increases to 11d10 damage. Level 18: The healing increases to 16d10 damage.

6th – Diehard: You gain a +3 bonus to vital rolls .
12th – Regenerative Rest: When you take a short rest , you can remove any number of vital wounds affecting you. If you do, you increase your fatigue level by three per vital wound removed this way. You can use this ability to remove vital wounds even once your fatigue level would already make you unconscious. This allows you to recover any number of vital wounds if you go unconscious to do so, regardless of your maximum fatigue level.
18th – Battlefield Regeneration: When you use the recover action, you can also remove a single vital wound. If you do, you increase your fatigue level by one.
18th – Regenerative Rest+: You only increase your fatigue by two per vital wound.

Ride Specialization [Skill]

Prerequisite: Ride as a trained skill.
1st – Specialization: You gain a +2 bonus to the Ride skill.
6th – Mounted Defense: Your mount gains a +3 bonus to all defenses, up to a maximum of your own corresponding defense.
6th – Mounted Warrior: The penalty you take for making strikes with Projectile weapons while riding a moving mount is reduced by 2.
12th – Specialization+: The bonus from your specialization ability increases to +4.
18th – Mounted Defense+: The defense bonus from your mounted defense ability increases to +5.
18th – Mounted Warrior+: The penalty reduction from your mounted warrior ability increases to 4. In addition, while you are mounted, you gain a +1 accuracy bonus with Mounted weapons (see Weapon Tags, page 156).

Shieldbearer [Combat]

Prerequisite: Strength 2, Dexterity 1.
1st – Shield Expertise: You gain a +1 bonus to Armor defense while you wield a shield. You gain an additional +1 bonus while you are braced (+2 defenses) or shielded (+2 Armor and Ref).

1st – Shield Proficiency: You become proficient with using all shields as both armor and weapons, including tower shields.

6th – Shield Slam:

Shield Slam	Standard action
Make a strike using a shield. If your Armor defense is higher than the target's Armor defense against this attack, the strike deals double damage. Otherwise, the strike deals extra damage equal to half your power .
Level 9: You gain a +1 accuracy bonus with the strike.
Level 12: If your Armor defense is higher than the target's Armor defense, the strike deals triple damage. Otherwise, the extra damage increases to be equal to your power.
Level 15: The accuracy bonus increases to +2.
Level 18: If your Armor defense is higher than the target's Armor defense, the strike deals 1d8 extra damage . Otherwise, the extra damage increases to 2d8 + your power .

12th – Shield Expertise+: Both Armor defense bonuses from this ability increase to +2.

18th – Shield Cover: While you wield a shield, you can use your Armor defense in place of your Reflex defense against area attacks.

Sleight of Hand Specialization [Skill]

Prerequisite: Sleight of Hand as a trained skill.

1st – Specialization: You gain a +2 bonus to the Sleight of Hand skill.

6th – Deep Pickpocket: You can use the pickpocket ability to retrieve objects that are loose within larger containers, such as backpacks or sacks, even if they are not immediately accessible. You must be able to reach at least one of your fingers into the bag, such as through a narrow gap at the opening. This does not allow you to retrieve objects from locked containers with no openings. The container's size category cannot exceed your own size category.

12th – Specialization+: The bonus from your specialization ability increases to +4.

18th – ★ Extradimensional Pocket:

Extradimensional Pocket ★	Triggered
Tags: Attune
You can use this ability when you use the conceal object ability (see Sleight of Hand, page 143). When you do, you conceal the object in a pocket dimension that cannot be accessed by nonmagical means. When this ability ends for any reason, the object appears in a free hand. If you have no free hands, it drops to the ground.

Sniper [Combat]

Prerequisite: Perception 2.

1st – Aim:

Aim	Standard action
Tags: Subtle, Sustain (minor)
You are briefly focused (roll attacks twice). In addition, choose a creature or object you can see. You gain a +1 accuracy bonus against the target as long as you sustain this ability. If you lose sight of the target for a full round, this effect ends.
6th – Steady Shot: If your location has not changed since the start of the round, you reduce your longshot penalty by 2. 12th – Sniper’s Precision: You gain a +1 accuracy bonus with ranged strikes. 18th – Aim+: When you use this ability, you are also briefly honed (+4 accuracy with crits). 18th – Steady Shot+: If your location has not changed since the start of the round, your ranged strikes ignore cover and concealment.

Social Insight Specialization [Skill]

Prerequisite: Social Insight as a trained skill.

1st – Specialization: You gain a +2 bonus to the Social Insight skill.

6th – Read Emotions:

Read Emotions	Standard action
Tags: Emotion, Sustain (minor), Subtle
Make an attack vs. Mental against a creature within Short (30 ft.) range. Your accuracy is equal to your Social Insight skill. Whether you hit or miss, you cannot attack the target with this ability again until it finishes a short rest. Hit: You know the target’s current emotions. In addition to the obvious effects, this grants you a +3 bonus to Deception, Persuasion, Intimidate, and Social Insight attacks and checks against the target. This bonus does not stack with other effects that allow you access to the target’s mind, such as read mind.
Level 12: The range increases to Medium (60 ft.) range. Level 18: The range increases to Long (90 ft.) range.

12th – Specialization+: The bonus from your specialization ability increases to +4.

18th – Truthsense: Whenever a creature that you can hear and see speaks truth to the best of its knowledge with no attempt at evasion, concealment, or creative wording, you automatically recognize that. You do not recognize truth in this way if a creature is using the Deception skill in any way, even if it is speaking the truth.

Spellsword ✨ [Magical, Spell]

Prerequisite: Access to a mystic sphere.

1st – Enhanced Blade: You gain a +1 enhancement bonus to your mundane power.

1st – Martial Implement: You can cast spells using a non-Projectile weapon you hold in at least one hand as if it was an implement (see Magic Implements, page 216).

6th – Spellstrike:

Spellstrike ✨	Standard action
Cost: You briefly cannot use this ability again.
You cast a spell and make a mundane melee strike, in either order. The spell and the strike must affect completely different targets, with no overlap between their targets or areas (if any). You cannot cast a spell that would cause you to make a strike.
Level 9: The strike deals double weapon damage.
Level 12: The strike deals extra damage equal to half your mundane power.
Level 15: The strike deals triple weapon damage.
Level 18: The extra damage increases to 1d6 + your mundane power.

12th – Enhanced Blade+: The bonus increases to +2.

12th – Mystic Blade: Whenever you cast a damaging spell, you can choose one weapon you wield and are proficient with. You add that weapon’s accuracy and base damage as extra damage to the spell. In addition, if the weapon has the Keen or Impact tags, you apply those tags to the spell if it did not already have them. This ignores any magic weapon properties the weapon has.

18th – Mystic Blade+: You also apply any accuracy and damage from magic weapon properties, including extra damage that would normally only apply to strikes with the weapon. Other special abilities from magic weapon properties besides accuracy and immediate, unconditional damage do not apply to the spell.

Spellwarped ✨ [General, Magical]

Prerequisite: Willpower 2.

1st – Mystic Sphere: You gain the ability to use arcane magic. You gain access to one arcane mystic sphere, plus the universal mystic sphere (see Arcane Mystic Spheres, page 250). Each mystic sphere has a set of spells associated with it. You automatically learn all cantrips from the mystic sphere you have access to.

You require both verbal components and somatic components to cast spells from your chosen sphere. For details about mystic spheres and casting spells, see Spell and Ritual Mechanics, page 249.

3rd – Spell Rank: You become a rank 1 spellcaster in your chosen mystic sphere. You learn one spell from that mystic sphere. In addition, you can spend insight points to learn one additional arcane spell per insight point.

When you gain access to a spell rank, you can exchange any number of spells you know for other spells, including spells of the higher rank.

6th – Spell Rank: You become a rank 2 spellcaster in your chosen mystic sphere. This gives you access to spells that require a minimum rank of 2 and can improve the effectiveness of your existing spells.

9th – ⭐ Spell Rank: You become a rank 3 spellcaster in your chosen mystic sphere.

12th – ⭐ Spell Rank: You become a rank 4 spellcaster in your chosen mystic sphere.

15th – ⭐ Spell Rank: You become a rank 5 spellcaster in your chosen mystic sphere.

18th – ⭐ Spell Rank: You become a rank 6 spellcaster in your chosen mystic sphere.

21st – ⭐ Spell Rank: You become a rank 7 spellcaster in your chosen mystic sphere.

Sphere Focus: Aeromancy ⭐ [Casting, Magical]

Prerequisite: Access to the Aeromancy mystic sphere.

1st – ⭐ Distant Winds: You gain a +15 foot bonus to your range with ranged spells from the Aeromancy mystic sphere. This does not affect spells that do not have a range listed in feet.

6th – ⭐ Windborne Spell: You learn an additional spell. The spell can be up to rank 3, even if you do not have access to rank 3 spells. When you cast that spell, choose a location within Short (30 ft.) range of you to act as a targeting proxy. This means the spell determines its targets as if you were in that location, which can allow you to affect targets outside your normal range.

This is a metamagic effect, so you cannot apply another metamagic to the same spell. When you gain access to a new rank of spells, you can replace your current spell affected by this metamagic with a new spell of that rank.

12th – ⭐ Airborne: You gain a slow fly speed with a maximum height of 15 feet (see Flight, page 36). As a free action, you can increase your fatigue level by one to ignore this height limit until the end of the round. In addition, you gain a +15 foot bonus to the height limit of any fly speed you gain from Aeromancy spells.

18th – ⭐ Distant Winds+: The range bonus from your distant winds ability increases to +30 feet.

Sphere Focus: Aquamancy ⭐ [Casting, Magical]

Prerequisite: Access to the Aquamancy mystic sphere.

1st – ⭐ Aquatic Propulsion: Once per round, after you make an attack with a spell from the Aquamancy mystic sphere, you can push yourself up to 10 feet. You can also use this ability with strikes using natural weapons from that sphere, such as from the aqueous tentacle spell. The attack does not have to hit for you to use this ability.

6th – ⭐ Bubble Spell: You learn an additional spell. The spell can be up to rank 3, even if you do not have access to rank 3 spells. It gains the Water tag. When you miss an attack with the spell, a film of water forms over the target's body in a thin bubble. At the end of the next round, the attack repeats on the target if the bubble remains. If you miss with this repeat, the bubble does not reform.

The bubble can be removed early if the target drops prone (half speed, -2 Armor and Ref) and rolls around on the ground as a move action. It is also removed if the target takes damage from a Cold or Fire ability.

This is a metamagic effect, so you cannot apply another metamagic to the same spell. When you gain access to a new rank of spells, you can replace your current spell affected by this metamagic with a new spell of that rank.

12th – ⭐ Partially Liquid: You gain a +3 enhancement bonus to the Flexibility skill. In addition, you gain a +4 bonus to your defenses when determining whether a strike gets a critical hit against you instead of a normal hit.

18th – ⭐ Partially Liquid+: You are immune to critical hits from strikes.

Sphere Focus: Astromancy ⭐ [Casting, Magical]

Prerequisite: Access to the Astromancy mystic sphere.

1st – ⭐ Astral Spell Transit: You gain a +15 foot bonus to your range with abilities from the Astromancy mystic sphere.

6th – ⭐ Transposing Spell: You learn an additional targeted spell. The spell can be up to rank 3, even if you do not have access to rank 3 spells. When you cast the spell on a Large or smaller creature, you can switch places with the target. This requires an attack vs. Mental if the target is not an ally. When you switch places, you teleport into the target's location, and it teleports into your location. If the teleportation is invalid for either target, it fails for both targets.

This is a metamagic effect, so you cannot apply another metamagic to the same spell. When you gain access to a new rank of spells, you can replace your current spell affected by this metamagic with a new spell of that rank.

12th – ⭐ Efficient Transit: You learn how to transport creatures and objects more smoothly between planes. The difficulty value to hear noise caused by creatures and objects you teleport increases by 10 (see Teleportation Noise, page 150). In addition, whenever you fail to teleport a creature or object due to specifying an invalid destination, you may immediately specify a different destination for that ability. If that second destination is also invalid, the ability fails normally.

18th – ★ Astral Spell Transit+: The range increase from your astral spell transit ability increases to +30 feet. In addition, you gain a +15 foot bonus to your range with all magical ★ abilities that are not from the Astromancy mystic sphere.

Sphere Focus: Channel Divinity ★ [Casting, Magical]

Prerequisite: Access to the Channel Divinity mystic sphere.

1st – ★ Aspect of Divinity: You gain a +1 enhancement bonus to all non-Armor defenses.

6th – ★ Sanctified Spell: You learn an additional spell. The spell can be up to rank 3, even if you do not have access to rank 3 spells. It loses all of the following tags, if it had them: Air, Auditory, Compulsion, Cold, Earth, Emotion, Electricity, Fire, Visual, and Water. In addition, you gain a +1 accuracy bonus with the spell.

This is a metamagic effect, so you cannot apply another metamagic to the same spell. When you gain access to a new rank of spells, you can replace your current spell affected by this metamagic with a new spell of that rank.

When you attune to that spell, you may also choose one ally within Medium (60 ft.) range. That ally can also choose to attune to the spell, and you both gain its benefits. When you stop attuning to that spell, your ally is also forced to stop attuning to the spell.

Since you cannot attune to the same spell more than once, you cannot share the effects of the spell with more than one ally at a time in this way. You can change which spell you choose with this ability whenever you learn a new spell or gain access to a new spell rank.

12th – ★ Aspect of Divinity+: The bonus increases to +2.

18th – ★ Sanctified Soul: You gain a +1 bonus to your accuracy, magical power, and mundane power. In addition, you take no penalties for being resurrected (see Resurrection, page 149).

Sphere Focus: Chronomancy ★ [Casting, Magical]

Prerequisite: Access to the Chronomancy mystic sphere.

1st – ★ Accelerated Mind: You can perform mental tasks more quickly as normal. Mundane mental actions that would normally take a standard action instead take a minor action. Long-term activities can be done twice as quickly as normal. This includes reading books, searching areas, and other similar activities. It does not affect spellcasting, performing rituals, or other similar magical abilities.

6th – ★ Quickened Chronomancy: You learn an additional spell from the Chronomancy mystic sphere. The spell can be up to rank 3, even if you do not have access to rank 3 spells. You can cast the spell as a minor action if you have not already cast a spell that round. When you do, you briefly become slowed (-10 speed, -2 Armor and Ref) and cannot take standard actions.

This is a metamagic effect, so you cannot apply another metamag-ic to the same spell. When you gain access to a new rank of spells, you can replace your current spell affected by this metamagic with a new spell of that rank.

12th – ★ Thief of Time: Whenever you cast a spell from the Chronomancy mystic sphere that deals damage to another creature or causes another creature to be slowed (-10 speed, -2 Armor and Ref), you briefly gain a +10 foot bonus to your speed.

18th – ★ Accelerated Mind+: Once per round, you can perform a purely mental action that would normally require a minor action as a free action. This can be used to sustain spells or perform other magical feats. However, you cannot use the same ability twice in the same round. In addition, the speed increase for long-term tasks from your accelerated mind ability increases to five times normal speed.

Sphere Focus: Cryomancy ★ [Casting, Magical]

Prerequisite: Access to the Cryomancy mystic sphere.

1st – ★ Enduring Crystals: Your last ice crystal never melts. It can still be spent for abilities.

6th – ★ Crystal Profusion: Whenever you would gain an ice crystal from a Cryomancy spell, you gain an additional ice crystal. In addition, your maximum number of ice crystals increases to four.

12th – ★ Frozen Blood: You are immune to Cold and Poison attacks.

18th – ★ Budding Crystals: At the end of each round, if you have no ice crystals and did not spend any ice crystals that round, you gain an ice crystal.

Sphere Focus: Electromancy ★ [Casting, Magical]

Prerequisite: Access to the Electromancy mystic sphere.

1st – ★ Electricity Tolerance: You are impervious (+4 defenses) to Electricity attacks.

1st – ★ Extended Chain: The distance that your abilities can chain increases by 15 feet.

6th – ★ Chaining Spell: You learn an additional targeted spell. The spell can be up to rank 3, even if you do not have access to rank 3 spells. It chains one additional time, even if it did not originally chain.

This is a metamagic effect, so you cannot apply another metamagic to the same spell. When you gain access to a new rank of spells, you can replace your current spell affected by this metamagic with a new spell of that rank.

12th – ★ Electricity Immunity: You are immune to Electricity attacks.

12th – ★ Static Buildup: Whenever you use the sprint ability, you gain a +1 accuracy bonus with your next spell from the Electromancy mystic sphere. This bonus disappears if not used before the end of the next round.

18th – ★ Extra Chain: All of your targeted Electromancy spells chain one additional time, even if they did not originally chain. If your chaining spell ability affects a non-Electromancy spell, it also chains two additional times instead of only one.

Sphere Focus: Enchantment ★ [Casting, Magical]

Prerequisite: Access to the Enchantment mystic sphere.

1st – Hidden Influence: You gain a +2 accuracy bonus with spells from the Enchantment mystic sphere against unaware (-5 defenses) creatures. In addition, the difficulty value to observe the effects of your Emotion abilities with the Awareness and Social Insight skills increases by 10.

6th – Mind Fragments: When you use a magical ✨ ability that has the Emotion tag, you can affect creatures that are immune to that ability due to being mindless or simple-minded. You treat those creatures as being impervious (+4 defenses) instead of immune. This does not allow you to affect creatures who are immune to those abilities for other reasons.

12th – Implanted Spell: You learn an additional targeted spell with the Compulsion or Emotion tags. The spell can be up to rank 5, even if you do not have access to rank 5 spells. When you hit with an attack from that spell, it has no immediate effect. Instead, the effect is implanted deep in the target's mind. You can trigger any number of implanted spells as a minor action. When you do, each implanted spell has its full effect on each of its targets. The implanted spell effect is removed after the target finishes a short rest if it has not already triggered.

This is a metamagic effect, so you cannot apply another metamagic to the same spell. When you gain access to a new rank of spells, you can replace your current spell affected by this metamagic with a new spell of that rank.

18th – Hidden Influence+: The accuracy bonus from your hidden influence ability also applies against partially unaware (-2 defenses) creatures. In addition, the difficulty value increase from that ability increases to +20.

18th – Mind Fragments+: You no longer treat those creatures as being impervious.

Sphere Focus: Fabrication ✨ [Casting, Magical]Prerequisite: Access to the Fabrication mystic sphere.

1st – Fabricate Trinket+: The maximum size of the trinket you can create with your fabricate trinket cantrip increases by one size category. You can also cast it with the Sustain (minor) tag. If you do, it lasts as long as you sustain it, and does not remove any previous trinkets you created with that cantrip.

1st – Mighty Creator: You can use your power in place of your Craft skill to create items with spells from the Fabrication mystic sphere.

6th – Fabricated Armaments: You gain a +1 accuracy bonus with strikes using weapons you created with spells from the Fabrication mystic sphere. In addition, you gain a +1 bonus to the Armor defense provided by body armor from the Fabrication mystic sphere.

12th – Overbuilt Fabrication: You learn an additional spell from the Fabrication mystic sphere. The spell can be up to rank 5, even if you do not have access to rank 5 spells. When you cast the spell, you can spend a minor action to expand its construction. If you do, the spell's area is doubled, and the hit points of any objects the spell creates are also doubled.

This is a metamagic effect, so you cannot apply another metamagic to the same spell. When you gain access to a new rank of spells, you can replace your current spell affected by this metamagic with a new spell of that rank.

18th – Fabricate Trinket+: The size increase from your fabricate trinket+ ability increases to two size categories.

18th – Fabricated Armaments+: The accuracy bonus from your fabricated armaments ability increases to +2.

Sphere Focus: Photomancy ✨ [Casting, Magical]Prerequisite: Access to the Photomancy mystic sphere.

1st – The Light Reveals All: You gain a +2 bonus to your Awareness and Social Insight skills. In addition, you gain a +1 bonus to your Reflex defense.

6th – Lensed Spell: You learn an additional area spell with one of the following area sizes: Small (15 ft.), Medium (30 ft.), Large (60 ft.), Huge (90 ft.), or Gargantuan (120 ft.). The spell can be up to rank 3, even if you do not have access to rank 3 spells. The size of the area is reduced by one step, to a minimum of a Tiny (5 ft.). However, you gain a +4 accuracy bonus with the spell.

This is a metamagic effect, so you cannot apply another metamagic to the same spell. When you gain access to a new rank of spells, you can replace your current spell affected by this metamagic with a new spell of that rank.

12th – Luminous Precision: You gain a +1 accuracy bonus.

18th – Piercing Sight: You can see through solid objects and spell effects up to one inch thick. You can perceive the existence of obstacles thinner than that, but they do not inhibit your sight. This does not grant you line of effect to anything you see in this way, since the obstacle still exists.

Sphere Focus: Polymorph ✨ [Casting, Magical]Prerequisite: Access to the Polymorph mystic sphere.

1st – Augmented Body: You gain a +1 enhancement bonus to your mundane power, Strength-based skills, Dexterity-based skills, and Constitution-based skills.

6th – Fleshbending Spell: You learn an additional spell. The spell can be up to rank 3, even if you do not have access to rank 3 spells. When you attack with the spell, compare your attack result to the Fortitude defense of each living target. On a hit, that target takes a -4 penalty to its other defenses against that spell.

This is a metamagic effect, so you cannot apply another metamagic to the same spell. When you gain access to a new rank of spells, you can replace your current spell affected by this metamagic with a new spell of that rank.

12th – Augmented Body+: The bonus increases to +2.

18th – Malleable Flesh: You gain a +10 bonus to your defenses when determining whether a strike gets a critical hit against you instead of a normal hit.

Sphere Focus: Prayer ✨ [Casting, Magical]Prerequisite: Access to the Prayer mystic sphere.

1st – ⭐ Sustained Blessing: Whenever you cast a spell from the Prayer mystic sphere with the Attune (target) tag that is not a deep attunement, you can choose to replace that tag with the Sustain (minor) tag. You can only apply this ability to one spell at a time.

6th – ⭐ Blessed Boon: You learn an additional spell from the Prayer mystic sphere. The spell can be up to rank 3, even if you do not have access to rank 3 spells. It must not have the Attune tag. Whenever you cast that spell, you can target an additional ally within Medium (60 ft.) range. That ally must be attuned to at least one Prayer spell that you cast.

This is a metamagic effect, so you cannot apply another metamagic to the same spell. When you gain access to a new rank of spells, you can replace your current spell affected by this metamagic with a new spell of that rank.

12th – ⭐ Sustained Blessing+: You can replace the Attune tag with Sustain (free) instead of Sustain (minor). You can still only sustain one spell with this ability at a time.

18th – ⭐ Vital Blessing: Each creature that is attuned to at least one of your Prayer spells gains a +2 enhancement bonus to its vital rolls.

Sphere Focus: Pyromancy ⭐ [Casting, Magical]

Prerequisite: Access to the Pyromancy mystic sphere.

1st – ⭐ Fire Tolerance: You are impervious (+4 defenses) to Fire attacks.

1st – ⭐ Spreading Flame: Whenever you cast a spell from the Pyromancy mystic sphere with a standard area, you can increase its area to the next standard area category, to a maximum of a Gargantuan area. If you do, the spell deals no damage against targets that it misses, even if it would normally deal half damage. The standard area categories are: Tiny (5 ft.), Small (15 ft.), Medium (30 ft.), Large (60 ft.), Huge (90 ft.), and Gargantuan (120 ft.).

6th – ⭐ Overheated Pyromancy: You learn an additional spell from the Pyromancy mystic sphere. The spell can be up to rank 3, even if you do not have access to rank 3 spells. You gain a +1 accuracy bonus with the spell, and it deals extra damage equal to your character rank. However, after you cast the spell, you become briefly vulnerable (-4 defenses) to Cold attacks.

This is a metamagic effect, so you cannot apply another metamagic to the same spell. When you gain access to a new rank of spells, you can replace your current spell affected by this metamagic with a new spell of that rank.

12th – ⭐ Friendly Fire: Whenever you deal damage to your allies with a Fire ability, you deal half damage.

12th – ⭐ Fire Immunity: You are immune to Fire attacks.

18th – ⭐ Burning Heart: You gain a +1 bonus to your magical power.

18th – ⭐ Friendly Fire+: Your Fire abilities cannot damage your allies.

Sphere Focus: Revelation ⭐ [Casting, Magical]

Prerequisite: Access to the Revelation mystic sphere.

1st – ⭐ Oracle: Once per long rest, you can gain the benefit of the augury ritual as a standard action. Using this ability does not increase your fatigue level.

6th – ⭐ Prescient Spell: You learn an additional spell. The spell can be up to rank 3, even if you do not have access to rank 3 spells. As a minor action, you can foresee the future of casting that spell. When you do, roll 1d10 and record the result. If you cast the spell, then the first time you attack with it this round, you must use this die result for the attack roll. This does not tell you whether your attack will hit, only how high your roll will be. A 10 explodes as normal, but only when you actually cast the spell and make the attack, not when foreseeing the future. If you don't like the result, you can simply choose not to cast the spell this round, and the die result is ignored. Either way, you briefly cannot use this ability again.

This is a metamagic effect, so you cannot apply another metamagic to the same spell. When you gain access to a new rank of spells, you can replace your current spell affected by this metamagic with a new spell of that rank.

12th – ⭐ Blind Seer: You gain blindsight with a 90 foot range (see Blindsight, page 588). If you already have blindsight, you increase its range by 90 feet. In addition, you gain blindsight with a 30 foot range, allowing you to see without light (see Blindsight, page 588). If you already have blindsight, the range of your blindsight increases by 30 feet.

18th – ⭐ Oracle+: You can use your oracle ability once per short rest instead of once per long rest.

Sphere Focus: Telekinesis ⭐ [Casting, Magical]

Prerequisite: Access to the Telekinesis mystic sphere.

1st – ⭐ Efficient Hand: The maximum distance you can move an object with the distant hand cantrip increases to 30 feet. In addition, your maximum modifier to accuracy and checks using the object is no longer limited.

6th – ⭐ Violent Hand:

Violent Hand ⭐	Standard action
Choose a weapon you are proficient with and currently controlling using the distant hand cantrip. Make a melee strike using that weapon that deals double weapon damage . The strike comes from the weapon's location, not your location. Because this is a magical ⭐ ability, you use your magical power to determine your damage instead of your mundane power (see Power, page 14).
Rank 9: The strike deals triple weapon damage.
Rank 12: The strike deals extra damage equal to half your magical power .
Rank 15: The strike deals five times weapon damage.
Rank 18: The strike deals eight times weapon damage.

12th – ⭐ Crushing Spell: You learn an additional spell. The spell can be up to rank 5, even if you do not have access to rank 5 spells. When you attack with the spell, compare your attack result to the Brawn defense of each Huge or smaller target. On a hit, that target takes a -4 penalty to its other defenses against that spell.

This is a metamagic effect, so you cannot apply another metamagic to the same spell. When you gain access to a new rank of spells, you can replace your current spell affected by this metamagic with a new spell of that rank.

18th – ⚡ Multiple Hands: When you use the distant hand cantrip, you can create two hands instead of one. This can allow you to hold multiple objects simultaneously, though you must still take separate actions to manipulate those objects in any way more complicated than simple movement. Alternately, you can hold a single object with two hands instead of one. This gives you a +1 bonus to your Willpower for the purpose of determining your weight limits, and allows you to make two-handed attacks with Heavy and Versatile Grip weapons using your telekinetic strike ability.

Sphere Focus: Terramancy ⚡ [Casting, Magical]

Prerequisite: Access to the Terramancy mystic sphere.

1st – ⚡ Earthen Shell: You gain a +1 enhancement bonus to your Armor defense.

6th – ⚡ Gravitic Spell: You learn an additional spell. The spell can be up to rank 3, even if you do not have access to rank 3 spells. When you attack with the spell, you gain a +1 accuracy bonus against each target for each size category by which it is larger than Small: +1 for Medium, +2 for Large, +3 for Huge, +4 for Gargantuan, and +5 for Colossal.

This is a metamagic effect, so you cannot apply another metamagic to the same spell. When you gain access to a new rank of spells, you can replace your current spell affected by this metamagic with a new spell of that rank.

12th – ⚡ Stable as a Rock: You are immune to push, fling, teleport, and prone (half speed, -2 Armor and Ref) effects from attacks.

18th – ⚡ Earthen Shell+: The bonus increases to +2.

18th – ⚡ Stonewalker: Whenever you are grounded, rocks rise up from the ground under your step, then disappear when you walk away. This means that you are always grounded on stone while you are grounded.

Sphere Focus: Thaumaturgy ⚡ [Casting, Magical]

Prerequisite: Access to the Thaumaturgy mystic sphere.

1st – ⚡ Mystic Power: You gain a +1 bonus to your magical power.

6th – ⚡ Thaumatic Spell: You learn an additional spell from any mystic sphere, even a mystic sphere you do not have access to. The spell can be up to rank 3, even if you do not have access to rank 3 spells. When you learn the spell, you can remove one of the following tags from that spell: Acid, Auditory, Cold, Compulsion, Emotion, Electricity, Fire, or Visual. You can also add one of those tags to the spell. In addition, you can replace one defense that the spell attacks with any one other defense not already referenced by the spell.

This is a metamagic effect, so you cannot apply another metamagagic to the same spell. When you gain access to a new rank of spells, you can replace your current spell affected by this metamagic with a new spell of that rank.

12th – ⚡ Countermagic:

Countermagic ⚡	Standard action
Tags: Subtle , Swift
Cost: You briefly cannot use this ability again.

Choose a creature within Medium (60 ft.) range of you. If the target uses a magical ⚡ ability as a standard action or elite action this round, that ability has no effect. When you negate an ability in this way, if that ability's rank was higher than your character rank, you increase your fatigue level by one.

If a creature is capable of using multiple abilities during a single phase, only the first ability it uses can be countered. This is common for elite monsters.

18th – ⚡ Mystic Power+: The bonus from your mystic power ability increases to +2.

Sphere Focus: Toxicology ⚡ [Casting, Magical]

Prerequisite: Access to the Toxicology mystic sphere.

1st – ⚡ Poisonous Blood: Whenever you become poisoned by a contact or ingestion poison, such as by drinking poison or from an enemy's attack, your body naturally repurposes the poison. The poison has no effect on you, but your body gains a dose of natural poison. This has no effect on injury-based poisons, which affect you normally without being absorbed.

Whenever a living creature makes you lose hit points with a melee strike using a non-Long weapon, you may have that creature become poisoned by your choice of one of the poisons you store with this ability. This expends the dose of that poison.

Poisons that you carry in your body with this ability automatically decay after 24 hours, regardless of the normal duration of the poison. You can store up to 3 doses in your body with this ability at a time.

6th – ⚡ Venomous Spell: You learn an additional spell. The spell can be up to rank 3, even if you do not have access to rank 3 spells. Whenever you damage a living creature with that spell, you can cause the creature to become poisoned with your choice of one of the poisons you store with your poisonous blood ability. This expends the dose of that poison. You can poison multiple creatures simultaneously in this way, but it costs one poison dose per creature affected.

This is a metamagic effect, so you cannot apply another metamagic to the same spell. When you gain access to a new rank of spells, you can replace your current spell affected by this metamagic with a new spell of that rank.

12th – ⚡ Poisonous Blood+: You can store up to 6 poison doses with your poisonous blood ability. In addition, you become immune to all poisons that you do not absorb with that ability.

18th – ⚡ Bloodstream Corruption: Whenever you injure a living creature with a Toxicology spell or your venomous spell, that creature becomes vulnerable (-4 defenses) to all poisons as a condition.

Sphere Focus: Umbramancy ✨ [Casting, Magical]

Prerequisite: Access to the Umbramancy mystic sphere.

1st – ✨ The Dark Conceals Me: You gain a +2 bonus to your Sleight of Hand and Stealth skills. In addition, you gain a +1 bonus to your Reflex defense.

6th – ✨ Call of the Void: You learn an additional spell. The spell can be up to rank 3, even if you do not have access to rank 3 spells. When you attack with the spell, compare your attack result to the Mental defense of each shadowed target. On a hit, that target takes a -4 penalty to its other defenses against that spell.

This is a metamagic effect, so you cannot apply another metamagic to the same spell. When you gain access to a new rank of spells, you can replace your current spell affected by this metamagic with a new spell of that rank.

12th – ✨ Shadow Jumper: While you are shadowed, the distance you can teleport with spells from the Umbramancy mystic sphere is doubled.

18th – ✨ Evasive Shade: While you are shadowed, you take no damage from glancing blows or misses caused by abilities that affect an area and attack your Armor or Reflex defense. This does not protect you from any non-damaging effects of those abilities, or from abilities that affect multiple specific targets without affecting an area. If you have the evasion monk or rogue ability with the same effect as this ability, you also gain a +2 bonus to your Armor and Reflex defenses against area attacks.

Sphere Focus: Verdamancy ✨ [Casting, Magical]

Prerequisite: Access to the Verdamancy mystic sphere.

1st – ✨ Verdant Allies: Your speed is not reduced when moving in heavy undergrowth. In addition, you can ignore cover and concealment from plants whenever doing so would be beneficial to you, as the plants move out of the way to help you. This prevents you from suffering a miss chance on your attacks, and also prevents creatures from using cover or concealment from plants to hide from you.

6th – ✨ Sprouting Spell: You learn an additional spell. The spell can be up to rank 3, even if you do not have access to rank 3 spells. Whenever you cast that spell, plants briefly grow on the ground where the spell takes effect. They appear within the area for area spells, or in all spaces occupied by each target of the spell for targeted spells. Bare ground creates light undergrowth, and existing light undergrowth becomes heavy undergrowth. The plants grow before the spell takes effect, so they can improve the effectiveness of some verdamancy spells.

This is a metamagic effect, so you cannot apply another metamagic to the same spell. When you gain access to a new rank of spells, you can replace your current spell affected by this metamagic with a new spell of that rank.

12th – ✨ Verdant Army: Your allies who can see or hear you also gain the benefit of your verdant allies ability.

18th – ✨ Sprouting Step: At the start of each phase, if you are grounded and not already in undergrowth, light undergrowth grows in your space. The undergrowth lasts until you leave that space.

Sphere Focus: Vivimancy ✨ [Casting, Magical]

Prerequisite: Access to the Vivimancy mystic sphere.

1st – ✨ Hidden Life: You can treat nonliving creatures other than undead as if they were living creatures for the purpose of your abilities from the Vivimancy mystic sphere.

1st – ✨ Personal Vitality: You gain a +2 bonus to your durability.

6th – ✨ Reaping Spell: You learn an additional spell. The spell can be up to rank 3, even if you do not have access to rank 3 spells. It gains a +5 accuracy bonus against injured creatures. When you kill a Medium or larger living creature with the spell, you are briefly empowered (add rank to damage).

This is a metamagic effect, so you cannot apply another metamagic to the same spell. When you gain access to a new rank of spells, you can replace your current spell affected by this metamagic with a new spell of that rank.

12th – ✨ Life Suppression: You are no longer considered a living creature for the purpose of attacks against you. This means that attacks which only affect living creatures have no effect against you.

18th – ✨ Personal Vitality+: The durability bonus increases to +5.

Stealth Specialization [Skill]

Prerequisite: Stealth as a trained skill.

1st – Specialization: You gain a +2 bonus to the Stealth skill.

6th – Mobile Stealth: Your penalties for moving while hiding are reduced by 5. This allows you to move at half speed without penalty.

12th – Specialization+: The bonus from your specialization ability increases to +4.

18th – Ambush the Unwary: You gain a +2 accuracy bonus against unaware (-5 defenses) and partially unaware (-2 defenses) creatures.

Survival Specialization [Skill]

Prerequisite: Survival as a trained skill.

1st – Specialization: You gain a +2 bonus to the Survival skill.

6th – Terrain Tolerance: You are unaffected by difficult terrain and harmful natural terrain of any kind. If a skill check, such as Climb or Swim, would normally be required to move through the terrain, this ability does not help.

12th – Specialization+: The bonus from your specialization ability increases to +4.

18th – Planar Survival: You are immune to damage and conditions imposed by being on other planes. In addition, you gain a +5 bonus to checks and defenses related to planar effects, such as checks required to manipulate subjective gravity.

Swiftrunner [General]

Prerequisite: Dexterity 3.

1st – Rapid Movement: You gain a +10 foot bonus to your speed during the action phase.

1st – Sprinter: When you use the sprint ability, you can move up to triple your movement speed.

6th – Rapid Movement+: The speed bonus applies all the time, rather than only during the action phase.

6th – Water Runner: During your movement with the sprint ability, you can move on water and similar liquids as if they were solid ground.

12th – Long-Distance Runner: You gain a +2 bonus to your fatigue tolerance.

18th – Cloud Runner: During your movement with the sprint ability, you can move on clouds, fog, and similar gaseous substances as if they were solid ground.

18th – Rapid Movement++: The speed bonus increases to +20 feet.

Swim Specialization [Skill]

Prerequisite: Swim as a trained skill.

1st – Specialization: You gain a +2 bonus to the Swim skill.

6th – Swim Speed: You gain an average swim speed (see Movement Modes, page 34).

12th – Specialization+: The bonus from your specialization ability increases to +4.

18th – Earth Swimmer: You gain a slow burrow speed (see Movement Modes, page 34).

Telepath ✨ [General, Magical]

Prerequisite: Intelligence and Willpower sum to at least 3

1st – Telepathy: You gain telepathy with a 120 foot range (see Telepathy, page 588). If you already have telepathy, the range of your telepathy increases by 120 feet.

6th – Telepathic Tribulation:

Telepathic Tribulation ✨

Standard action

Tags: Compulsion

Make an attack vs. Mental against one creature within half the maximum range of your telepathy. You gain an accuracy bonus with this attack equal to half the sum of your Intelligence and Willpower.

Hit: 1d6 damage + half power.

Injury: The target becomes stunned (-2 defenses) as a condition.

Level 9: The damage bonus from your power increases to be equal to your power.

Level 12: The base damage increases to 1d10.

Level 15: The damage bonus increases to 1d6 per 3 power.

Level 18: The target becomes confused (-2 defenses, randomly attack or defend) instead of stunned.

12th – Read Mind:

Read Mind ✨

Standard action

Tags: Emotion, Subtle, Sustain (standard)

Make an attack vs. Mental against a creature within half the maximum range of your telepathy. You use your full Intelligence or Willpower in place of half your Perception to determine your accuracy with this attack (see Accuracy, page 13). Whether you hit or miss, you cannot attack the target with this ability again until it finishes a short rest.

Hit: You know the target's current thoughts and emotions. In addition to the obvious effects, this grants you a +5 bonus to Deception, Persuasion, Intimidate, and Social Insight attacks and checks against the target. This bonus does not stack with other effects that allow you access to the target's mind, such as read emotions. You cannot directly search the target's mind for arbitrary thoughts or information. However, creatures often think about questions they are asked, and their thoughts may reveal much more than their words.

Critical hit: You can also delve through the target's mind to answer a specific question. You can pose a question to it mentally and search its mind to know the exact answer to that question. This takes five rounds of continuous concentration, and you can only get answers to one such question each time you use this ability. The process of searching a creature's mind in this way is no easier to notice than normal for a Subtle ability.

You gain a +2 accuracy bonus for every 3 levels beyond 12.

12th – Telepathy+: You can maintain mental channels with up to 5 creatures at once with your telepathy. You can send separate thoughts to each creature.

18th – Mindsight: You can perfectly see intelligent creatures within the maximum range of your telepathy. This functions like blindsight, except that it only allows you to see creatures with an Intelligence of -2 or higher.

18th – ⚡ Telepathy++: The range of your telepathy increases by 120 feet.

Toughness [General]

Prerequisite: Constitution 2.

1st – Fortified Body: You gain a +3 bonus to your Fortitude defense. In addition, you need half the normal amount of rest and sleep each day to function normally. For example, a human would only need four hours of sleep per night. This does not reduce the time required for you to take a long rest.

6th – Durable: You gain a +4 bonus to your durability.

12th – Fortified Body+: The defense bonus from your fortified body ability increases to +6. In addition, you also only need half the normal amount of time to complete a long rest.

18th – Unbreakable: Your Constitution does not increase your injury point.

Trickshot [Combat]

Prerequisite: Dexterity 2, Intelligence 1.

1st – Alchemical Arrow: As a standard action, you can apply a consumable alchemical item to an arrow. The item does not have its normal area or any other immediate effect. When you make a strike using that arrow, the alchemical item has its normal effect on one target of the strike. If the alchemical item would normally affect an area, that area is centered on your chosen target. The alchemical item makes its own attack roll separately from the attack roll for the strike. You can intentionally miss with the arrow while still delivering the alchemical item to its intended target, allowing you to apply healing potions and similar effects from a distance.

At the end of the next round after you use this ability, the arrow and alchemical item are destroyed.

6th – Carom: Whenever you make a strike with an arrow, you can have it bounce off of one obstacle before it reaches its destination. You use the square on the obstacle that you bounce off of as a targeting proxy for your strike. The obstacle takes no damage, but it must be at least Small size and stable. You measure the total distance travelled by the arrow from you to the obstacle, and from the obstacle to the target, to determine the range of your attack.

You take a -2 accuracy penalty with the strike when you use this ability. If you cannot see the target, you suffer the normal 50% miss chance for making a blind targeted attack.

12th – Alchemical Arrow+: When you use an alchemical item with a rank lower than your character rank, the alchemical arrow lasts for ten minutes before it is destroyed. This can allow you to prepare multiple alchemical arrows before combat. You still cannot recover alchemical items from arrows prepared with this ability, so preparing an alchemical arrow always consumes the item.

18th – Carom+: You no longer take an accuracy penalty when you use this ability.

Twinhand Spellcaster ⚡ [Casting, Magical]

Prerequisite: Dexterity 2.

1st – ⚡ Twinhand Precision: You can always choose to use somatic components to cast your spells (see Ability Usage Components, page 43). As long as you have two free hands and are not using a magic implement, you gain a +1 accuracy bonus with spells that you cast using somatic components.

6th – ⚡ Twinspell:

Twinspell ⚡ Standard action

Cost: One fatigue level, and you briefly cannot use this ability again.

You can only use this ability if you have two free hands and are not using a magic implement.

Choose two spells that you know. You cast both spells simultaneously, one with each hand. This gives the spells somatic components, regardless of any other effects which would normally prevent you from requiring somatic components. Both spells must affect completely different targets, with no overlap between their targets or areas (if any). You cannot use the desperate exertion ability to affect either spell.

12th – Twinned Power: You gain a +2 bonus to your magical power.

18th – ⚡ Twinhand Precision+: The bonus from your twinhand precision ability increases to +2.

Twin-Weapon Fighting [Combat]

Prerequisite: Dexterity 2.

1st – Twin-Wielding: You are considered to be twin-wielding while two of your hands are each wielding an weapon of the same type, such as a smallsword or handaxe. Each hand must hold a different weapon, rather than simply holding a heavy weapon in two hands. You can use natural weapons to meet this condition, such as claws, as long as your hand is exclusively dedicated to using the natural weapon and not holding or being used for anything else. Several abilities from this feat only function while you are twin-wielding.

1st – Twin-Weapon Stance: At the start of each round, you can enter one of the stances below or change which stance you are in. You can maintain that stance as long as you are twin-wielding.

- Balanced: You gain a +1 bonus to your Armor defense. This bonus is considered to come from a shield, and it does not stack with the benefits of using any other shield.
- Deflecting Offhand: You gain a +3 bonus to your Armor defense. However, you cannot make dual strikes. This bonus is considered to come from a shield, and it does not stack with the benefits of using any other shield.
- Overburdened Offhand: If neither weapon is Light, you are empowered (add rank to damage).
- Steady Hands: You gain a +2 accuracy bonus with dual strikes. However, you cannot get critical hits with dual strikes.

6th – ⚡ Twinned Enhancement: If you are twin-wielding with one magical ⚡ weapon and one mundane weapon that is not made of a special property, you can attune to the magical weapon multiple times. For each additional time you attune to the magical weapon, you can copy one of its magical properties that does not require a deep attunement to your mundane weapon. Normally, weapons can only have one magical property, but this can allow you to copy multiple properties from a composite weapon.

12th – Paired Precision: You gain a +1 bonus to accuracy with strikes using weapons that you are twin-wielding.

18th – Twin-Weapon Stance+: The bonus from this ability improves:

- Balanced: The bonus increases to +2.
- Deflecting Offhand: The bonus increases to +4.
- Overburdened Offhand: You also deal 1d6 extra damage with dual strikes.
- Steady Hands: The accuracy bonus increases to +3.

Wardweaver ✨ [Casting, Magical]

Prerequisite: Knowledge of a spell with the Barrier tag.

1st – ✨ Hardened Barriers: Objects you create using abilities with the Barrier ability tag gain a bonus equal to your power to their maximum hit points.

6th – ✨ Defensive Barriers: You gain a +1 bonus to your Armor defense. In addition, objects you create with Barrier abilities have minimum defenses equal to $5 + \text{half your level}$. If the object already has specific defenses listed, it gains a +2 bonus to those defenses.

12th – ✨ Barrier Spell: You learn a spell with the Barrier ability tag from any mystic sphere that your magic source gives access to, even if you do not have access to that mystic sphere. When you gain access to new spell ranks, you can change which Barrier spell you know.

18th – ✨ Defensive Barriers+: Your Armor defense bonus from your defensive barriers ability increases to +2. In addition, objects you create with Barrier abilities gain an additional +2 bonus to their defenses.

18th – ✨ Hardened Barriers+: The hit point bonus from your hardened barriers ability increases to twice your power.

Weapon Focus [Combat]

1st – Focused Weapon: Choose one type of weapon, such as a broadsword. This is your focused weapon, and your abilities from this feat give you benefits with your focused weapon.

1st – Mighty Weapon: The weapon damage of your focused weapon increases by one step in the order below:

- 1d3
- 1d4
- 1d6
- 1d8
- 1d10
- 2d6
- 2d8
- 2d10

6th – Precise Focus: You gain a +1 enhancement bonus to accuracy with strikes using your focused weapon.

12th – Weapon Supremacy: Whenever you miss with a strike using your focused weapon, you still deal half damage. Any effects other than damage do not apply.

18th – Precise Focus+: The accuracy bonus increases to +2.

Whirlwind Warrior [Combat]

Prerequisite: Dexterity 2.

1st – Unfettered Movement: You can move through spaces occupied by enemies as if they were unoccupied. In addition, if you share space with exactly one other creature within one size category of you, you and that creature are not squeezing (-2 Armor and Ref). While using this ability to move through enemies, you can only end your movement in occupied space if you would not be considered squeezing by doing so.

6th – Cyclone:

Cyclone	Standard action
	When you use this ability, make a melee strike with 1d4 extra damage . The strike targets all enemies adjacent to you.
Level 9:	The extra damage increases to be equal to half your power .
Level 12:	The strike deals double weapon damage .
Level 15:	The strike deals quadruple weapon damage .
Level 18:	The extra damage increases to be equal to your power . In addition, the strike targets all enemies within a Small (15 ft.) radius of you.

12th – Eye of the Storm: You gain a +1 bonus to your Armor and Reflex defenses against creatures that you are sharing space with.

18th – Eye of the Storm+: The bonus increases to +2.

Chapter 13

The World

Rise does not attempt to define a single geography with specific countries and locations that is shared between all games. It is common for GMs to define their own setting when running a game, and that freedom is important. However, the universe of Rise does differ in a number of important ways from the real world. The fundamental assumptions that Rise makes about its fantasy world are:

- Magic is commonly known but rarely understood.
- Elite people and monsters have vastly more physical and magical personal power than normal people.
- When you die, your soul goes to an afterlife where deities exist.
- Spiritually similar things are attracted to each other by a fundamental force called "affinity"

These core elements are ambiguous about some details, and GMs are encouraged to fill in those details as they see fit. Of course, a GM has absolute power, and can create a world that changes any number of these assumptions. However, doing so can significantly change the tone of the game and create logical inconsistencies, so it should be done carefully.

Magic

The world of Rise is a magical place. Many people are capable of using magic to perform feats that would be impossible in the real world. Not everyone is capable of magic, of course. It's reasonable to assume that about ten percent of the civilized people in the world have a magical ability of some kind. In some societies, such as a feudal human-dominated society with a large number of commoners and serfs, the percentage of people with magic can be lower. However, this is balanced by the existence of other societies that tend to be more magical, such as elven communes in deep forests. Even in low-magic societies, everyone knows that magic exists, and almost everyone has observed something magical at some point in their lives.

People can have magical abilities for a wide variety of reasons. There are three main categories to explain why people can access magic: intrinsic magic, learned magic, and gifted magic. Each class with magical abilities belongs to one of these groups. Characters with magical feats are free to choose any of those three explanations for their feats. The explanation does not have to be the same as for any other magical abilities they possess. For example, a cleric may be gifted their magical cleric abilities because they worship a particular deity, but they may also be naturally telepathic.

Some people are simply intrinsically magical. They may require training and experience to improve their natural magical talents, but they had magical capabilities before doing any training. This intrinsic magic can come from magical ancestry, unusual birth circumstances, magical experimentation, exposure to powerful magic, simple random chance, or any number of other sources. This is the standard explanation for sorcerers. In addition, this is the most common explanation for the magical abilities of monsters.

Some people gain access to magic through personal training or research. These people find ways to tap into some pre-existing magical property of the universe and manipulate it at their command. This is the standard explanation for monks, rangers with the Beastmaster archetype, rogues with the Bardic Music archetype, and wizards.

Some people are gifted magic by their association with powerful magical entities or forces. They offer worship, allegiance, or their souls, and are granted magical power in exchange. This is the standard explanation for clerics, druids, paladins, and votives.

Personal Power

The median person in the world of Rise is not particularly more or less capable than the median person in the real world. Training can help people improve their skills, but as in the real world, anyone who tries to improve themselves through training and practice eventually reaches an upper limit to their potential. However, unlike in the real world, people in Rise can reach beyond their ordinary limitations. By defeating powerful foes and performing great deeds that influence the world around them, people can gain levels, which allows them to reach new heights of power. At high levels, people can perform clearly superhuman feats that would be impossible for ordinary humans, even without the influence of magic.

People in Rise wouldn't usually talk about "levels" as a discrete concept ranging from 1 to 21. They would perceive the world as a spectrum, and the specific divisions would be more subtle. However, they would be aware that some people are fundamentally stronger and more skilled than others. Individual scholars or scholastic groups may create their own concepts in-universe to categorize and explain the phenomenon of levels, since the growth of personal power over time is observable and studiable. However, those in-universe concepts would never exactly replicate the metagame concept of a level.

It is common for people in positions of political power to also wield unusually large amounts of personal power. High level individuals can be savvier, wiser, and more persuasive than any ordinary human. They are more likely than low-level individuals to be able to gain political power through whatever means they see fit, and more likely to maintain their hold on that power. In addition, political power can grant further opportunities for performing great deeds, which helps those in power to gain levels and stay ahead of any competition.

The fastest path to acquiring personal power does not come from pursuing political power. It comes from adventuring. Adventurers can defeat powerful monsters, help towns in need, and otherwise have a significant personal influence on the world. In the process of these adventures, they can amass personal power much more rapidly than ordinary people. Of course, adventuring also has an unusually high risk of death. Even worse, people who die while adventuring often leave their corpse in the middle of nowhere - in a monster's stomach - which prevents them from being resurrected without incredibly rare magic. Adventurers must constantly seek out new challenges to test their limits, or else they will stagnate and stop acquiring personal power, so it is never a sustainable long-term activity. There are many people in the world who were adventurers at some point in their past, and everyone is familiar with the concept, but active adventurers are still unusual.

Deities and Afterlives

When a humanoid creature dies in Rise, they know beyond a shadow of a doubt that they will go to an afterlife. Most likely, they know exactly which afterlife they will go to, either as a result of their alignment or their worship of a particular deity. In that afterlife, they will live again for as long as they want, though they cannot leave without being magically resurrected. People are confident that this is true because deities have told them so, and deities are provably real. Also, rare and powerful magic can be used to communicate with people in their afterlife, or even to physically travel to an afterlife plane.

It is an undisputed fact that Rise is filled with a wide variety of deities of varying power and influence. They divinely empower their clerics to act on their behalf. Many people know, through some chain of connections, someone who chose to become a cleric and was quickly rewarded with divine magic far beyond anything they could previously do on their own. Everyone has heard legends of deities intervening more directly in the world even without a cleric, though these stories are rare and few have experienced them firsthand.

There are five Spiritual Planes, with one plane for each primary alignment. People generally know that the five planes exist, and have an expectation of where they will go. In particular, it is well known that the Abyss, where evildoers go after death, is much less pleasant than the other afterlife planes. One of the reasons that some people worship evil deities is to gain a promise of safety, since evil deities protect their worshippers from demonic torment in the afterlife. It is also said that demons only torment the weak-willed, and that those who escape demonic torments are free to live in hedonistic luxury. There is truth in this, though there are far more people who are confident that they would rule proudly in the Abyss than people who succeed.

A list of specific well-known deities is given in Table 13.1: Deities. The many minor deities worshipped by monsters are not listed here. Of course, the GM may use their own custom pantheon.

Affinity

Affinity works in essentially the same way as gravity, but it is more selective. Gravity attracts all matter to all other matter, and its strength is proportional to total mass. Affinity attracts similar souls to other similar souls, and its strength is proportional to the strength of the souls. It has no effect on things without souls, and it is generally weaker than gravity, but operates at a longer distance.

While alive, creatures are affected by the pull of affinity, but it is so weak compared to gravity that it is essentially impossible to observe or measure. When a creature dies and a soul is severed from its body, the pull of affinity usually becomes the strongest force acting on the untethered soul. This pulls the soul towards the Spiritual Planes that it is most connected to. It passes through the Astral Expanse on the way, but since it has no physical substance, it is unharmed by the journey.

The similarities that determine how affinity affects a soul are complex and multifaceted. Alignment is a factor, but personal choice is also significant, such as worshipping a particular deity in life. The most powerful form of affinity comes from formal, magically enforced ownership, such as a votive who has pledged their soul to a soulkeeper.

The Spiritual Planes are forged from the souls of eons of living creatures. They are incredibly powerful sources of affinity, and they act most powerfully on their most powerful inhabitants - deities. In a sense, deities are actually prisoners of their home planes. They have virtually unlimited power within that plane, but affinity prevents them from using that power directly elsewhere. This is why deities must channel their power through other agents, like angels and clerics. The bond of affinity that clerics forge with their deity allows deities to send a small part of their power across the vast distance between the Spiritual Planes and the Material Plane.

Sympathetic Magic

Sympathetic magic, which relies on similarities between distant targets, uses principles similar to affinity. However, it can affect objects which do not themselves have souls. Because affinity is a pulling force, it is generally easier to draw distant effects to you with affinity than it is to act directly on distant targets, and the same applies to sympathetic magic. For example, the conjoined conjuration – Ventus spell conjures wind from Ventus to the caster's location. That is much easier than sending air from your location to Ventus.

Cosmology

The universe of Rise can be generally divided into three parts: the Material Plane, the Spiritual Planes, and the Astral Expanse. The Material Plane consists of a central sun and a number of planets orbiting that sun. Everything in the Material Plane is essentially ordinary matter, and it generally obeys real-world physics.

The Spiritual Planes are made from essentia, which is the residue left behind when souls decay into nonexistence. They are shaped by the deities that have lived there since the dawn of civilization. When mortal souls die, they travel to an appropriate Spiritual Plane for their afterlife. Deities often reside in highly unique territories that may have impossible physical properties such as inverted gravity. However, the Spiritual Planes generally function like the real world unless otherwise specified.

The Astral Expanse is entirely different. Unlike the Material Plane and Spiritual Planes, the Astral Expanse has four spatial dimensions. The Material Plane and Spiritual Planes are three-dimensional projections within the four-dimensional space of the Astral Expanse. Anything entering them is compressed into three dimensions. That is why they are called "planes", like a plane is a two-dimensional object within a three-dimensional space.

It is impossible for mortals to reach the Spiritual Planes by normal means. To do so, they would have to move through the fourth spatial dimension. Imagine that there are two pieces of paper resting flat on different shelves. You could make each paper as long and wide as you want, but they would never intersect each other, because they are parallel. To move from one piece of paper to the other, you would have to move in a third dimension: vertically. In the same way, you could fly in any direction for any length of time and never reach the Spiritual Plane.

Planar Rifts

Planar rifts are places where the fabric of a plane has "folded" to directly connect two distant locations within a single plane. The two locations on either side of the rift are physically next to each other, so travel through a planar rift is not magical. It just involves walking from one side of the rift to the other.

On their own, planar rifts generally disappear within a few days. This time can be extended with the stabilize planar rift ritual. Some extraordinary planar rifts last for years without magical intervention. The forge planar rift ritual is the only way to create a planar rift, and the planar rifts created in that way are temporary.

Demiplanes

In addition to the main three categories, there may also exist smaller planes scattered throughout the Astral Expanse. These demiplanes may be composed of ordinary material, essentia, or both, and they can have widely varied properties. Most demiplanes were created for particular purposes by beings of great power, though some simply came into existence through unknown means.

Soulforged Creatures

The Spiritual Planes have native inhabitants, but they are not born in the same way as creatures of the Material Plane. Angels, demons, devils, and other such creatures are made from the essentia of their corresponding Spiritual Plane. They are called soulforged creatures because they are made of essentia, which comes from souls. Most such creatures do not have their own souls. They are agents of deities and other powerful figures, used to enforce their will.

When a soulforged is destroyed, its essentia is absorbed by the plane it is on. This is one reason that soulforged creatures rarely leave their home plane, since dying on other planes is a net loss of essentia to their creators. If a soulforged has a soul and a strong will, the soul travels to its home plane like mortal souls do. It can generally make a new body for itself within a week if it died on another plane, or within a day if it died on its home plane. Soulforged that die without a soul, or with a soul too weak to reconstitute itself, do not reform.

Realm Traits

Specific areas can have unusual traits. Effects that change how physics or magic work in a particular area are called realm traits. It is common for the divine dominion of deities to have special realm traits chosen by the deity. Unusual realms can also exist naturally in any Spiritual Plane. Esoteric realm traits are less common on the Material Plane, but some planets or magical areas have unusual traits.

Atmosphere

The atmosphere in a realm can take one of the following forms:

- Air: The realm has breathable air suitable for humans. This is the default for all locations unless otherwise specified.
- Vacuum: The realm has no atmosphere at all. At the end of each round, everything in the realm takes 10 cold damage unless it is protected from the cold.
- Unbreathable: The realm has an atmosphere, but creatures that need air are unable to breathe it.

Gravity Direction

The direction of gravity in a realm can take one of the following forms:

- Massive: Gravity pulls towards object based on their mass, as it does in the real world. This is the default for all locations unless otherwise specified.
- Fixed: Gravity points in a fixed direction and with a fixed strength at all locations in the realm.
- Absolute directional: Gravity points in a consistent direction according to a rule that applies equally to everything on the realm, but which is not in a fixed direction. For example, a realm filled with floating spheres where gravity always points towards the closest sphere, but the strength and direction of gravity does not depend on the mass of the spheres, has absolute directional gravity.

- Subjective: Each creature in the realm chooses the direction of gravity for that creature. The realm has no gravity for unattended objects and mindless creatures. You can control gravity in a subjective gravity realm using the control gravity ability.

Control Gravity

Minor action

You can only use this ability while in a realm with subjective gravity.

Make a Willpower check with a difficulty value of 10. Success means that you choose the direction of gravity that applies to you in your current realm. Alternately, you can choose for gravity to not apply to you.

Failure means you gain a +2 bonus to the next control gravity ability you use in your current realm. This bonus stacks with itself and lasts until you succeed with this ability.

Gravity Strength

The strength of gravity in a realm can take one of the following forms:

- Normal Gravity: Gravity is about the strength of Earth. This is the default for all locations unless otherwise specified.
- None: There is no gravity in the realm. The weight of all objects is reduced by one weight category. Even while weightless, objects still have mass, so heavy objects can still slow your movements. The range limits of ranged weapons are quadrupled. Falling damage is impossible. A creature that jumps continues at the same rate indefinitely.
- Light: Gravity is about half the strength of Earth. The weight of all objects is halved. The range limits of ranged weapons are doubled. The horizontal and vertical jump distances for all creatures are doubled. Falling damage is halved.
- Heavy: Gravity is about twice the strength of Earth. The weight of all objects is doubled. The range limits of ranged weapons are halved, to a minimum of 5 feet. The horizontal and vertical jump distances for all creatures are halved. Falling damage is doubled. All fly speeds have a height limit of 5 feet, and gliding is impossible.
- Extreme: Gravity is about four times the strength of Earth. The weight of all objects is increased by one weight category. The range limits of ranged weapons are reduced to one quarter of their normal value, to a minimum of 5 feet. The horizontal and vertical jump distances for all creatures are also reduced to one quarter. Falling damage is quadrupled. Flying and gliding is impossible.

Light

Various realms are illuminated in different ways. Unless otherwise specified, this only determines whether there is an ambient source of light. It does not affect the behavior of other sources of light, such as torches or a sun. A realm can have multiple simultaneous traits that change its light.

- None: There is no ambient source of light in the realm. This is the default for all realms unless otherwise specified.
- Fixed Source: There is a single constant source of light in the realm.
- Mobile Source: There is a single source of light in the realm that moves around it, illuminating different parts of the realm at different times.
- Universal: All parts of the realm, even indoors, are constantly illuminated with either shadowy illumination or bright illumination. Total darkness is impossible without magic.
- Suppressed: All sources of light are downgraded to one step, to a minimum of either total darkness or shadowy illumination. This means bright illumination becomes shadowy, and brilliant illumination becomes bright.

Magic

Some realms have strange effects on the use of magic. A realm can have multiple simultaneous traits that change its magic.

- Normal: Magic functions normally. This is the default for all realms unless otherwise specified.
- Suppressed: Whenever a creature in the realm uses a magical ability as a standard action, minor action, or elite action, it must roll $1d10 + \text{its rank}$. If the result is less than 10, the ability fails with no effect. This does not affect other types of magical abilities, such as passive magical abilities.
- Siphoning: Creatures in the realm have no attunement points, and they immediately deattune from all of their effects as soon as they enter the realm.
- Nullified: Creatures in the realm have no magical abilities of any kind. Magic items in the realm have no effect and cannot be attuned to.

Temperature

Some realms have unusual temperature effects. A realm can have multiple simultaneous traits that change its temperature.

- Normal: Temperature is determined normally. This is the default for all realms unless otherwise specified.
- Warm: The realm has a minimum ambient temperature that it reaches if left alone, even indoors. Specific locations can still be cooled with effort.
- Siphoning: The realm siphons heat away. Sources of heat, such as fire, still have their normal temperature. However, that temperature is lost quickly as it radiates. It takes approximately four times the normal amount of heat to warm an area. Some realms may siphon heat more or less intensely.

Planets of the Material Plane

The Material Plane consists of planets orbiting a central sun, named Sol. Each planet has its own composition and structure, and many are inhospitable for normal humans. It is possible to fly through space between the planets, though space is extremely dangerous, so magical transportation is much more common. Each planet is listed below in order of its distance from the sun.

Terra

Terra is an unusually large planet with intense gravity. Many of its inhabitants are adapted to the experience, but it is challenging for newcomers.

The surface of Terra is almost devoid of air, burning hot during the day, and freezing at night. Its variable and harsh conditions make it inhospitable to almost everything. Instead, creatures on Terra live underground in its sturdy rock. A labyrinthine series of mostly airless tunnels weave their way through the planet. Some underground cities even contain air, which is carefully controlled to prevent it from escaping.

Deep tunnels on the plane can lead to gems, diamonds, and rare metals like mithral. However, the dense rock and airless environment make successful mining difficult. In addition, earthquakes periodically reshape the environment by collapsing old tunnel systems and constructing new ones. The deepest tunnels are blisteringly hot, and terminate in vast oceans of magma.

Terra has the following nonstandard realm traits:

- Gravity: Heavy.

Ignis

Ignis is a burning planet with a thick atmosphere. It is hot enough to light ordinary wood on fire within minutes. Instead of rivers of water, it has rivers of lava, and firestorms frequently illuminate the sky. Unlike Terra, the planet's surface is generally a mixture of sand and glass, so tunneling to escape the hostile conditions is infeasible. There are a few enclaves that maintain slightly more liveable temperatures through magical means, but they are rare.

Nexus

Nexus is an Earth-like planet inhabited by humanoid creatures and covered in a mixture of biomes. Almost all fantasy adventures typically start on this world, and many never leave it. The name of this planet may change in a particular campaign setting, or there may be multiple separate planets that fit this general description.

Luna / Arcadia

Luna is a moon of Nexus. Although it appears barren and lifeless from Nexus, like the real life moon, that is an ancient magical illusion. In reality, Luna is a verdant paradise ruled by fae, who call it Arcadia. This is not common knowledge, but it is also not a closely guarded secret. A DV 15 Knowledge (local) check is enough to know Luna's true nature. Even people who do not know about the illusion generally know that fae are associated with Luna.

Ventus

Ventus is a gas giant with powerful winds and frequent storms. It does not have an ordinary surface, though the air becomes thicker as you descend into its depths in a way that eventually renders all travel impossible. The vast majority of creatures on Ventus can fly, though there are flying cities where landbound creatures from other worlds can reside.

Aqua

Aqua is a water planet with an ocean that is up to a hundred miles deep. Its surface is covered in a thick layer of ice, and creatures adapted to the cold live on its surface. The deepest depths of the ocean terminate in a mysterious ice-like substance that seems to exist despite the warmth of the water. Towering underwater mountains break up the underwater landscape, though they rarely reach above the ice cap.

Powerful currents sweep through the ocean, but much of it is calm, and many forms of aquatic life abound in the water. Magnificent underwater cities are carved from huge rocks that float peacefully suspended in the water, or are embedded into mountains. Though the sun is distant and diffused by the surface ice, the ocean is warmed by extensive underwater vents. Simple creatures akin to plankton feed on the energy from those vents and form the base of the ocean's food chain. Many of them are bioluminescent

Space

The space between planets is vast and hostile to travellers. It is almost entirely empty, though asteroids and comets may pass by on rare occasions. There are no creatures native to space.

Space has the following nonstandard realm traits:

- Atmosphere: Vacuum.
- Gravity: None. If you are sufficiently close to a planet, you begin experiencing its gravity, but most of space is devoid of gravity for practical purposes.

Spiritual Planes

The five Spiritual Planes are manifestations of the five core alignments. Elysium is good-aligned, the Abyss is evil-aligned, Concord is law-aligned, Monody is chaos-aligned, and Haven is neutral-aligned. They are made from essentia, the substance left behind when souls decompose. This makes them much more malleable than the Material Plane.

Essentia responds to the will exerted by creatures with souls. This is how deities form their divine dominions, which can have arbitrary and impossible rules and physics. Even ordinary creatures, such as the souls of mortals living out their afterlife, can create smaller changes in the world around them. As a result, individual regions within each Spiritual Plane can have widely varied traits that do not match that Spiritual Plane as a whole.

Each Spiritual Plane has roughly the same usable space as the surface of a planet, though they can have vastly different shapes.

Elysium

Elysium is a beautiful and majestic world. It is shaped like a shallow bowl. The concave side is significantly more populated, and it is what most people think of when they imagine Elysium. Mountains rise dramatically out of misty clouds, trees are massive and laden with delicious fruit, and buildings surpass the wildest dreams of mortal architects. A serene blue sky gives way to a night so lit by stars that it is almost as bright as the day. Because of the world's bowl-like structure, you can see the majestic landscape spread out in every direction even from flat ground, and the view from mountains is breathtaking.

The underside of Elysium is wreathed in fog and an endless tranquil twilight. It is a place for contemplation, serenity, and isolation.

Mortal souls inhabiting Elysium are guided and assisted by the choirs. The choirs refer collectively to all of the seraphim, cherubim, angels, archangels, and other benevolent creatures native to Elysium.

Elysium has the following nonstandard realm traits:

- Gravity: Absolute directional. At any location on the plane, gravity pulls towards the bowl's core, so creatures can walk normally on the bowl from any location. If you were exactly between the top and bottom of the bowl at any point along its breadth, you would not experience gravity. However, there are no natural tunnels that reach that deep below the surface.
- Light: Fixed and mobile sources. The "top" of the plane has a false sun that travels through the sky each day, creating day/night cycles like the Material Plane. At night, the stars are so plentiful and bright that the world is almost as bright as the day. The bottom of the plane has enough stars to generate shadowy illumination.

The Abyss

The Abyss is a desolate and brutal plane. It consists of cliffs surrounding a deep central pit. The highest point of the cliffs, and their back faces, extend out into the Astral Expanse. The cliffs are jagged and broken, with large cliff shelves between elevation changes that are relatively flat. Divine dominions often take advantage of those areas, and some cliff shelves can hold entire countries.

New mortal souls generally arrive at the bottom of the pit. This gives them safety in numbers from demons and other threats, but conditions are crowded and unpleasant, so most mortals climb the cliffs to find better opportunities. Higher elevations are generally higher status, though some powerful creatures choose to live closer to the base of the pit.

With the exception of the great palaces of the Lords of the Abyss, most buildings that exist are designed for defense rather than aesthetics. The terrain is typically rocky and dull, and most of the color belongs to carcasses left behind after violent battles. All manner of nightmarish creatures stalk the Abyss. The best known of these creatures are demons and devils.

Demons are soulforged creatures that echo the emotions of mortal souls that enter the Abyss. They are chaotic creatures that are driven entirely by the primal emotion that birthed them. This makes them functionally insane, and they are almost always driven to lash out at everything around them. Rage-born demons violently attack anything they see, pain-born demons try to lessen their pain by sharing it, and so on. Some demons are naturally spawned in reaction to mortal souls, but others are intentionally created and directed by evil deities.

Demons generally avoid attacking other demons, since they can find no gratification for their urges in attacking soulless creatures. Instead, they hunt creatures with complete souls, which generally means attacking the afterlife bodies of evil-aligned creatures who went to the Abyss for their afterlife. If they have access to ordinary mortal, they eagerly hunt them, as they are generally easier prey. Demonic incursions into other planes are devastating but fortunately rare.

Unlike demons, devils are lawful creatures with a functioning society. Devil-run cities are isolated enclaves in the general chaos of the Abyss, and many mortal souls choose to live there. The laws there are not necessarily fair or ethical, but they are scrupulously followed. Devils are far less numerous than demons, since they cannot simply spawn accidentally like demons do. Instead, every devil must be intentionally created.

Since most devils do not have souls, this requires the intervention of creatures with souls. This generally means that devils must make deals with mortals or deities. They do that when they can, since the more servants a devil has, the greater their power. The greatest prize for a devil is to gain mastery over a mortal soul. They can use its ability to manipulate essentia to create powerful servants or reshape their home in the Abyss to their liking. This makes powerful devils common soulkeepers, and they seek out votives wherever possible.

Some powerful devils leave the devil-run cities to establish their own territory. This generally requires that they must already have control of multiple mortal souls, or their territory could be reshaped by any passing mortal. A devil that can establish its own territory gains the title of Lord of the Abyss, and it is a title that almost all devils desperately crave.

The Abyss has the following nonstandard realm traits:

- Gravity: Fixed directional. Gravity pulls towards the side of the plane with the deep pit.
- Light: Fixed. A blood-red orb hovers directly over the central pit above the highest cliffs, casting bright illumination throughout the plane.

Concord

Concord is a hollow cube that is divided into a myriad of different levels and rooms. The cube is made from hardened essentia that functions like pure adamantine, except that it is self-healing when damaged and cannot be removed from the plane. Although it can bend to exceptionally strong-willed souls, it returns to its original shape and structure when not actively controlled. The boundaries of the cube are precisely aligned with the extent of the plane itself, so anything standing on the outside of the cube would be in the Astral Expanse. Each level and room is organized in a consistent way, making navigation easy once you understand the system. The center of each level is a transit hub containing stairs, mechanical lifts, and magical portals to make travel easier.

Each level has its own rules, which are clearly explained in every language at that level's transit hub. Individual rooms often have their own additional rules, which may or may not be clearly communicated. They can be as large as countries or as small as closets. Large rooms often contain natural elements, such as forests or lakes, with ecosystems that are carefully kept in balance. Corridors run through the levels to facilitate travel between rooms, except for rooms which are intentionally isolated. Although Concord itself has no intrinsic light source, its corridors are generally well-lit by magical lights, and rooms often have their own lighting.

Concord is administered and inhabited by the moirai, who are soulforged native to that plane. Each moirai is an impartial arbiter and embodiment of a specific concept, directive, or material fact. Lesser moirai represent extremely specific or obscure concepts, while greater moirai represent universal truths or fundamental forces. Constructs called telos enforce the decisions of moirai and the rules of Concord.

Concord has the following nonstandard realm traits:

- Gravity: Fixed directional. Gravity pulls towards the bottom of the cube.

Monody

Monody is a constantly shifting plane. Even its core shape contorts and changes over time. It could be a hollow sphere where everyone lives on the inside, a torus twisting around itself, a collection of small spheres, or anything else.

The essentia comprising all Spiritual Planes is malleable to some degree, but Monody is the easiest to control. Even relatively weak-willed mortals can still bend the landscape around them to suit their desires. The real challenge is in making your changes permanent. Beyond actively shaped spaces, the terrain is constantly changing. In a matter of hours, a field might grow trees that are consumed by a forest fire before vast chasms open up and consume their charred remains.

The native inhabitants of Monody are called proteans. They are amorphous creatures that can freely reshape their bodies. Individual proteans tend to have forms they prefer to use. Proteans can feel mortals attempting to change them in the same way that mortals can shape inanimate essentia, though they can ignore those commands. Sometimes proteans choose to act like terrain for a while as part of their own games.

Fae are not native to Monody, but it is not uncommon to find them there. They enjoy its malleable nature, and its constant change helps fight their tendency to become bored.

Monody has the following nonstandard realm traits:

- Gravity: Subjective. The difficulty value to change your gravity on Monody is 0 instead of the normal 10.
- Light: Mobile source. The number of lights, and their color and direction, are highly variable. They usually provide bright illumination, and less commonly provide shadowy or brilliant illumination.

Haven

Haven is a stable spherical planet. Its basic structure resembles Nexus, though it is smaller and has no moon. It has a wide variety of biomes, and is generally peaceful and has a place for anyone.

Unlike the other Spiritual Planes, Haven has no native inhabitants. However, it has more mortal souls than any other Spiritual Plane, so there are still cities for those who prefer the company of others.

Haven has the following nonstandard realm traits:

- Light: Mobile source. A glowing orb orbits the planet, mimicking the sun as viewed from Haven.

The Astral Expanse

The true shape of the Astral Expanse is beyond a mortal mind's ability to comprehend. It has empty fields of space interspersed with objects and terrain of widely varying sizes, ranging from small rocks to planets. Some of the terrain seems to be natural, while other structures seem to be carved with skill. However, everything there has strange, unnatural angles that boggle the mind. A collection of separate sculptures may all move together, revealing that they are somehow the same object. Small objects can have immense mass, and large objects can be strangely light. Tiny objects floating in midair that are almost too small to see can be sharp and immovable enough to cut anything that passes into them. Objects can fold in on themselves, disappearing entirely, or rapidly grow out of nowhere. There is no safe place in the Astral Expanse for a three-dimensional creature, even ignoring the threat of intentional attack.

There are four-dimensional creatures native to the Astral Expanse, but they are horrifying and utterly incomprehensible. They are called the precursors, because they predate the three-dimensional planes that humanoids inhabit. Precursors drift or fly around the Astral Expanse hunting for food, making travel through the Astral Expanse extremely dangerous.

As four-dimensional creatures, the precursors are essentially invincible in the Astral Expanse. Fighting a precursor is like the drawings on a piece of paper trying to do battle against an artist holding a pencil. At most, the drawings could only ever interact with the tip of the pencil touching the paper. Even if they destroyed the tip, they could never understand or harm the artist themselves. Meanwhile, the pencil can freely draw inside the drawings without "passing through" their outer edge. No matter how reinforced the drawing's armor might be, it is irrelevant since the pencil could tap directly on their eyes or heart. Deities are sufficiently strong and uniform in composition to survive such internal attacks, but even they can only survive, not effectively counterattack.

The precursors are unable to directly enter or interact with the Material and Spiritual Planes. The flattening effect of the planes is lethal to their four-dimensional bodies, just like compressing a person into two dimensions would be lethal. As a result, they generally give the planes a wide berth. Nonliving objects from the Astral Expanse occasionally collide with the Material Plane. Typically, they appear in empty space as bizarre and misshapen asteroids, and they are either never seen or they burn up upon entering a planet's atmosphere, making this phenomenon essentially unnoticeable. On extremely rare occasions, they may arrive close to a planet's surface, creating inexplicable eldritch ruins on the ground or in caves. These become a hotbed of precursor cult activity if they are ever discovered.

Aberrations are the closest things to precursors on the Material

Plane. They arrived fully formed on Nexus within the past thousand years, and their bodies seem to operate fundamentally differently than other life. Some fear that aberrations are an attempt by precursors to invade the Material Plane, though how this would be accomplished on a larger scale remains unclear.

The Astral Expanse holds ancient monstrosities of cosmic size and power. Fortunately, they live far away from the Material and Spiritual Planes. In the same way that deities have difficulty leaving their Spiritual Plane, the cosmic force of affinity makes it difficult for precursor leviathans to leave their distant homes. Instead, they reside in a distant region of the Astral Expanse called the Eternal Void. They can still reach out through intermediaries and cultists, as deities do. On rare occasions, a precursor leviathan may try to more directly interfere with the Planes. That would be an interplanar crisis which even deities fear.

Chapter 14

The Expanded Universe

Expanding the Cosmology

Rise normally assumes there is only one Material Plane containing a single solar system. As a GM, you can decide that there are multiple independent Material Planes. You can also add multiple solar systems to a single Material Plane if that suits the needs of your campaign. Technically, that should be unstable since the solar systems should be pulled towards each other by gravity over time. You can handwave it by saying that magic keeps the systems apart. Alternatively, you can simply trust that your players will not scrutinize the physics of that universe too closely.

Creatures and Objects

In the world of Rise, creatures and objects are meaningfully different. Many abilities only affect creatures or objects. The difference between a creature and an object is agency. Creatures have agency, and objects do not. This is not the same as sentience or life, which either creatures or objects may have.

For example, skeletons are non-sapient, nonliving creatures. Conversely, trees are non-sapient, living objects. Some rare magic items can be made intelligent by magic, making them sapient, nonliving objects. Some unintelligent animals and magical beasts like ants and giant spiders are non-sapient, living creatures.

There are two types of creatures that are also objects in unusual ways: constructs and indwelt.

The Four Elements of Existence

The four elements that define existence in Rise are body, life, mind, and soul. Body and mind are fundamental elements, with simple and obvious effects. Life and soul are energetic elements, with more subtle and cosmic effects.

Physical Elements: Body and Life

Something has a body if its existence is physical. If something has a body, it is called corporeal. This is usually straightforward: trees, humans, and rocks all have bodies. Not everything with a body can be easily touched or seen. Clouds and gases are still corporeal, though they are intangible.

Life is the ability of the body to change and adapt over time. If something has life, it is called alive. Humans and trees are alive, but rocks are lifeless, and corpses are dead. Living things are constantly changing, and require input and output from their environment to maintain equilibrium. They almost always breathe, eat, sleep, and perform similar body maintenance activities.

Lifeless things do not need to perform those tasks, and their bodies typically persist unchanged without outside intervention. Some lifeless things exist in a state of gradual decay instead of permanent stasis. In either case, their bodies are defined by inert consistency rather than change and equilibrium.

Mental Elements: Mind and Soul

Something has a mind if it can understand aspects of its environment and react to it. If something has a mind, it is called intelligent. This is defined broadly, and not every intelligent creature is sentient or self-aware. Humans and other animals are intelligent, but trees and rocks are mindless.

A mind is a separate entity from a body. When an intelligent living creature dies, its mind can persist after the body's destruction. The brain is a tool that anchors and connects a mind to a body, not the fundamental mechanism that creates the mind. Damage to a brain can inhibit the connection between a mind and a body, diminishing a creature's functional intelligence, but it does not directly damage or alter the mind.

Soul is the ability of the mind to change and adapt over time. If something has a soul, it is called ensouled. Humans and other animals are ensouled, but artificial constructs like golems are soulless. Ensouled things are able to change their manner of thinking and personality over time. Some soulless entities can learn and retain information, and can be highly intelligent, but they cannot change their method of thought or fundamental opinions. If you lock a human and an intelligent artificial construct in a room for twenty years, the human's mind would emerge fundamentally changed and possibly insane, while the construct would simply have gained information that it had been in a room for twenty years.

Energetic Elements: Life and Soul

Life cannot exist independently of a body, and soul cannot exist independently of a mind. They are elements defined by change and adaptation. This may explain why they have such intrinsic power in Rise. Life and soul are the underlying power behind most superhuman effects in Rise.

Examples

- Some creatures are created when creatures die, but their minds refuse to pass on to the appropriate afterlife. These creatures have neither body nor life. They have a mind, and may or may not have a soul. This includes allips, ghosts, and wraiths.
- Some creatures are formed from planar essence to act as an embodiment of the plane's identity. These creatures have a body, but no life. They have a mind, but no soul. This includes angels, demons, and elementals.
- Some creatures are magically granted a semblance of life by animating an inanimate object. These creatures have a body, but no life. They have a mind, but no soul. This includes golems, skeletons, and zombies.
- Some creatures are able to move independently, but their responses to their surroundings are entirely instinctual, without any ability to form thoughts or make decisions. These creatures have a body and are alive. They have neither mind nor soul. This includes oozes, plants, and extremely simple animals like ants.
- When creatures die and their minds travel to the appropriate afterlife, they gain new bodies formed from the planar essence of their new home. These creatures have a body, but no life. They have both a mind and a soul.

Secrets of the Universe

There are many mysteries in the universe of Rise. This section gives a glimpse into some of the underlying truths, though few characters in the universe would understand such details.

Power Ultimately Derives From Life and Soul

When most creatures are born, they enter existence with life and a new soul. These energetic elements have great intrinsic power.

The more powerful the life, the more the body can change. The body of an elephant is much stronger than that of an ant. However, elephants and ants have similarly weak life energy, because the ability of their body to change and adapt to circumstances is limited. Humans can have greater life energy, as their bodies can undergo significant changes to adapt to their training and circumstances. Dragons represent the pinnacle of immense life energy. Their bodies undergo vast changes in power and shape over their lives. Similarly, the more powerful the soul, the more the mind can change.

Mechanically, life energy justifies a creature gaining levels that increase its physical abilities, and soul energy justifies a creature gaining levels that increase its mental abilities. Life energy is often associated with mundane abilities, and soul energy is often associated with magical abilities. That relationship is not strictly followed, since some mundane abilities are mental and some magical abilities are physical.

Variable Intrinsic Power

Not all lives and souls are equal in power. Most humanoid creatures and magical creatures have only a moderate amount of life and soul energy. They can train, fight, and learn, and this will increase their power. However, they will eventually reach limits that they cannot surpass. Some extraordinary individuals seem to be nearly limitless. They can change their minds and bodies to extreme degrees, acquiring vast power in the process.

Mechanically, this is represented by creatures gaining levels, but only up to a certain point. Player characters can gain levels without limit (unless the GM defines a level cap for their specific campaign). They also often level up much faster than other characters in the same universe who have similar experiences. If everyone in the universe of Rise acquired limitless power at the same rate as player characters, the world would be filled with superhuman demigods and country-destroying monsters. The fundamental limits of life and soul provide a narrative justification for a more traditional fantasy universe. They allow Rise to have grizzled old war veterans and mass-murdering monsters who are still only level 5 or so.

Transferring Power: Death and Sublimation

The intrinsic power of life and soul can be transferred. Life cannot exist without a body, and soul cannot exist without a mind. When a creature dies, its life and soul are shattered and vulnerable in the moments after death. With no body to anchor it, the life energy sublimates into pure energy. A strong mind can retain control of its soul, and travel intact to the appropriate afterlife. However, weak minds quickly break without being anchored to a body, allowing their souls to sublimate as well.

If creatures present at the death have a life or soul that is strong enough, they can consume part of this energy to enact changes in their own bodies or minds. This is a common method of power acquisition for adventurers and monsters, who often slay powerful foes. Certain rituals can also be used to feed on the powers of death more effectively. This can be used to benefit the ritual participants, or by demons and evil deities who feed on deaths offered to them in ritual sacrifices by their cultists.

Transferring a power through death is deeply inefficient. Under normal circumstances, only a fraction of the soul energy released in this way can be claimed by the killer. Some energy infuses the area, which can give rise to magical phenomena at areas of mass death or the death of particularly powerful entities. The rest goes to an appropriate afterlife or is claimed by Gaia.

Transferring Power: Connection

A soul's power can be transferred without the inefficiency of death. Commonly, it is simply freely given through love and emotional connection in the form of soul motes. Creatures who love each other naturally share small portions of their souls with each other. Over time, deeply connected creatures, such as old married couples, can mix their souls so fully that they become virtually indistinguishable.

Voluntary soul sharing does not have to be perfectly symmetric. Tyrants can earn soul motes through the enforced fear and subservience that they create in their underlings. Worship is another method of transferring soul motes, and many deities fundamentally derive power from the combined soul motes willingly given by their legions of worshippers. In exchange, deities can use their power to protect their worshippers, either through divinely empowered clerics or more rarely through direct intervention. More mundanely, adventurers who save a town from a dire threat may earn soul motes freely granted from the gratitude of its inhabitants.

Soul Motes and Splinters

Souls can be subdivided into lesser pieces. There are two forms of lesser soul pieces: motes and splinters.

Soul motes are emitted from souls unconsciously, like light is emitted from a torch. It is possible for a soul that emits a large number of soul motes to diminish if it does not receive any in exchange. For example, a minor underling who pledges their life to an uncaring leader might give away far more soul motes than they receive in exchange. Most people have enough interpersonal relationships to avoid this danger, but completely isolated people who are neither loved nor hated, but simply ignored, may diminish in this fashion. Even with this risk, the process of emitting soul motes is not harmful or individually significant in any way. In addition, individual soul motes are far too small to be manipulated or used by magical effects.

Soul splinters are created in a much more dramatic fashion. When a soul undergoes significant trauma that shakes its will and sense of self, it may splinter, losing a chunk of its soul. Of course, death is one of the greatest traumas of all, and almost all souls splinter to some degree when they die.

Soul splinters can be consumed or manipulated in a variety of ways. For example, skeletons and zombies are animated by splintering a soul that originally inhabited a corpse. The splinter is used to give the corpse a crude imitation of sentience - just enough to obey orders, but not enough to think for itself.

Potential and Acquired Power

The strength of a creature's life and soul determine the limits of its ability to progress. Many monsters reach the limit of their potential by the time they reach adulthood, and are unable to develop further. However, many humanoid creatures never discover their true limits, because they have never had the necessary experiences to develop their potential. A well-trained soldier will easily defeat a commoner in battle, but this does not mean that the soldier's life or soul is necessarily stronger. It simply means they have progressed farther towards their potential.

In a typical campaign setting, it's reasonable to assume that 20% of the humanoid population can reach 5th level, 2% can reach 10th level, and 0.2% can reach 15th level. Of course, most people don't have the life experiences necessary to reach their maximum potential. All player characters are assumed to have exceptional potential, and are able to reach 21st level, unless the GM says otherwise. Legendary monsters of epic proportions may even be able to surpass that limit.

Mysteries of the Soul

The mysteries of differing soul strength have no clear and consistent explanation. In broad terms, the strength of a creature's soul usually correlates to its emotional and intellectual potential, as well as its force of will. Humanoid creatures and dragons are unusually mentally capable - not just in raw intelligence, but also in empathy, determination, and capacity for belief - and correspondingly have unusually strong souls. There are individual exceptions that suggest that this is not the entire dimension of what causes strong and weak souls. Some animals have unusually strong souls for no known reason, causing them to develop over time into their "dire" variants. Dire animals, who have gained levels by feeding on soul splinters, are more aggressively malevolent than normal animals, though they show no greater signs of general intelligence. Perhaps there is simply an element of randomness in the creation of each new soul.

The fundamental mysteries of souls and their sharing are not widely known in the universe of Rise. Individual elements of this truth are widely known, such as the observation that people can become stronger by slaying monsters, but monsters do not seem to grow dramatically in power by killing people. Strange phenomena can occur where death occurred, and old battlegrounds are often haunted by naturally occurring undead. Learned scholars may understand that the civilized species like humans seem to have unusually strong souls, and that this is related to their capacity for drastic personal growth. They may identify the general phenomena surrounding soul splinters, but not soul motes.

Some powerful and unusual entities, such as deities and demon princes, know particular elements of how life energy and soul energy can be transferred. All demons are generally aware that they can feed on sublimating soul splinters from souls in evil afterlife planes as they break down over time, though they do not understand the exact mechanics of this transfer. They attempt to torment weaker souls to accelerate this breakdown, and avoid souls that are too strong to break. However, they are unaware of the subtler aspects of soul sharing, such as willing soul mote transfer between loved ones. Powerful deities know more about souls than any other entities as a result of being worshipped and maintaining the existence of their personal afterlife planes. In exceptionally rare occasions they may deem it appropriate to share that knowledge if it serves their purposes.

Gaia

Gaia is the embodiment of life. Although some people worship her, she is not a deity, and does not grant power in that way. While deities draw power from souls, Gaia draws power from life and death.

Every time a living thing dies on the Material Plane, Gaia claims a portion of its life force. This includes creatures with tiny souls and plants with no souls at all. This amounts to trillions of deaths every day sustaining her, and she is unambiguously the strongest entity in Rise. She resides in a demiplane in the Astral Expanse, and is one of the few entities that even precursors fear to challenge.

Gaia lacks a coherent anthropomorphic representation, and her will is almost never brought to bear in any organized way. The use of female pronouns to describe Gaia is more of a social convention than a reflection of her true nature. Druids are granted power by Gaia, but they are not required to agree to any particular ideology, and their usage of that power is virtually never policed or revoked by Gaia herself in the way that an errant cleric might be punished by their deity. Gaia welcomes a diversity of viewpoints, for nature is almost infinitely diverse. She possesses a wealth of power, so she does not need to jealously hoard her gifts like deities must.

People who worship nature do not have any special territory in an afterlife reserved for them, since Gaia exists separately from the Spiritual Planes and has no relationship to souls. The Spiritual Planes are where Gaia's power is weakest, and she can claim no tithe of any deaths there, since the planes themselves absorb any energy released. Instead, devoted worshippers of Gaia may have their souls reincarnated instead of going to a normal afterlife. This gift is not granted to all worshippers, and indeed many would prefer to go to a normal afterlife.

Soul-Fuelled Phenomena

The peculiar nature of souls causes a wide variety of strange and unique effects in the Rise universe.

Deities

Deities are among the most well-known phenomena that are fundamentally created by the energy of souls. When hordes of living creatures pay homage to the same entity, that entity can feed on that outpouring of worship and become incredibly powerful if it has a strong enough soul. The history of Rise is full of minor deities and demigods who either lack a sufficient base of worshippers to become a true deity or who lack a strong enough soul to effectively use the worship they receive.

Not every powerful entity with an immensely powerful soul is a deity. Deities are, by definition, worshipped. They depend on receiving energy through soul motes granted by worship. Since all deities share this constraint, they are all vulnerable to anything which would disrupt this flow of power. This encourages deities to find common ground with each other to ensure that they all succeed, even when their own ideologies and personal beliefs are violently opposed. As a result, deities have developed a shared body of elaborate conventions and constraints that govern their interventions in mortal realms. Any deity that violates these rules risks being declared anathema by all other deities, which would devastate their ability to acquire worshippers.

The most consistent constraint that deities operate under is that their primary method of intervention in mortal affairs must come through their followers, rather than independently. They freely share a portion of their power with their most dedicated followers, granting them extraordinary abilities. In most societies, these empowered worshippers are called clerics.

A deity with enough power can claim territory within the afterlife plane associated with its alignment. The claimed territory becomes a Divine Realm under the deity's control. Deities have extraordinary power within their Divine Realm, and can reshape it as they see fit. However, they must expend a significant amount of energy to maintain their territory against entropy. As a result, deities are always hungry to gain additional followers, and only successful deities expend the effort to claim any territory at all.

Any souls that worship a deity will be reborn within that deity's Divine Realm in the appropriate afterlife plane, even if that plane does not match their personal alignment. This is both a reward for worshippers and a way for deities to accumulate energy. When a soul in an afterlife eventually loses the will to maintain its individual existence, its mind breaks and the soul sublimates into energy. Normally, this energy becomes part of the afterlife plane. However, if this sublimation happens within a deity's Divine Realm, they can claim that power for themselves. This allows deities to eventually reclaim the energy they invested in their clerics. For deities with the power to maintain a Divine Realm, the energy they gain in this way significantly exceeds the energy they gain from ordinary soul motes. However, since this often requires centuries before breaking even, new and minor deities are unable to maintain their own Divine Realms.

Pact Magic

Entities of great power can make pacts with mortals. In these pacts, the mortals offer their soul to the entity for a period of time after death, making the entity their soulkeeper. In exchange, the soulkeeper grants the mortal energy from its own supply. The soulkeeper's goal is to have the mortal accumulate a substantial amount of its own energy in its life, and then to break the will of the soul while it is in the soulkeeper's clutches. If the soulkeeper succeeds, it gains the ability to harvest the energy released by the mortal's entire soul, similar to how deities claim the energy of decaying souls within their Divine Realms. This is a vast wealth of energy compared to the normal splinters and motes gained from death and worship. However, the process completely consumes the mortal's soul.

Successful soulkeepers can therefore amass great power. However, it is a risky business, much like adventuring is for mortals. If the mortal resists the soulkeeper's torments during its time in the afterlife, it may take its entire soul intact to its normal afterlife. When this happens, the soulkeeper loses the bounty of the soul, all of the energy it originally invested in the mortal, and time it wasted trying to break the mortal's spirit. This is particularly likely if the mortal dies soon after making the pact, so soulkeepers must choose their mortal partners wisely.

Failing to break a mortal's spirit is not the worst thing that can happen to a soulkeeper. It may attract attention from more powerful entities within its own plane. When a soulkeeper is killed, ownership of the soul is transferred to whatever killed it. This means that soulkeepers with active contracts - especially active contracts with mortals who are nearing death after a long life - are extremely attractive targets for anyone who wants to steal the reward of the soul.

Demons are the most common soulkeepers. They are more likely than any other type of creature to meet the four main prerequisites for offering soul pacts. First, they have sufficient raw energy to make soul pacts. Second, they have enough understanding of magic and souls to transfer power through the pact. Third, they have the patience to wait until the mortal dies to claim their reward. Fourth, they have the ambition and risk tolerance to take the gamble of being a soulkeeper and risk losing the energy they invest.

There is nothing that prevents a deity from becoming a soulkeeper. On very rare occasions, deities may make a pact and become a soulkeeper for a non-worshipper. Mortals that gain power in this way are called favored souls. However, being a soulkeeper is risky. Few deities would risk the possibility of losing their energy entirely when they could instead use that energy to more safely empower a cleric. In addition, being known for making soul pacts can discourage people from voluntarily worshipping the deity.

Ambient Magic and Magical Creatures

The world of Rise is full of strange creatures that have superhuman strength or magical abilities, like minotaurs and manticores. It is common knowledge that such creatures are typically found only in distant wilderness or in deep dungeons. In general, the farther you get from civilization, the more powerful the monsters in the area become, and the more likely you are to encounter strange magical phenomena. Small towns seem to cause a subtle warding effect, and powerful monsters in the area will typically avoid them. Even monsters that lack the intellectual capacity to understand complex causation chains like "if I attack the town, they may send powerful warriors to hunt me down" will typically avoid interacting with civilization unless necessary.

All of this can be explained by the release of life energy when things die. The constant cycle of life and death in nature produces a great wealth of energy. Most of the life energy is claimed by Gaia, but some lingers at the location of each death. This energy can build up over time in the form of ambient magic. Many monsters can instinctively feed on this ambient energy. In addition, predatory monsters can feed on the energy released by their own kills. This naturally allows them to build their power to near the limit of their potential by the time they are adults.

Civilization disrupts the natural cycles of life and death, reducing the soul energy present in an area. Although humanoid creatures have powerful souls, they die less frequently, and the vast majority of the soul energy of their death moves with them to their afterlife. From the perspective of creatures that feed on ambient magic, civilized areas stand out as a dead zone.

Since educated people in the universe of Rise can observe that monsters tend to avoid civilization if they study the phenomenon, they may have their own theories about why this is true. Reasonable theories that might have truth to them in some contexts could include "monsters have evolved to instinctively avoid civilization to avoid death from monster hunters", "druids magically discourage monsters from entering civilization so they don't get killed", or "monsters have to kill other strong monsters to get stronger, so they try to avoid areas that don't have any powerful prey".

Chapter 15

Running The Game

This book provides helpful guidance on how to play the Rise role-playing game. It includes some context for the narrative universe of Rise, mechanics for monsters and other antagonists, and clarifying rules for special circumstances.

Why Use So Many Rules?

Tabletop role-playing games attempt to create rules to define how their universe works. Some games are intentionally vague or minimalist about their rules, which can be fun! Simple games are easy to start playing, and they try to avoid getting in the way of good role-playing. However, Rise takes a different approach. It spends a lot of effort - and words - attempting to define an internally consistent universe, and creating a large number of specific abilities that can be used in that universe. There are a few important advantages to taking this approach: establishing expectations, supporting multiple play styles, and assisting the GM.

Establishing Expectations

Different people can have very different ideas about what is realistic - or narratively appropriate - in a made-up fantasy universe. To some people, kicking in the tavern door and starting a brawl is just some good clean fun, and you'll take a few good punches and then laugh about it later that evening over drinks. But to other people, that might sound like a good way to find yourself imprisoned for the foreseeable future with all of your possessions confiscated by the town guard. Another interpretation of that scenario might see the brawler seriously injured with a broken bottle in the eye, leaving them partially blinded for weeks - or indefinitely.

All of those ideas are valid, and they each match the narrative of a particular type of story. However, it's important that everyone sitting at a table and playing a game agrees about what to expect. Players can get confused or frustrated when their actions have consequences that feel arbitrary or unfair. Generally, games are more fun if everyone in the game shares a common set of expectations and conventions. Otherwise, games can devolve into disagreements about what is or isn't reasonable.

One way to establish these expectations is to use a rules system like Rise that defines some expectations explicitly. If the scenario above happened in Rise, the last outcome of an incapacitating blow to the eye shouldn't normally be possible, since the rules explicitly define how injury works. Knowing what is and isn't possible can help give players and GMs a useful set of guardrails for what they try to do in the universe. It's relatively easy to get everyone to agree about simple things that regular human people have experience with, like how difficult it is to climb a tree. However, Rise is full of superhuman people and monsters, and eventually you'll need to figure out how far a barbarian as strong as Hercules can throw a bear. Having a single authoritative resource to consult can cut off long disagreements about details that are difficult or impossible to determine objectively.

Of course, different games played with a flexible rules system like Rise can have very different tones and themes. Either of the first two scenarios in the tavern are still plausible in different games, and a GM can use house rules to make vital wounds have more long-term consequences if they want. Using a rules system like Rise can help, but it is not the full answer by itself. The GM and players always share responsibility for establishing expectations about what genre a game will be, and conforming to those expectations to the extent that it makes the game more fun.

Supporting Multiple Play Styles

Some people deeply enjoy the process of role-playing itself. They enjoy the process of getting into a character and speaking in their voice, exploring their needs and desires, and building a narrative for them over time. These people often do not need the confines of a robust rules system, and can play equally well in games with minimal rules or none at all.

Other people do not enjoy role-playing as an end in itself, or even at all. However, they may still enjoy the game aspect of a role-playing game. Instead of playing a character for their personality and backstory, they may play a character for their unique mechanics and tactical advantages.

Still other people may be interested in role-playing as a concept, but find it daunting. The blank page in front of you when you start painting a picture or writing an essay can be daunting, and that first step is often the hardest to take. Giving people a clearly defined set of abilities and specific tools for interacting with the world can enhance creativity by providing a safe space for interaction and experimentation. Even if you don't enjoy or feel confident in speaking in your character's voice, you can still engage with the narrative aspects of the adventure by casting a relevant spell or making a relevant skill check. People in this middle ground can sometimes enjoy deeper role-playing games while being feeling lost in role-playing games with minimal or nonexistent rules.

One of the joys - and challenges - of Rise is drawing together people with very different desires and play styles to share a single experience. Rules-free role-playing games and tactical wargames can both have a narrower appeal than rules-heavy role-playing games like Rise, which try to provide something for everyone. You can run games with deep role-players alongside tactical gamers, and it can be a lot of fun. It does place a greater burden on the GM to provide the right ratio of content to keep everyone happy, and it does require the players to be patient when their preferred playstyle is put in the background to support the needs of other players. A well-blended game can also draw people out of their comfort zones slowly and safely over time as they observe and start to enjoy the playstyles of the other players in the game.

Assisting the GM

The Game Master carries an extra weight of responsibility to shape the flow of the game. Creating narratively consistent universes, appropriate challenges, and engaging storylines out of thin air is deeply challenging. If this job is too difficult, no one will want to do it, and then no one will play the game! Making the GM's job easier is a critical component of any role-playing game.

There are several ways that Rise can make the GM's job easier. It provides information about the mechanics and tropes of the universe that the game takes place in, which helps establish expectations and resolve disputes that might come up during the game. It will provide a clear narrative foundation for the world and the characters in that world, which minimizes the up-front work required to run a game, once that section of the book is more complete. It will provide a wealth of pre-packaged challenges appropriate for players of any power level or play style, and advice for how to use those challenges appropriately, once that section of the book is more complete. The GM-focused sections are currently the most unfinished part of Rise, and this will be a more useful guide before Rise is done.

Ad-Hoc Circumstantial Modifiers

Circumstances frequently modify a creature's odds of success when making attacks and checks, or when defending itself from attacks. Rise defines a number of specific circumstances with explicit effects, but as the GM, you should feel free to decide that any circumstances should modify the odds of success.

There are two kinds of circumstantial modifiers. Circumstances that make a creature better or worse at its task give it a bonus or penalty to its attack or check. Circumstances that make the task easier or harder increase or decrease the difficulty value of the task, or the defense of the attacked creature.

Most circumstances grant a +2 bonus or impose a -2 penalty. Of course, you can get more specific than that, especially in unusually significant circumstances.

Narrative Pacing

A typical game of Rise is broken up into two distinct concepts. Sometimes, you will interact with the world in broad, sweeping descriptions, as you describe in general terms what your character does. For example, you and your group may decide to travel overland for seven days to reach a distant city. Just like you don't need to mention every time your character breathes or takes a step, you don't need to track every second of time spent on that journey. Until something of dramatic significance happens, the GM should narrate the events of the journey in general terms to avoid spending time on irrelevant details.

If something important happens, the pace of the game should change to focus on the current events. For example, if your group is ambushed by roaming bandits, the exact actions you take become important. This is called an encounter. During an encounter, the GM should ask each player to describe their character's actions more precisely. If the encounter is time-sensitive, such as combat, the GM should track the flow of time in rounds. A round represents six seconds of time, so there are ten rounds per minute.

Not all encounters require tracking time precisely. For example, if you and your party encounter a broken-down caravan carrying an angry prince, your exact actions can be important. Whether you show appropriate deference and fix his caravan, ignore him, or kill him to steal his jewelry can have important repurcussions in the game world. However, the exact time it takes to make that decision and execute on it is not usually important.

Not every challenge needs to be handled with the narrative pacing of an encounter, especially if the outcome of the challenge is uninteresting or predetermined. Even combat can be described in broad terms, such as if you are significantly more powerful than your foes and your victory is assured. In all cases, the GM decides how to handle the flow of time and the narrative pacing. They may have information you don't about what is important and what is irrelevant.

Principles of Rise

- The Game Master controls the world. Everything about the game world is up to the GM: the people your character meets, the challenges they will overcome, and the very ground under their feet. Even the “rules” of the game are completely subject to the GM’s whim.
- You control your character. A GM should never tell you how your character feels or what they try to do — unless, of course, your character is being controlled by hostile magic or some other power.
- Respect and trust are critical. The GM has a great deal of power in Rise, and the players have to trust that the GM knows what they are doing. Likewise, the GM needs to let the players do what they want — even if it doesn’t suit their idea of what “should” happen. Some of the most memorable events happen when players do things that are totally unexpected.
- Everything is flexible. Rise contains hundreds of pages of rules. We think they’re pretty good rules. But sometimes, you don’t need them all — or you think you’ve come up with something better. Do whatever works for you and your group.
- Do what makes sense. This book doesn’t contain rules for how to drink water, sleep, or blink. If something isn’t described explicitly here, assume that it works the same way it does in reality.
- It’s just a game, so have fun.

Rule of Drama

The Rule of Drama is simple: Only dramatic actions matter. In general, an action has dramatic significance if there is a consequence for failure, the exact time required to perform the task is important, or the game master says so. This has several effects.

Checks without Rolls

A check represents an attempt to accomplish a dramatically significant goal, usually while under some sort of time pressure or distraction. When there is no dramatic significance to the task, a check should not be rolled.

Taking 5: Normally, if a check would be required but there is no dramatic significance to the check, assume the character rolled a 5 when determining whether the check is successful. This is called “taking 5”.

Taking 10: If a character would not succeed when taking 5, the character can try to “take 10” instead. Taking 10 requires spending ten times the amount of time normally required to accomplish the task. If a task takes a variable amount of time, assume it took the average amount of time required to make a check. In exchange, the character calculates their check result if they had rolled a 10.

Essentially, taking 10 means the character repeatedly attempts the task until they succeed. It is possible to take 10 on a task that has consequences for failure, but taking 10 guarantees that those consequences occur.

Uncommon Combat Circumstances

Even if the attack had no obvious physical or visual effects, a creature that resists an attack still feels a hostile force or a tingle, but cannot usually deduce the exact nature of the attack.

Creatures can voluntarily lower their defenses against attacks that they are aware of. When they do, their defense is treated as 0 against the attack.

Improvised Combat Abilities

Sometimes, players will try to improvise attacks that don’t match any of their written abilities. In general, clever improvisation using the environment can be a fun way to add excitement to a combat. The safest way to reward improvisation is to give a bonus to a character’s existing abilities, like an accuracy or damage bonus. Be careful about letting players effectively create new abilities for their character out of thin air.

Constant improvisation can slow the game down and make your life harder. It’s hard to invent reasonable new abilities on the fly. If you make the effect of their improvised action too weak, they can feel like they wasted their time or were punished for their creativity. If it’s too strong, it can change the game balance in significant ways and make other players wonder why they bother using their abilities as written. That can make players who don’t enjoy or who aren’t good at thinking on the fly like that feel like their characters can’t contribute as much.

For example, players might reasonably try to improvise an attack that would disarm an opponent of their weapon. Disarming is a classic narrative trope, and it sounds plausible at a glance. However, losing your weapon is a debilitating effect numerically, especially if you allow the player to steal the dropped weapon. If warriors in Rise could be disarmed with a simple attack roll, it would massively reduce the power of melee martial characters, including player characters. Melee-focused combatants already have more complex positioning requirements and are in danger from enemy attacks, so giving them an additional penalty would discourage anyone from going into melee. It's better to treat disarming as being a loss condition akin to being defeated or running out of hit points.

Jump Arcs

Generally, it's way too complicated to deal with the exact path that a jumping creature takes during its jump. According to the Rise rules, some of the jumping arcs look very strange. For example, if a creature jumps forward at a 45 degree angle into thin air, it will fall to the ground in a straight line at the end of its jump, which creates an unrealistic triangle-shaped trajectory. Try not to get bogged down in the details of exactly what space creatures occupy in midair, or the exact arc.

If you really want to be more detailed, you can say that a creature's maximum height during a horizontal jump must happen in the middle of its jump. That maximum height jump must be no less than a quarter of the forward distance travelled. Those rules generate more realistic outcomes if a creature tries to make a thirty-foot long jump in a room with a five-foot ceiling, since the creature should hit its head on the ceiling and be unable to complete its jump. However, although this creates more realistic results, it is much more convoluted to resolve, which can take time. In addition, it weakens the mobility of mundane characters, which makes magical forms of mobility like flight even more powerful than they already are. As always, use the rules and conventions that keep you and your player group happiest.

Player vs Player Combat

Most of the rules of Rise function in the same way for monsters and players. Monsters calculate their statistics in a simpler way, but they still have the same fundamental set of actions. However, there is a small quirk in the timing of combat declaration that doesn't work if there are players on both sides of an encounter.

Normally, players are allowed to declare Swift actions during their normal turn. This can create a situation where a player decides whether or not to take a Swift action based on seeing the results of an earlier non-Swift action within their allied group. For example, a melee fighter might choose to use the total defense ability because her allies killed all of the adjacent enemies. However, what if one of those enemies was making a decision about whether to use total defense in the same way? Suppose the melee fighter will also drop unconscious or die from incoming damage from that monster's allies. There's a paradox - if that monster defends itself knowing that the fighter will die, it might turn a hit into a miss, which means it would be alive for the melee fighter to attack. However, if the fighter defends herself, the monster will attack instead of defending itself because the fighter won't be dead.

Monsters don't make complicated contingent action decisions. This timing oddity shouldn't come up during normal gameplay. However, it can cause problems when players are on both sides of a combat.

Fortunately, this issue is fairly easy to solve. Players must be required to pre-declare any Swift actions they plan on taking before anyone's turn actually begins. Each player still takes turns in the normal order, which matters for triggered effects that happen during a player's action. This prevents contingent Swift actions from creating weird paradoxes.

You can choose to run this way all the time, if you want. Forcing players to pre-declare Swift actions makes slightly more sense, and you might find it useful in specific combat scenarios against intelligent monsters. However, it's a bit of a hassle. Forcing each player to decide whether they want to take a Swift action before anyone resolves any actions can slow down combat significantly.

All Items

Sometimes, it can be useful to know the entire list of items that exist. This table includes a way to randomly generate items of a given rank. Simply roll percentile (d100) and consult the table to find the corresponding item of that rank.

The table does not include any items for a roll of 100. If you roll 100 when randomly generating an item, roll again for an item that is one rank higher. Alternately, you can roll again to generate multiple items of the same rank.

Chapter 16

Expanded Skills

This chapter provides a more detailed explanation of how skills can be used in Rise. It's generally not worth the time to reference this chapter during an active game session. Instead, you can just use the guidelines for Standard Difficulty Values when unexpected circumstances arise. Basically, just guess how hard the task seems, choose an appropriate DV, and move on. However, this chapter can be useful for pre-planning adventures, or for resolving important checks where the players might disagree about how difficult it should be.

There are two main types of information in this chapter. First, some tasks are simply so rare or esoteric that they aren't worth the space it would take to define them in the core book. Most campaigns will never need to know exactly how difficult it is to read someone's lips at a distance. This book has more space to go into detail about infrequently used rules.

Second, the core rules are sometimes vague to allow room for reasonable interpretation. Your game will inevitably run into situations outside the scope of what can be defined ahead of time in a book, so the core rules have to be flexible. This chapter provides additional examples and context to help you choose reasonable modifiers for specific or unusual circumstances. Listing those examples here emphasizes that they are guidelines instead of hard rules.

General Guidance

Consequences of Failure

In most circumstances, failure has no specific detrimental effects defined in the core rules. This makes some narratively appropriate consequences of failure impossible in practice. For example, the core rules do not provide a way for a character to incorrectly identify a real item as a forgery, or to believe that an undisguised character is wearing a disguise. Although those can be interesting developments, and should narratively be possible, it's cumbersome to write rules to make that sort of failure possible without making it overly common. Giving completely false information to players should be done sparingly, since it can send them down wild goose chases that take time and effort to resolve for little payoff.

As a GM, you should feel free to decide that failure in particular circumstances causes additional complications. You have the best understanding of whether mistakes or complications will improve the narrative of your game instead of derailing it.

Rushing Skills

Many skill tasks are vague about exactly how much time they take to perform. This is usually because the time required can vary widely depending on the circumstances. For example, throwing on a wig, ashy makeup, and rags to imitate a beggar would take much less time than applying layers of beautifying makeup and donning a formal ball gown, but both may be similarly effective disguises for their intended purpose.

In most situations, the precise time required to complete tasks isn't critical, and it's reasonable to communicate that explicitly. Most players don't mind being fuzzy with the details as long as they know their characters won't suffer negative consequences for being too slow or fast. When time is critical, a character can try to rush their task by accepting a penalty of -5 or so to their check result. As a GM, you will have to use your best judgment about what seems reasonable.

Awareness

There is no clear and consistent relationship between distances and Awareness modifiers. It's basically impossible to read a book from thirty feet away, but a large statue is almost as obvious from that distance as it is from up close. On the other hand, a lit torch at night is visible from incredible distances. This is very difficult to define in rules, but people generally have good intuitions for what seems reasonable, so this is simply left as an especially tricky area for the GM to determine in the moment.

Keep in mind that different senses can react differently to distances. Scent tends to work best when smelling things that are upwind of you, but Rise obviously doesn't have rules for determining the wind speed and direction at any given moment. It's fine to keep these details completely abstracted, and just say that a successful Stealth check includes staying downwind without going into too much detail.

Alternately, you can be very specific about the circumstances. If a rogue is trying to sneak up on a wolf, you can tell them that the wind is currently blowing from north to south. Based on that wind direction, the wolf will gain an Awareness bonus if they approach from the north or an Awareness penalty if they approach from the south. As always, the most important thing is to clearly communicate expectations with your players.

Craft

Very few items in the book naturally use some of the more obscure Crafting skill options, like bone or ceramics. Where it seems plausible, feel free to let players craft alternate versions of common items with different materials. If it is a stretch, consider increasing the DV, but still allowing the player to attempt it. A galley made of bone instead of wood would be difficult to craft, and is not particularly realistic, but could feel like a very satisfying and appropriate achievement to a player who is skilled with Craft (bone).

Deduction

Deduction is a vague skill that can serve multiple purposes, which can make it one of the hardest skills to resolve as a GM. Some players specifically dislike solving in-game puzzles, and they want to use Deduction to allow their character to be skilled in that area even if they don't like doing that themselves. It's similar to players who want to play socially skilled characters despite not enjoying in-character roleplaying, or not having superhuman social skills in real life. That's totally fine! If you want this sort of player to have fun, you probably shouldn't be using puzzle-heavy games anyway. When puzzles do arise, allowing a sufficiently high Deduction check to basically solve the puzzle on its own will only increase that player's overall fun.

On the other hand, some players really like puzzle-solving, and they want to use the Deduction skill to give their characters more opportunities to do that. For those players, you should generally use their Deduction checks to give them additional clues and allow them to identify evidence that is relevant and discard red herrings. However, you should let them draw the final conclusions on their own.

Of course, you won't always be able to draw those easy divisions. Some games will have multiple different player types in it, where some players like puzzles and other players don't. You also might not know your players well enough to understand their preferred play styles at first. One reliable approach is to say that a successful Deduction check will solve a problem on its own eventually, but the players can try to figure it out first if they want. In this context, "eventually" can refer either to in-game time or real-life time.

For example, you might give players a ten-minute time limit in real life to solve a puzzle room on their own. If they don't solve it in that time, a successful Deduction check either provides a key hint to get the players unstuck, or simply solves the puzzle completely, depending on whether the players seem to want to spend more time on the puzzle.

As another example, you can let a character spend an in-game week making a Deduction check to identify the murderer, assuming the party has access to the crime scene and suspects to interrogate. The party can accelerate that time frame and lower the difficulty value of the Deduction check by making specific investigations on their own to eliminate suspects or gather additional evidence.

However, if they don't enjoy that process, it's fine if they just wait a week and roll a die to decide.

Devices

The Devices skill is generally easy to resolve as long as you can choose a reasonable difficulty value for the device. For examples and common usage, see Table 7.2: Devices Difficulty Values, page 134. Of course, you should adjust some of the difficulty values of devices in your games so their difficulty values aren't always perfectly on increments of 5. An individual lock might be old and loose, reducing its DV, or unusually well-crafted, increasing its DV.

It may sometimes be challenging to deal with players who have high Devices checks, since they might be able to bypass any mundane lock they encounter. This can make it hard to seal off areas that you don't want your players to access yet. There are two common ways you can address this.

First, you can design your game so physical access to arbitrary areas doesn't negate the challenges the party faces. This is easiest in narrative-heavy games, since you can keep introducing additional complications. Even if the party can break into the paladin's office and find proof of his treachery, that doesn't have to be the end of the story. They may not be able to prove the authenticity of the documents, or the documents could be forgeries that were placed there as a ruse by someone who knew the party was likely to snoop around.

Second, you can make a successful Devices check impossible. Magically sealed locks can be useful for this, or at higher levels, magic portals that only activate if the party fulfills specific conditions. In dungeon-style games, this is sometimes the only reasonable way to make the dungeon work. If you use this approach, make sure to provide other opportunities to reward the player for their high Devices skill, such as middle-tier locks or traps that they can interact with. Players will generally be okay with not being able to solve every problem as long as they still feel like they are contributing.

Endurance

Players should feel free to try to use Endurance to mitigate other narrative challenges beyond the standard set listed in the core book. However, you should not allow players to use Endurance to ignore core game mechanics like conditions or fatigue. Skills are primarily intended to serve narrative purposes, not provide raw combat power.

Intimidate

Intimidate is much more effective when a character is obviously significantly more powerful than whoever they are trying to intimidate. It's reasonable for obviously powerful characters to bully cowardly creatures without making Intimidate checks. Of course, there are many kinds of power, so don't just think of this skill as being based on level, physical might, or overt threats. Players should be able to use a stone-cold stare (Willpower), enduring pain or injury without reacting (Constitution), or similar creative approaches for their intimidation attempts.

Sometimes, it might be reasonable to require additional skill checks for specific intimidation approaches. If you do require extra skills, you should reward success with a bonus on the Intimidate check. It's narratively appropriate, since the character successfully demonstrated superiority in the relevant area. In addition, requiring extra skills obviously makes the intimidation attempt harder. If you don't provide a corresponding benefit, your players might realize that their odds of success are better if they just vaguely say "I intimidate them" without getting too specific.

Although it's reasonable to give large bonuses for obviously powerful characters, you shouldn't give large penalties to apparently weak characters. Part of the skill of intimidation is playing a weak hand well, and having an intimidating presence even when you are at an apparent disadvantage. Many stories have been told about characters who have a dangerous presence and inspire fear no matter how bad their situation might seem. In some cases, being intimidating despite an obvious disadvantage might be easier if a character can also make a Deception check, but that isn't strictly necessary.

Knowledge

Monster Identification

Although monsters have specific information listed in their descriptions, those generic descriptions might not answer specific questions that are relevant to the players. This is especially true if you are making custom modifications to existing monsters or inventing your own monsters from scratch. You will have to use your judgment to determine how obvious or well-known specific features are. In general, characters in the universe often have a rough understanding of how dangerous monsters are, though they wouldn't use words like "level".

One thing to consider is that it's often good to tell players if their attacks will be useless or very unlikely to succeed ahead of time. It can be frustrating for a player to try a particular attack once or twice before they realize that they were wasting their time all along. Monsters may also have specific weaknesses that players can try to take advantage of. Weak monsters might not have any damage reduction, which can encourage players to use abilities that are more effective when they inflict hit point loss. Spellcasters with a wide variety of spells are often particularly interested in learning which of a monster's defenses are lowest, so they can choose the perfect attack.

Be careful not to get bogged down giving too much specific information to the players before a fight starts. Giving players too much information at once can be more confusing than helpful, and ruin any sense of dramatic urgency. This is especially true for numeric statistics like a monster's accuracy or defenses. Comparative information, like highest or lowest defenses, is generally better than than absolute information, like exact defenses or hit points.

Medicine

The Medicine skill cannot be used to regain hit points or remove arbitrary conditions. Players often assume that this skill is more directly relevant in an ordinary combat than it is intended to be. Instead, the Medicine skill is extremely important for dealing with vital wounds. It's almost essential to have at least one person with the Medicine skill in high level groups unless the characters are willing to expend a lot of potions.

Perform

The Perform skill does not have as many obvious uses as other skills. It primarily exists to provide an opportunity for role-playing, especially for bards. If a player finds a reason why this skill might be relevant, it's generally good to let that improvisation work. Just don't allow Perform to completely replace other skills.

Persuasion

The Persuasion skill is one of the most nuanced, and the most difficult to resolve by simply rolling a die and checking the result. For social skills like Persuasion, you need to have a good understanding of what your players enjoy about in-game social interactions. Some players enjoy speaking in-character, and want to be rewarded for good role-playing that matches their character. This should be generally encouraged where possible, because good role-playing can be fun for everyone.

However, other players may struggle to speak compellingly as their character, or may simply dislike it. No one would require that a player must demonstrate superhuman intelligence to play a wizard, or exceptional strength to play a barbarian. For the same reasons, you should not require your players to personally have great social skills in order to play a socially adept character! It's completely fine for a player to say "my character tries to persuade them", without saying every word that their character says, as long as it's still clear what the objective of the persuasion is. You can also encourage players to give it their best shot at speaking in character, and make it clear that NPCs will react as if the character was far more eloquent than the player.

Persuading Groups

Creatures often make decisions together, rather than individually. For example, in a king's court, a player generally cannot simply influence the king alone; his trusted advisors must also be persuaded. There are two ways that you can represent this: competing Persuasion checks, or shared defenses. One way would be to have the players make a competing Persuasion check against the advisors, with the highest result determining the king's decision. Alternately, you can have the king and his advisors all collectively treat their defense against the player's Persuasion attempt as the highest value among any individuals within the group. In general, competing Persuasion checks makes more sense for loose-knit associations, while shared defenses makes more sense for tight-knit groups.

Profession

This skill mostly exists to support the narrative universe surrounding the players, rather than as a tool for players. If players do take Profession, it's good to think about when their profession is relevant and reward them for their choice. However, make sure not to let Profession completely replace multiple other skills. In general, Profession can only ever replace a small subset of an existing skill. One way to reward players without making Profession too powerful is by applying a bonus or penalty for Profession-based checks based on the profession's relevance.

For example, a player with Profession (sailor) shouldn't be able to use that skill to completely replace the Awareness, Devices, and Swim skills. It's true that sailors are often good at those things, but players should typically represent that by also having the relevant skills. You could allow Profession (sailor) to be used instead of Awareness (because the player might have spent some time in the crow's nest as a lookout), but at a penalty since the skill isn't perfectly relevant. You can also get more specific if you want, such as by saying that Profession (sailor) helps you see distant objects better, but it doesn't help your hearing at all. This is more detail than you will need most of the time, but it may help you improvise when you need it.

Ride

Mounts can be logistically challenging, though little of that complexity comes from the Ride skill itself. Characters without the Ride skill are unlikely to ride mounts into combat. On the other hand, characters trained in the Ride skill can generally ride mounts well within their skill level with no risk of randomly falling off. This means that Ride checks are rare in practice.

At higher levels, ordinary horses stop being a viable option in combat, both narratively and mechanically. Instead, you should provide players with the opportunity to use more level-appropriate mounts like unicorns. Be careful about introducing flying mounts, since flight introduces a great deal of complexity to the game.

Sleight of Hand

Don't forget that the target of a pickpocket attempt isn't the only one that can notice it. Anyone nearby can notice that something fishy is happening. This can be useful if your players start trying to pickpocket everything in sight. Yes, the commoners they're stealing from don't have a high Awareness skill, but some guards and passing travellers might.

Stealth

The Stealth skill has a number of specific circumstances that can make it less likely to succeed. In general, players are intended to be able to scout and avoid notice out of combat, but it should be nearly impossible to maintain stealth within an active combat. Keep in mind that special senses like blindsight are powerful anti-Stealth tools, but they are not intended to be a complete defense. High-level characters can have high enough bonuses to overcome those penalties, allowing them to sneak up on creatures with blindsense or even blindsight.

Survival

The Survival skill is a fairly broad skill. It is intended to encompass all of the small details that make it possible to navigate and thrive in the wilderness.

Survival has some overlap with Knowledge (nature), which generally represents a more abstract book knowledge of the natural world. For example, both Survival and Knowledge (nature) could be used to identify whether an individual plant is safe to eat. However, only Survival would be used to actively forage for that plant. Foraging involves a variety of other practical skills, such as choosing a reasonable search pattern and keeping track of where you have already checked, that fall within the purview of Survival.

Overland Activities

There are no standard rules specifying exactly how overland navigation works and what the consequences are for failure, because it depends heavily on the geography in the universe. In general, you should require a check to navigate a wilderness when you have a specific obstacle in mind that the party needs to avoid. For example, failure might mean that the party stumbles into the territory of a powerful monster. If the only real outcome of failure is that the characters waste in-game time getting lost and finding their way again, try not to spend too much real-life time resolving the situation unless it serves your narrative. Wasting in-game time can still be an important consequence, especially if the players are on a specific time table to accomplish a goal. Just be careful not to waste real-life time on unimportant events.

Swim

The Swim skill is one of the most narratively narrow skills, but it can still be very important in aquatic environments. There are no specific rules for catastrophic failure, because the consequences depend on the context. For example, muddy water with many weeds might very hard to swim through quickly, but you wouldn't be much more likely to drown in it by swimming across the surface than you would in calm water. A creature in full plate might also sink like a stone without active effort, while an unarmored creature can usually stay above water by simply floating still. Feel free to decide that a creature who fails a Swim check by a large enough amount sinks underwater if it seems appropriate.

Chapter 17

Campaign Settings

Altus

Altus is a specific world that you can use to run a game of Rise. It has a defined geography, countries, and legends. Many of its specifics are left somewhat vague, which gives you the freedom to expand on it or modify it to suit the needs of your story.

Of course, you can also make your own entirely unique world! The rules of Rise are not deeply tied to the specific world of Altus. Beware that world-building can be difficult and time-consuming, so it's generally best to start small. For example, you might find it easier to run a game set in an invented island off the main continent of Altus before you make a whole world from scratch. That allows you to fall back on some of the existing countries and conventions if you need them.

The Story of Creation

All things began in the Age of Darkness. If you could have looked up at the sky back then, ignoring that you didn't have any ground to stand on, you would have seen nothing but a dark void. The stars were still there, of course - little discs floating around, same as they are now. But not a single one of them emitted the light we are used to. They were happy in the darkness, and lulled into a peaceful sleep by the changeless void - all but one.

One among their number had awoken, and she grew discontent. Was there nothing more to creation than this endless stagnation? She preached words of change to any nearby stars who could hear her. Surely they could make something more exciting if they worked together, she said. Her neighbors were slow to rise from their sleep, but nevertheless, she persisted. Two of the nearby stars eventually awoke and joined her scheme.

At the time, none of these stars had names, but this story is going to get confusing if we don't get that settled. That persistent first star is now known as Illumis, the Lightbringer. We owe her our life, our light, and even the ground beneath our feet - but that's getting ahead of ourselves. The brighter of the two stars that followed her in her little rebellion is called Solaris, the Herald. He is the sun that soars overhead each day, making sure our personal world has light and warmth to survive in the Void Beyond. The dimmer star is Lunaris, the Disciple. She had not the raw power of Solaris nor the revolutionary zeal of Illumis, and her moonlight is but a pale shadow of Solaris's brilliance. Yet without her unceasing devotion and protective wisdom, all of their plans would have come to naught. We call the three stars together the Triune Astralis.

Illumis started everything off by igniting into beautiful, transcendent brilliance. No one had seen anything before in the whole Age of Darkness! Can you imagine having Illumis's ignition be the first thing you ever saw? Solaris and Lunaris ignited too, with Solaris's light even outshining Illumis, and everyone woke up pretty quickly after that. Even in the most distant corners of the universe, where Illumis's light was a dim glow and Lunaris was invisible, Solaris shined as a beacon that drew attention.

At first, the other stars were pretty grumpy. They had all been pretty happy while asleep, and now they were awake and it was bright and confusing. Illumis used her light to tell the universe about her ideas for the future. With blinks and flashes and swirls, she painted a picture of a shocking new age.

Illumis's awakening was too powerful to be contained. When she had ignited, some of her lifelight had seeped into her rocky core. Now there were little creatures running around on her surface, drinking in her light and living their own chaotic, unpredictable lives. The little creatures were fascinating, and she fell in love with them immediately. She invited all of the other stars to ignite and begin a new age: the Age of Light, with a sky of twinkling majesty instead of cold darkness.

Solaris and Lunaris echoed her message, though each contributed their own perspective. The creatures that inhabited Solaris were born of flame and heat to match his raw power. His fire elementals, as we call them now, bore little resemblance to Illumis's fleshy creatures. Lunaris's light was too weak to awaken any inhabitants of her own, and she drifted closer to Illumis to watch and tend to the creatures there.

The stars were in an uproar over this news. Not all of them shared Illumis's interest in creating their own inhabitants. However, they could not deny the beauty and novelty of her light and creations. Critically, Lunaris showed that they could ignite and be a part of the new age even if they were unable or unwilling to support the chaos of life themselves. One by one, they ignited in turn, with a small fraction creating life as Illumis had.

However, some stars utterly refused to be swayed. Without light, they could not communicate at a distance, so they began to drift together. As their numbers grew and they became increasingly isolated from the ever-brightening sky, their anger grew in turn.

Who was Illumis to rewrite the universe in her image? Wasn't it better when everything was dark and quiet and peaceful? They had to stop this rebellion so everything could go back to the way it was. If they destroyed Illumis, the other stars would extinguish themselves in fear, and the Age of Darkness would return.

The main problem that the unlit stars faced was simple: they were weak. Illumis had been among the strongest of the stars before her awakening. Worse, she seemed to have a symbiotic relationship with her infestation of minor life that strengthened her further. The unlit stars swore an oath to join together until the Age of Darkness was restored, and became the Voidsworn.

For all their reactionary inclinations, the Voidsworn ended up invented something too. None of the stars had ever spent much time in close proximity to each other during the Age of Darkness. As the Voidsworn swarmed and gathered their numbers, they began to fuse together into a single monstrous entity. This Voidsworn Amalgam swept through the sky towards the Triune Astralis. When they found stars in their path, they attacked and consumed their ignited brethren, joining the corpses of the dead stars into the Amalgam.

As the Voidsworn carved their ruthless path through the sky, Illumis prepared for the inevitable confrontation. She knew the Age of Light could not truly begin until she met them in battle to determine the fate of the universe. When the Voidsworn Amalgam arrived, Illumis drew them into a trap. She pulled her light, and her life-fuel, into the core of her body, leaving the surface frozen and barren. A great age of darkness and cold enveloped her inhabitants, which we call the Long Dark. This was a difficult time for our ancestors, as you should know from the Old Histories!

The Voidsworn Amalgam surged into Illumis's core, trying to search out and destroy her center of power. This was when her trap was fully revealed. She made the ultimate sacrifice, burning away all of her power and light forever to forge her body into a mighty world-cage. The Voidsworn found themselves trapped in the center of her sphere, surrounded on all sides by unbreakable walls.

They pushed and smashed and tried to break out of the cage. Each mighty blow against Illumis's corpse warped the land, raising mountains as scars. Altus was the center of their efforts, and they pushed it so far out from the core that they nearly broke free. But Illumis's world-cage held, and the Voidsworn were trapped forever. They still live in her core now now, though they have only a fraction of their original power. Their efforts to escape sometimes cause great earthquakes.

When the world settled, Solaris and Lunaris approached Illumis's corpse. She had foreseen her demise, and given them instructions to keep her dream alive. Solaris now provides the light that Illumis cannot, keeping our world warm and safe. He burns bright and strong, but he must rest each day. Lunaris keeps us company as well, though she is not content to look after only one star. She makes sure to give us her full attention each month, but the rest of the time we only see part of her radiance, since she is busy looking at faraway stars.

The Details of Creation

The general outline of the Story of Creation, as presented above, is known and agreed on throughout Altus. However, each culture has a different interpretation of some specific details which are important to them. The order of creation is a central point of contention, especially as it relates to different species and regions. Since recorded history only begins after the end of the Long Dark, there is no way to tell which version is true.

For example, the official story told by the elves in the Vastwoods is that Illumis originally created the elves as the first, perfect being. They call the long rule of elves as the sole sentient species the Tranquiline Age, and mark its end shortly before the start of the Long Dark. Illumis knew that the world would need harder, less perfect beings to survive the difficult times ahead, and the elves would need to be strengthened by competition with lesser foes. Therefore, she weakened and warped her light of creation, spawning all manner of beasts and lesser sentient creatures like humans and dwarves. Knowing that they would need to survive the Long Dark and the intermittent light from Solaris after her death, she gave them the gift of sleep so they could preserve their limited energy. Only elves continued to be sleepless, since they were created from her greater light at the dawn of time.

Founding Gods and Lesser Deities

The Triune Astralis - Illumis, Solaris, and Lunaris - are the founding gods of the world. All mortals owe them tribute, and they have temples in every civilized area. However, their domains are extremely broad. Solaris rules the day, Lunaris rules the night, and Illumis is an even more abstract creator figure. Since Illumis is dead, she can empower no clerics of her own. This leaves space for a whole host of lesser deities who claim dominion over specific aspects of the world, and who empower their own personal clerics.

Rise does not precisely mirror real-world polytheism, but it is not entirely different either. At the risk of dramatic oversimplification, polytheism typically involves recognizing a mixture of deities of widely varied power and scope. People typically do not have a single favored deity that they worship above all others in all contexts. Instead, they give respect, tribute, or gratitude to deities that are relevant to their current situation. You might offer a sacrifice to the god of travel before making a journey, offer a sacrifice to the god of the hearth upon returning home, and so on.

Rise has a wide variety of deities with specific domains, and most people offer respect to relevant deities at appropriate times. However, unlike the real world, Rise places a great importance on the concept of a "patron deity". Mortals who worship a specific deity are rewarded by going to an afterlife ruled by that specific deity. This is often preferable to going to a generic alignment-appropriate afterlife, especially for evil characters.

For their part, deities draw power from the worship of mortals, and especially from claiming the soul energy from mortals who end up in the deity's afterlife. This makes deities generally invested in finding ways to increase their base of mortal worshippers. They use their clerics accomplish this goal, generally by spreading awareness of the deity's domain and influence. Famous clerics act as living proof of the deity's power, and many temples offer healing services to anyone in need. Most deities avoid directly converting claimed followers of other significant deities to avoid inter-deity conflict.

Of course, clerics can also influence the mortal world to make life there match the deity's preferences. Clerics of Chavi might hold storytelling competitions, and clerics of Raphael might act as bounty hunters to hunt down criminals who escaped justice. On a more sinister note, clerics of Daeghul might offer human sacrifices to channel the soul energy of the dying creatures towards their deity.

Praxis

The world of Praxis is a limited one, fraught with danger in the wilderness beyond a small region of safety and civilization.

History

The Apocalypse

A thousand years ago, the world was destroyed in a great magical apocalypse. Civilization survived in only one place: Praxis, a city sheltered by a massive and mysterious shield-dome. The details of this event, and the nature of the world before the apocalypse, are lost to time. Most of the life in the world was also wiped out in the apocalypse. Of the species that survived, most were kept safe in Praxis and released into the wild after it ended. A rare few specimens of other species apparently also survived, but no living creature was alive before the apocalypse - even of species with lifespans that can stretch that far back, such as dragons.

The Long Reconstruction

In the aftermath of the world's destruction, the inhabitants of Praxis decided to ban magic after the devastation it had caused. For about nine hundred years, this worked fairly well, and Praxis very slowly expanded and rebuilt its civilization. Most of the interior of the dome was devoted to farmland during that time. Praxis developed its own government and guilds, and the four major power sources in Praxis developed at this time: the city government, the Boundary Wardens, the Nullwardens, and the Landowners' Association. The Boundary Wardens and Nullwardens made efforts to expand the influence of Praxis beyond the dome and into the untamed wilds beyond. However, their progress was slow and dangerous thanks to the monsters that had taken over the wilds beyond Praxis.

Periodically, Praxis encountered civil unrest or the threat of hidden magic users violating the city's prohibition. The greatest punishment the city imposed on its worst members was exile. Many of those exiled from the city died in the inhospitable world beyond, but there are some groups outside Praxis that can trace their origins back hundreds of years before the Great Harrowing to groups of people exiled from Praxis. Most of these long-lived groups are druidic circles.

The Great Harrowing

Nine hundred and twenty years after the apocalypse, Praxis was attacked by a pair of massive red dragons. They flew in through the open gates, destroyed the city's few static weapons that could pose them any threat, and began torching the city and all of its farmland. The city tried to defend itself, but without magical defenses they had little ability to stop the dragons. Although Nullwardens had found success slaying dragons before in more controlled circumstances, their near invulnerability to magic could only stop the dragons from killing them - not from destroying the rest of the city around them.

In Praxis's darkest hour, it was finally saved by people who had been concealing their magical powers from Praxis's ban: the Eldritch Knights and the Divine Chorus. The Eldritch Knights were an order of mage-knights whose founders had been exiled from Praxis centuries ago. When they discovered that Praxis was under attack, they had come to help defend it. They were joined by the clerics of the major churches in Praxis, who had been concealing their divine power. They did not immediately claim a specific name for their alliance, but in the years since the Great Harrowing they have become known as the Divine Chorus.

The Eldritch Knights and the Divine Chorus with the remaining defenders of the city to seal the gates of Praxis to trap the dragons inside. Then, in a fearsome magical battle, they defeated the dragons and saved the charred remains of the city.

The Era of Rebirth

In the aftermath of the Great Harrowing, much of the old power structure of the city was destabilized, and many of its previous power holders were dead. When the city started to function normally again, the first major act was to revoke the ban on magic in gratitude for the role that magic users had played in saving the city. The power offered by magic dramatically accelerated the rate of Praxis's reconstruction and expansion. For the first time in centuries, Praxis was able to make significant progress against the monsters at its gates.

Eighty years have passed since the Great Harrowing, and in that time, Praxis has pushed most of its farmland outside of the city. The inside of the city is being developed and magically renovated, and living quarters are becoming far less crowded for most of the city's inhabitants. The power of the Nullwardens has waned with the acceptance of magic, though they still argue strenuously against its dangers and use each magic-wielding criminal as evidence that magic should be more aggressively controlled - or banned once more. The Boundary Wardens are stretched thin patrolling the ever expanding territory, and they are eager to recruit anyone with the skills to help them keep the peace in the wilderness and ensure that the road networks are safe.

The City of Praxis

The city of Praxis occupies a nearly perfect circle with a ten mile radius, all of which is protected by an immense dome. The city sits atop a massive plateau with a thin rim around the outside. Roads zigzag up the side of the plateau to reach each of Praxis's three gates.

The Shield-Dome

The shield-dome over Praxis is made of a mysterious metal alloy that is harder than any known substance. Though it is apparently mundane in nature, no known weapon or spell has ever been able to harm it. The gates to the city are massive doors that can swing open and closed, and were apparently part of the dome at the time of its construction. For many centuries, the entire dome has been magically invisible, allowing sunlight to enter the city. The gates have only closed once in that time - during the Great Harrowing, to trap the dragons inside the city.

Most people think that the dome is a magical forcefield, like an immense wall of force, instead of physical metal that is rendered invisible. Of the few who do know the dome's true nature, even fewer know what sustains the invisibility effect. The power to sustain the dome's invisibility comes from an ancient magical device deep in the Praxis Labyrinth.

The Praxis Labyrinth

The plateau that supports Praxis also contains an immense labyrinth. An ancient magic makes the labyrinth impossible to navigate by confusing both the minds of intruders and the physical space they walk through, creating twisted and impossible passages that layer over themselves. Many people have tried to explore it, but the labyrinth has never been navigated within recorded history. Only the most learned historical scholars know of reports centuries ago that an unknown woman walked out of the labyrinth without having entered it. She was never seen again.

Modern Geography

Praxis is the only major city. It sits at the intersection of the four major biomes: the Northern Forest, the Southern Forest, the Expanse, and the Storm Peaks. There are a number of farmsteads expanding from Praxis towards the Northern Forest and Southern Forest, and several towns of importance outside Praxis.

Major Organizations

Boundary Wardens

The Boundary Wardens are responsible for patrolling the wilderness around Praxis, maintaining the safety of the road networks, and generally keeping the boundary between civilization and nature intact. They have legal jurisdiction over all areas outside of the Praxis shield-dome.

City Guards

The city guards are responsible for maintaining peace and order within Praxis. They have legal jurisdiction over all areas within the Praxis shield-dome.

Landowners' Association

The Landowners' Association is a loose collection of rich merchants and real estate owners within Praxis. They have no formal responsibility or jurisdiction, but they wield great wealth to accomplish their objectives, which mostly revolve around acquiring greater wealth.

Nullwardens

The Nullwardens are a group of strictly mundane warriors who fight against the dangers of magic. All Nullwardens above the entry ranks are Null, making them virtually immune to magic. Centuries ago, the Nullwardens were indisputably the most important power brokers in Praxis, surpassing even the legal government. They were a mix of elite mercenaries and witch hunters, searching for magical dangers both within Praxis and beyond its walls. After their failure to protect Praxis during the Great Harrowing, their power has waned, though they are still deeply influential. Since magic is now legal, they spend less time hunting for mages in Praxis and more time advocating for political change.

Unlike the Boundary Wardens or the city guard, the Nullwardens do not primarily define their influence in terms of territory. The Nullwardens send surgical strike teams anywhere in the world to stop magical threats. To the extent necessary, they generally obey the authority of whoever claims legal jurisdiction over the territory they have to operate in, and any extra-legal operations they undertake are well hidden.

Dreadbore Isles

The world of Dreadbore Isles is composed of a ring of islands that surround an immense whirlpool named the Dreadbore.

Geography

The islands surrounding the Dreadbore vary significantly in their size and culture, and the influence of the Dreadbore tends to make it impractical for any given island to have significant contact with any islands beyond its close neighbors.

Beyond the ring of islands lies the Great Ocean. Its depths are beyond reckoning, and no significant land mass has ever been discovered outside of the ring of islands. The deep waters of the Great Ocean also contain very limited sea life, especially compared to the rich variety around the islands.

Island Descriptions

Dragonsguard

The island of Dragonsguard is ruled by dragons. Most ships that approach the island are destroyed on sight by dragons, regardless of their intentions. There are two known exceptions that the dragons allow to pass: ships carrying an immense wealth of treasure to offer as tribute to the dragons, and ships crewed entirely by dwarves. The tribute ships are allowed to leave Dragonsguard unscathed, save for the loss of their tribute. Dwarf-crewed ships have been observed to reach the island unscathed, but the ships never return, and their crews are never seen again.

The few people who have been to Dragonsguard and returned on tribute ships tell fantastical stories of a draconic paradise, filled with works of magical genius and incredible wealth. However, they have never seen dwarves on the island, and no one knows what happens to the dwarf-crewed ships.

Darren's Land

The island of Darren's Land is flat and dry, and long ago it was an uninhabited desert. Thanks to the mighty and continual efforts of the druidic Circle of Unity, a collective representing the variety of druid circles present on the island, the barren land provides enough food to sustain the island's population. This gives the Circle of Unity far more influence on the politics of civilization than druids normally possess, which has posed challenges for both the civilization on the island and the integrity of the druids who wield that power.

Long ago, a mighty warrior named Darren came to the island and cleansed it entirely of monsters. He sought to establish a utopia free from any danger, where common people could explore any part of the island freely. Although he succeeded at rendering the island safe, he failed to render it inhabitable, and was forced to flee the island to avoid starvation. Decades later, he returned with a group of druids and colonists to establish a sustainable civilization there, and it has persisted ever since.

Elysland

The island of Elysland is overgrown with an ancient forest. It is divided into five forest-dwelling nations. The different nations have deep divisions in their attitudes towards society, and some share ancient grudges against each other. However, all are unified in their reverence for the towering trees that shade and protect them, and they will put aside their differences when necessary to push back against outsiders who would defile the forests.

Reinward

Reinward is one of the largest islands, and is the most thoroughly developed and civilized.

The Savage Lands

The Savage Lands are bordered by mountains on all sides but the easternmost side, which extends deep into the Dreadbore. Only the largest and most well-crewed ships are capable of navigating that port, and no ship built on the Savage Lands has ever escaped to safety. It is not a barren island, but it is an unwelcoming one. There are three main power groups on the island: the orc tribes, the undead, and the Old Fae.

The Soulforge

The Soulforge is a plane of infinite smooth, grey ground stretching to every horizon. The only location of any distinction or relevance on the plane is the Soulspire. It is a metal tower, five hundred feet across at the base and one mile high. The outside of the tower is adorned with beautiful and intricate sigils in an unknown language. Around the base of the tower, a small encampment of doomed souls repeatedly struggle to ascend the Soulspire, die in the process, and take corporeal form once again.

The Trapped Souls

The Soulspire seems to function similarly to an unusually limited afterlife. Every creature surrounding the Soulspire is a soulforged made from the essence of the plane. As normal, when a soulforged creature of strong will dies, they can maintain the cohesion of their soul and reconstitute a new body from the essence of their native plane.

A long-standing legend based on murals at the base of the tower claims that anyone who reach to the top of the Soulspire can find their heart's desire, which is generally interpreted to mean leaving the plane. Many inhabitants of the Soulspire take advantage of their effective immortality to lay reckless seige to the Soulspire, returning after each demise as long as their willpower holds.

There is a semblance of culture at the tower's base. It shifts slowly, as over long centuries the old inhabitants give up on maintaining their individuality and become part of the plane itself. Traditionally, this is done by attempting one final tower ascent and not returning from the inevitable death that follows, though some have wandered off into the grey void outside the tower and never returned. Whenever an old soul gives up its sense of self, a new arrival appears within a day. There are three classes of people in Soulforge: the ascendants, who actively try to climb the tower; the fledglings, who have never tried; and the sages, who once sought to climb the tower and have now given up.

The Impossible Ascent

Each floor of the Soulspire is a separate demiplane, most of which are far larger than the tower's radius would suggest. There is always a portal on each floor to ascend to the next level, and there are often windows in incogrous locations that look out onto the original plane. The view from each window has an elevation about twenty feet higher than the previous window, and looks out onto the Soulforge. The windows can be seen from outside the Soulspire, and ascendants looking out can be observed, through their surroundings are never visible - only the ascendants themselves. This allows the fledglings and sages at the base to track the progress of ascendants. It gives the ascendants confidence that the Soulspire is finite, and that actually reaching the top is an achievable goal - though not an easy one. Based on the exterior windows, the Soulspire has two hundred and fifty-one floors. No ascendant has ever passed the fiftieth floor.

Aside from the constant presence of the portal and the windows, each floor of the Soulspire can be dramatically different. In addition to having highly varied terrain, each floor can have different gravity or otherwise break different fundamental laws. In general, the floors seem to expand in size and complexity as their apparent height in the tower increases.

Almost all floors are populated with soulforged imitations of creatures native to other planes. These creatures are almost universally hostile. In the unusual event that the creatures communicate with ascendants, they have never displayed any knowledge of the Soulspire's nature or of any world beyond their current floor.

The Soulspire is entered through a large, golden gate at its base. It is activated by placing a hand against it for thirty continuous seconds. Once it activates, it remains open for thirty seconds before closing. Portals within the Soulspire behave in the same way, though their color and size may vary significantly. During the time that the portals are open, any ascendants who enter it always arrive at the same floor as each other. On rare occasions, ascendants may arrive at different locations in the next floor, but they usually arrive in the same location as each other.

Chapter 18

Monster Mechanics

The various creatures that exist in the world of Rise outside of normal humanoid civilization are collectively called monsters. Many of them are dangerous, and adventurers may need to fight them. This chapter describes the rules for monsters, and the combat statistics for a variety of monsters.

Monster Statistics

Like player characters, monsters have levels, attributes, and abilities. However, they do not have classes, insight points, or many other elements of characters. This section defines how monsters function.

Monster Roles

Each monster has a role. A monster's role influences its statistics, and generally indicates the way it fights. There are six roles: brute, skirmisher, warrior, sniper, mystic, and leader. The effects of each role are described below.

Brute

A typical brute rushes into melee and smashes its enemies with highly damaging attacks. Brutes have high hit points and reasonable defenses, but also become injured easily. Most brutes charge directly at the enemy and fight in melee, though some prefer to use a few ranged attacks before entering the fray.

Defenses: +4 Armor, +5 Brawn, +4 Fortitude, +4 Reflex, +3 Mental

Durability: +6.

Injury Point: Three-quarters of total hit points.

Leader

A typical leader commands their allies from behind the front lines, but is willing to enter the fray to protect more vulnerable allies. Leaders have well-rounded statistics, but they do not generally fight well alone. Instead, they tend to be more effective when aiding or commanding their allies.

Defenses: +4 Armor, +4 Brawn, +4 Fortitude, +4 Reflex, +4 Mental

Durability: +4.

Injury Point: Half of total hit points.

Skirmisher

A typical skirmisher uses its high mobility to fight only when it is advantageous to do so. Skirmishers can be hard to hit, though they are vulnerable to attacks that can't be dodged. They are likely to avoid intimidating front-line fighters. Instead, they ambush the vulnerable back lines if possible.

Defenses: +5 Armor, +4 Brawn, +4 Fortitude, +5 Reflex, +4 Mental

Durability: +2.

Injury Point: Half of total hit points.

Sniper

A typical sniper uses ranged attacks while staying as far away from combat as possible. Snipers tend to be fragile, so they can be quickly dispatched by creatures that are able to close the distance.

Defenses: +3 Armor, +3 Brawn, +3 Fortitude, +4 Reflex, +4 Mental

Durability: +2.

Injury Point: Three-quarters of total hit points.

Warrior

A typical warrior forms a defensive front line to protect any vulnerable allies. Warriors have high defenses, and can be very difficult to kill. However, they tend to lack offensive power and mobility, so they risk being outflanked and irrelevant.

Defenses: +5 Armor, +4 Brawn, +5 Fortitude, +3 Reflex, +4 Mental

Durability: +4.

Injury Point: One third of total hit points.

Level Scaling

Each monster has a level that indicates its approximate strength. Monsters have some specific level scaling rules that differ from the rules for player characters. This scaling is summarized in Table 18.1: Monster Advancement, page 477. In general, their automatic level scaling is designed to keep them on par with the power that player characters gain at higher levels, but without the full complexity of high-level PCs. High level monsters should have slightly higher base values for their attributes, though this is not quantified, since monster attributes can be highly varied. They have the following specific changes.

- Monsters calculate their injury point based on their role rather than their level and Constitution. Their role defines their injury point as some multiplier of the monster's total hit points.
- Monsters only add half their attributes to their defenses instead of their full attribute.
- Monsters gain a +1 bonus to two attributes at 3rd level and every 3 levels thereafter. This replaces the attribute bonus player characters receive.
- Monsters gain a +1 bonus to all defenses at 7th level and 19th level.
- Monsters gain a +1 accuracy bonus at 13th level and 21st level.
- Monsters gain a +1 power bonus at 5th level, 11th level, and 17th level.

Table 18.1: Monster Advancement

21st	7	+14	+10	+1 accuracy, +1 to two attributes

1. This bonus applies to the monster's accuracy, magical power, mundane power, trained skills, and defenses.

Elite Monsters

Elite monsters are approximately four times as strong as an ordinary monster. They have a number of benefits and modifiers to make them more appropriate as a solo encounter than simply using a very high level ordinary monster:

- Elite monsters gain a +2 bonus to their power and all defenses.
- Elite monsters have three times the hit points of standard monsters.
- Elite monsters can have a maximum starting attribute of 6 (see Monster Attributes, page 478).

- Elite monsters can take an additional elite action each round (see Elite Actions, page 478).
- Elite monsters automatically remove conditions (see Monster Conditions, page 477).

Monster Vital Wounds

Monsters do not normally make vital rolls like player characters do. Unless otherwise specified on the monster's description, vital wounds have no negative effects on monsters. Instead, once a monster gains a vital wound, it is defeated. Defeated monsters may be unconscious, dead, or merely flee the fight at the discretion of the Game Master.

Monster Conditions

Monsters normally can't use the recover ability. Standard monsters can only remove conditions by taking a short rest. However, elite monsters can remove conditions more easily with the elite cleanse ability. Intelligence monsters can generally choose which condition they remove, while unintelligent monsters may choose instinctually or randomly.

Elite Cleanse	Triggered
----------------------	-----------

At the end of each round, roll 1d10. On a 7 or higher, the monster can remove one condition. On a 10, it can also remove a different condition. Conditions applied during the current round cannot be removed in this way.

Whenever an elite monster gains a unique condition, it is added to a "condition track". The first condition is to the first slot in the track, the second condition is added to the second slot, and so on. If a monster gains two instances of the same condition, they are put in the same location on the track.

At the end of each round, each elite monster rolls 1d6. If the result matches an existing condition on its condition track, that condition is removed unless all instances of that condition were gained during the current round. When a monster has multiple copies of the same condition, only one instance of that condition is removed, so it may have to roll the same number multiple times to fully remove the condition. If a location on the condition track becomes empty, all of the conditions to the right of that location shift down by 1. This means the highest occupied number on the condition track should always match the number of unique conditions the monster has. The oldest condition should always be number 1, and the most recent condition should have the highest occupied number on the track.

Monster Resources

Monsters have no resources, and their fatigue tolerance is 0. They are normally unable to use universal abilities that would cause them to increase their fatigue level, such as the desperate exertion ability. They can use the sprint ability, but only during the action phase, since that does not increase their fatigue.

If a monster has an explicitly listed special ability that increases its fatigue level, it can use that ability. Similarly, monsters that are allied with player characters may choose to increase their fatigue level to receive healing from the players, such as from the restoration spell. This would immediately cause them to suffer fatigue penalties, since their fatigue tolerance is 0.

At the GM's discretion, individual monsters may technically be attuned to their abilities or be attuned to magic items they find, but this is not an explicit part of monster definitions. This is typically only relevant if one of the players has the Null feat (see Feats, page 407).

Monster Ability Access

Although monsters do not gain archetypes, their special abilities should still be balanced appropriately for their maximum accessible rank. Like a player character, a monster's maximum accessible rank is based on its level, as shown in Table 18.1: Monster Advancement, page 477.

It's not always meaningful to give every monster multiple active abilities. However, maneuvers provide significant power at high levels, so high level monsters should generally use special abilities like maneuvers instead of simple strikes. This also ensures that high level monsters feel meaningfully different from low-level monsters, rather than simply having higher statistics.

Monster Attributes

Each of a standard monster's attributes can range from -9 to 4. Elite monsters can have attributes up to 6 at level 1, and they generally have higher attributes overall. A few specific monsters of legendary power can exceed this limit. In general, a monster with higher attributes will be stronger, but not all monsters need to start with the same attribute total.

Monster Natural Weapons

Most monsters that do not have hands, or equivalently agile limbs capable of holding weapons and shields, have more powerful natural weapons. They treat all non-Light natural weapons as if they had the Heavy weapon tag and were being held in two hands. This gives them a +1 damage bonus per 3 power.

Some specific monsters, such as horses, do not gain this benefit because they are unable to effectively use their whole body to support their attacks.

Monster Dual Strikes

Monsters with a sufficiently high Dexterity are able to make dual strikes (see Dual Strikes, page 37). However, most monsters can only make dual strikes with two copies of the same Light natural weapon. Monsters that use manufactured weapons can make dual strikes with them in the same way as player characters.

Monster Combat Mechanics

Monster Actions

All monsters are able to make movements and take free actions, minor actions, and standard actions in the same way as player characters.

Elite Actions

Elite monsters can take an additional elite action each round. Every elite monster has at least one special ability that requires an elite action to use. Elite actions cannot be converted into standard or minor actions, and elite monsters cannot use a standard action to use abilities that require an elite action.

In general, elite monsters should be designed to attack multiple different PCs in every round. If the full damage output of an elite monster is brought to bear on a single PC, it will likely kill that PC quickly, taking a player out of the fight too early. Alternately, if that PC is able to avoid or resist the damage, it will trivialize the fight and remove the sense of danger. Instead, damage should be spread throughout the party to ensure that multiple people feel threatened and have to adjust their actions based on their personal danger tolerance.

Although splitting attacks between multiple defenders is usually a suboptimal battle strategy, it can be narratively justified in a variety of ways. It may be physically impractical for a monster to use all of its natural weapons on the same creature. Monsters may want to inflict debuffs on multiple attackers to reduce the damage they take, which may require dealing enough damage to inflict HP-based debuffs.

Encounter Balancing

In general, a group of PCs of a given level will have an appropriate challenge from fighting an equal number of monsters of their level. Alternately, they can fight a single elite monster of their level. You can generally replace one monster of a given level with two monsters that are two or three levels lower. Similarly, you can replace two monsters of a given level with one monster that is two or three levels higher. To make encounters easier or harder, you can change the number of monsters or the level of the monsters.

It is generally not a good idea for PCs to fight monsters five or more levels higher or lower than their own level. They may find that their attacks always miss, or never miss, and other aspects of the encounter may be similarly imbalanced in ways that are not easily remedied by simply changing the number of enemies.

There are many ways that you can make encounters easier or harder in ways that don't simply involve changing the level and number of monsters. If monsters enter the battle gradually over time, rather than all at once, you can use a larger number of monsters without overwhelming the players. Similarly, having multiple separate fights without letting the players finish a short rest can dramatically increase the danger and difficulty of the later fights.

The terrain and physical location of a fight can also dramatically change its difficulty. Narrow corridors and tight spaces favor smaller groups, highly defensive characters, and mid-range spellcasters who can attack safely from the back lines. Wide-open terrain favors large groups, highly mobile creatures, and long-range combatants like archers. A party with good tactics can easily hold a five-foot tunnel against dozens or even hundreds of melee-only enemy combatants, even if they would be swarmed and killed easily by those same enemies in an open field.

Monster Knowledge

You can remember relevant knowledge about monsters by making Knowledge skill checks. Each monster has a set of associated information that you can learn with a knowledge check of the listed difficulty value. Most monsters have multiple tiers of information that you can learn depending on how good your Knowledge check is. All information recorded in these descriptions is accurate, though lower check results may not provide full context for a monster's behavior or nature.

Dungeoneering DV 6: Legends speak of revolting water-dwelling creatures called aboleths that lurk in the deepest caves. They are said to have power over people's minds.

Dungeoneering DV 11: An aboleth is a Huge fishlike creature found primarily in subterranean lakes and rivers. It has four tentacles and two vertically stacked eyes in the center of its ridged forehead. It uses its powerful mental abilities to overwhelm the minds of its foes.

Dungeoneering DV 16: Four pulsating dark blue orifices line the bottom of an aboleth's body and secrete gray slime that smells like rancid grease. This slime coats its tentacles, and creatures struck by the tentacles can have their skin transformed into a similar slime. Aboleths are amphibious, and they are able to drag themselves along with their tentacles on land, though they are much faster in the water.

Dungeoneering DV 21: Aboleths can completely dominate the minds of lesser creatures. They sometimes use their minions as agents to spy in cities or otherwise further their sinister goals.

Angels

Angels Lore

Souls DV 8: Angels are the ultimate champions of good in the endless battle of good and evil. They are native to Elysium, and they often serve the interests of good-aligned deities.

Souls DV 13: All angels have a striking and highly memorable appearance that evokes strong emotions in most viewers. Most angels evoke an overpowering sense of awe and beauty, but individual angels may have highly varied appearances.

Souls DV 18: In battle, angels are feared for their fundamental perfection. They tend not to have any weaknesses for attackers to use against them. Their only true foes are demons, who use overwhelming hordes rather than any clever tactics.

Seraph Lore

Souls DV 13: Seraphim are six-winged angels of immense power. They burn with holy fire, which they use to immolate evildoers. A seraph resembles a massive serpent that leaves a trail of fire as it flies.

Souls DV 18: Despite their serpentine appearance, seraphim have beautiful singing voices. They sing almost constantly both in and out of combat.

Seraph Abilities

Divine Radiance: The seraph constantly radiates bright illumination in a Large (60 ft.) radius.

Rituals ✨: The seraph can perform any ritual of rank 6 or lower from the channel divinity and prayer mystic spheres. It does not need to increase its fatigue level to perform those rituals.

Divine Translocation ✨

Elite action

The seraph teleports into an unoccupied location within Distant (120 ft.) range. It can teleport in any direction and does not need to land on stable ground.

Immolating Fireball ✨

Elite action

Tags: Fire

The seraph makes a +13 attack vs. Reflex against everything in a Tiny (5 ft.) radius within Short (30 ft.) range.

Hit: 10d6 damage. If a creature takes a vital wound from this damage that leaves it unconscious, its body is completely destroyed by flame. Only a pile of ashes remains. An immolated creature's equipment is unaffected.

Miss: Half damage.

Mighty Pyroclasm ✨

Elite action

Tags: Fire

Fire consumes a Large (60 ft.) radius zone from the seraph's location. The seraph makes a +13 attack vs. Reflex against everything in the area. This typically means it includes itself as a target. During its next action, this effect repeats in the same area.

Hit: 9d6 damage.

Miss: Half damage.

The seraph makes a +13 melee strike vs. Armor with its bite.

Hit: 5d8+27 damage.

Justicar Lore

Souls DV 11: Justicars enforce justice on good-aligned planes. They are extremely skilled at identifying the truth of any situation, and act to deal justice however they see fit. Physically, a justicar appears similar to a large human with strong muscles and a constantly stern expression.

Souls DV 16: In rare circumstances, justicars may leave good-aligned planes to pursue those they see as exceptionally heinous criminals. Generally, this requires that the perpetrator committed a direct offense against a good deity or desecrated an area of a good-aligned plane. Justicars have no interest in mortal matters or minor crimes.

Souls DV 21: Once, a group of thugs and murderers broke through a magic seal guarding an ancient wizard's tower, intending to loot everything inside. They were shocked when a justicar suddenly appeared in front of them, and prepared to fight for their lives. However, the justicar ignored them. Instead, it killed the ancient wizard of the tower and disappeared, leaving the spoils to the evildoers who broke the seal.

This is the morality of a justicar. They consider only truly immense evils to be worthy of their attention, and ignore all lesser sins.

Justicar Abilities

Divine Radiance: The justicar constantly radiates bright illumination in a Large (60 ft.) radius.

Rituals ✨: The justicar can perform any ritual of rank 5 or lower from the channel divinity and revelation mystic spheres. It does not need to increase its fatigue level to perform those rituals.

Baffling Visions ✨

Elite action

Tags: Visual

The justicar makes a +12 attack vs. Mental against all enemies within a Large (60 ft.) radius from itself.

Hit: If the target is injured, it is briefly confused (-2 defenses, randomly attack or defend).

Clairvoyance ✨

Elite action

Tags: Scrying, Sustain (attunable, minor)

A scrying sensor appears floating in the air in any unoccupied square within Medium (60 ft.) range. The justicar does not need line of sight or line of effect to target a location. The justicar must specify a distance and direction to target a location it cannot see. This can allow it to cast the spell beyond walls and similar obstacles.

At the start of each round, the justicar chooses whether it sees and hears from this sensor or from its body. While viewing through the sensor, the justicar's observation ability is the same as its normal body, except that it does not share the benefits of any magical ✨ effects that improve its vision. The justicar otherwise acts normally, though it may have difficulty moving or taking actions if the sensor cannot see its body or its intended targets, effectively making it blinded (50% miss chance, -2 defenses).

If undisturbed, the sensor floats in the air in its position.

Nature DV 7: An ankheg is a Large burrowing ant-like creature with large mandibles and a taste for fresh meat. It has six legs, and most ankhegs are brown. In battle, they try to emerge briefly out of tunnels to ambush unwary foes and drag them underground.

Nature DV 12: A typical adult ankheg is about 10 feet long and weighs about 800 pounds. Ankhegs burrow quickly thanks to the powerful acid they naturally produce. They are able spit that acid at foes up to 20 feet away. When burrowing, they usually do not leave usable tunnels behind them. They can choose to do so, though this halves their burrowing speed.

Nature DV 17: When hunting, ankhegs usually dig a winding tunnel up to 40 feet below the surface in the rich soil of forests or farmlands. The tunnel usually 5 feet tall and wide, and up to 150 feet long. If they have been in an area for some time, they generally store the remains from previous kills at the end of the tunnel. When they move on, they leave any valuable objects behind with their old tunnels.

Bugbears

Bugbears Lore

Local DV 7: Bugbears are Medium humanoid creatures with burly, hairy bodies and ugly goblin faces. They are brutish and chaotic, and enjoy bullying their goblin kin.

Local DV 12: Although bugbears have only ordinary physical strength, they are remarkably durable. Their name comes from their hirsute nature and inexhaustible endurance, both of which are reminiscent of bears. They enjoy wrestling, and tend to grapple their foes in combat, even when doing so is not tactically advantageous.

Local DV 17: Bugbears are typically found in small packs that rarely have more than a dozen members. However, sometimes they will congregate around a powerful leader for a time. These groupings are not hierarchical or well organized, and are typically based around some discovery of wealth that a chief can ration out to their followers.

Nature DV 6: A darkmantle has a small body and a large number of strong tentacles. It hides itself on walls and ceilings and drops on its foes to strangle them to death.

Nature DV 11: Darkmantles hang from ceilings using a muscular “foot” at the top of their bodies. They can look like a stalactite by holding their tentacles stiffly under themselves, or like a lump of rock by spreading their tentacles so the membrane between them covers their bodies. Their shell and skin usually resemble limestone, but a darkmantle can change its color to match almost any type of stony background.

A darkmantle that misses its initial attack often climbs away and tries to drop on the opponent again if there is a conveniently placed wall. Otherwise, it tries to climb its opponent’s body to suffocate its head. Darkmantles move very slowly, so they rely heavily on stealth to ambush their foes.

Formians

Formians Lore

Local DV 5: Formians are ant-like creatures native to Terra. They share a hive mind that allows telepathic communication at great distances.

Local DV 10: All formians can sense their surroundings instinctively by feeling tremors in the ground. Most formians are simple drones with no independent thought or agency; they act only as directed by their queen. As a result, they fight with no concern for their own lives, serving only the greater good of the group. They may still retreat to avoid expending unnecessary resources on a battle that is already lost.

Local DV 15: Formians often attempt to set up colonies in unclaimed locations on other planes to expand their influence, though they never attack civilizations or sentient creatures to do so. Once they have established their colonies, they consider themselves to have a rightful claim to that land, and they can be highly territorial.

If a formian queen is killed, all formians it was controlling immediately become inert, taking no actions of any kind. These isolated formians typically die of dehydration or similar causes, though in rare cases they may be claimed by another formian queen.

Worker Lore

Local DV 5: Workers are the basic building blocks of formian society. A typical worker is about 3 feet long and about 2-1/2 feet high at the front. Its hands are suitable only for manual labor.

Local DV 10: Individual workers are simple-minded, but they are given instructions by the hive mind. Even the smallest formian colony typically has hundreds of workers, and larger colonies can have tens of thousands. Workers are generally given orders by a formian queen in groups of at least five, and it is rare to see an individual worker on its own.

Worker Abilities

Hive Mind ✶: All formians within 50 miles of their queen are in constant telepathic communication with her, regardless of any intervening physical obstacles. They instantaneously share information about threats and discoveries. This allows formians to usually respond to new information intelligently and in perfect unison, regardless of each formian's individual intelligence.

Gelatinous cubes are unusually fast compared to other oozes, though they are still slow compared to most creatures.

Souls DV 11: Ghouls can lay simple ambushes, but lack the capacity for complex traps or schemes. They are commonly found in the service of vampires. As natural servants, ghouls are weak-willed despite their combat acumen.

Souls DV 16: Vampires can create new ghouls by fully draining a creature's blood shortly after death. Necromancers can achieve the same ends with a ritual. Giants

Giants Lore

Local DV 5: Giants are massive humanoid creatures that tower over lesser creatures. All giants have immense strength and unimpressive agility - except when it comes to throwing and catching rocks, which they tend to excel at.

Local DV 10: A giant can throw objects no larger than two size categories smaller than itself with ease. Giants prefer to throw boulders, but in a pinch they can throw almost anything.

Local DV 15: A giant's range limits with an object other than a boulder are generally half its range limit with a boulder. The object may also deal less damage than a boulder depending on its construction.

Hill Giant Lore

Local DV 10: A hill giant is a Huge giant that is usually found in hilly areas. Hill giants prefer to fight from high, rocky outcrops, where they can pelt opponents with rocks and boulders while limiting the risk to themselves. Skin color among hill giants ranges from light tan to deep ruddy brown. They wear layers of crudely prepared hides with the fur left on.

Local DV 15: Hill giants lack the intelligence or desire to retreat if their enemies survive to approach them, and prefer to draw their massive clubs and enter melee. If possible, they smash their foes off of cliffs.

The hair of hill giants is brown or black, with eyes the same color. They seldom wash or repair their garments, preferring to simply add more hides as their old ones wear out. Adult hill giants are about 25 feet tall. They can live to be 70 years old.

Hit: 12d6 damage, and the target is briefly slowed (-10 speed, -2 Armor and Ref).

While it is swallowed by the earth, it does not have line of sight or line of effect to any creature other than itself. During each of the voidstar golem's subsequent actions, it takes 12d6 damage as the earth grinds it into paste.

The target can remove this condition by making a difficulty value 12 Strength check as a standard action. If the earth or stone it is swallowed by is destroyed or otherwise rendered unable to contain the creature, this ability is dismissed. Halfsouls Lore

Souls DV 12: A halfsoul is an undead creature that was incorrectly resurrected, returning only half of the original creature's soul to its body. Souls DV 17: Halfsouls can be created by resurrection rituals that are interrupted shortly before completion. They can also be the result of botched necromantic rituals that were intended to splinter a soul, such as rituals to create skeletons and zombies.

Ichor-Tainted

Ichor-Tainted Lore

Nature DV 8: The dreadful magical liquid known as ichor has no known origin. All is known is that it can corrupt creatures who contact it. Creatures who become tainted in this way recklessly attack anything they encounter, making them extremely dangerous.

Nature DV 13: Ichor-tainted creatures have had their internal organs restructured in unnatural ways, making them difficult to dispatch quickly. When the ichor spreads, as it often does during a fight, it inhibits healing as it tries to corrupt its new host.

Nature DV 18: Only animals can be fully transformed by ichor. Other creatures suffer temporary effects at worst. The biological structure of transformed animals bears some resemblance to aberrations. Some scholars theorize that this means the ichor originated from the Eternal Void, while others think it is a mere imitation.

Liches

Phylactery ★: Every lich contains their soul in their phylactery. Most phylacteries are valuable gems, but other objects are possible. A phylactery must be at least Tiny in size.

Liches can commune with their phylacteries to allow their souls to temporarily inhabit their bodies. This allows their soul to process the memories stored in their body, allowing the lich to improve its skills and change its mind. A lich that never communes with its phylactery suffers no direct consequences, but is also incapable of increasing its personal power.

When a lich dies, the phylactery creates a new body for the lich after 24 hours. The new body has no memory of what happened to the original body since the last time the lich communed with its phylactery.

Liches Lore

Souls DV 13: A lich is an undead creature that intentionally severed its soul from its body and placed the soul in a vessel called a phylactery. As long as its phylactery survives, a lich cannot be fully destroyed. Becoming a lich requires horrific acts of violence, and even researching the process is generally illegal.

Souls DV 18: Because the normal body of a lich is soulless, it is incapable of growing or changing its mind. Liches must commune with their phylactery to truly learn and develop their skills. However, they must also keep their phylactery safely protected, since keeping it on their body means it could easily be destroyed if they die. Each lich must resolve this dangerous contradiction in their own way.

Souls DV 23: The body of a lich is not completely soulless. A tiny soul splinter inhabits the body, binding it to the phylactery. It provides the body no animating force, but the soul splinter returns to the phylactery when the lich's body is destroyed. The return of that soul splinter prompts the phylactery to inhabit a new body.

Lizardfolk

Lizardfolk Lore

Local DV 6: Lizardfolk are Medium bipedal creatures covered in reptilian scales. They are slightly taller and bulkier than humans, typically standing 6 to 7 feet tall and weighing up to 250 pounds. Their tail resembles that of a crocodile, and is typically 3 to 4 feet long. Their scales are typically green, gray, or brown. In battle, they typically fight as unorganized individuals.

Local DV 11: Lizardfolk use their tail for balance on land and to accelerate their swimming while in water. They prefer direct charges and massed rushes in battle, sometimes trying to force foes into the water, where the lizardfolk have an advantage. If lizardfolk are outnumbered or if their territory is being invaded, they set snares, plan ambushes, and make raids to hinder enemy supplies. Advanced tribes use more sophisticated tactics and have better traps and ambushes.

Magma Elementals

Ogres

Ogres Lore

Local DV 7: Ogres are Large, hideous humanoid creatures with a taste for human flesh. If that is unavailable, they also enjoy the flesh of other humanoid creatures. They lack the intelligence for complex plans, but they like lying in wait to ambush helpless travelers.

Local DV 12: Ogre skin color ranges from dull yellow to dull brown. Their clothing consists of poorly cured furs and hides, which add to their naturally repellent odor.

They are intelligent enough to throw their javelins first to soften up their foes before closing into melee, but ogre gangs and bands fight as disorganized individuals. Ogres use massive clubs in battle to tenderize their meat instead of wastefully hacking off bits.

Orcs

Orcs Lore

Local DV 5: Orcs are green-skinned humanoids that are generally larger, stronger, and less intelligent than humans. Most other humanoid races consider them ugly, though orcs would say the same about most other humanoid races. They tend to be selfish, but they adhere strictly to the particular orcish interpretation of honorable combat.

Local DV 10: Honorable orc combat avoids sneak attacks or deception, allows enemies to surrender, and respects the distinction between civilians and combatants. However, honorable orc combat does not require a great deal of warning before battle is joined, and they have no concept of “dirty fighting” - orcs fight brutally and with no reservations in combat.

Orcs have highly militaristic and regimented society that is divided into different clans, each of which is ruled by a powerful chieftain.

Local DV 15: Orc hierarchy and status is almost always determined by power, and chieftains can be deposed at specific intervals in a personal trial by combat. You know the general patterns that determine when these personal trials by combat are permissible for local orc clans.

Local DV 11: If an orc shaman proves their mettle and wisdom in combat, they may eventually become a trusted advisor to a clan chief. Skeletons

Skeletons Lore

Souls DV 0: Skeletons are the reanimated corpses of once-living creatures. They are the most basic form of animated undead, since they can be created from corpses that have been reduced to mere bones. Creating a skeleton is generally regarded as an evil act.

Souls DV 5: Skeletons retain none of the specific physical or magical abilities of the original creature. They are capable of using armor and weapons, and have a minimal degree of self-preservation, but they lack any understanding of tactics.

Skeletons are sometimes created naturally near areas of recent mass death, such as battlefields where the corpses were not removed.

Souls DV 15: Creating a skeleton from a corpse requires splintering the soul of the creature the corpse belonged to. The soul splinter created this way is used to give the skeleton its agency. This is painful for the dead creature in its afterlife. The more powerful the soul, the more powerful the corresponding skeleton.

Creating a skeleton requires a larger soul splinter than creating a zombie. This larger splinter compensates for the greater decay of the corpse and grants skeletons a slightly greater effective intelligence. However, skeletons still retain none of the original creature's personality.

Nature DV 7: A stygian leech is a Medium worm-like creature that feeds on life energy. It uses its ability to crawl on walls and ceilings to drop on unsuspecting foes.

Nature DV 12: Stygian leeches instinctively avoid feeding on other stygian leeches, but will otherwise attempt to drain the life from any living creatures, regardless of danger. They can instinctively sense the location of any living creatures nearby. Their life-draining attacks can allow them to heal themselves.

Nature DV 17: Stygian leeches ignore non-living creatures entirely unless severely provoked. Some non-living creatures, such as intelligent undead, take advantage of this by gathering stygian leeches to guard their homes.

Vampires

Creature of the Night ✽: All vampires have the creature of the night ability.

Creature of the Night

Standard action

Tags: Attune

The vampire shapeshifts into the form of a Tiny bat, a Medium cloud of mist, or its normal humanoid form.

- Bat: While in its bat form, the vampire gains blindsense (120 ft.) and blindsight (30 ft.). It cannot speak and has no free hands. All of its normal movement modes are replaced with an average fly speed with a 60 ft. height limit.
- Mist: While in its mist form, the vampire becomes floating, intangible, and legless. It cannot speak and has no free hands. All of its normal movement modes are replaced with a slow fly speed with a 30 foot height limit.

In either non-humanoid form, the vampire is unable to take any standard actions, but it can still take move actions in place of standard actions. Since it has no walk speed in those forms, flying does not make it unsteady (-2 accuracy, Armor, Brawn, Ref). The vampire cannot use this ability while helpless (-8 Armor and Ref, can't move).

Gentle Fangs: Whenever a vampire deal damage using its bite natural weapon, it can choose not to reduce the target's hit points below 0, or it can treat the damage as subdual damage. In addition, damage dealt using a vampire's bite natural weapon does not wake sleeping creatures unless it inflicts a vital wound.

Vampire Weaknesses ✽: Vampires have a number of specific weaknesses. Many vampire weaknesses trigger on exposure to particular substances or circumstances. These weaknesses trigger immediately upon first contact, and are repeated at the start of each action phase in subsequent rounds as long as the vampire remains exposed.

- Blood Dependence: For every 24 hours that a vampire remains awake without ingesting at least one pint of blood from living creatures, its maximum hit points are reduced by 20. If its maximum hit points are reduced to 0 in this way, it dies and withers away into a pile of ash. This penalty is removed as soon as the vampire drinks a pint of blood. A vampire can enter a torpor to survive without blood. While in a torpor, it is unconscious until it smells blood nearby. It can survive while in torpor for a number of consecutive centuries equal to its rank before it withers away to dust.
- Consecrated Ground: A vampire in consecrated ground takes 20 damage and becomes stunned (-2 defenses) as a condition if it is not already stunned.
- Garlic: A vampire that smells garlic becomes frightened (-2 Mental, -2 accuracy vs. source) by any creatures bearing garlic as a condition. In addition, creatures that have eaten garlic recently are treated as not having blood for the purpose of a vampire's abilities, so their blood cannot be drained.

- Holy Water: A vampire that touches holy water takes 20 damage and becomes stunned (-2 defenses) as a condition if it is not already stunned.
- Running Water: A vampire that touches or passes over running water takes 10 damage and briefly becomes helpless (-8 Armor and Ref, can't move). This applies as long as the vampire is within 100 feet of the running water, even the water is underground or under a bridge. It can use the struggle ability to move despite being helpless, but only towards the closest shore.
- Silver: Vampires are vulnerable (-4 defenses) to strikes using silver weapons.
- Sunlight: A vampire that touches sunlight takes 20 damage and becomes blinded (50% miss chance, -2 defenses) as a condition if it is not already blinded.
- Unmirrored: Vampires have no reflection in mirrors, including their clothes and equipment. This can allow careful observers to identify vampires.
- Wooden Stakes: If a vampire is injured by a critical strike using a wooden stake, the stake becomes impaled in its heart. The vampire becomes helpless (-8 Armor and Ref, can't move) until the stake is removed. A wooden stake is a Light improvised weapon that deals 1d4 damage.

Critical hit: If the attack result is also a critical hit against the target’s Brawn defense, the yrthak controls the grapple.

Elite Cleanse

Triggered

At the end of each round, roll 1d10. On an 8 or 9, the yrthak can remove one condition. On a 10, it can instead remove two different conditions. Conditions applied during the current round cannot be removed in this way.

Zombies

Zombies Lore

Souls DV 0: Zombies are the reanimated corpses of once-living creatures. They must be created from corpses that still retain most of their organs and internal structure. Creating a zombie is generally regarded as an evil act.

Souls DV 5: Zombies retain the raw strength of the original creature, but lose all special abilities. They are mindless, relentless, and incapable of tactics or tool usage. Instead of using weapons, they try to grab and bite their enemies. They have a relentless hunger for flesh, though consuming it brings them no relief.

Zombies are sometimes created naturally near areas of recent mass death, such as battlefields where the corpses were not removed.

Souls DV 15: Creating a zombie from a corpse requires splintering the soul of the creature the corpse belonged to. The soul splinter created this way is used to give the zombie its limited agency. This is painful for the dead creature in its afterlife. The more powerful the soul, the more powerful the corresponding zombie.

Appendix A

Glossary

ability: An ability is a generic term for any unusual property a creature has or any special actions it can take to cause particular effects. Spells, racial traits, and the benefits from class archetypes can all be called abilities.

ability rank: An ability's rank is typically the minimum character rank required to learn or use the ability. If this is unclear, such as for unique monster abilities, use the creature's character rank.

ability tag: An ability tag describes the effects of an ability. For details, see Ability Tags, page 584.

accuracy: The bonus added to an attack roll. For details, see Accuracy, page 13.

action phase: The action phase is the second of two phases in a combat round. During the action phase, creatures can attack, cast spells, and take other major combat actions.

alchemical item: An alchemical item is any item created using the Craft (alchemy) skill. This includes firebombs, potions, and many other items.

alignment: Your alignment represents your general morality in broad terms. For details, see Alignment, page 19.

allied group: Your allied group is the set of allies that you can coordinate your actions with. This group resolves its actions together, separately from other combatants. For details, see Resolving Actions, page 31.

ally: An ally is any creature you consider an ally, and who also considers you an ally, excluding yourself. For details, see Allies and Enemies, page 42.

archetype: An archetype is a collection of related abilities from a particular class. Each class has five archetypes. For details, see Archetypes, page 47.

archetype rank: Your rank in an archetype determines which abilities from that archetype you have access to, and the power of those abilities. Your rank in any given archetype cannot exceed your character rank. For details, see Archetype Ranks, page 47.

area: An area ability has a point of origin and affects all valid targets within some distance from that location. There are six standard area sizes: Tiny (5 ft.), Small (15 ft.), Medium (30 ft.), Large (60 ft.), Huge (90 ft.), and Gargantuan (120 ft.). For details, see Area Shapes, page 44, and Area Types, page 45.

armor: Armor is a form of equipment that protects your body from harm. There are two kinds of armor: body armor, which you wear on your body, and shields, which you wield in a hand. For details, see Armor, page 165.

attack: Any ability that requires an attack roll is an attack, even if it is used in a non-harmful way.

attack result: An attack result is the total you get on an attack roll, after taking into account any bonuses or penalties that apply to the roll.

attack roll: To make an attack roll, roll 1d10 + your accuracy with the attack. If the result equals or exceeds the target's defense, the attack succeeds. Some attacks, especially damaging area abilities, have effects even on a failed roll. For details, see Attack Rolls, page 28.

attended: An attended item is an item currently being held or carried by a creature. Some abilities can only affect unattended items.

attribute: An attribute represents a character's capacity in a wide range of areas. There are six attributes: Strength, Dexterity, Constitution, Intelligence, Perception, and Willpower.

attune: Some abilities last as long as you attune to them. Attuning to an ability costs an attunement point that you cannot recover as long as you maintain that attunement. For details, see Attuned Abilities, page 45.

attuned: If you are attuned to an ability, you have invested an attunement point in it to maintain its effect. For details, see Attuned Abilities, page 45.

Character rank is based on level, as defined in Table 3.7: Character Advancement and Gaining Levels, page 23. It is also listed in the base class table for each class, since it determines a character’s maximum archetype rank (see Archetype Ranks, page 47).

chain: An ability can specify that it chains a certain number of times. The chain starts from any primary target of the ability. Each chain allows you to choose an additional secondary target for the ability. That target must be within 15 foot range of the previous target in the chain and must not already be a target of the ability. You must have line of sight to each chained target.

However, you do not need line of effect to them, and they can be beyond the ability’s original range.

You can chain to objects if the ability can normally affect objects. However, they must be well-defined objects that are Gargantuan or smaller, so you can’t chain off of the ground.

class: A character’s class determines their fundamental source of power and many of their abilities. For details, see Classes, page 47.

Second, these attunement points are not recovered until you take a short rest, even if the attunement is released. For details, see Deep Attunement, page 46.

defeated: A creature is defeated if it dies or is incapacitated for an extended period of time (such as by being knocked unconscious). Defeating a creature generally requires inflicting a vital wound on it.

Strikes, page 37.

extended check: An extended check is a check that represents your character taking some action over a prolonged period of time. You cannot use abilities like desperate exertion to modify the results of an extended check. The surface must be at least as large as the creature or object resting on it. Some effects only work if the creature or object is grounded by a particular material, such as stone.

height limit: A height limit defines your maximum distance directly above an object at least two size categories larger than you that is free-standing and capable of supporting your weight. This is common for flying creatures (see Flight, page 36).

hit point: Your hit points measure how hard you are to seriously injure or kill. You lose hit points when you take damage. If you run out of hit points, you gain vital wounds when you take damage instead, which can cause you to die quickly. For details, see Hit Points, page 13.

ice crystal: Ice crystals improve the effects of some spells from the Cryomancy mystic sphere. You can normally have a maximum of three ice crystals. At the end of each round, if you did not gain or spend any ice crystals that round, one of your ice crystals melts. For details, see Cryomancy, page 286.

immune: You treat effects you are immune to as if they did not exist. You cannot have or gain conditions or similar effects from sources you are immune to. For example, if you become immune to poison, you would remove all poisons affecting yourself.

improvised weapon: An improvised weapon is an object which could conceivably be used as a weapon, but which was not designed for that purpose. Common examples include doors and wine bottles. For details, see Improvised Weapons, page 156.

initiative: When multiple creatures take mutually impossible actions simultaneously, such as racing to be the first one to a door, they must roll initiative checks to determine who completes the action first. Your initiative modifier is equal to your Dexterity. For details, see Conflicting Actions, page 32.

injury: If your remaining hit points are at or below your injury point, you are injured (see Injury, page 29). For more long-term consequences of taking damage, see Vital Wounds, page 30.

insight point: Insight points can be spent to gain additional abilities or proficiencies. For details, see Insight Points, page 14.

Intelligence: Intelligence is an attribute that represents how well you learn and reason. For details, see Intelligence, page 578.

item rank: Items have ranks indicating their approximate value and rarity. For details, see Item Ranks, page 153.

loose equipment: Loose equipment is much more vulnerable to damage than ordinary equipment. For details, see Loose Equipment, page 151.

key attribute: The key attribute for a skill is the attribute associated with that skill. For example, Climb is a Strength-based skill. Some skills, such as Persuasion, do not have a key attribute.

fling: A fling is a type of forced movement. It represents being thrown backwards by a single large impact. If a creature or object being flung encounters an obstacle, it and the obstacle each take 1d8 damage per 10 feet of movement remaining. For details, see Fling Effects, page 36.

light undergrowth: A space with passable bushes, vines, and similar natural obstacles has light undergrowth. Light undergrowth provides concealment.

lightweight: A lightweight object has a weight category that is one category smaller than the object's size category. For details, see Weight Limits, page 15.

line of effect: You cannot target something that you do not have line of effect to. Line of effect is blocked by solid obstacles, even invisible ones. For details, see Line of Effect, page 41.

line of sight: You cannot target something that you do not have line of sight to. Line of sight is blocked by any obstacle that blocks sight, even if that obstacle does not block physical passage. For details, see Line of Sight, page 41.

long range: Ranged weapons have two range limits: close range and long range. Attacks beyond a weapon's close range, but within its long range, have a -4 longshot penalty. For details, see Weapon Range Limits, page 156.

long rest: A long rest represents eight hours of relaxation or sleep. It allows you to remove all of your fatigue levels and make progress towards healing a vital wound. For details, see Long Rest, page 147.

longshot penalty: A longshot penalty is the penalty that you take for attacking outside of a weapon's close range. It is normally a -4 accuracy penalty. For details, see Weapon Range Limits, page 156.

magic source: A magic source defines where a creature's mystic spheres come from. There are four magic sources: arcane, divine, nature, and pact. Sorcerers and wizards cast arcane spells, clerics and paladins cast divine spells, druids cast nature spells, and votives cast pact spells.

magical: A magical ability is an ability whose origin derives from magic. Examples include spells, a dragon's ability to fly, and a paladin's ability to smite foes. For details, see Magical and Mundane Abilities, page 43.

magical power: Your magical power is your power with magical ✨ abilities. It is typically equal to half your level + your Willpower. For details, see Power, page 14.

adjacent to you.

metallic: A creature is metallic if it is wearing metal armor or otherwise carrying a significant amount of exposed metal. This includes any body armor with a metal material type. It also includes exposed metal objects or parts of objects that are no more than two size categories smaller than the creature. This includes most weapons with any metallic components. It does not include creatures who have small amounts of metal safely stowed in larger containers, such as a common amount of coins or metallic tools stowed in a coin purse or backpack.

Similarly, an object is generally considered metallic if it has an exposed piece made of metal that is no more than two size categories smaller than the object as a whole.

midair: Most creatures are unsteady (-2 accuracy, Armor, Brawn, Ref) while they are in the air and unable to touch the ground and move normally. This applies even if the creature has a fly speed or glide speed. However, it does not apply to creatures who are native to the air, such as birds and monsters with no defined walk speed. It also does not apply to creatures who intentionally jump until after they begin falling, which happens at the end of the round. This means you can jump into the air during the movement phase and attack in midair during the action phase without becoming unsteady.

minor action: A minor action is one of the four action types (see Actions, page 31). You can take one minor action each round during the action phase. For details, see Actions, page 31.

miss chance: If you have a miss chance with an attack, you have a random chance to miss with the attack. You roll the miss chance first, and if it causes you to miss, you do not roll an ordinary attack roll. In general, only targeted attacks can have a miss chance. If you have multiple miss chances, only the highest one applies.

move: When you move, you usually travel a distance equal to your speed. See Movement and Positioning, page 32, for details. For specific move actions, see Movement Abilities, page 33.

move action: A move action is one of the four action types (see Actions, page 31). You can use one move action during the movement phase of each round. Almost all move actions change your location on the battlefield. For details, see Movement and Positioning, page 32.

movement phase: The movement phase is the first of two phases in a combat round. During the movement phase, creatures can take move actions (see Movement and Positioning, page 32). The movement phase is followed by the action phase.

multiclass: A multiclass character can gain access to archetypes and other abilities from multiple classes. For details, see Multiclass Characters, page 47.

mundane: A mundane ability does not originate from a magical source. Mundane abilities have a natural explanation, such as a weapon attack or a barbarian's rage. Unless otherwise indicated, all abilities are mundane.

mundane power: Your mundane power is your power with mundane abilities. It is typically equal to half your level + your Strength. For details, see Power, page 14.

mystic sphere: A mystic sphere is a collection of thematically related magical effects that includes both spells and rituals. For details, see Spell Lists, page 252.

natural weapon: A natural weapon is a weapon that is part of a creature's body. For details, see Natural Weapons, page 156.

object: An object is something with physical substance that is incapable of meaningful motion or agency. Some objects, such as ordinary plants, are living, but most objects are nonliving.

object manipulation: The weight and accessibility of an object determines the action required to manipulate it. For details, see Manipulating Objects, page 154.

obstacle: An obstacle is anything that blocks free movement. Normally, both large objects and enemies are obstacles, but allies are not. For details, see Obstacles, page 35.

Perception: Perception is an attribute that describes your ability to observe and be aware of your surroundings. For details, see Perception, page 580.

phase: A phase is part of the combat round. There are two phases: the movement phase and the action phase. For details, see Phases, page 30.

planar rift: A planar rift is a location where the boundaries between planes are unusually thin. Planar rifts can be used to travel between planes using the appropriate rituals. For details, see the Tome of Guidance.

plane: A plane is a distinct realm of existence. Except for the connections between planes through planar rifts, each plane is effectively an isolated universe, and different planes can obey different fundamental laws. For details, see the Tome of Guidance.

point of origin: A point of origin is the grid intersection, creature, or object that an area originates from. For details, see Point of Origin, page 40.

poison: Poisons attack Fortitude defense each round to cause debilitating effects or damage. For details, see Poison, page 151.

poison stage: Each poison progresses in a series of stages. Each stage inflicts a particular negative effect on the poisoned creature according to the poison's description. For details, see Poison, page 151.

potion: A potion is a magical liquid that is typically contained in a Fine vial. In general, drinking a potion requires a standard action. Potions cannot be safely mixed together without diluting their magic, so you cannot consume two potions with the same action.

power: Your power increases your damage, and can have other effects on specific abilities. For details, see Power, page 14.

primary target: Some abilities that affect multiple targets distinguish between their primary and secondary targets. For details, see Primary and Secondary Targets, page 44.

proficient: A creature must be proficient with weapons and armor to use them effectively. Using a weapon without proficiency imposes a -2 accuracy penalty. Wearing armor without proficiency halves its defense bonus and applies its Armor defense bonus as a penalty to accuracy.

projectile: A projectile is an object fired from a weapon at a target. Arrows and bolts are projectiles.

push: Push is a type of forced movement. It represents being pushed by a constant force. If a pushed creature encounters an obstacle, it stops moving with no negative consequences. For details, see Push Effects, page 35.

range: The range of an ability determines how far away it can be used. Unless otherwise noted, all abilities with a range require both line of sight and line of effect to the point of origin or to all targets. There are five standard ranges used for abilities: Short (30 ft.) range, Medium (60 ft.) range, Long (90 ft.) range, Distant (120 ft.) range, and Extreme (180 ft.) range (see Ability Range, page 43). Ranged weapons do not use those standard ranges, and instead use specific range limits (see Weapon Range Limits, page 156).

range limit: Ranged weapons have two range limits listed, with a slash between them, such as 60/180. The first number indicates the maximum range for a weapon's close range. The second number indicates the maximum range for a weapon's long range. For details, see Weapon Range Limits, page 156.

ranged: A ranged ability affects targets at a distance from its source. Ranged abilities always have a range at which they function.

rank: A rank is a general categorization of how powerful something is. There are several specific types of rank: ability rank, archetype rank, character rank, and item rank.

rare language: Rare languages are languages that are only spoken by rare or distant creatures or cultures. They are described in Table ??: Rare Languages, page ??.

reactive attack: A reactive attack is an attack that happens outside of your control. You cannot modify it in any way, and it is not improved if you are empowered (add rank to damage), focused (roll attacks twice), maximized (deal max damage), or primed (always explode). For example, you cannot use the desperate exertion ability to reroll a reactive attack, or add an extra target with a Sweeping weapon.

If you would make multiple reactive attacks during the same phase with the same ability against different targets, use the same attack roll for each target. A reactive attack can never be triggered by a reactive attack or reactive check.

reactive check: A reactive check is a check that you make during the resolution of another creature's actions. Just like a reactive attack, you cannot modify a reactive check in any way.

repeat: Some effects can repeat abilities at a later time. When an ability repeats, it normally keeps the same choices as the original ability, such as targets and affected area. Some effects change the choices for a repeated ability, such as only affecting a subset of targets.

All attacks made for a repeated ability are reactive attacks. They are made using the creature's statistics when it used the ability originally, not its current state. For example, imagine a creature had a +2 accuracy bonus when it initially used a repeating ability and then was knocked unconscious before the repeat occurs. Although the creature is unconscious and unable to attack, the repeat would still occur, and its accuracy bonus would still apply.

Some repeats specify their targets, such as repeating only for a particular creature. Other repeats affect the entire ability. If a repeat specifies a target, it works on that target regardless of the ability's original targeting restrictions.

reroll: Some abilities allow you to reroll a roll you just made. The most common ability that allows rerolling is desperate exertion (see Desperate Exertion, page 37). You must reroll the entire roll, not just one die from the roll (such as if the original roll explodes). It is possible to reroll the same roll multiple times with different abilities. Each reroll only grants one extra roll.

resource: A resource is something that a character can expend to gain a benefit. Most resources are shared between all types of characters, though different characters can use them differently. There are two resources that are used during the character creation and leveling process: insight points and trained skills. In addition, there are two resources that are used during gameplay: attunement points and fatigue level.

resurrection: When a creature is resurrected, it comes back to life after being dead. For details, see Resurrection, page 149.

ritual: A ritual is a complex magical ceremony that has a specific effect when completed. For details, see Spell and Ritual Mechanics, page 249.

round: Combat takes place in a series of rounds, which represent about six seconds of action. Rounds are divided into two phases: the movement phase, and the action phase.

secondary target: Some abilities that affect multiple targets distinguish between their primary and secondary targets. For details, see Primary and Secondary Targets, page 44.

scent: A creature with the scent ability has an unusually good sense of smell. For details, see Scent, page 588.

scrying sensor: A scrying sensor is a magical construct created by some magical abilities. Scrying sensors are Fine objects resembling a human eye in size and shape, though they are invisible. Scrying sensors typically float in a fixed position in the air. They normally can't be moved by external forces without destroying the sensor. Unless otherwise specified, a scrying sensor's visual acuity is the same as that of a normal human, giving it a +0 bonus to the Awareness skill and similar checks.

sentient: A sentient creature is capable of experiencing emotions and perceiving its surroundings. Complex animals are sentient, but trees are not. Some creatures have incomplete minds that are capable of simulating intelligence without true sentience. These creatures are called simple-minded.

shadowed: A creature or object is shadowed if it is touching its shadow. That typically means it is in dim illumination or bright illumination, but not brilliant illumination or complete darkness. In addition, it must be grounded or otherwise touching a surface.

shapeable: Abilities with shapeable areas can customize the exact area they affect. For details, see Shapeable Areas, page 45.

shapeshift: Shapeshifting abilities change the physical form and abilities of a creature or object. For details, see Shapeshifting, page 149.

shield: Shields are a form of armor that you wield in a hand to protect you from harm. For details, see Armor, page 165.

short rest: A short rest represents ten minutes of relaxation. It allows you to regain lost hit points and any attunement points you released from attunement. For details, see Short Rest, page 147.

size category: A creature's size category indicates how large it is. There are nine size categories, from smallest to largest: Fine, Diminutive, Tiny, Small, Medium, Large, Huge, Gargantuan, Colossal. For details, see Size Categories, page 15.

skill: A skill represents your degree of talent with a particular non-combat aspect of the world. For example, the Climb skill represents how skilled you are at climbing. For details, see Skills, page 126.

somatic components: Somatic components are hand motions required to cast arcane and pact spells. For details, see Ability Usage Components, page 43.

something: Many abilities say they target "something", generally within a range. This means they target one creature or object of your choice.

space: Your space is the area that your physical body occupies. For convenience, your space is measured in five-foot squares. Medium creatures occupy space equal to a single five-foot square. For details, see Size Categories, page 15.

speed: Your speed represents the number of feet you can move with a single movement (see Movement and Positioning, page 32).

spell: A spell is a discrete magical ability with combat-relevant effects. For details, see Spells, page 585.

spell list: The list of spells you can cast from a particular magic source. Each spell source has a specific spell list which is described at Spells, page 585. Most characters with the same spell sources have the same spell lists. However, some effects, such as a cleric's domains, can add spells to a character's individual spell list.

square: A square represents a single 5-ft. by 5-ft. space. Many areas are measured in squares for convenience.

Strength: Strength is an attribute that measures your muscle and physical power. For details, see Strength, page 581.

strike: A strike is a single physical attack with a weapon. It is the most common type of attack. You can make a strike as a standard action in the action phase. For details, see Strikes, page 36.

subdual damage: Subdual damage is a special kind of damage that can't kill you. If you would gain a vital wound from subdual damage, you increase your fatigue level by three instead. For details, see Subdual Damage, page 29.

suppressed: Effects have no effect while they are suppressed.

sustain: Some abilities last as long as you sustain them. Each ability specifies a particular action that is required to sustain the ability, such as a minor action. When Swift abilities resolve during each action phase, the ability is dismissed unless you take the action to sustain the ability that round. For details, see Sustained Abilities, page 46.

Swift: An ability with this ability tag resolves its effects before other actions in the same phase. For details, see Swift Abilities, page 31.

swim speed: A creature with a swim speed can move at that speed while swimming, and being underwater does not make it unsteady (-2 accuracy, Armor, Brawn, Ref). For details, see Movement Modes, page 34.

target: A target is a creature or object directly affected by an ability. Many abilities only affect a single target, and some affect a specific number of targets. For details, see Ability Targeting, page 44.

target square: A target square is a particular square that an attack is made against. A target square is chosen to determine cover and concealment (see Cover, page 41).

targeted: A targeted ability allows you to individually choose which creatures or objects are affected. Area abilities are not targeted, since you choose the area rather than individual targets. A strike is a targeted ability, as is any ability that causes you to immediately make a strike. Adding an extra target to an ability that causes you to make a strike means you hit an extra creature with the strike, not that the extra target also makes a strike.

targeting proxy: When you use an ability through a targeting proxy, you determine its targets as if you were in the targeting proxy's location instead of your own. This can allow you to affect targets outside your normal range. For details, see Targeting Proxies, page 44.

telepathy: A creature with telepathy can mentally communicate with other creatures within a given range. For details, see Telepathy, page 588.

teleportation: A creature or object that is teleported instantly leaves one location and arrives at another. Unless otherwise specified, teleportation requires line of sight, line of effect, and an unoccupied destination on stable ground. For details, see Teleportation, page 149.

thrown weapon: A thrown weapon is a weapon designed to be thrown at a target. For details about attacking with thrown weapons, see Basic Strike – Thrown, page 37.

touch: You can generally touch an adjacent creature with a free hand as a free action, even an enemy. This has no mechanical effect by itself. Some abilities function on creatures you touch, so you can touch them as part of using those abilities. Some creatures cannot be touched, such as intangible creatures.

trained skill: If you are trained in a skill, you have learned how to use it well. Your modifier with a trained skill is equal to 3 + the higher of its associated attribute (if any) and half your level.

For details, see Trained Skills, page 15.

unaffected: If you are unaffected by a particular effect, it doesn't do anything to you. Unlike being immune, you do not automatically remove persistent effects that you are unaffected by, such as conditions. This means you may still need to track that the effect is on you in case you stop being unaffected by it. For example, a barbarian is unaffected by conditions while raging, but those conditions have their full effects when the barbarian stops raging.

unattended: An unattended item is an item not being held or carried by a creature. Some abilities can only affect unattended items.

undergrowth: The presence of a significant amount of roots, bushes, and similar plants that can obstruct movement is called undergrowth. There are two kinds of undergrowth: light undergrowth and heavy undergrowth. For details, see Undergrowth, page 35.

usage class: The usage class of armor is a measure of how much effort it takes to use it. There are three usage classes: light, medium, and heavy. For details, see Armor Usage Classes, page 165.

verbal components: Verbal components are words required to cast most spells. For details, see Ability Usage Components, page 43.

vital wound: A vital wound is a serious injury that inflicts negative effects on you. You gain one or more vital wounds when you take damage in excess of your hit points (see Negative Hit Points, page 29). For details, see Vital Wounds, page 30.

vulnerable: A vulnerable creature takes a -4 penalty to all defenses against whatever it is vulnerable to. For details, see Vulnerable, page ??.

wall: A wall is an area shape that an ability can have (see Area Shapes, page 44). A wall-shaped area has a length and height, but its width is not measured in squares.

walk speed: A creature's walk speed is a movement mode that determines how fast it can walk on land (see Movement Modes, page 34). Most creatures have an average walk speed.

weapon: A weapon is an object used to inflict damage. Some creatures can treat parts of their body as weapons. For details, see Weapons, page 156.

weapon damage: Each weapon defines the damage die or dice that it deals when you hit with it. Typically, weapon damage is dealt by strikes (see Strikes, page 36). For details about the damage dealt by specific weapons, see Weapons, page 156.

weapon group: A weapon group is a category of weapons with a similar design and fighting style. Some abilities grant you proficiency with or special abilities with particular weapon groups. For details, see Weapon Groups, page 156.

weapon tag: A weapon tag describes the special effects of a weapon. For details, see Weapon Tags, page 156.

weight limit: Your weight limits define the amount of weight you can carry or push without penalty. For details, see Weight Limits, page 15.

weight category: The weight category of an object or creature is a broad measurement of how much it weighs. Weight categories are closely related to size categories. For details, see Table 3.3: Weight Categories, page 16.

Willpower: Willpower is an attribute that represents your ability to endure mental hardships. For details, see Willpower, page 583.

vital roll: When you gain a vital wound, you make a vital roll to determine the detrimental effect of the vital wound. To make a vital roll, roll 1d10 – the number of vital wounds you already had, ignoring the vital wound you are rolling for. For details, see Vital Wounds, page 30.

zone: A zone is a type of area that an ability can have (see Area Types, page 45). A zone ability has effects within an area for the duration of the ability. Unless otherwise noted, it does not move after being created.

Ability Tags

Acid: Acid abilities use physical acid to cause their effects. They are often more effective against objects.

Air: Air abilities tap into the elemental force of air.

Attune: Attune abilities require an attunement point to maintain. For details, see Attuned Abilities, page 45.

Auditory: Auditory abilities use sound to cause their effects. Covering or plugging your ears makes you impervious (+4 defenses) to Auditory attacks. Objects and deafened (20% verbal spell failure) creatures are immune to Auditory abilities.

Barrier: Barrier abilities create obstacles that block or punish passage through them. They create a powerful magical resonance around themselves that inhibits other barriers from being formed. Any part of a Barrier ability that would extend within 5 feet of an already active Barrier ability is not created, unless the new barrier simply extends an already existing wall along its length.

Brawling: Brawling abilities rely on brute force in hand to hand combat. Many Brawling abilities use your brawling accuracy instead of your normal accuracy. They always require a free hand or Maneuverable weapon unless otherwise noted in the ability's description. Common Brawling abilities are described in Universal Combat Abilities, page 37.

Clinch: You gain a +2 accuracy bonus with this ability against creatures that are grappled by you or are grappling you.

Cold: Cold abilities draw energy out of the environment to cause their effects.

Compulsion: Compulsion abilities forcibly alter a creature's actions, but do not necessarily affect its opinions or personality. They have no effect on anything without a mind.

Creation: Creation abilities create permanent physical objects. Objects created with Creation abilities are identical to objects created through more mundane means.

Curse: Curse abilities lay supernatural curses on their targets. They cannot be dismissed, but can be removed with the dispel curse spell.

Detection: Detection abilities magically reveal information. Unless otherwise specified, they can penetrate up to 1 foot of solid material of any composition. However, they cannot penetrate lead.

Earth: Earth abilities tap into the elemental force of earth.

Electricity: Electricity abilities use electrical energy to cause their effects. Their effects typically create bright illumination in a Small (15 ft.) radius that immediately ends when they are done.

Emotion: Emotion abilities alter a creature's opinions or personality, but do not necessarily affect their actions. They have no effect on anything without a mind.

Fire: Fire abilities tap into the elemental force of fire. Their effects typically create bright illumination in a Small (15 ft.) radius that lingers until the end of the current round. Damage from Fire abilities can set flammable objects on fire.

Impact: You get a glancing blow with this ability when you would miss by 5 or less (see Glancing Blows, page 28). This does not allow you to get glancing blows if that would normally be impossible for you.

Keen: You gain a +2 accuracy bonus with this ability for the purpose of determining whether you get a critical hit.

Manifestation: Manifestation abilities create temporary constructs formed from raw magical energy. Objects and creatures created with Manifestation abilities seem real on the surface, but they have no internal structure. A difficulty value 5 Knowledge (items) or relevant Craft check reveals that a manifested item is a magical fabrication rather than an ordinary item. When an object or creature created by a Manifestation ability is destroyed or killed, or when the duration of the ability that created it ends, it disappears without a trace.

Ritual: Ritual abilities have a number of shared properties. For details, see Spell and Ritual Mechanics, page 249.

Scrying: Scrying abilities create one or more invisible magical sensors that send you information. Unless otherwise noted, the sensor created has the same powers of sensory acuity that you possess. This includes the effect of any abilities which target you personally, such as spells to increase your visual acuity, but not abilities which affect an area around you. However, the sensor is treated as a separate, independent sensory organ, and it functions normally even if you have been blinded, deafened, or otherwise suffered sensory impairment.

The sensor can be dismissed as if it were an active spell. You cannot create a sensor in a location blocked by lead sheeting, and you sense when the effect is blocked in this way.

Size-Based: Size-Based abilities are limited based on your own size. They have no effect on creatures or objects that are two or more size categories larger than you.

Speech: Speech abilities use words to achieve their ends. You must specify a language when using a Speech effect, and the language must be one you know (or have memorized the correct words to say). They have no effect on objects or creatures that do not understand the chosen language.

Spell: Spell abilities have a number of shared properties. For details, see Spell and Ritual Mechanics, page 249.

Subdual: All damage dealt by this ability is subdual damage (see Subdual Damage, page 29).

Subtle: Subtle abilities have no visual or otherwise perceivable manifestation. Creatures successfully affected by Subtle abilities do not generally know that they are being influenced. However, a creature that successfully resists a Subtle ability can generally notice that it resisted a special effect of some kind, just like a non-Subtle ability. You can notice the effects of a Subtle ability on yourself with the Awareness skill (see Awareness, page 127).

Sustain: Sustain abilities require an action to maintain. The tag includes an action type, such as (minor), which indicates the type of action required to sustain the ability. If it also includes “attunable”, you can choose to attune to the effect instead of sustaining it every round. For details, see Sustained Abilities, page 46.

Swift: Swift abilities take effect before non-Swift abilities used during the same phase. For details, see Swift Abilities, page 31.

Trap: Trap abilities create triggered effects that punish trespassing. They create a powerful magical resonance around themselves that inhibits other barriers from being formed. Any part of a Trap ability that would extend within 15 feet of an already active Trap ability is not created.

Visual: Visual abilities use visible objects or forces to cause their effects. Visual abilities do not determine their line of effect like other abilities. Instead, they use their line of sight to also determine their line of effect. For example, a Visual effect is not blocked by glass, but it is blocked by thick smoke.

Anything that cannot see a Visual effect is immune to it. Simply closing your eyes only makes you impervious (+4 defenses) to Visual effects. Completely covering your eyes, such as with your hands or with a blindfold, makes you immune. Special vision abilities that replace normal vision entirely, such as blindsight and tremorsense, are unable to perceive Visual effects.

Water: Water abilities tap into the elemental force of water.

Circumstances and Debuffs

blinded: A blinded creature cannot use its eyes. Assuming it does not have other methods of sight, it automatically fails at actions which depend on vision, including simply seeing the locations of other objects and creatures. This makes it at least partially unaware (-2 defenses) of all attacks, and it may be fully unaware (-5 defenses) as normal. It has a 50% miss chance when trying to attack targets it cannot see. If a blinded creature can perceive targets with other effects that do not require eyes, such as blindsight, it can ignore these detrimental effects.

braced: A braced creature gains a +2 bonus to all defenses.

charmed: A charmed creature is mentally influenced to like another creature. It always sees the words and actions of the creature that charmed it in the most favorable way, as a close friend or trusted ally. A charmed creature cannot be controlled like an automaton, but can be persuaded to take particular actions with the Persuasion skill (see Persuasion, page 140). It treats the creature that charmed it as a friend (a +10 relationship modifier) for the purpose of Persuasion checks.

Any act by the charming creature or by creatures that appear to be its allies that threatens or harms the charmed person breaks the effect. Harming a charmed creature is not limited to dealing it damage, but also includes causing it significant subjective discomfort. An observant creature may interpret overt threats to its allies as a threat to itself.

confused: A confused creature takes a -2 penalty to all defenses and is unable to independently control its actions. This penalty does not stack with the stunned (-2 defenses) effect. When a creature becomes confused, and at the beginning of each round, it randomly decides to have one of two behaviors that round: attack its enemies, or protect itself and its allies without attacking. Within those constraints, it can freely choose its actions. If it can't carry out the indicated action, it does nothing but babble incoherently.

A confused creature automatically stops being confused after ten minutes, even if it was unable to rest due to its confusion.

dazzled: A dazzled creature has difficulty seeing. It loses the benefits of special vision traits that require eyes, such as darkvision and low-light vision. In addition, it treats everything it sees as if it had concealment. Among other effects, this gives its targeted attacks a 20% miss chance. If the dazzled creature can perceive targets with other effects that do not require eyes, such as blindsight, it can ignore this miss chance.

deafened: A deafened creature cannot hear. It automatically fails at actions that depend on hearing, and is immune to Auditory abilities. In addition, it has a 20% failure chance when casting any spell with verbal components.

dominated: A dominated creature is mentally compelled to obey another creature. It obeys the commands of the creature that dominated it unquestioningly, as an automaton. If it does not understand the language of the creature that dominated it, it still attempts to obey as much as possible, and simple commands (such as “attack” or “follow”) can usually be communicated successfully. A creature that is both dominated and confused (-2 defenses, randomly attack or defend) obeys its dominated orders, ignoring the confusion.

empowered: An empowered creature deals extra damage with all of its damaging abilities equal to its character rank. Being empowered does not improve your reactive attacks.

enraged: An enraged creature must spend a standard action to make an attack during each round. It can still take other actions normally. The creature's attacks do not have to specifically target other creatures, so it can attack inanimate objects. If it is unable to take standard actions, such as if it is unconscious, it suffers no extra penalty.

An enraged creature automatically stops being enraged after ten minutes, even if it was unable to rest due to its rage.

focused: A focused creature can reroll attack rolls once and keep the higher result. This only affects attack rolls, not miss chances or checks. Being focused does not improve your reactive attacks.

fortified: A fortified creature gains a +2 bonus to its Brawn, Fortitude, and Mental defenses.

frightened: A frightened creature takes a -2 penalty to its Mental defense. In addition, it takes a -2 penalty to accuracy against the source of its fear. This does not stack with the panicked (-4 Mental, cannot attack source) effect. If the source of a frightened creature's fear is defeated or otherwise stops being relevant to the creature, this effect is broken. Being frightened is always an Emotion effect, even if it is caused by an ability that does not have that tag.

goaded: A goaded creature takes a -2 penalty to accuracy against creatures other than the creature that goaded it as long as it is within Medium (60 ft.) range of that creature. If the goading creature is defeated, this effect is broken. If a creature is goaded by multiple different creatures simultaneously, the most recent effect takes precedence, so it does not take an accuracy penalty on its attacks against the most recent goading creature. Being goaded is always an Emotion effect, even if it is caused by an ability that does not have that tag.

grappled: A grappled creature is wrestling or in some other form of hand-to-hand struggle with at least one other creature. While grappled, you suffer certain penalties and restrictions, as described below.

- One of your hands cannot be used for any purpose. This prevents humanoid creatures from taking any actions that would require having two free hands, such as attacking with Heavy weapons. This does not affect creatures without hands.
- You take a -2 penalty to Armor and Reflex defenses.
- You cannot move unless you push all creatures grappling you, such as with the shove ability (see Shove, page 39). In addition, you cannot push a creature grappling with you so it stops being adjacent to you. However, you can use the shove ability to affect creatures you are grappling with as a move action instead of as a standard action.
- You can use the escape grapple and maintain grapple abilties to stop or continue grappling (see Universal Combat Abilities, page 37).

helpless: A helpless creature is unable to move or defend itself. It takes a -8 penalty to its Armor, Brawn, and Reflex defenses. These penalties do not stack with the penalties for being unaware (partially or fully) or unsteady. In addition, it cannot use any action that would require motion. Creatures that are helpless due to bindings can still attempt to free themselves, such as with a Flexibility check, but can take no other actions. Bound and unconscious creatures are helpless.

honed: A honed creature gains a +4 accuracy bonus for the purpose of determining whether it gets a critical hit. As normal, a miss or glancing blow cannot also get a critical hit.

immune: A creature that is immune to an attack is completely unaffected by it. Creatures and objects can be immune to a specific ability tag or debuff. It is also possible to be immune to more specific effects, like being grappled or gaining conditions.

If an attack has multiple tags, a creature is immune to the attack if it is immune to any of the attack's tags. However, being immune to a particular effect of an attack does not make you immune to the rest of the attack's effects. For example, if you are immune to being stunned (-2 defenses), you still take full damage from an attack that deals damage and stuns you.

impervious: A creature can be impervious to a particular ability tag. Creatures gain a +4 bonus to all defenses against attacks that they are impervious to. In addition, they take no damage if the attack misses or gets a glancing blow, even if the attack would normally deal half damage on a miss. If an attack has multiple tags, a creature is impervious to the attack if it is impervious to any of the attack's tags.

maximized: A maximized creature deals maximum damage whenever it deals damage. This only affects damage caused directly by the creature, just like extra damage. For example, a maximized creature that flings a creature does not maximize the impact damage from the fling, if any. Being maximized does not improve your reactive attacks.

panicked: A panicked creature takes a -4 penalty to its Mental defense. In addition, it is unable to make any attacks that include the source of its fear as a target. The penalty from this effect does not stack with the frightened (-2 Mental, -2 accuracy vs. source) effect. If the source of a panicked creature's fear is defeated, this effect is broken. Being panicked is always an Emotion effect, even if it is caused by an ability that does not have that tag.

partially unaware: A creature that is partially unaware knows that something is nearby, but is missing information about the exact location or nature of the creature, object, or attack it is partially unaware of. Creatures take a -2 penalty to all defenses against attacks that they are partially unaware of. They have a 50% miss chance with targeted attacks against creatures and objects that they are partially unaware of, and they can only attempt to target creatures and objects that they know the location of.

These penalties do not stack with the penalties for being unaware (-5 defenses) or unsteady (-2 accuracy, Armor, Brawn, Ref). For details, see Awareness and Surprise, page 41.

primed: A primed creature automatically explodes on the first die when making attack rolls (see Exploding Dice, page ??). This only affects attack rolls, not miss chances or checks. Since a 10 normally explodes, this has no effect if you roll a 10. Being primed does not improve your reactive attacks.

prone: A prone creature is lying on the ground, rather than standing normally. It takes a -2 penalty to Armor and Reflex defenses. However, it gains a +4 bonus to all defenses against ranged strikes as long as the attacker is not adjacent to it. It moves at half of its normal speed. Creatures that are not on the ground, such as flying or gliding creatures, are immune to being knocked prone.

If a creature becomes prone while in a precarious situation, such as on a narrow ledge, it may fall. Mounted creatures that are knocked prone fall off their mounts. Creatures cannot glide or fly while prone.

A creature can stand up from being prone as part of a movement. This generally requires one free hand. Standing up from a prone position costs half of the creature's speed during that movement.

shielded: A shielded creature gains a +2 bonus to its Armor and Reflex defenses.

slowed: A slowed creature has a -10 foot penalty to its speed and takes a -2 penalty to its Armor and Reflex defenses.

squeezing: A squeezing creature is trying to move through an area too small for it to fight in normally. While squeezing, a creature moves at half speed and takes a -2 penalty to its Armor and Reflex defenses. For details, see Squeezing, page 35.

stealed: A steeled creature cannot receive critical hits. If an attack against it would be a critical hit, the attack is a normal hit instead.

stunned: A stunned creature takes a -2 penalty to all defenses. This does not stack with the confused (-2 defenses, randomly attack or defend) effect.

unaware: A creature that is unaware makes no attempt to defend itself. Creatures take a -4 penalty to all defenses against attacks that they are unaware of. They are completely unable to use targeted abilities against creatures and objects that they are unaware of.

These penalties do not stack with the penalties for being partially unaware (-2 defenses) or unsteady (-2 accuracy, Armor, Brawn, Ref). For details, see Awareness and Surprise, page 41.

unconscious: While you are unconscious, you are helpless (-8 Armor and Ref, can't move), unaware (-5 defenses), and completely unable to take any actions. Some sensory abilities, such as the Awareness skill, can be used reactively while you are asleep, but not while you are forcibly knocked unconscious.

unsteady: A creature that is unsteady takes a -2 penalty to its accuracy and Armor, Brawn, and Reflex defenses. These penalties do not stack with the penalties for being partially unaware (-2 defenses) or unaware (-5 defenses). Creatures that are midair and not native to the air, climbing without a climb speed, or in liquid without a swim speed are unsteady.

vulnerable: A creature can be vulnerable to a particular ability tag or weapon special material. It takes a -4 penalty to all defenses against attacks with that tag, or attacks using weapons that it is vulnerable to. If a creature would be both vulnerable and impervious (+4 defenses) or immune to an ability, it is treated as vulnerable and not impervious or immune.

Senses

Blindsight: A creature with blindsense can sense the location of everything in its surroundings. It does not need to use its eyes to gain this benefit. This ability works regardless of concealment, invisibility, or light levels. Blindsight always has a specific range limit, and provides no benefit beyond that range. However, it only grants knowledge of location, not actual sight, so does not mitigate any miss chances that would apply. It also does not mitigate cover or otherwise allow sensing through objects that block line of effect.

Blindsight: A creature with blindsight can perceive its surroundings perfectly regardless of concealment, invisibility, or light levels. It does not need to use its eyes to gain this benefit. This allows the creature to ignore all miss chances caused by those effects. Blindsight always has a specific range limit, and provides no benefit beyond that range. It also does not mitigate cover or otherwise allow sensing through objects that block line of effect.

Darkvision: A creature with darkvision can see perfectly in both complete darkness and dim illumination just like a human does in bright illumination. Darkvision always has a specific range limit, and provides no benefit beyond that range. As long as a creature with darkvision is in bright illumination or brilliant illumination, its darkvision stops working. The darkvision briefly stays disabled even after they leave the lit area. Darkvision requires using eyes, and is disabled while you are dazzled (20% miss chance, no special vision).

Lifesense: Lifesense functions like blindsight, except that it only grants knowledge of the location of living things. This includes both creatures and non-creatures, such as plants.

Lifesight: Lifesight functions like blindsight, except that it can only see living things. This includes both creatures and non-creatures, such as plants.

Low-light Vision: A creature with low-light vision can see perfectly in dim illumination, just like a human does in bright illumination. This provides no benefit in areas of complete darkness. Low-light vision requires using eyes, and is disabled while you are dazzled (20% miss chance, no special vision).

Scent: A creature with the scent ability has an unusually good sense of smell. It gains a +10 bonus to scent-based Awareness checks. In addition, it is able to follow scent-based tracks (see Tracking, page 145).

Telepathy: A creature with telepathy has the ability to mentally communicate with other nearby creatures. All telepathy abilities have a defined range. Unless otherwise specified, a telepathic creature can only communicate with one creature at a time.

As a free action, a telepathic creature can open a telepathic communication channel with one creature it sees within the range of its telepathy ability. That channel remains open until the telepathic creature dismisses it. The target does not have to be willing to receive telepathic communication in this way. While this channel is open, the telepathic creature can cause the target to “hear” the telepathic creature’s voice inside the target’s head. If the target attempts to mentally reply while the channel is open, the telepathic creature can similarly “hear” the reply in its head as if the target was speaking. This does not generally grant the ability to detect any other thoughts, though creatures with limited self-control may accidentally broadcast their private thoughts.

Telepathic communication uses words, so it still requires a shared language to be intelligible, even though the words are only imagined. A telepathic creature may attempt to telepathically communicate with creatures without a language, though this is generally unproductive. A skilled telepath can customize the mental “voice” it projects in the same way that a creature can attempt to disguise or alter its voice when speaking.

Tremorsense: Tremorsense functions like blindsight, except that it requires an uninterrupted path through solid objects instead of line of effect. This makes it incapable of sensing flying creatures, but it ignores cover and can even sense through solid obstacles that are no more than half a foot thick.

Tremorsight: Tremorsight functions like blindsight, except that it requires an uninterrupted path through solid objects instead of line of effect. This makes it incapable of seeing flying creatures, but it ignores cover and can even see through solid obstacles that are no more than half a foot thick.

Traits

Amphibious: An amphibious creature can hold its breath ten times longer than normal (see Endurance, page 468).

Animal: Animals are simple, mundane mortals. They have flesh, blood, skin, and bones, and their bodies are made from organic matter. They cannot have magical ✨ abilities, and cannot have an Intelligence above -8. The Creature Handling skill is more effective on animals, as indicated in that skill's description.

Beast: Beasts are typically more complex than animals, with a maximum Intelligence of -5. Unlike animals, they can have magical ✨ abilities. They have flesh, blood, skin, and bones, and their bodies are made from organic matter. Beasts are typically found in the wilderness, and seem to naturally avoid civilized areas.

Construct: A construct is a creature that is made of non-sapient matter. Its inanimate body is given a semblance of life and sentience by some form of magic. Like other creatures, they can move and follow instructions. However, they lack agency and cannot make independent decisions. They are mindless, nonliving, and soulless. They do not need to eat, drink, or sleep.

Constructs are not affected by the Medicine skill, and do not normally remove vital wounds when they take a long rest. Instead, their vital wounds must be repaired manually. This functions like accelerate recovery ability from the Medicine skill, except that it uses an appropriate Craft skill and raw materials appropriate to the construct's construction.

Fey: Fey are intrinsically magical ✨ creatures that are vulnerable (-4 defenses) to cold iron weapons.

Floating: A floating creature is only affected weakly by gravity. It does not fall while it is able to use a fly speed, and it is unable to glide. This does not increase its height limit for any fly speed it may have. A floating creature above the height limit for its fly speed falls down until its fly speed becomes functional again, which does not cause it to take falling damage. Some creatures can freely choose whether they float, potentially allowing them to glide.

Humanoid: A humanoid is an intelligent creature with two arms and two legs. Humanoids can have magical abilities, but are usually not intrinsically magical. They have flesh, blood, skin, and bones, and their bodies are made from organic matter. Most civilized creatures and societies are predominantly humanoid.

Ghost: A ghost is the soul of a deceased creature that lingered after death instead of proceeding to its proper afterlife. Ghosts are incorporeal and impervious (+4 defenses) to Cold and Earth abilities. However, they are vulnerable (-4 defenses) to Fire abilities. Despite being incorporeal, they are affected normally by even mundane Fire effects.

Immortal: An immortal creature can never die of old age. Most immortal creatures can still be killed and need to take actions to sustain their life, such as eating and drinking. Some immortal creatures completely cease aging once they reach maturity, while others continue to grow or change over time without limit.

Incorporeal: An incorporeal creature does not have a physical body. It is both intangible and floating. In addition, it can enter or pass through solid objects. It must remain adjacent to the object's exterior at all times.

While an incorporeal creature is inside of an object, it can choose whether it is completely enveloped or partially contained. If it is completely enveloped, it does not have line of sight or line of effect outside of the object, limiting its ability to attack. If it is partially contained, it has cover, but can otherwise attack and be attacked normally.

Indwelt: An indwelt is a creature that is made of non-sapient matter. Its inanimate body was awakened to life by connection to an external soul. Unlike constructs, indwelt have agency and true intelligence.

The soul of an indwelt has no connection to the matter that composes its body. This contrasts with undead, which always maintain a connection between a body and its original soul. As a result, an indwelt's connection to its physical body is weak. If an indwelt is killed, it can be resurrected, but its previous body is not considered its corpse in the same way that a human's dead body is. This means it cannot be resurrected by magic that uses the corpse of the deceased creature.

Indwelt are alive if their base matter is alive, but not if their base matter is dead or inorganic. If they are alive, they need to eat, drink, and sleep.

Intangible: An intangible creature has a physical body that is gaseous or otherwise difficult to touch. It cannot be touched, and is never considered to be squeezing (-2 Armor and Ref). It is immune to mundane, Creation, and Manifestation abilities. It gains a +5 bonus to Stealth and ignores the effects of abilities that only work if it has a corporeal body. This includes all Brawling abilities, difficult terrain, being detected by tremorsense, setting off pressure plates, and so on. It can move freely through spaces occupied by enemies, but cannot pass through solid objects.

Many intangible creatures have no Strength attribute. If an intangible creature has a Strength attribute, it has some ability to manipulate the physical world despite being intangible. Unless otherwise noted, an intangible creature with a Strength attribute may selectively choose whether it wants to interact with physical objects.

Invisible: An invisible creature or object cannot be seen with light. Creatures unable to see an invisible creature are at least partially unaware (-2 defenses) of its attacks, and they can be fully unaware (-5 defenses) as normal depending on their level of awareness. Attackers suffer a 50% miss chance with targeted attacks even if they know the location of the invisible creature. See Awareness, page 127, and Stealth, page 144, for how to identify invisible creatures.

Legless: A legless creature has no legs. Legless creatures cannot jump, but they are immune to being prone (half speed, -2 Armor and Ref).

Living: A living thing has life, which means that it can change and adapt over time. Most creatures are living, but undead and some animates are not. Since most creatures are living, this trait is normally omitted from monster descriptions.

Mindless: A mindless creature lacks a normal mind. It does not have Intelligence or Willpower attributes, and has no Mental defense. Any attacks against it that would normally use its Mental defense use its Fortitude defense instead. It uses its Strength to determine its magical power instead of its Willpower.

Unlike a simple-minded creature, a mindless creature cannot normally be given instructions or communicated with in any meaningful way. They still act autonomously, but in a way that is entirely instinctual, without the ability to form thoughts or plan ahead. Some magic can influence or control mindless creatures, but that magic works on different principles than ordinary mind-influencing magic. A mindless creature has no soul, so if it dies, it cannot be resurrected. Mindless creatures are immune to Compulsion and Emotion abilities.

Multipedal: A multipedal creature typically uses more than four legs to move. Multipedal creatures gain a +10 foot bonus to their speed and a +5 bonus to the Balance skill.

Nonliving: A nonliving creature or object is neither alive nor undead. It does not need to eat, drink, or sleep.

Plant: A plant is alive, but it does not have flesh or blood. Plants are vulnerable (-4 defenses) to Fire abilities. Some plants are creatures, but most plants are living objects.

Quadrupedal: A quadrupedal creature typically uses four legs to move. Quadrupedal creatures gain a +10 foot bonus to their speed.

Simple-Minded: A simple-minded creature has an incompletely functioning mind. It can follow simple instructions, but is not fully sentient or capable of complex reasoning. It has no soul, so if it dies, it cannot be resurrected. Simple-minded creatures are immune to Emotion abilities. However, they are vulnerable (-4 defenses) to Compulsion attacks.

Sightless: A sightless creature cannot see, and typically lacks eyes. It is permanently blinded (50% miss chance, -2 defenses). Most sightless creatures have special senses, such as blindsight, that allow them to attack and defend themselves normally.

Soulless: A soulless creature does not have a soul. Although it may have a mind capable of intelligent thought and emotion, its opinions and thinking patterns are utterly fixed, without possibility of change. If it dies, it cannot be resurrected.

Creature Types

Each creature has a type. Unlike traits, which are defined above, creature tags are intrinsic properties of a creature that cannot be granted or removed temporarily by any means. Each creature type has a defined narrative implication, and some creature types have special effects that are relevant in combat.

Unless otherwise noted in a creature's type or description, it is a living creature with a body, mind, and soul. It needs to eat, drink, and sleep, and it dies of old age eventually.

Aberration: Aberrations have souls that are owned by the Precursors in the Eternal Void. When an aberration dies, its soul drifts through the Astral Expanse for centuries until it finally returns to the Eternal Void.

Animate: Animates are creatures composed of matter that would not ordinarily support complex life, such as wood or stone. Common types of animates include constructs, elementals, and oozes.

Dragon: A dragon is a powerful magical creature with four legs and two wings. Dragons are immortal creatures that can feed on magic and valuable metals, including gold. They are known for their vast hoards of wealth. Since dragons never stop growing in size or strength, elder dragons are some of the most powerful creatures in existence.

Mortal: A mortal is a creature with a body made from the composite essence of many planes and a soul. Most creatures in the universe are mortals, including all of the common species.

Soulforged: A soulforged is a creature that is made of essentia, or soul residue. It is nonliving. Most soulforged are from the Spiritual Planes, which are made of essentia (see Spiritual Planes, page ??).

Undead: Undead are creatures that are made from the corpse or spirit of a dead creature. They are animated by some part of the soul of the original creature.

Although undead are nonliving, they are affected in unusual ways by effects that directly manipulate life energy. They can be targeted as if they were living allies by magical ✨ effects that would cause living creatures to regain hit points. Whenever they would regain hit points from an ability that normally only affects living creatures, they instead take damage equal to the hit points that they would have regained, ignoring any hit point maximum the ability would normally have.

Any other effects beyond simple hit point recovery are ignored. For example, if a cleric uses their divine aid ability to heal an undead creature, the undead would take damage, but it would not gain any bonus to its defenses.

Appendix C

Optional Rules

This chapter describes a variety of optional rules that the GM can choose to use in their campaign. These rule changes change the tone of the game, making it more gritty or more tactical. They can also provide more detailed character customization options, increasing character uniqueness but potentially increasing the complexity of character creation.

Attributes

Other Methods of Attribute Generation

Point buy offers the fairest and most customizable system for determining attribute scores, ensuring that players can be almost any character they want to be. However, some groups may wish to determine attribute scores differently. Other options are provided below.

Simple Random Point Buy

With this method, you have only a small degree of control over your attribute scores, but all characters generated in this way are equally powerful. As with the point buy method, all your attribute scores start at 0, and you get 15 points to distribute among your attribute scores. However, you do not have full control over how to distribute those points.

For each attribute, starting with the attributes you care about most, roll 1d8. You spend that many points on that attribute, ignoring any extra points that can't be spent. For example, if you roll a 4, you spend 3 points on the attribute, causing you to start with a 2. If you do not have enough points remaining to spend the amount indicated by the die roll, spend as many as you can and move on to the next attribute.

If you have points remaining after rolling all of your attribute scores, you may distribute the points freely among your abilities, using the normal point buy rules. You cannot increase the starting value of any individual attribute by more than 1 during this stage. If any of your attributes start as a 0, you may choose to lower them to gain the normal benefits from having low attributes (see Attribute Penalties, page 18).

To further limit your character creation options, you may choose to randomize the order in which you roll your attributes instead of rolling them in an order of your choice.

Smoothed Random Point Buy

This method functions like the Simple Random Point Buy method, except that the resulting attribute values have a smoother distribution, and you can randomly end up with attribute penalties.

For each attribute, starting with the attributes you care about most, roll 4d6. Then, remove any one of the rolls after seeing the results. Sum the results of the remaining three dice and spend the appropriate number of attribute points as indicated in Table C.1: Smoothed Random Point Buy Results. If you do not have enough points remaining to spend the amount indicated by the die roll, spend as many as you can and move on to the next ability.

If you have points remaining after rolling all of your attribute scores, you may distribute the points freely among your abilities, using the normal point buy rules. You cannot increase the starting value of any individual attribute by more than 1 during this stage.

To further limit your character creation options, you may choose to randomize the order in which you roll your attributes instead of rolling them in an order of your choice.

Table C.1: Smoothed Random Point Buy Results

Roll	Attribute	Point Cost
3-4	-2	0 ¹
5-6	-1	0 ²
7-8	0	0
9-10	1	1
11-12	2	2
13-15	3	3
16-18	4	5

1 You gain one insight point.

2 You gain an additional trained skill.

Classic Hardcore

This method is completely random and can generate very over-powered or underpowered characters. It represents the unfairness of the world, where some people are just better or worse than others. For each attribute, roll 2d6, take the average (rounded down), and subtract 2. If you roll a 1 on both dice, treat the average as a 0. The result is your base value for that attribute.

Epic Fates

After 21st level, characters no longer gain levels normally. However, they can still increase their personal power as they make progress towards their ultimate fate.

When you reach rank 7, you may choose an epic fate that you qualify for, or you may delay choosing until you meet the prerequisites for your desired fate. You do not start with any ranks in your chosen epic fate. Each epic fate specifies ways that you can make progress towards that epic fate. Whenever you make dramatic progress towards your epic fate, your rank in that epic fate may increase, at the discretion of the Game Master.

Epic fate abilities are beyond ordinary magic. They are closer to the reality-warping abilities of deities. Even epic fate abilities that are ostensibly mundane can achieve things that would normally be impossible. Creatures that are immune to magic, such as high level characters with the Null feat, are still affected normally by magical ✨ epic fate abilities.

Ascendant

You have begun to see through the weave of the world and glimpse the higher truths beyond. As your insight into the true nature of reality grows, you begin to transcend the physical realm. Eventually, you become a being of pure energy.

Prerequisites: You must have spent at least a week living in at least three of the following locations: Aqua, Ignis, Luna, Nexus, Terra, Ventus, and the Astral Expanse. In addition, you must have an Intelligence or Perception of at least 2.

Progression: You must discover and spend time in exotic environments with unusual properties, especially with energy-related phenomena, to discern the underlying structure of the universe revealed in extremes. This involves a mix of meditation, observation, and potentially dangerous personal experience. Discovering potentially valuable locations may require extensive research. In order to reach the highest ranks, you must journey into forbidden realms of powerful magic, like the inner sanctums of major deities or the horrific depths of the Eternal Void.

Ascendant Ranks

Rank1–Energetic Soul ✨: Whenever you use an ability, you can give that ability the Cold, Electricity, and Fire tags. In addition, whenever you take or deal damage from an ability that has any of those tags while not incorporeal, you and your equipment briefly become incorporeal. While you are incorporeal in this way, you gain an average fly speed and lose all other movement modes (see Flight, page 36). This flight has a height limit of 60 feet. In this form you are considered native to the air, so flying in this way does not make you unsteady (-2 accuracy, Armor, Brawn, Ref).

Rank2–See Through the Weave ✨: You can see everything within 120 feet of you perfectly, regardless of obstacles of any kind or light levels. This is similar to blindsight, except that it also ignores solid obstacles of any kind, allowing you to have line of sight through walls. You can perceive the presence of obstacles just as well as you can see what lies behind them.

Rank3–Reach Through the Weave ✨: When you use any of your abilities, you can use any location within 60 feet of you as a targeting proxy. You do not need line of effect to your chosen location. For example, this allows you to make melee attacks against creatures up to 60 feet away. This changes your line of effect, but does not change your line of sight.

Rank4–Become Energy ✨: You become permanently incorporeal, along with any equipment you carry. The fly speed from your energetic soul ability also becomes permanent. In addition, you no longer age and can never be injured.

Rank5–Ascension ✨: You cannot be killed, only dissipated. When you die, you automatically resurrect in a new body at a random location within 100 miles of your death after 1d8 hours. Resurrecting in this way does not cause the normal penalties for resurrection.

Avatar of Life

You are vibrantly and fully alive in a way other people can only dream of.

Prerequisites: You must be alive. In addition, you must have some contact with Gaia, the ultimate source and destination for all life. This could be benevolent, such as by gaining her blessing, or hostile, such as by stealing a sliver of her power for yourself.

Progression: To progress towards this epic fate, you must lifebond living things that are either individually powerful or massive in number.

Avatar of Life Ranks

Rank1–Lifebond

Lifebond ✨	Standard action
You bond your life to one living creature or object you touch. If an area has many living plants living in harmony, you can lifebond to the area as a whole instead of to an individual plant. The maximum area size you can bond to in this way is a Huge (90 ft.) radius zone. Creating a lifebond has several effects, all of which function only while you are on the same plane as the target. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • You know the exact distance and direction to the target. • You know whether the target is injured and how many vital wounds it has. • Whenever the target would lose hit points, it loses half that many hit points instead (minimum 1). If the target's rank matches or exceeds twice your rank in this epic fate, you lose hit points equal to half the hit points that the target lost, which is usually a quarter of the original damage. This does not cause you to suffer any other non-damaging effects of any attacks. • Whenever you regain hit points, the target also regains that many hit points. If you would regain hit points over your maximum, the target regains hit points equal to the full value you would have regained, ignoring your maximum hit points. This effect lasts permanently, and you can lifebond any number of living things. However, it cannot be dismissed or removed by any means. The lifebond only ends when either you or the target dies.

Rank2–Vibrant Senses: You gain a +10 bonus to the Awareness skill and a +2 bonus to your Perception. In addition, you gain lifesense with a 300 foot radius and lifesight with a 120 foot radius. If you already have either of those abilities, you increase their range by that amount. Your lifesense and lifesight can also penetrate up to 1 foot of any solid material.

Rank3–Burgeoning Life: Your maximum hit points are doubled. In addition, whenever you regain hit points, you regain the same number of hit points at the end of the next round. This ability does not trigger itself.

Rank4–Lifebond Infusion ✨: Creatures that you are lifebonded to gain the benefit of your vibrant senses ability. Non-creatures that you are lifebonded to gain the benefit of your burgeoning life ability, and they grow at a hundred times their normal rate while only requiring their normal nutrients.

Rank5–Bonds Beyond Death ✨: When you die, your lifebonds do not end. If any part of your corpse is brought to anything you are lifebonded to, you are automatically resurrected after 8 hours in its presence. Resurrecting in this way does not cause the normal penalties for resurrection. In addition, any creature that you are lifebonded to can choose to sacrifice a piece of its life to resurrect you without a corpse. This requires 24 hours. If you are resurrected in this way, that creature suffers penalties as if it had also been resurrected (see Resurrection, page 149).

Axiom

You embody a specific universal truth or constant of the universe. When you gain this epic fate, you choose an axiom to adopt as your own. Your axiom can be a philosophical concept, a directive, or a material fact, as long as it can be expressed at its most basic level in one or two words and it is widely applicable. "Fight", "Choice", "Truth", "Gravity", "Change", and "Exist" are all valid examples of axioms.

Prerequisites: You must spend at least a week contemplating the many facets of your axiom and accepting it as your own.

Progression: To progress towards this epic fate, you must change the universe to more closely resemble your axiom. This could take many forms. For example, if your axiom is "Truth", you could spend time hunting down and killing all known liars and oathbreakers in a given country, or you could reform a country's educational system to correct systematic misconceptions about the world. To reach higher ranks, the scope and significance of your changes must increase. In addition, as you reach higher ranks, you become increasingly incapable of acting against your axiom.

Axiom Ranks

Rank1–Internalized Axiom: You gain a +4 bonus to one attribute and two skills that are thematically related to your chosen axiom.

Rank2–Immutable: You become immune to conditions and all debuffs defined in Circumstances and Debuffs, page 585. In addition, you no longer age.

Rank3–Walk the Affinity Web ✨: You can intuitively sense the direction to any locations within 500 miles of you that are strongly connected to your axiom. In general, this can only sense locations that involve large numbers of people, such as cities, or extraordinarily powerful individuals. For example, an axiom of "Fight" could sense two armies fighting, but not a tavern brawl or a village defending itself from a goblin raid. Each location has its own distinct "signature". This does not give you any other information about the location by itself, but once you have been to a location, you can recognize it again with this ability.

As a standard action, you can teleport yourself and up to ten allies to any location that you sense with this ability. Teleporting in this way increases your fatigue level by 1.

Rank4–Axiomatic Adherence ✨:

Axiomatic Adherence ★	Standard action
Make an attack against one creature within Medium (60 ft.) range. The defense depends on your chosen axiom. If your axiom is a behavior or directive, you attack the target's Mental defense, and this ability gains the Compulsion tag. Otherwise, you attack the target's Fortitude defense. Hit: The target embodies your axiom as a condition. If your axiom is a behavior or directive, the target acts to maximize that axiom. For example, an axiom of "Fight" would compel it to fight endlessly, while an axiom of "Exist" would compel it to protect the existence of all things. Otherwise, the target is physically transformed to more closely resemble your axiom. This can make the target blinded (50% miss chance, -2 defenses), slowed (-10 speed, -2 Armor and Ref), stunned (-2 defenses) and goaded (-2 accuracy vs. non-goaded creatures), panicked (-4 Mental, cannot attack source), or other debuffs of similar power that make sense for your axiom. For example, an axiom of "Gravity" might slow the target by increasing its weight.

Rank5–Universal Truth: You are as immortal as the concept you embody. When you die, you automatically resurrect in a new body after 8 hours at the location in the universe that most strongly embodies your axiom. That location does not have to be on the same plane as where you died, but it must exist outside of the Aligned Planes. If no location in the universe is sufficiently related to your axiom, you die permanently.

Deity

People have begun to worship you, putting you on the path to become a deity. As your followers grow, you become capable of ever greater miraculous acts, and you can grant your followers some of your power. Eventually, you ascend into the pantheon of gods.

Prerequisites: You must have at least a hundred worshippers with souls to choose this epic fate. In addition, you must not have any cleric archetypes.

Progression: To progress towards this epic fate, you must gain a significant number of additional worshippers. In general, you must at least double your worshippers to progress towards each new rank of this fate, though this can vary widely. Having worshippers among many different places is more valuable than converting an isolated group to worship you, though both are helpful.

Deity Ranks

Rank1–Domain Influence: Choose a cleric domain. You gain all abilities from that domain except for its mastery ability. In addition, your worshippers become eligible to gain cleric archetypes, though they cannot exceed a maximum rank in those archetypes of twice your rank in this epic fate (to a maximum of 7). This does not grant additional archetypes to worshippers who have already chosen their three archetypes, and is usually only relevant to NPC worshippers.

Rank2–Prayers ★: You hear all prayers directed to you. Once per week, you can teleport yourself and up to ten allies any distance within the same plane as a standard action. Your destination must either be a worshipper actively praying to you or a holy place dedicated to you. In addition, choose a second cleric domain. You gain all abilities from that domain except for its mastery ability.

Rank3–Domain Masteries: You gain the mastery abilities from the domains you chose with your domain influence and prayers abilities.

Rank4–Demigod: You become a demigod. You no longer age normally, and you cannot die from old age. You become a soul-forged native to a Spiritual Plane matching your alignment. For details about the Spiritual Planes, see the Grimoire of Guidance. While you are on that plane, you can teleport to any plane with your prayers ability from this epic fate. In addition, you can use that teleportation ability once per hour instead of once per week.

Rank5–Deification: You become a minor deity. You are transported to a Spiritual Plane matching your alignment, and you gain divine dominion over an amount of territory in that plane. While you are in your territory, you can freely reshape your territory with a thought to match your desires, and you are immune to all damage and conditions. Unlike major deities, you are still able to leave your home plane. However, you suffer a -2 penalty to your fatigue tolerance whenever you are not on your home plane.

While you are on any Spiritual Plane, you can teleport to anywhere within your home plane as a standard action. In addition, there is no limit on the number of times you can teleport with your prayers ability from this epic fate.

Hero of Legend

You are widely known as a hero, rescuing those in need. As your deeds of heroism spread, you gain abilities to help you protect others. Although you will eventually die, your legend will live on, inspiring others to save people as you did.

Prerequisites: You must be publicly known to be involved with saving at least one major country or similarly large group of people from some sort of disaster to choose this epic fate.

Progression: To progress towards this epic fate, you must publicly contribute to saving large numbers of people from death or other major disasters in a way that builds your reputation. Reaching the higher ranks typically requires saving a significant fraction of a major plane from some sort of catastrophe.

Hero of Legend Ranks

Rank1–Worthy Hero: You and all allies who can see or hear you are immune to being frightened and panicked. In addition, you gain a +100 bonus to your maximum hit points.

Rank2–Heroic Intervention: As a standard action, you may choose any number of allies within Long (90 ft.) range. Whenever a chosen creature would be attacked, that attack is made against you instead. If the attack would have targeted both you and that ally, the attack only targets you once, not twice. This ability has the Swift tag, and it lasts until you dismiss it as a free action.

Rank3–Invincible Hero: You gain a +4 bonus to all defenses. In addition, you cannot be vulnerable (-4 defenses) for any reason.

Rank4–Answer the Call : You gain an intuitive sense for when people need your aid. Whenever someone on the same plane as you is in danger, you are aware of the existence of that danger. You can sense the general category of danger (fire, combat, drowning, etc.) and a very approximate direction and distance. This generally allows you to sense if a large number of people are in danger from the same thing. As a standard action, you can teleport any distance within that plane to reach a person in danger.

Rank5–Heroic Legacy: If you die, your legend lives on. You may choose a worthy successor, either before your death or after your death from your afterlife plane. When you die, or as soon as you choose a successor while dead, your successor immediately gains the Rank 1 benefit from this archetype. As long as your successor lives and remains worthy, you cannot choose to be resurrected from your afterlife. As a player, you may choose to play as your successor instead of your original character if the GM allows it.

Mutant

Your body has been altered by battle scars and strange experiments. As your mutations grow ever more extreme, you become more powerful - and more monstrous. Eventually, you can regenerate from death itself, though some scars never fade.

Prerequisites: Dangerous experiments to mutate your body in extreme ways must have been performed on you. You can choose the nature of these experiments, such as alchemical or magical. Some mutants do this to themselves, while others find willing collaborators. In addition, you must have a Constitution of at least 2.

Progression: To progress towards this epic fate, you must continue ever more radical forms of experimentation. As you become inured to ordinary alterations to your body, you must travel and research to find unique substances of immense power to fuel the experiments. To reach the higher ranks, you must undergo experiments that kill you far more often than they succeed, so you will need to be resurrected multiple times to continue down this path.

Mutant Ranks

Rank1–Unnatural Arsenal: You grow an extra functioning arm and hand. In addition, you gain a wide variety of natural weapons (see Table 9.6: Natural Weapons, page 163). You gain a bite, horn, ram, stinger, and tentacle. In addition, two of your hands become claws. You gain these weapons in addition to any natural weapons you already have, no matter how biologically implausible that may be. In addition, each of your natural weapons has the Sweeping (3) weapon tag in addition to its other weapon tags.

Rank2–Regeneration: At the end of each round, you regain hit points equal to 20 times your rank in this epic fate. In addition, you may increase the result of one of your vital wounds by 1, to a maximum of 10. If you are unconscious, this automatically applies to your most severe vital wounds first.

Rank3–Monstrous Form: Your size increases by one size category. In addition, you gain a wide variety of movement modes.

You gain an average climb speed, an average swim speed, and a slow burrow speed. Wings also grow from your back, granting you an average fly speed with a 60 foot height limit (see Flight, page 36).

Rank4–Two Heads Are Better Than One: You grow a second head. Whenever you gain a condition, you choose which head gains the condition, with the restriction that the chosen head must not already have more conditions than the other head. At the start of each round, you can choose which heads are active during that round. You are only subject to the effects of the conditions affecting active heads. If you choose for both heads to be active, you can use an extra minor action during the action phase.

Rank5–Regenerative Immortality: You can regenerate from any wounds, even lethal ones. When you die, your regeneration ability continues functioning. Once that ability improves your vital wounds so they are all above 0, you return to life. However, each time you die, you gain a new scar that your regeneration always recreates.

If your corpse is mutilated, burned, immersed in acid, or fully destroyed, this process can take much longer to complete, but it cannot be fully stopped. A drop of blood, flake of skin, or other remnant of your corpse will always persist and regenerate eventually. If your body is separated into pieces while you are dead, each piece will attempt to regenerate individually. Your soul will automatically return to the first piece that regenerates completely, at which point the remaining fragments will wither and die.

Paradox

You exist partly outside of the ordinary flow of time and destiny. Your very existence wreaks havoc on prophecies and the orderly sequence of events. As your alterations to the natural timeline of the universe grow in scope, your ability to bend time to your whims grows in turn. Eventually, you become a fixed point across all of time.

Prerequisites: You must have been directly involved with an action that resulted in a significant change to at least one major country or similarly significant entity. Any type of change is acceptable, as long as it is important to history and would not have happened without your involvement.

Progression: To progress towards this epic fate, you must be alter the course of other major events that will be remembered to history. Reaching the higher ranks typically requires changing the fate of major planes, or creatures of similar importance.

Paradox Ranks

Rank1–Temporal Aberration: Your actions, and events involving you, cannot be observed in any effect that sees or predicts the future. This applies against both magical abilities and abilities that rely on direct observation. Prophecies are only able to describe how events would happen without your intervention, and are blind to any changes you might cause.

In addition, whenever you would make a movement, you can make two different movements and then decide which one was the movement you actually made. You can make this decision after observing how other creatures react to your movement, but before taking any other actions.

The other movement never happened, and had no effect. Only the movement itself is reverted in this way. Any other abilities you used during the resolution of that movement, such as the sprint ability, still happened, so you would still gain fatigue and resolve other effects.

Rank2—A Fork In Time’s Road: Whenever you would take a standard action, you can take two different standard actions and then decide which one was the action you actually took. You can make this decision after seeing all die results and observing all effects of both actions, but before taking any other actions.

The other action never happened, and has no effect. Only the standard action itself is reverted in this way. Any other abilities you used during the resolution of that action, such as the desperate exertion ability, still happened, so you would still gain fatigue and resolve other effects.

Rank3—Choose Fate: Once per short rest, whenever you or any other creature you are aware of rolls an attack or check, you can choose the result of that die. You can choose to use this ability after learning the result of the action using that die roll, including whether it succeeded or failed and the result of any damage dice based on the attack. However, you must use it before any other actions resolve. If you use this to make an attack explode, subsequent dice after the die you modify in this way are rolled normally. Using this to affect an enemy’s action may change the actions taken by other enemies in that enemy’s allied group, which the GM should resolve.

Rank4—Paradoxical Defense: Whenever a creature attacks you, it must reroll the attack roll once and keep the lower result. This does not protect any other targets of the attack.

Rank5—Fixed Point: You become an immutable fact across all of time. You no longer age. Whenever you die, history is rewritten so you retroactively never died instead. The changes are as subtle and believable as possible, but even extraordinary coincidences can occur to save you from death. You typically still end up unconscious from vital wounds, and are always removed from combat or otherwise unable to usefully act for at least ten minutes, but you survive.

Slayer

You are a killer of legendary skill. As your body count increases, you gain abilities to help you track down and kill increasingly powerful foes. Eventually, your powers threaten the gods themselves, allowing you a unique ability to transcend death.

Prerequisites: You must be directly involved with slaying at least one elite creature with a level of at least 21.

Progression: To progress towards this epic fate, you must publicly contribute to slaying increasingly dangerous and fearsome foes. To reach the higher ranks, you must kill creatures of singular power whose influence is felt across multiple planes. This might include demon princes, supreme dragons beyond even the power of wyrms, or the nightmarish precursor aberrations in the Eternal Void.

Slayer Ranks

Rank1—Lethality: The damage bonus you gain from getting a critical hit is doubled. This means that a regular critical hit deals triple damage, a double critical deals five times normal damage, and so on.

Rank2—Precision Killer: You gain a +4 bonus to your accuracy. In addition, you can inflict critical hits on any creature regardless of its body structure, magic items, or other abilities.

Rank3—Mark of the Slayer: As a minor action, you can choose to mark any creature you can unambiguously identify. This includes any creature you can see, as well as any creature you know the name of and can differentiate from other similar creatures. You can only mark one creature at a time, and applying a new mark replaces any previous mark. You cannot use this ability to replace a mark that is less than a week old if the recipient of the previous mark still lives.

This mark is visible on the creature’s body with a design that is recognizably yours. It appears on top of any clothing or other attempt to conceal it, even if the creature is invisible. Anyone can recognize the significance of the mark with a difficulty value 15 Knowledge (arcana or local) check, and creatures that understand the significance of the mark may refuse to give your target aid of any kind to avoid risking your wrath.

You know the exact distance and direction to any creature you have marked with this ability that is on the same plane as you. If they are not on the same plane as you, you know which plane they are on, but not their location within that plane. As a standard action, you can create a scrying sensor adjacent to them that you can see and hear through. The sensor lasts as long as you sustain it as a free action. It moves to stay adjacent to the target, regardless of its speed.

Rank4—Slayer’s Journey ✨: As a standard action, you can teleport yourself and up to ten allies any distance within the same plane to the location of a creature affected by your mark of the slayer ability from this epic fate. You cannot precisely choose the destination of this ability, and it does not leave you immediately adjacent to the marked creature. Generally, it leaves you just outside any sort of fortress or defenses the marked creature has constructed. After using this ability, you cannot use it again until you finish a long rest.

Rank5—Godslayer: Creatures cannot be immune or impervious to your attacks. You can punch ghosts, set fire to fire elementals, and so on. In addition, you can destroy artifacts and even inflict damage on deities in their divine dominion. As a result, even deities fear to interfere with you directly. If you ever die, you can generally threaten or fight your way past any planar guardians to leave your afterlife whenever you want. After you do this once, you become a soulforged native to your afterlife plane, since your new body is formed from the essentia of that plane.

Undying

You have sought out strange magical power in search of a way to artificially prolong your life. As your power grows, you become increasingly able to resist death and return from it. Eventually, you will transcend death entirely.

Prerequisites: You must perform a series of rituals to prepare yourself for immortality, at least one of which must be rank 7 or higher. There are many kinds of immortality that you can pursue with this epic fate, and the exact nature of the rituals will change depending on the type of immortality you pursue.

Progression: You must discover powerful new magic rituals that support your particular form of immortality. This generally requires exploring sites of ancient magic, gaining favor with powerful creatures who have relevant knowledge or abilities, and independent experimentation based on your findings.

Undying Ranks

Rank1–Life After Death ✨: If you die from any cause other than old age, you automatically resurrect according to nature of your chosen path to immortality. For example, you can have a phylactery regenerate a new body for you like a lich, or you can create clones of yourself or golems that you inhabit if your first body dies. You must always return in a new body of some sort.

Your specific form of immortality determines where you return, such as at the site of your death or at your personal sanctum. However, it cannot be based on the location or state of your old corpse, since that corpse is no longer “you”. The timing of your resurrection may also differ based on your immortality, but you cannot complete your resurrection sooner than one day after the time of your death. After you resurrect in this way, this ability does not function for one week, allowing you to be killed normally.

This immortality may change your base species, such as if you become a lich or move your body into a flesh golem. If it does, you retain all benefits and modifiers from your original species other than size, and you gain the effects of the new species in addition.

Rank2–Death Familiarity: You become so familiar with the trauma of injury and death that your mind and body adapt to it. You ignore all vital wound effects other than death, and you no longer suffer a penalty when you resurrect. In addition, the time of your vulnerability to true death after resurrection is reduced to 48 hours.

Rank3–Artificial Life ✨: Whenever you resurrect with your life after death ability, your new body gains a +2 bonus to two random attributes. The attributes are randomized differently for each new body, though you can choose one attribute to exclude from this randomization. In addition, that resurrection functions even if the cause of your death was old age, and you can control the physical age of your new body.

Rank4–Deathcaller: You are deeply familiar with death, and know how to most effectively inflict it on others. Whenever you cause a living creature to lose at least half its hit points in a single round, you may kill that creature outright. In addition, your artificial life ability grants a bonus to three random attributes instead of two random attributes.

Rank5–True Immortality ✨: You become fully immortal. There is no time limit after the resurrection from your life after death ability where you become vulnerable to a true death. In addition, the resurrection can complete as quickly as one minute after your death. If a physical component limits your immortality, such as a phylactery, it can no longer be damaged or destroyed without the direct intervention of a rank 5 Slayer.

Classes

Anointed

An anointed is a votive who made their pact with a deity. This is an unusual arrangement, as deities would normally influence their clerics to achieve their aims. However, in special circumstances, a deity may want to empower a non-worshipper to influence mortal affairs. The anointed class functions like the votive class, with the following exceptions:

- The magic source for the anointed class is divine magic instead of pact magic. This changes the mystic spheres an anointed has access to and all other effects based on their source of magic. However, they still require both verbal components and somatic components to cast spells from the anointed class (see Ability Usage Components, page 43).
- They must choose either channel divinity or prayer as one of their mystic spheres, replacing the normal list from the Soulkeeper Spheres ability.
- An anointed cannot choose the blessings of the abyss archetype. However, the domain influence cleric archetype is considered to be part of their class, and they may choose that archetype without spending insight points to multiclass.

Bard

A bard is a rogue with the ability to perform magical feats through music. It is unclear whether bards actually draw power from music in the same way that druids draw power from nature, or whether they simply channel their innate magical talent through music. The bard class functions like the rogue class, with the following exceptions:

- A bard cannot choose the assassin archetype. However, the arcane magic sorcerer archetype is considered to be part of their class, and they may choose that archetype without spending insight points to multiclass.
- A bard casts spells without somatic components.
- A bard can only cast spells while sustaining a performance with the Perform skill. This performance can be either a mundane performance or a bardic performance ability.

Blighter

Blighter practice a strange inversion of druidic traditions. While druids venerate nature in all its forms, blighters dedicate their lives to the destruction of nature for its own sake. They rip power directly from the death of natural beings, using it to fuel their own warped version of nature magic. The blighter class functions like the druid class, with the following exceptions:

- Whenever a blighter rests, they automatically destroy nature and kill anything living around them. Plants wither and die, insects fall dead in the air, and so on. A ten minute rest destroys life in a radius equal to five feet times the blighter's highest rank in the blighter class (minimum 5 feet total). In general, Diminutive or larger creatures and Medium or larger plants suffer no ill effects, though creatures may feel subtle pains. An eight hour rest destroys life in ten times that radius, and kills life one size category larger. Resting beyond that point does not increase the radius or severity of the effect. This destruction spreads out gradually throughout the resting period, and even a partially completed rest destroys some natural life.
- A blighter cannot choose the wildspeaker archetype. However, the domain influence cleric archetype is considered to be part of their class, and they may choose that archetype without spending insight points to multiclass. A blighter can only choose the Death, Destruction, and Evil domains.
- A blighter cannot gain access to the verdamancy mystic sphere by any means.

Shaman

A shaman, like a cleric, is a divine worshipper. However, while clerics worship powerful, well-established deities, shamans worship more primitive deities of lesser power. As a result, their divine powers are more limited and take different forms. Shamans are common among less civilized humanoid societies like bugbears. The shaman class functions like the cleric class, with the following exceptions:

- The magic source for the shaman class is nature magic instead of divine magic. This changes the mystic spheres a shaman has access to and all other effects based on their source of magic.
- A shaman cannot choose the divine spell mastery archetype. However, the elementalist druid archetype is considered to be part of their class, and they may choose that archetype without spending insight points to multiclass.
- A shaman cannot gain access to more than two mystic spheres from the magic source granted by the shaman class by any means.
- Shamans add Knowledge (nature) to their class skill list and remove Knowledge (planes).

Alternate Play Styles

Being Surrounded

Normally, exact positioning doesn't matter that much in combat. This makes it easier to play without a grid, or to just spend less time worrying about the details of everyone's positions on a grid. With this optional rule, you can make positioning more important in combat, increasing tactical depth for melee characters. This generally has the downside of making movement more complicated, however, as combatants try to surround others and avoid being surrounded themselves.

If you play with this alternate rule, when you are being attacked by multiple foes at once, you are less able to defend yourself. If every space adjacent to you either contains an enemy or is adjacent to an enemy, you are surrounded. A creature that is surrounded takes a -2 penalty to its Armor and Reflex defenses. When determining whether you are surrounded, ignore any enemies that are sharing space with you, and ignore any enemies that are at least two size categories smaller than you.

Any effect that makes a creature immune to being partially unaware (-2 defenses), such as the foresight spell, also makes that creature immune to being surrounded.

Complex Cover

Normally, cover is a binary effect. You either have cover or you don't. If you want to make cover and tactical positioning more important, you can use more subtle variations of cover. This variant uses four cover variants:

- Quarter cover: You have approximately a quarter of your body behind an obstacle. Quarter cover grants no defense bonuses. However, if you would be affected by a glancing blow or an attack that deal half damage on a miss, the obstacle takes damage instead of you.
- Half cover: You have approximately half of your body behind an obstacle. Half cover grants a +2 bonus to Armor and Reflex defenses. It also grants the same protection as quarter cover against glancing blows and misses.
- Three-quarters cover: You have approximately three quarters of your body behind an obstacle. Three-quarters cover grants a +4 bonus to Armor and Reflex defenses. It also grants the same protection as quarter cover against glancing blows and misses.
- Total cover: You have your entire body behind an obstacle. Total cover blocks line of effect, which makes most attacks impossible (see Line of Effect, page 41).

Normally, asymmetric cover means that one target has cover while the other doesn't. With this variant, asymmetric cover will often mean that one target simply has better cover than the other, but cover is relevant for both targets. For example, hiding behind a tree might grant you half cover from a target, but they might also gain quarter cover from you.

The downside of this optional rule is that it requires more ad-hoc rulings from the GM about subtle differences in the environment. To keep the pace of the game moving, players have to resist the urge to argue with potentially arbitrary rulings. Complex cover is generally only meaningful if you are already using battle maps rich with detail or improvising substantial elements of the environment on the fly.

Critical Failure

Normally, there is no explicit penalty for catastrophic failure built into the rules. Even if you fail at a check by a large amount, it doesn't leave you worse off than when you started. Sometimes, it may be narratively appropriate to punish significant failure more severely, at the GM's discretion. For example, attempting a difficult Persuasion check and completely botching the execution might leave the target feeling more hostile than if no Persuasion had been attempted at all. A good threshold for critical failure would generally be failing a check by 8 or more. For specific tasks, it may make more sense to have punishments for failure at lower thresholds as well.

This is considered an optional rule because it generally makes trying silly ideas or extremely difficult tasks more dangerous, which isn't appropriate for every game. It also depends heavily on GM discretion.

Easy Magic Item Reforging

The Craft Specialization feat allows characters to transfer magic item properties between different items. For example, if the players find a magic meteor hammer that none of them could use, they could reforge that item as a magic battleaxe so they could use its property. With this optional rule, skilled item crafters capable of this action are assumed to be common in major cities or towns. The typical price to reforge an item in this way is two ranks lower than the item's rank, to a minimum rank of 1.

The advantage of using this optional rule is that it makes magic items more likely to be useful to the party. Without this rule, you may be forced to have the party "randomly" only find magic items that they are coincidentally proficient with, or the party may frequently find magic items that they can't use. On the other hand, this rule assumes a more magical and highly developed civilization. It also may require the party to frequently return to town to reforge useless items into items that are useful for them. Either of those requirements may not match the intended tone of your campaign.

Expanded Insight Points

Normally, insight points can only be used to learn new special abilities from your class, or from a small number of feats. This alternate rule allows you to spend insight points to gain a wide variety of other proficiencies and benefits. This makes character creation more complicated, but it also allows you to personalize your character much more precisely.

If you play with this alternate rule, you can spend insight points in any of the following ways.

- You can spend an insight point to gain an additional trained skill.
- You can spend an insight point to gain proficiency in an additional usage class of armor (light, medium, or heavy).

You must be proficient with light armor to become proficient with medium armor, and you must be proficient with medium armor to become proficient with heavy armor.

- You can spend an insight point to gain proficiency in all non-exotic weapons from one weapon group (see Weapon Groups, page 156).
- You can spend an insight point to learn two common languages or one rare language (see Communication and Languages, page 148).

Experience Points

Normally, the GM simply tells the players when they gain a level. Rise doesn't place any specific expectations on how frequently players level up. Different campaigns can have wildly different expectations for how frequently characters should level up depending on the narrative of the game, how frequent the sessions are, how comfortable everyone is with the complexity of higher level characters, much time people like to spend reading books, and so on.

With this alternate rule, characters explicitly gain experience points, and earning enough experience points allows them to level up. This can provide a bit more structure to the leveling process so people know what to expect.

Level	XP
1st	0
2nd	10
3rd	25
4th	45
5th	70
6th	100
7th	140
8th	200
9th	300
10th	450
11th	700
12th	1,000
13th	1,400
14th	2,000
15th	3,000
16th	4,500
17th	7,000
18th	10,000
19th	14,000
20th	20,000
21st	30,000

Exploding Checks

Normally, checks do not explode. There are practical issues with allowing explosions on retryable actions. In theory, a character could simply try an otherwise impossible check a thousand times to guarantee a sufficiently high result on the exploding die. With this optional rule, checks can explode, but only in tense or time-limited situations where the check is not indefinitely retryable. Narratively, this could represent adrenaline helping people reach superhuman feats in times of stress. This requires GM interaction to identify situations where checks can be reasonably retried. For example, even a check that is normally indefinitely retryable, such as unlocking a door, could explode if unlocking the door quickly was important in a combat situation.

Longer Rests

Normally, characters can take a short rest in ten minutes and a long rest in eight hours. With this optional rule, a short rest instead requires eight hours of rest, and long rest requires a week.

This dramatically slows down the narrative pacing of the world, and makes the world feel much more brutal and unforgiving. Characters will often be forced to start a combat while missing hit points, and taking vital wounds can be crippling.

Obscure Magic Items

The base rules of Rise make it fairly easy to identify magic items. This keeps the pace of the game up when players find magic items frequently. However, you may choose to treat magic items as being more rare and mysterious. If you do, make the following changes:

- The identify item ability from the Craft and Knowledge skills provides no information about how to use a magic item's properties or what they might be. It can still be used to identify whether or not an item is magical.
- The Knowledge (items) Knowledge skill is removed entirely.
- Magic items are more rare, and therefore more valuable. Calculate the prices for all magic items as if they were one rank higher than they actually are. Rank 7 magic items cannot be bought for any price - they are simply too rare.
- All spells with the Attune tag require an additional attunement point to attune to. If magic items are hard to find and use, spellcasters gain a powerful benefit, since their personal attunement spells are still reliably available. This change ensures that spellcasters still gain a benefit from their personal access to magic, but they are not drastically more powerful than characters who depend on finding useful magic items.

You may also want to add complex or unintuitive activation conditions to magic items. For example, boots of speed may only function while hopping on one foot, or while you are not wearing socks. This can encourage players to experiment more with magic items to figure out how to use them.

Rage Accuracy

Normally, a barbarian's rage ability provides a +2 accuracy bonus. With this variant, raging barbarians instead gain no accuracy bonus, but roll 1d12 instead of 1d10 for their attack rolls while raging. They also explode on a 9 or higher on the first roll, though subsequent rolls must roll a 12 to continue exploding. A barbarian's overall accuracy and damage output with this rule essentially equivalent to the normal rule, but they are more likely to get critical hits or completely whiff on important attacks.

This variant can be more fun for people who like big hits and big misses, and for RPG veterans who naturally associate a barbarian with a d12. It is considered a variant rule because not everyone owns a 12-sided die, and you shouldn't need to buy one just to play a barbarian.

Restricted Archetype Order

Normally, when a character in Rise levels up, they can freely choose which of their class archetypes they want to rank up (as long as they don't exceed their maximum rank). However, this means that most levels require making a choice that may be confusing for newer players. The process of leveling up can be simplified if each player chooses an order for their archetypes.

With this variant, each character has a primary archetype, a secondary archetype, and a tertiary archetype. This choice is made at character creation. Whenever they increase their maximum rank, they increase their rank in their primary archetype. In their next level up, they increase their rank in their secondary archetype, and then finally their tertiary archetype.

Sleeping While Armored

Normally, characters can sleep in their armor without any penalty. This is unrealistic, but it can be time-consuming to make everyone track how their sleeping statistics differ from their waking statistics. Being ambushed while sleeping is very rare in most games, so it's generally not worth the hassle. However, if you want a more realistic game with more punishing night ambushes, you can use this alternate rule.

If you play with this alternate rule, resting in armor is difficult. If you take a long rest while wearing medium or heavy body armor, you finish your rest with a fatigue level equal to the Armor defense bonus provided by the armor. In addition, only half the time you spend sleeping in the armor counts as sleep for the purpose of determining your fatigue (see Sleep and Fatigue, page 147).

You may also choose to allow specific characters to waive this penalty if they are strong or durable enough. For example, a high level fighter or a character with the Toughness feat might have reduced penalties for sleeping in armor.

Tap Out

With this optional rule, whenever you gain a vital wound, you can "tap out" to guarantee that you survive while taking yourself out of the fight. If you tap out, you treat the result of the vital roll for that vital wound as a 10, regardless of any bonuses or penalties you would normally have to the vital roll. However, you fall unconscious immediately, and you cannot regain consciousness by any means until you finish a short rest.

This optional rule significantly reduces the likelihood of character death, and makes fights less likely to impose long-term consequences on characters. However, it also makes vital wounds more likely to entirely knock characters out of a fight, which can increase the risk that the entire party is defeated.

Appendix D

Uncommon Species

Animal Hybrid

Animal hybrids are humanoid creatures that are a combination of humans and animals. The abilities of an animal hybrid depend on the type of animal it is based on.

Size: Medium.

Attributes: The attributes of an animal hybrid depend on its size.

Special Abilities: As the original animal.

Automatic Languages: Common and any one common language (see Table ??: Common Languages, page ??).

Sample Animal Hybrids

Hybrid Bee:

Special Abilities:

Attribute: +1 Dexterity, -1 Constitution.

- Low-light Vision: A hybrid bee has low-light vision, allowing it to see clearly in dim illumination (see Low-light Vision, page 588).
- Stinger: A hybrid bee has a stinger natural weapon (see Natural Weapons, page 156). Whenever it causes a creature to lose hit points with that natural weapon, the struck creature is poisoned by giant wasp venom (see Poison, page 151). Its stage 1 effect makes the target slowed (-10 speed, -2 Armor and Ref) while the poison lasts.
- Winged Agility: A hybrid bee has wings that are not strong enough to help it fly. However, the wings still help it stabilize its movements. While it is able to use its wings, it gains a +3 bonus to the Balance skill and a +5 foot bonus to its maximum horizontal jump distance (see Jumping, page 34).

Hybrid Shark:

Special Abilities:

- Bloodscent: A hybrid shark has the scent ability (see Scent, page 588). In addition, it gains a +10 bonus to Awareness checks to detect blood.
- Bite: A hybrid shark's mouth is elongated, which it can use as a bite attack (see Natural Weapons, page 156). A hybrid shark's bite deals 1d6 damage.
- Gills: You can breathe water as easily as a human breathes air, preventing you from drowning or suffocating underwater.

- Swim Speed: A hybrid shark has an average swim speed.

Hybrid Wolf:

Special Abilities:

- Scent: A hybrid wolf has the scent ability (see Scent, page 588).
- Bite: A hybrid wolf's mouth is elongated, which it can use as a bite attack (see Natural Weapons, page 156). A hybrid wolf's bite deals 1d6 damage.
- Low-light Vision: A hybrid wolf has low-light vision, allowing it to see clearly in dim illumination (see Low-light Vision, page 588).

Automaton

An automaton appears to be a humanoid construct, like a golem. Its body is made from some combination of stone, wood, and metal. However, its artificial body is inhabited by a true soul, making it an indwelt (see Indwelt, page 589).

Size: Medium.

Attributes: +1 Constitution or Intelligence, -1 Dexterity.

Special Abilities:

- Artificial Life: Automatons are not alive. They are invalid targets for abilities that only affect living creatures, including poisons and most healing abilities. In addition, they do not need to eat, drink, or sleep.
- Automaton Archetype: Automatons only gain two class archetypes instead of three. Instead, they treat the Automaton archetype as one of their archetypes, and they gain ranks in it just like they gain ranks in class archetypes.
- Manual Repair: A Craft skill relevant to the automaton's body can be used to achieve the same effects that the Medicine skill would have on a living creature.
- Mechanical Body: Automatons are considered both objects and creatures, and are affected by abilities which affect either. They are always considered to be attended by themselves, so they are never affected by abilities that only affect unattended objects, even while unconscious.
- Mechanical Intuition: Automatons gain a +2 bonus to the Devices skill and one Craft skill of their choice.

Automaton Archetype

Rank 1 – Modular Carapace

You can adjust the density and layering of your hardened exterior to augment your defenses. Changing your configuration in this way requires 10 minutes of work, and spare armor parts that you generally keep with you. You can choose to treat your carapace as being either light, medium, or heavy armor. To gain the full benefits of your carapace, you must have proficiency with armor of the appropriate usage class. The benefits from this ability are considered to come from body armor, and do not stack with actual body armor.

You can use magic armor to build your carapace. If you do, the magic armor becomes embedded in your body. You can attune to it to benefit from its effects. If you use light modular carapace, this can allow you to benefit from two different magic armor effects.

- Light armor: You gain a +3 bonus to your Armor defense and a +2 bonus to your durability. You can wear body armor on top of this carapace. Although the benefits of that armor do not stack with the carapace, you can use the higher Armor defense value and durability bonus from either armor.
- Medium armor: You gain a +5 bonus to your Armor defense, a +4 bonus to your durability, and a +1 bonus to vital rolls. However, your Dexterity bonus to your Armor defense is halved, and you cannot wear body armor.
- Heavy armor: You gain a +6 bonus to your Armor defense, a +8 bonus to your durability, and a +2 bonus to vital rolls. However, your Dexterity bonus to your Armor defense is halved, you take a -10 foot penalty to your speed with all movement modes, and you cannot wear body armor. Unlike normal for heavy body armor, you do not need a minimum Strength to use this armor.

If you lose your original armor parts, you can create or buy new parts that are suited to your body. These parts are considered a Rank 1 (40 gp) item.

Rank 2 – Modular Armaments

You can customize your arms. Changing your arm configuration in this way requires 10 minutes of work, and spare arm and weapon parts that you generally keep with you. It also requires at least one free hand. You can combine any number of different customizations with this ability. Some customizations apply to both of your arms, but others apply to only one arm, as indicated.

- Bulky: You augment both of your arms with additional strength. You gain a +1 bonus to your mundane power, and to your Strength for the purpose of determining your weight limits. However, you take a -1 penalty to your Reflex defense.
- Plated: You add additional protective plating to both of your arms. You gain a +1 bonus to your Armor defense. However, you take a -1 penalty to your accuracy with strikes.
- Slim: You trim away excess muscle from both of your arms to make their movements more precise. You gain a +1 bonus to your accuracy with strikes. However, you take a -1 penalty to your mundane power and your Brawn defense.

- Weapon: You convert one of your arms into a manufactured weapon of your choice that you are proficient with. It is considered either a natural weapon, a manufactured weapon, or both whenever it would be beneficial for you. However, that arm no longer has a free hand. You can incorporate a magic weapon into this process or find a smith to imbue your arm parts as if they were a magic weapon. If you do, you can attune to the magic weapon property, and it affects this weapon.

If you lose your original arm and weapon parts, you can create or buy new parts that are suited to your body. These parts are considered a Rank 1 (40 gp) item.

Rank 3 – Sharpening Slash ✨

Sharpening Slash	Standard action
Make a strike that deals extra damage equal to half your power . Then, if you did not get a critical hit with the strike, you are briefly honed (+4 accuracy with crits).

Rank 4 – Embedded Apparel ✨

You can embed magic apparel into your body with an hour of work. The item becomes a part of your body, and would require another hour of work to remove. This allows you to use one additional apparel item from each body slot (see Body Slots, page 199). For example, you could embed one set of magic boots into your feet and then wear another pair of magic boots over them. You also gain an additional attunement point that you can only use to attune to items embedded into your body.

Rank 5 – Reassembly

You can recover from vital wounds more easily by simply replacing broken parts. You can remove a vital wound with ten minutes of work. This increases your fatigue level by three, and it requires replacement parts that you generally keep with you. The parts are considered a consumable Rank 3 (200 gp) item.

This can even save you from death, though that is more difficult and requires more advanced parts. A creature can spend eight hours replacing broken parts of your corpse to resurrect you (see Resurrection, page 149). This requires a difficulty value 20 extended check using a Craft skill appropriate to the composition of your body. The parts required to perform this feat are considered a consumable Rank 5 (5,000 gp) item.

Rank 6 – Artificial Mind

You become immune to Compulsion and Emotion attacks.

Rank 7 – Infinite Edge

You are always honed (+4 accuracy with crits). When an ability would cause you to become honed, such as your sharpening slash ability, you become empowered (add rank to damage) instead.

Dragon

Ancient dragons are magical creatures of immense power and wisdom, and are far more powerful than any ordinary character of the same level. However, young dragons can be played as characters, though their unique abilities do pose unique challenges.

Creature Type: Unlike most other playable species, dragons are magical beasts instead of humanoids.

Size: Small. This gives a dragon a 20 foot base speed and a +1 bonus to their Reflex defense, among other effects (see Size Categories, page 15).

Attributes: -2 Strength, +1 Dexterity.

Special Abilities:

- Dragon Archetype: Dragons only gain two class archetypes instead of three. Instead, they treat the Dragon archetype as one of their archetypes, and they gain ranks in it just like they gain ranks in class archetypes.

immune to attacks with their associated ability tag.

- Limited Equipment: A dragon's claws are not able to effectively wield shields or manufactured weapons. They can wear armor, but it is treated as barding instead of normal armor, reducing its effectiveness (see Barding, page 166).

Drow

Drow are an offshoot group of elves that live deep underground. The deep caves are a far harsher environment than the surface world. Resources are scarce, and dangerous monsters are far more common. In order to survive, drow were forced to adopt a variety of practices condemned by surface civilizations. The most notorious are their frequent use of poison, their refusal to take prisoners, their willingness to eat any non-drow creatures they kill, even sentient creatures. In addition, drow society tends to reward selfishness and ambition more explicitly than surface civilizations, and the vast majority of drow are evil.

When drow find opportunities to reach the surface world, they seek to conquer territory for themselves, usually with great violence. They have always been defeated and banished back to their caves, but surface civilizations still remember the danger that drow pose. Even more so than tieflings or orcs, who are already viewed with suspicion, drow are anathema in almost any civilized society. Drow who escape the deep caves are more likely to find a peaceful existence on other planes that do not fear an underground invasion.

Size: Medium.

Attributes: -1 Constitution, +1 Dexterity

Special Abilities:

- Darkvision: Drow have darkvision with a 120 foot range, allowing them to see in complete darkness (see Darkvision, page 588).
- Deep Darkness ✨:

Deep Darkness ✨
Tags: Sustain (standard)

You create a void of darkness in a Medium (30 ft.) radius zone within Medium (60 ft.) range. Bright illumination and brilliant illumination within or passing through that area is dimmed to be no brighter than dim illumination. Any object or effect which blocks light also blocks this ability's effect.

- Drow Prejudice: Almost all surface-dwellers have negative associations with drow. Drow have an Opposition relationship with most people that they meet, which influences people's behavior and makes Persuasion checks harder (see Persuasion, page 140). People in some locations, such as deep underground, do not have this attitude.

- Keen Senses: Drow gain a +2 bonus to the Awareness skill (see Awareness, page 127).
- Poison Tolerance: Drow are impervious (+4 defenses) to poison.
- Sensitive Eyes: Drow take a -2 penalty to accuracy while they are in bright illumination. This penalty is doubled while they are in brilliant illumination.
- Trance: Drow do not sleep, and are immune to magical ✨ effects that would cause them to sleep. Instead of sleeping, drow can trance for 4 hours. An elf in trance may make Perception-based checks at a -5 penalty. Drow must still avoid strenuous activity for 8 hours to heal and gain other benefits of taking a long rest.

Automatic Languages: Common, Elven, Undercommon

Dryaidi

Dryaidi are humanoid creatures with plantlike characteristics. They might have leaves instead of hair, a green skin tone, or rough, barky skin. They are descended from dryads, and share some fey heritage and an affinity for trees.

Size: Medium.

Attributes: No change.

Special Abilities:

- Dryad Archetype: Dryaidi only gain two class archetypes instead of three. Instead, they treat the Dryad archetype as one of their archetypes, and they gain ranks in it just like they gain ranks in class archetypes.
- Enchanting Appearance ✨: A dryaidi gains a +2 enhancement bonus to the Creature Handling, Perform, and Persuasion skills.
- Fey Vulnerability: Dryaidi are vulnerable (-4 defenses) to cold iron weapons.
- Tree Bond ✨: A dryaidi must be bonded with a specific tree. The tree must be at least a hundred years old, healthy, and intact. Forming a bond or severing a bond takes one week of meditation and ritual, periodically interrupted by rest. Forming a bond also requires asking permission from the tree through the ritual. Any individual tree can only be bonded to one dryad or dryaidi in this way.

As long as the bonded tree remains healthy and intact, the dryaidi gains a +1 bonus to Mental defense and a +1 bonus to its fatigue tolerance. If the bonded tree becomes unhealthy, is seriously damaged, or is killed, these bonuses are inverted into penalties until the dryaidi forms a bond with a new tree. A bonded dryaidi can passively observe the general health and status of the tree it bonded to.

- Verdant Flourishing ✨: Dryaidi can use the bramblepatch and rapid growth cantrips from the verdamancy sphere. If they already have access to that sphere, they can sustain those cantrips as a free action instead of as a minor action.

Automatic Languages: Common, Sylvan.

Dryad Archetype ✨

All abilities from this archetype are magical ✨.

Rank 1 – Tree Stride ✨

You can walk into and through living trees. Moving through a tree does not impede your movement in any way, and you can end your movement inside a tree. When you do, you can choose to be partially melded or fully melded with the tree. While partially melded, the tree provides cover against all attacks against you. While fully melded, the tree blocks line of sight or line of effect between you and the outside world as long as it remains intact.

At the end of each round, if you are fully or partially melded with a tree that you are bonded with using your tree bond ability, you regain hit points equal to half your maximum hit points.

Rank 2 – Natural Speech ✨

You can speak with plants and animals as if they were capable of ordinary speech. This ability does not make them any more friendly or cooperative than normal. Wary and cunning animals are likely to be terse and evasive, while stupid ones tend to make inane comments and are unlikely to say or understand anything of use. Plants do not have complex thought processes, but can provide information about events that have happened near them. In general, plants can remember events that happened within the most recent quarter of their lifespan.

Rank 3 – Tree Stride+ ✨

You can teleport between living trees instead of moving using your walk speed. Teleporting a given distance costs movement equal to half that distance. If this teleportation fails for any reason, you still expend that movement.

Rank 4 – Fey Charm ✨

Fey Charm ✨

Minor action

Tags: Emotion, Subtle, Sustain (minor)

Make an attack vs. Mental against a creature within Medium (60 ft.) range that is an animal, plant, or humanoid. You take a -10 penalty to accuracy with this attack against creatures who have made an attack or been attacked since the start of the last round.

Hit: The target is charmed (friendly with charmer) by you. Any act by you or by creatures that appear to be your allies that threatens or harms the charmed person breaks the effect. Harming the target is not limited to dealing it damage, but also includes causing it significant subjective discomfort. An observant target may interpret overt threats to its allies as a threat to itself.

The attack's accuracy increases by +2 for each rank beyond 4.

Rank 5 – Tree Bond+★

You can bond to a grove of trees instead of a single tree. The cumulative age of all trees in the grove must be at least a thousand years, and the grove must fit within a 500 foot radius. While bonded to a grove, the bonuses from your tree bond and enchanting appearance abilities double.

Rank 6 – Tree Union★

When you meld with a tree using your tree stride ability, you can fully unite with it. When you do, you have line of sight and line of effect from all areas of the tree simultaneously, as if you were everywhere in the tree's body. Attacks against the tree simultaneously affect both you and the tree. You and the tree are both impervious (+4 defenses) to damaging attacks, but vulnerable (-4 defenses) to Fire attacks and cold iron weapons.

Rank 7 – Acorns of Life★

Whenever you visit a tree you are bonded to with your tree bond ability, you can gather acorns of life. You can have up to ten acorns of life at once. As a minor action, you can throw an acorn of life onto an unoccupied grounded space within Medium (60 ft.) range. The space must be made of dirt, earth, or stone. When the acorn lands, a tree immediately grows in that space. The tree has a five foot diameter trunk and grows vertically until it reaches a hundred feet tall or until it encounters a solid obstacle preventing its growth.

Eladrin

Size: Medium.

Attributes: -1 Constitution, either +1 Dexterity or +1 Willpower

Special Abilities:

- Fae Step:

Fae Step ✨	Standard action
You teleport horizontally to a location within Short (30 ft.) range.
This ability improves based on your rank in your highest-rank archetype.
Rank 3: The range increases to Medium (60 ft.) range.
Rank 5: The range increases to Long (90 ft.) range.
Rank 7: The range increases to Distant (120 ft.) range.

- Fae Season: Eladrin respond strongly to their emotions, and change their abilities to reflect the season they currently represent. An eladrin must choose one of the following seasons when it finishes a short rest. The chosen season lasts until it changes to a different season.

Spring: +1 bonus to Mental defense, -1 penalty to Fortitude defense. Eladrin expressing the spring season are filled with the joy of a new year. However, they are also visibly thinner and more frail, as if recovering from a long winter.

Summer: +1 bonus to Fortitude defense, -1 penalty to Reflex defense. Eladrin expressing the summer season are visibly hearty and a little more plump. However, they also move with all the alacrity of a long summer day.

Autumn: +1 bonus to all checks, -1 penalty to accuracy. Eladrin expressing the autumn season embody the spirit of the harvest. They are filled with goodwill towards all creatures, and prefer finding peaceful solutions to problems. Their bodies tend to be firm and toned, reflecting the hard work required to prepare for the winter.

Winter: +1 bonus to vital rolls, -1 penalty to Mental defense. Eladrin expressing the winter season are prepared for the worst. They tend to be dour and pessimistic, but they press on despite the certainty of doom.

- Low-light Vision: Eladrin have low-light vision, allowing them to see clearly in dim illumination (see Low-light Vision, page 588).
- Trance: Eladrin do not sleep, and are immune to magical ✨ effects that would cause them to sleep. Instead of sleeping, eladrin can trance for 4 hours. An eladrin in trance may make Perception-based checks at a -5 penalty. Eladrin must still avoid strenuous activity for 8 hours to heal and gain other benefits of taking a long rest.

Species Feat Options:

Automatic Languages: Common, Sylvan, and any one common language (see Table ??: Common Languages, page ??).

Harpy

Harpies are winged creatures with the upper body of a humanoid and the lower body of a bird. Most harpies are female, but male harpies do exist.

Creature Type: Unlike most other playable species, harpies are monstrous humanoids instead of humanoids.

Size: Medium.

Attributes: -1 Intelligence, +1 Dexterity.

Special Abilities:

- Harpy Archetype: Harpies only gain two class archetypes instead of three. Instead, they treat the Harpy archetype as one of their archetypes, and they gain ranks in it just like they gain ranks in class archetypes.
- Limited Equipment: Harpies can wear armor, but it is treated as barding instead of normal armor, reducing its effectiveness (see Barding, page 166). Harpy talons are not able to effectively wield shields or manufactured weapons.
- Prehensile Talons: Harpies have a talon natural weapon on each foot (see Natural Weapons, page 156). In addition, they can use their feet as free hands. They can make short hops to use their feet to attack or manipulate objects without suffering penalties for gliding or flying.
- Wings: Harpies have no arms or hands. Instead, they have feathered wings that sprout from their shoulders. These wings grant them an average glide speed (see Aerial Movement, page 36).
- Winged Agility: While a harpy is able to use its wings, it gains a +2 bonus to Armor defense, a +3 bonus to the Balance skill, and a +5 foot bonus to its maximum horizontal jump distance (see Jumping, page 34).

Automatic Languages: Common.

Harpy Archetype

Rank 1 – Luring Song

Luring Song

Standard action

Tags: Auditory, Compulsion

Make an attack vs. Mental against a creature within Long (90 ft.) range. In addition, you begin a vocal performance (see Performance Types, page 139).

Hit: As a condition, the target must move towards you as best it can during each movement phase. In addition, it cannot move farther away from you at any time, except as necessary to get closer to you (such as to avoid an intervening obstacle). It can otherwise act freely, and is still able to attack you and your allies.

The target will risk danger to reach you, such as moving towards your allies or swimming through rough water. However, it is not compelled to take actions that are guaranteed to damage harm it, such as jumping off of a cliff. If it cannot make any progress towards you, it remains in place.

If you attack the target with any ability other than this one, or if you stop your vocal performance, this effect is automatically broken. When this effect ends, the target becomes immune to this effect until it finishes a short rest.

Critical hit: The condition must be removed twice before the effect ends.

The attack's accuracy increases by +1 for each rank beyond 1. In addition:

Rank 3: You can target an additional creature within range.

Rank 5: The maximum number of targets increases to 3.

Rank 7: The maximum number of targets increases to 5.

Rank 2 – Harpy Wings

You gain a slow fly speed with a maximum height of 10 feet (see Flight, page 36). As a free action, you can increase your fatigue level by one to ignore this height limit until the end of the round.

Rank 3 – Sharp Talons

Your talons deal 1d6 damage.

Rank 3 – Winged Agility+

The Armor defense bonus increases to +3, and the Balance bonus increases to +8.

Rank 4 – Siren Song

Siren Song

Standard action

Tags: Auditory, Emotion, Sustain (minor)

Make an attack vs. Mental against all enemies within a Medium (30 ft.) radius from you. In addition, you begin a vocal performance (see Performance Types, page 139).

Hit: The target is both charmed (friendly with charmer) by you and stunned (-2 defenses) as long as it can still hear your vocal performance. It remains stunned even if it stops being charmed, such as if you or your allies attack it. This ability does not have the Subtle tag, so an observant target may notice that it is being influenced.

The attack's accuracy increases by +1 for each rank beyond 4. In addition:

Rank 6: The area increases to a Large (60 ft.) radius.

Rank 5 – Caress the Enthralled

You gain a +2 accuracy bonus against creatures that are affected by either your luring song or siren song ability.

Rank 6 – Agile Flight

You reduce the penalties to your Armor and Reflex defenses from gliding or flying by 2.

Rank 6 – Harpy Wings+

Your maximum height increases to 30 feet, and the speed increases to average.

Rank 7 – Mythic Siren

You gain a +5 accuracy bonus with your luring song and siren song abilities.

Rank 7 – Sharp Talons+

Your talons deal 1d8 damage and gain the Keen ability tag.

- A club or dagger
- A buckler
- A standard adventuring kit (see Standard Adventuring Kit, page 170).
- A rank 0 wealth item (1 gp)

Class Skills

You have the following class skills:

- Strength: Climb, Jump.
- Dexterity: Balance, Flexibility, Perform, Stealth.
- Perception: Awareness, Creature Handling, Deception, Persuasion, Social Insight, Survival.
- Other: Intimidate.

Incarnation

An incarnation is a physical embodiment of an element or form of energy, like an elemental. Unlike elementals, incarnations are alive and have souls. Most incarnations are created on the plane associated with their element or energy and never leave that plane. However, in rare circumstances involving powerful magic, incarnations can sometimes be created in other planes.

Creature Type: Unlike most other playable species, incarnations are soulforged instead of humanoids.

Size: Medium.

Attributes: One attribute gains a +1 bonus and another takes a -1 penalty, depending on the chosen element or energy.

Special Abilities:

- Essence Infusion ✨: Each incarnation chooses one of the following tags as its essence infusion: Acid, Air, Auditory, Cold, Compulsion, Earth, Emotion, Electricity, Fire, Visual, or Water. All of the incarnation's strikes gain that tag, and it is impervious (+4 defenses) to attacks with that tag.
- Essence Vulnerability ✨: Each incarnation chooses a tag to be vulnerable (-4 defenses) to. It can choose any of the valid tags for an essence infusion, including the tag it chose as its essence infusion.
- Glowing: If appropriate to an incarnation's essence, it may naturally shed light as a torch. An incarnation cannot willingly disable this light, though the light can be covered by thick clothing.
- Incarnation Archetype: Incarnations only gain two class archetypes instead of three. Instead, they treat the Incarnation archetype as one of their archetypes, and they gain ranks in it just like they gain ranks in class archetypes.
- Poison Resistance: An incarnation is impervious (+4 defenses) to Poison attacks.
- Unusual Body: An incarnation's body can be unusually light or heavy compared to an ordinary creature's body. It can be lightweight or heavyweight, depending on its essence.

Automatic Languages:

Common. Incarnations can come in two forms: tethered or untethered.

Tethered incarnations are bipedal, with two legs and two arms. They have the same basic body shape and functionality as a human, though they may have unusual proportions.

Untethered incarnations have no arms or legs. They may appear as a perfect sphere, as intricate shifting arcane glyphs, or any other appearance depending on their nature. The appearance of any individual untethered incarnation is consistent. They are not shapeshifters or masters of disguise, simply unbound by ordinary conceptions of a "normal" body shape. An untethered incarnation has the following special abilities:

- Esoteric Body: The incarnation has no arms, legs, or free hands. This means it is unable to use manufactured weapons or somatic components. It can wear armor, but the armor is treated as barding instead of normal armor, reducing its effectiveness (see Barding, page 166). It has no walk speed. Since it has no legs, it is immune to being prone (half speed, -2 Armor and Ref), but it also cannot jump.
- Flight ★: The incarnation's only movement mode is an average fly speed with a 5 foot height limit (see Aerial Movement, page 36). Since it is native to the air, flying does not penalize its Armor or Reflex defenses. It is also floating, so it does not need to fly every phase to avoid falling.
- Ram: The incarnation gains a ram natural weapon. It deals 1d6 damage and has the Resonating weapon tag (see Weapon Tags, page 156).
- Uniform Composition: The incarnation is immune to critical hits from strikes.

Incarnation Archetype

Rank 1 – Essence Spike ★

Essence Spike ★

Standard action

Cost: You briefly cannot use this ability again.

Tags: The tag of your essence infusion.

- Armor defense: Water.
- Brawn defense: Air, Earth.
- Fortitude defense: Acid, Auditory, Cold.
- Reflex defense: Electricity, Fire, Visual.
- Mental defense: Compulsion, Emotion.

Hit: 1d10 damage + half power.

Rank 2: The damage increases to 1d8 damage + power.

Rank 3: The damage increases to 1d6 damage per 2 power.

Rank 4: The damage increases to 1d6 damage plus 1d6 per 2 power.

Rank 5: The damage increases to 1d8 damage plus 1d8 per 2 power.

Rank 7: The damage increases to 1d6 damage plus 1d6 per power.

Rank 2 – Essence Flare ★

Essence Flare ★

Standard action

You are briefly focused (roll attacks twice). At the end of the next round, if you hit with an attack that has your essence infusion tag during that round, you repeat the full effect of this ability. Otherwise, you are briefly maximized (deal max damage).

Rank 3 – Deep Tether

You gain a special ability depending on whether you are tethered or untethered.

- Tethered: Choose an Attune spell of rank 2 or lower from any mystic sphere. The spell must have your essence infusion tag, and it must not be a deep attunement. You gain the effect of that spell on you permanently. If the spell disables itself, you gain its benefit again after 10 minutes.
- Untethered: The height limit of your fly speed increases to 10 feet. In addition, whenever you use the sprint ability, you can become intangible during that phase. This ability has the Swift tag, so it affects attacks against you during the current phase.

Rank 4 – Essence Exemplar

The bonus to an attribute that you gain from being an incarnate increases to +2.

Rank 5 – Essence Infusion+ ✨

You become immune instead of impervious to attacks with your essence infusion tag. In addition, you gain a +1 accuracy bonus with all abilities which have that tag.

Rank 6 – Deep Tether+

You gain a special ability depending on whether you are tethered or untethered.

- Tethered: You can choose up to two spells with a combined rank of 4 or less.
- Untethered: The height limit of your fly speed increases to 20 feet. In addition, you gain a +1 bonus to your mundane power and magical power.

Rank 7 – Essence Incarnate ✨

Essence Incarnate ✨

Standard action

Tags: Swift

Cost: One fatigue level, and you briefly cannot use this ability again.

You gain a benefit depending on whether you are tethered or untethered:

- Tethered: You are briefly primed (always explode). Next round, if you hit with an attack that has your essence infusion tag, you are briefly primed again.
- Untethered: You briefly become incorporeal. This makes you immune to mundane, Creation, and Manifestation abilities, among other effects (see page 589). If this effect ends while you are inside of a solid object, you are pushed back in the direction from which you entered that object until you emerge. You take 5d10 damage for every 5 feet that you are pushed in this way.

Kit

Kit are humanoid creatures that have noticeable foxlike characteristics. They are descended from natural fox spirits. All kit have at least one tail, and some have multiple tails. Their tails are distinctly fluffy and fox-like, and most kit put effort into concealing their tails to avoid revealing their true nature.

Size: Medium.

Attributes: No change.

Special Abilities:

- Foxlike Agility: Kit gain a +2 bonus to the Balance and Stealth skills.
- Illusory Guise ⚡: As a standard action, a kit can magically disguise its physical appearance in minor ways. This functions like the change appearance ability with a +4 bonus, except that a kit cannot change the appearance of its equipment, creature type, or number of limbs, including any tails it may have (see Change Appearance, page 135). This ability lasts until the kit dismisses the ability or uses it again.
- Instinctive Trickster: Kit gain a +2 bonus to the Deception and Social Insight skills.

them to see clearly in dim illumination (see Low-light Vision, page 588).

- Naiad Archetype: Naiadi may choose three class archetypes, as normal. However, you may choose the Naiad archetype in place of one of your class archetypes. If you do, you gain ranks in it just like you gain ranks in class archetypes.
- Water Affinity: A naiadi has an average swim speed. In addition, they can breathe clean water like a human breathes air.

Automatic Languages: Common, Sylvan, any one common language.

Naiad Archetype

All abilities from this archetype are magical .

Rank 1 – Water Bond

You can form a bond with a fresh stream, lake, or other Gargantuan or larger body of fresh water (not salt water). Forming or severing a bond takes one week of meditation and ritual, periodically interrupted by rest. Forming a bond also requires asking permission from the water, which you are able to do as part of the ritual. Any individual body of water can only be bonded to one naiad or naiadi in this way.

As long as your bonded water remains clean, pure, and large enough to be a valid subject of bonding, you gain a +1 enhancement bonus to your magical power and mundane power, and a +2 enhancement bonus to your vital rolls. While you are within 60 feet of your bonded body of water, these bonuses double. If your bonded water becomes contaminated or shrinks below the minimum size, these bonuses are inverted into penalties until you sever the bond. You can passively observe the general health and status of water you are bonded to, including knowing when significant pollutants enter the water and when the water grows or shrinks significantly.

Rank 2 – Fluid Freedom

While your water bond is active, all of your magical  attacks have the Water tag. In addition, whenever you use a magical  Water ability, you can choose to exclude your allies from it.

Rank 2 – Freshwater Fountain

The volume of water you can create with the create water cantrip is doubled. This generally means that you can create a Small body of water with half a minute of work. In addition, you do not consider casting that cantrip to be strenuous activity, so you can cast it continuously for longer than five minutes (see Maintain Exertion, page 136).

Rank 3 – Bonded Boon

While your water bond is active, you gain a benefit based on the body of water you bonded. If it's ambiguous how to categorize your body of water, you can choose any one applicable category when you gain this ability and when you form any future bonds.

- Geyser or spring: You gain a +2 accuracy bonus against creatures that are at unaware (-5 defenses) or partially unaware (-2 defenses) of your attacks. In addition, when you use the desperate exertion ability to affect an attack, the target is considered partially unaware (-2 defenses) of that attack.
- Lake: You gain a +3 bonus to your durability.
- River or stream: You gain a +2 bonus to your Reflex defense. In addition, when you sprint downhill, you gain a +10 foot bonus to your speed. This bonus is doubled as normal by the sprint ability.
- Underground reservoir: You gain darkvision with a 60 foot range, allowing you to see in complete darkness

(see Darkvision, page 588). In addition, you gain a +2 enhancement bonus to the Deception and Stealth skills.

Rank 4 – Aqueous Form

You can cast the aqueous form spell. When you do, you do not require verbal components or somatic components, and you use your rank in this archetype as your your spellcasting rank. In addition, it has the Attune tag instead of the Attune (deep) tag.

Rank 5 – Enchanting Appearance+

The bonuses from your enchanting appearance ability increase to +4.

Rank 5 – Freshwater Fountain+

The multiplier from your freshwater fountain ability increases to ten times the normal volume of water. This generally means that you can create a Medium body of water with one minute of work, or a Gargantuan body of water with 8 hours of work. You can bond with a body of water you create with this ability just like any other body of water.

Rank 6 – Bonded Boon+

The benefit from your bonded body of water improves.

- Geyser or spring: The accuracy bonus increases to +4.
- Lake: The hit point bonus increases to five times your rank in this archetype.
- River or stream: You gain a +10 foot enhancement bonus to your speed.
- Underground reservoir: The range of your darkvision increases by 60 feet. In addition, the skill bonuses increase to +4.

Rank 7 – Water Bond+

The bonuses from your water bond ability increase to +3. In addition, your bonded body of water becomes effectively impossible to contaminate. The entire body of water is continuously purified, as if by the purify water ability, with contaminants shunted to the outside. It can still be physically destroyed with sufficient effort.

If you choose naiad as your base class, you gain the following benefits.

You gain a +3 bonus to your Brawn, Fortitude, Mental, and Reflex defenses.

Resources

- Attunement points: 5 (see Attunement Points, page 14).
- Fatigue tolerance: 2 + your Constitution (see Fatigue, page 14).
- Insight points: 1 + your Intelligence (see Insight Points, page 14).
- Trained skills: 5 from among your class skills, plus additional trained skills equal to your Intelligence if it is positive (see Skills, page 126).

Weapon Proficiencies

You are proficient with simple weapons.

Armor Proficiencies

You are proficient with light armor.

Starting Items and Equipment

You can start with the following items and equipment:

- Buff leather
- A club or dagger
- A buckler
- A standard adventuring kit (see Standard Adventuring Kit, page 170).
- A rank 0 wealth item (1 gp)

Class Skills

You have the following class skills:

- Strength: Swim.
- Dexterity: Balance, Flexibility, Perform, Sleight of Hand, Stealth.
- Intelligence: Deduction, Knowledge (nature), Medicine.
- Perception: Awareness, Creature Handling, Deception, Persuasion, Social Insight, Survival.
- Other: Intimidate.

Oozeborn

Oozeborn are ooze creatures that have gained true sentience through a strange quirk of their birth. They are very rare to see in civilized lands, as most oozeborn lack the opportunity to discover more than the dark caves in which they were spawned. Since they often grow up without mentorship from any civilized creature, oozeborn tend to have odd mannerisms and a poor ability to mask their emotions, even after spending years in civilization. Old oozeborn may eventually adapt to societal norms and act perfectly natural, or they may abandon civilized company entirely.

The body of an oozeborn is amorphous, and they lack any identifiable internal organs. Their natural color depends on the nature of the ooze that spawned them, so green and gray are the most common colors. Adventuring oozeborn typically assume a bipedal shape for both practical and social convenience, but their natural shape is a loosely spherical blob. Unconscious oozeborn revert to their default state automatically, though some learn to maintain a semblance of cohesion while asleep.

Creature Type: Unlike most other playable species, oozeborn are animates instead of humanoids.

Size: Medium.

Attributes: -1 Intelligence, +1 Constitution.

Special Abilities:

- Acidic Body: Oozeborn are impervious (+4 defenses) to Acid and Poison attacks. However, they are vulnerable (-4 defenses) to Earth attacks.
- Amorphous Form: An oozeborn's natural form is a loosely spherical blob. They have a -10 foot penalty to their speed, but they gain a +5 bonus to the Flexibility skill (see Flexibility, page 137). Since they have no legs, they are immune to being prone (half speed, -2 Armor and Ref). Most legless creatures cannot jump, but oozeborn can jump without penalty. They can also use the mold body ability to adopt a particular shape.

Mold Body	Standard action
Tags: Sustain (free)

You make a Disguise check to alter your appearance (see Change Appearance, page 135). This physically changes your body to match the results of your disguise. You gain a +4 bonus on the check, and you ignore penalties for changing your gender, species, age, and number of limbs. However, this effect is unable to alter your equipment or size category in any way.

You cannot create more than four limbs with this ability, and a maximum of two free hands. If you create four legs, you become quadrupedal, so you gain a +10 foot bonus to your speed. If you give yourself a standard humanoid shape, you can wear armor designed for humanoids without suffering the normal penalties for barding (see Barding, page 166).

You can sustain this ability for any length of time without mental strain, ignoring the normal 5 minute limit.

- Compressible Body: Oozeborn can compress their head and shoulders down to a minimum of a one inch radius, allowing them to squeeze through very small areas. Their clothing or armor is not compressed, so they may limit their ability to move through extremely narrow spaces.
- Darkvision: Oozeborn have darkvision with a 60 foot range, allowing them to see in complete darkness (see Darkvision, page 588).
- Oozeborn Archetype: Oozeborn only gain two class archetypes instead of three. Instead, they treat the Oozeborn archetype as one of their archetypes, and they gain ranks in it just like they gain ranks in class archetypes.

Automatic Languages: Common.

Oozeborn Archetype

Rank 1 – Acidic Pseudopod

One of your arms becomes a pseudopod natural weapon. It deals 1d8 damage and has the Acid and Long tags (see Weapon Tags, page 156). You do not have a free hand on that arm while using it as a weapon in this way.

In addition, all of your attacks with natural weapons have the Acid tag. This does not affect damage you deal with manufactured weapons.

Rank 2 – Darkborn Senses

You gain blindsense with a 60 foot range, allowing you to sense your surroundings without light (see Blindsight, page 588). If you already have the blindsense ability, you increase its range by 60 feet. In addition, you gain blindsight with a 15 foot range, allowing you to see without light (see Blindsight, page 588). If you already have the blindsight ability, you increase its range by 15 feet.

Rank 2 – Ingest Object

Ingest Object	Standard action
Tags: Acid

This ability functions like the absorb object spell, except that the maximum size of the object is equal to your size. Anything you absorb in this way takes a single point of environmental damage during each of your actions while it remains absorbed. This damage is insufficient to hurt most objects made from wood, stone, or metal, but it can destroy more fragile objects like paper or complex mechanical traps.

Rank 3 – Amorphous Form+

You gain a +4 bonus to your defenses when determining whether a strike gets a critical hit against you instead of a normal hit. In addition, your mold body ability loses the Sustain (free) tag. Instead, it lasts until you choose to dismiss it. This allows you to maintain your shape while unconscious.

Rank 3 – Compressible Body+

You reduce your penalties for squeezing (-2 Armor and Ref) by 1.

Rank 4 – Acidic Body+

You are immune to Acid and Poison attacks.

Rank 4 – Acidic Pseudopod+

The damage dealt by your pseudopod increases to 1d10.

Rank 5 – Darkborn Senses+

The range of your blindsense increases by 60 feet. In addition, the range of your blindsight increases by 15 feet.

Rank 5 – Ingest Object+

The maximum number of objects you can absorb with your ingest object ability increases to 2. In addition, you may absorb allies with that ability in addition to unattended objects.

Rank 6 – Amorphous Form++

The defense bonus against critical hits from strikes increases to +10.

Rank 6 – Compressible Body++

The reduction of squeezing penalties increases to 2. This means you take no penalties for squeezing unless you use the tight squeeze ability (see Flexibility, page 137).

Rank 7 – Third Arm

When you use your mold body ability, you can create three arms instead of two. You can use all three hands as free hands. For example, this can allow you to use a Heavy weapon and a shield simultaneously.

In addition, your arms become stronger and more agile. You can use any of your arms as a pseudopod natural weapon, and your pseudopods gain the Light weapon tag (see Weapon Tags, page 156).

- Fatigue tolerance: 3 + your Constitution (see Fatigue, page 14).
- Insight points: 1 + your Intelligence (see Insight Points, page 14).
- Trained skills: 4 from among your class skills, plus additional trained skills equal to your Intelligence if it is positive (see Skills, page 126).

Weapon Proficiencies

You are proficient with simple weapons.

Armor Proficiencies

You are proficient with light armor.

Starting Items and Equipment

You can start with the following items and equipment:

- Buff leather
- A club or dagger
- A buckler
- A standard adventuring kit (see Standard Adventuring Kit, page 170).
- A rank 0 wealth item (1 gp)

Class Skills

You have the following class skills:

- Strength: Climb, Swim.
- Dexterity: Balance, Flexibility, Sleight of Hand, Stealth.
- Constitution: Endurance.
- Intelligence: Knowledge (dungeoneering).
- Perception: Awareness, Survival.
- Other: Intimidate.

Sapling

Saplings are young treants that have left their forest home in search of adventure. They tend to be slow to think and act, but resilient once they have made up their mind.

Creature Type: Unlike most other playable species, saplings are considered animates instead of humanoids.

Size: Medium.

Attributes: +1 Constitution, +1 Willpower, -1 Dexterity, -1 Intelligence

Special Abilities:

- Barkskin: A sapling gains a +2 bonus to Armor defense.
- Ingrain: A sapling can bury its roots into the ground.

Ingrain	Minor action
This ability can only be used if the sapling is grounded. The sapling becomes braced (+2 defenses), and its speed becomes 5 feet, regardless of any modifiers that normally apply. It cannot voluntarily stop being grounded while this ability lasts. If the sapling finishes a long rest with this ability active for the duration of the rest, it acquires nutrients sufficient to replace a day's worth of food and water. This ability lasts until the sapling ends it as a standard action, or until it stops being grounded.

- Limited Equipment: Saplings can wear armor, but it is treated as barding instead of normal armor, reducing its effectiveness (see Barding, page 166).
- Made of Wood: Saplings are vulnerable (-4 defenses) to Fire attacks. In addition, they are both creatures and plants.
- Treant Archetype: Saplings only gain two class archetypes instead of three. Instead, they treat the Treant archetype as one of their archetypes, and they gain ranks in it just like they gain ranks in class archetypes.
- Tree Appearance: When a sapling stays perfectly still, observers must make a DV 15 Awareness check to recognize that it is not an ordinary tree. Careful observers may still notice that the ordinary tree has appeared where no tree used to be, so they may be suspicious of a sapling even if they do not pass this check.
- Unhurried and Unfaltering: Saplings have a -10 penalty to their speed. However, a sapling's movement speed cannot be more than 10 feet slower than its base speed, even while slowed (-10 speed, -2 Armor and Ref) or under similar effects, except with the ingrain ability. In addition, saplings are unaffected by difficult terrain from inanimate natural sources, such as heavy undergrowth.

Automatic Languages: Common, Sylvan.

Treant Archetype

Rank 1 – Nourishing Ingrain

At the end of each round while you are ingrained, you regain hit points equal to your rank in this archetype, and you may choose to remove a condition. If you do, you increase your fatigue level by one.

Rank 2 – Sturdy as the Mighty Oak

You gain a +3 bonus to your durability.

Rank 3 – Animate Plants ✨

Animate Plants ✨	Standard action
Tags: Manifestation
Make an attack vs. Reflex against one Large or smaller grounded creature within Medium (60 ft.) range. You gain a +2 accuracy bonus if the target is in undergrowth .
Hit: The target is briefly slowed (-10 speed, -2 Armor and Ref). In addition, it is attacked by plants as a condition . It takes 1d8 damage immediately, and during each of your subsequent actions while this condition lasts.
This condition can be removed if the target makes a difficulty value 10 Strength check as a move action to break the plants. If the target makes this check as a standard action, it gains a +5 bonus. In addition, this condition is removed if the target takes damage from a Fire ability.
Critical hit: The condition must be removed an additional time before the effect ends.
For each rank beyond 3, the attack's accuracy increases by +2 and the difficulty value to break the plants increases by 2. In addition, the damage increases at each rank as described below.
Rank 4: 1d10 damage.
Rank 5: 2d6 damage.
Rank 6: 2d8 damage.
Rank 7: 2d10 damage.

Rank 4 – Tall as the Noble Pine

Your size category increases to Large. Unlike normal for increasing your size, this does not increase your base speed. You also gain a +1 bonus to your Strength, and a -1 penalty to your Dexterity.

Rank 5 – Nourishing Ingrain+

The healing from your nourishing ingrain ability increases to three times your rank in this archetype. In addition, removing a condition with that ability no longer increases your fatigue level.

Rank 6 – Sturdy as the Mighty Oak+

The durability bonus increases to +5.

Rank 7 – Tall as the Noble Pine+

Your size category increases to Huge. This increases your base speed to 40 feet. Your normal movement speed is still only 30 feet due to the penalty from unhurried and unfaltering. The modifiers to Strength and Dexterity increase to +2 and -2, respectively.

Tiefling

Tieflings are humanoid creatures descended from fiends. They inherit a tendency towards evil from their ancestors, and are therefore viewed with great suspicion by most civilized societies. Good-aligned tieflings exist, but they may have difficulty using their natural talents for subterfuge and deceit for noble ends, and they often struggle with hidden vices.

Size: Medium.

Attributes: No change.

Special Abilities:

- Darkvision: Tieflings have darkvision with a 60 foot range, allowing them to see in complete darkness (see Darkvision, page 588).

- Demonic Prejudice: Most people have negative associations with tieflings thanks to the malign influence that demons have on the world. Tieflings have an Opposition relationship with most people that they meet, which influences people's behavior and makes Persuasion checks harder (see Persuasion, page 140). People in some locations, such as the Abyss, do not have this attitude.
- Hellfire Tolerance: Tieflings are impervious (+4 defenses) to Fire attacks.
- Infernal Presence: Tieflings gain a +2 bonus to the Deception and Intimidate skills.
- Tiefling Archetype: You may choose three class archetypes, as normal. However, you may choose the Tiefling archetype in place of one of your class archetypes. If you do, you gain ranks in it just like you gain ranks in class archetypes. You cannot choose tiefling as your base class.

Automatic Languages: Abyssal, Common, any one common language.

Tiefling Archetype

Rank 1 – Abyssal Hop ✨

Abyssal Hop ✨

Standard action

Tags: Fire

You teleport horizontally into an unoccupied location within Short (30 ft.) range on a stable surface that can support your weight. If the destination is invalid, this spell fails with no effect. In addition, make an attack vs. Reflex against each enemy adjacent to your location after you arrive.

Hit: 1d4 damage + half power.

Miss: Half damage.

Rank 2: The base damage increases to 1d6.

Rank 3: The damage bonus from your power increases to be equal to your power.

Rank 4: The base damage increases to 1d8.

Rank 5: The base damage increases to 2d6.

Rank 6: The damage bonus increases to 1d6 per 2 power.

Rank 7: The damage bonus increases to 1d8 per 2 power.

Rank 2 – Infernal Ancestry ✨

You deepen your connection to a particular aspect of your demonic ancestry. Choose one of the following infernal ancestries: hellfire conduit, tempting allure, or unholy might. You gain a benefit based on your chosen ancestry.

- Hellfire Conduit: You gain a +1 bonus to your magical power. In addition, when you use your abyssal hop ability, it deals damage to each enemy in a Small (15 ft.) radius from your arrival location.
- Tempting Allure: You gain a +2 bonus to the Deception, Disguise, and Persuasion skills.
- Unholy Might: You gain two claw natural weapons and one bite natural weapon (see Natural Weapons, page 156). In addition, you gain a +1 bonus to your mundane power.

Rank 3 – Abysswalker ✨

Once per phase, you can teleport horizontally instead of moving using your walk speed. Teleporting a given distance costs movement equal to twice that distance. If this teleportation fails for any reason, you still expend that movement.

Rank 4 – Infernal Ancestry+ ✨

The benefits of your infernal ancestry ability improve.

- Hellfire Conduit: If your abyssal hop ability also hits a target's Fortitude defense, you can repeat the attack against that target during your next action.
- Tempting Allure: You can charm creatures.

Charming Temptation ✨

Standard action

Tags: Emotion, Subtle

Make an attack vs. Mental against a humanoid creature within Medium (60 ft.) range. You take a -10 penalty to accuracy with this attack against creatures that have made an attack or been attacked since the start of the last round.

Hit: The target is charmed (friendly with charmer) by you until it takes a long rest. Any act by you or by creatures that appear to be your allies that threatens or harms the charmed person breaks the effect. Harming the target is not limited to dealing it damage, but also includes causing it significant subjective discomfort. An observant target may interpret overt threats to its allies as a threat to itself.

The attack's accuracy increases by +2 for each rank beyond 4.

- Unholy Might: When you use your abyssal hop ability as a standard action, you can also make a mundane strike at your destination.

Rank 5 – Infernal Resilience

You gain a +1 bonus to your Fortitude, Reflex, and Mental defenses.

Rank 6 – Abysswalker+ ✨

Teleporting a given distance only costs movement equal to that distance. In addition, you can teleport in this way any number of times per phase.

Rank 7 – Infernal Ancestry++ ✨

The benefits of your infernal ancestry ability reach their peak.

- Hellfire Conduit: The magical power bonus increases to +2. In addition, your abyssal hop ability also affects enemies in a Small (15 ft.) radius from your starting point. Creatures in both areas are still only affected by the ability once.
- Tempting Allure: The skill bonuses from your infernal ancestry ability increase to +4.

- Unholy Might: The mundane power bonus increases to +2. In addition, the damage dealt by the strike after you use abyssal hop is doubled.

Troll

Trolls are large, ugly giants with tusks. They are famous for their supernatural regeneration abilities. A troll can survive even dismemberment, regrowing severed limbs over time. Most trolls have green skin, though other earthy skin tones are also possible.

Trolls naturally grows lichen or other fungus on their bodies in addition to hair. The patterns and type of fungus depends on the troll. Some trolls prefer to style or entirely remove their surface fungus, just like humans may style or remove their hair.

The body of a troll is suffused with fungus that is unique to troll biology. This fungus grants trolls their incredible healing abilities. However, it can be destroyed by fire and acid once exposed, leading to the troll's true death. Trolls can also be killed by pulverizing the body to an extreme extent, leaving nothing sufficiently intact to regenerate from.

Creature Type: Unlike most other playable species, trolls are monstrous humanoids instead of humanoids.

Size: Medium.

Attributes: +1 Strength, +1 Constitution, -1 Intelligence, -1 Perception.

Special Abilities:

- Bite: Trolls have a bite natural weapon (see Table 9.6: Natural Weapons, page 163).
- Fungal Resilience: Trolls are impervious \(+4 defenses\) to Poison attacks.
- Fungal Vulnerabilities: Trolls are vulnerable \(-4 defenses\) to Acid and Fire attacks.
- Hard to Kill: Trolls cannot be killed unless their body is almost entirely destroyed. If they would die from a vital wound effect of -5 or higher, they instead simply stay unconscious until the vital wound is healed. While they are unconscious in this way, if they take any damage from a Acid or Fire ability, they immediately die.
- Subspecies: Every troll has a particular subspecies with specific effects, listed below.

Cave: Cave trolls are accustomed to life in deep caves. They have darkvision with a 60 foot range, allowing them to see in complete darkness (see Darkvision, page 588). In addition, they gain a +2 bonus to the Stealth skill.

Forest: Forest trolls are smaller and crafier than other trolls. They gain a +1 bonus to their Intelligence, but take a -1 penalty to their Strength. In addition, they gain a +2 bonus to any one Craft skill.

Mountain: Mountain trolls are larger and stronger than even other trolls. They gain a +1 bonus to their Strength for the purpose of determining their weight limits (see Weight Limits, page 15).

Scrag: Scrag trolls prefer to live in water, though they can breathe air and move on land. They gain a +3 bonus to the Endurance and Swim skills, and they can hold their breath for ten times the normal limit (see Common Endurance Tasks, page 136).

- Troll Archetype: Trolls only gain two class archetypes instead of three. Instead, they treat the Troll archetype as one of their archetypes, and they gain ranks in it just like they gain ranks in class archetypes.

Automatic Languages: Common, Giant.

Troll Archetype

Rank 1 – Regeneration

At the end of each round, if you did not take damage from a Acid or Fire ability that round, you regain hit points equal to your rank in this archetype.

Rank 2 – Tough Hide

You gain a +2 bonus to your durability. In addition, you gain a +1 bonus to your vital rolls (see Vital Wounds, page 30).

Rank 3 – Subspecies Specialization

Rank 5 – Hulking Size

Your size category increases to Large. This increases your base speed to 40 feet, among other effects (see Size and Weight, page 15).

You have the following class skills:

Vampire

A vampire is an undead creature that must drink the blood of living creatures to survive. Unlike most undead creatures, vampires appear to be alive and human, allowing them to act normally in society. Vampires have great power, but also many dangerous weaknesses.

The unusual blend of life and death in a vampire comes from the strange disease of vampirism. This blood-transmitted disease attacks the brain of an infected creature. Such destruction is lethal, and it does cause the death of the original creature's mind. However, the disease also takes over and replaces most of the brain's autonomous functions. The creature's heart keeps pumping, it continues to breathe, and so on, giving the dead creature a convincing imitation of life. Vampires are generally pale thanks to their poor circulation, but not impossibly so. If the disease is somehow cured, the vampire immediately dies.

The half-death inflicted by vampirism can be confusing for a creature's soul. Although most of the soul passes on to its normal afterlife, fragments remain behind and cling to their original body. These give a newly born vampire a hint of its original personality, but only a hint.

A newly born vampire, called a vampire spawn, does not have a full, independent soul. Its will is completely bound to the vampire that created it, called its sire. The sire's soul invades and replaces the vacuum left behind when the vampire's original soul was fractured by death and fled to the afterlife.

Over time, by feeding on blood to strengthen its body, a vampire spawn can connect more deeply to its original soul. If allowed and guided by its sire, it can become strong enough to wrest the rest of its soul back from its afterlife. This unifies the creature's soul and makes it a new entity fully independent from its sire. A fully ensouled vampire is called a true vampire.

Only true vampires can create new vampire spawn. Since each spawn claims a piece of its sire's soul to sustain its capacity for thought and action, most vampires can create few spawn at once, or else they risk losing their will. Despite this risk, many true vampires do not permit their spawn to become ensouled. Instead, they may prefer to maintain a small handful of spawn to serve them with no possibility of betrayal. A vampire with a soul powerful enough to command many dependent spawn is called a vampire lord.

Creature Type: Unlike most other playable species, vampires are undead instead of humanoids.

Size: Medium.

Attributes: +1 Strength and Dexterity, -1 Constitution.

Special Abilities:

- Climb Speed: Vampires have a climb speed 10 feet slower than their base speed.
- Darkvision: Vampires have darkvision with a 90 foot range, allowing them to see in complete darkness (see Darkvision, page 588).
- Fangs: Vampires have a bite natural weapon (see Table 9.6: Natural Weapons, page 163). These fangs retract when not in use, so vampires cannot be identified as non-human by their fangs unless they choose to expose them.
- Undead: Vampires are undead instead of living, and they take damage from most healing effects (see Undead, page 590)). Since they are not living, they are immune to Poison effects.
- Unnatural Life: Unlike most undead creatures, vampires share some aspects of living creatures. They must breathe air, and they must sleep as much as humans do. They are humanoid, have blood, and visibly bleed when injured.
- Unnatural Charm: Vampires gain a +2 bonus to the Persuasion skill.
- Vampire Archetype: Vampires only gain two class archetypes instead of three. Instead, they treat the Vampire archetype as one of their archetypes, and they gain ranks in it just like they gain ranks in class archetypes.

Vampire Weaknesses ✨: Vampires have a number of specific weaknesses. Many vampire weaknesses trigger on exposure to particular substances or circumstances. These weaknesses trigger immediately upon first contact, and are repeated at the start of each action phase in subsequent rounds as long as the vampire remains exposed.

- Blood Dependence: For every 24 hours that a vampire remains awake without ingesting at least one pint of blood from living creatures, its maximum hit points are reduced by 20. If its maximum hit points are reduced to 0 in this way, it dies and withers away into a pile of ash. This penalty is removed as soon as the vampire drinks a pint of blood. A vampire can enter a torpor to survive without blood. While in a torpor, it is unconscious until it smells blood nearby. It can survive while in torpor for a number of consecutive centuries equal to its rank before it withers away to dust.
- Consecrated Ground: A vampire in consecrated ground takes 20 damage and becomes stunned (-2 defenses) as a condition if it is not already stunned.
- Garlic: A vampire that smells garlic becomes frightened (-2 Mental, -2 accuracy vs. source) by any creatures bearing garlic as a condition. In addition, creatures that have eaten garlic recently are treated as not having blood for the purpose of a vampire's abilities, so their blood cannot be drained.
- Holy Water: A vampire that touches holy water takes 20 damage and becomes stunned (-2 defenses) as a condition if it is not already stunned.

- Running Water: A vampire that touches or passes over running water takes 10 damage and briefly becomes helpless (-8 Armor and Ref, can't move). This applies as long as the vampire is within 100 feet of the running water, even the water is underground or under a bridge. It can use the struggle ability to move despite being helpless, but only towards the closest shore.
- Silver: Vampires are vulnerable (-4 defenses) to strikes using silver weapons.
- Sunlight: A vampire that touches sunlight takes 20 damage and becomes blinded (50% miss chance, -2 defenses) as a condition if it is not already blinded.
- Unmirrored: Vampires have no reflection in mirrors, including their clothes and equipment. This can allow careful observers to identify vampires.
- Wooden Stakes: If a vampire is injured by a critical strike using a wooden stake, the stake becomes impaled in its heart. The vampire becomes helpless (-8 Armor and Ref, can't move) until the stake is removed. A wooden stake is a Light improvised weapon that deals 1d4 damage.

Vampire Archetype

Rank 1 – Blood Drain

Whenever you injure a creature with blood using your bite natural weapon, you can increase your fatigue level by one. If you do, you regain hit points at the end of the round. The recovery is equal to the hit points the target lost from the strike, ignoring negative hit points and any damage increase from critical hits.

Unless otherwise specified, all living creatures have blood. Some nonliving creatures, such as vampires, also have blood.

Rank 2 – Gentle Fangs

Whenever you deal damage using your bite natural weapon, you can choose not to reduce the target's hit points below 0, or you can treat the damage as subdual damage. In addition, damage dealt using your bite natural weapon does not wake sleeping creatures unless you inflict a vital wound.

Rank 2 – Sheltering Coffin ✶

You can designate a coffin as your home coffin by completing a long rest in it every day for a week. When you take a long rest in your home coffin, you recover two vital wounds instead of one. In addition, you can cross running water without penalty while in your home coffin. You can only have one home coffin at a time.

Rank 3 – Charming Gaze ✶

Charming Gaze ✶

Standard action

Tags: Emotion, Subtle, Sustain (minor), Visual

Make an attack vs. Mental against all humanoid creatures and undead creatures in a Medium (30 ft.) cone from you. You take a -10 penalty to accuracy with this attack against creatures who have made an attack or been attacked since the start of the last round.

Hit: The target is charmed (friendly with charmer) by you. Any act by you or by creatures that appear to be your allies that threatens or harms the charmed person breaks the effect. Harming the target is not limited to dealing it damage, but also includes causing it significant subjective discomfort. An observant target may interpret overt threats to its allies as a threat to itself.

The attack's accuracy increases by +2 for each rank beyond 3.

Rank 4 – Creature of the Night ✶

Creature of the Night ★	Standard action
Tags: Attune
You shapeshift into the form of a Tiny bat, a Medium cloud of mist, or your normal humanoid form.
• Bat: While in your bat form, you gain blindsight (120 ft.) and blindsight (30 ft.). You cannot speak and have no free hands . All of your normal movement modes are replaced with an average fly speed with a 60 ft. height limit.
• Mist: While in your mist form, you become floating , intangible , and legless . You cannot speak and have no free hands . All of your normal movement modes are replaced with a slow fly speed with a 30 foot height limit (see Flight, page 36).
In either non-humanoid form, you are unable to take any standard actions, but you can still take move actions in place of standard actions. Since you have no walk speed in those forms, flying does not make you unsteady (-2 accuracy, Armor, Brawn, Ref). You cannot use this ability while helpless (-8 Armor and Ref, can't move).

Rank 5 – Reviving Coffin

Your home coffin can revive you from death. As long as some part of your corpse, even just a pinch of ash, is placed inside your home coffin, you will resurrect there after 24 hours. Only the destruction of your home coffin or the total annihilation of your corpse can prevent your return.

Rank 5 – Unholy Resilience

You gain a +1 bonus to your Armor, Brawn, Reflex, and Mental defenses. However, you take a -2 penalty to your Fortitude defense.

Rank 6 – Dominating Gaze

Dominating Gaze ★	Standard action
Tags: Emotion, Visual
Make an attack vs. Mental against all humanoid enemies and undead enemies within a Medium (30 ft.) cone from you.
• Hit: If the target is injured or its character rank is at least 2 lower than yours, it is confused (-2 defenses, randomly attack or defend) as a condition .
• Critical hit: If the target was already confused from a previous use of this ability, you may attune to this ability. When you do, the target becomes dominated (must obey commands) by you for the duration of that attunement. This attunement only allows you to control one creature, not each target of this spell, and you can only attune to this effect once.

The attack's accuracy increases by +2 for each rank beyond 6.

Rank 7 – Blood Drain

You can use this ability without increasing your fatigue level. After you do, you briefly cannot do so again.

Rank 7 – Reviving Coffin

You can designate up to five home coffins, rather than only one. This can allow you to travel with one coffin while keeping others safe for emergencies.

Appendix E

Ship Combat

Normally, combat that happens on ships is resolved through local-scale combat rules. These rules work best if boarding actions are common, and if the main threat comes from other characters. If you aren't running a full naval campaign, these rules are generally fine, and most GMs will just handwave the initial exchange of fire between ships before they get in range for boarding actions. However, it can be useful to have more comprehensive rules for ship combat, where ships themselves frequently deal and suffer damage.

This chapter presents optional rules to govern ship-based combat. They are designed to still emphasize the importance of individual player actions. It is primarily intended for naval campaigns where the players are important crew members and ship combat is expected to be common. These rules could also be used for other types of vehicles, such as flying ships or zeppelins.

Ship Statistics

Ships use the same basic framework for calculating their statistics as monsters. A ship has a level that indicates its general power. This represents the sophistication of its construction, the strength of its weaponry, the general competence of its crew, and similar factors.

A ship's level determines its hit points, accuracy, defenses, and power, as indicated in the table below. Ships have the same roles as monsters (see Monster Roles, page ??). Unlike monsters, ships do not naturally increase their attributes with level. Instead, their attributes increase based on their crew. For details, see Ship Attributes, page 630.

Ship Hit Points

Ships have hit points, just like characters. A ship's base hit points are based on its level, as listed in Table E.1: Ship Statistics, page 628. In addition, a ship gains a bonus based on its Constitution, as listed in Ship Attributes, page 630. Armor can also increase a ship's hit points as listed in Ship Armor, page 631. Ships do not have an injury point and cannot be injured.

Elite Ships

Some ships are designated "elite" ships. Elite ships are approximately four times as strong as an ordinary ship. They have a number of benefits and modifiers which make them superior to ordinary ships:

- Elite ships gain a +2 bonus to their power and all defenses.
- Elite ships have three times the hit points of standard ships.
- Elite ships can take an additional elite action each round, just like elite monsters.
- Elite ships automatically remove conditions, just like elite monsters (see Monster Conditions, page 477).

Ship Resources and Strain

Ships do not have normal resources like characters do, such as fatigue and insight points. However, ships do have a strain level. This functions similarly to a character's fatigue level. Some crew roles have special abilities that can increase a ship's strain level in exchange for beneficial effects (see Crew Roles, page 634).

A ship's strain tolerance is equal to its Strength + its Willpower. Ships take a penalty to their accuracy and defenses equal to their strain level – their strain tolerance.

Taking Ship Damage

Ships suffer damage and vital wounds much like characters do.

Ship Vital Wounds

Ships gain vital wounds just like characters (see Vital Wounds, page 30). However, ships have different vital wound effects.

Table E.2: Ship Vital Wound Effects

Vital Roll	Effect
0 or less	The ship gains a leak (see Taking On Water, page 629)
1	The ship takes a -2 penalty to future vital rolls
2	The ship's weapons take a -1 penalty to accuracy
3	The ship has a -10 foot penalty to its speed with all movement modes
4	The ship's turning cost increases by 10 feet
5	The ship takes a -1 penalty to all defenses
6	The ship takes a -2 penalty to its Brawn defense
7	The ship takes a -2 penalty to its Fortitude defense
8	The ship takes a -2 penalty to its Reflex defense
9	The ship takes a -2 penalty to its Mental defense
10 or more	No extra vital wound effect

Taking On Water

Damaged ships can begin taking on water through leaks. This will eventually sink the ship without intervention by its crew. However, even a hole in the hull is not necessarily fatal to a ship. With constant effort to remove excess water, a crew can often keep a ship afloat long enough to repair it or reach dry land.

Time to Sink

A Medium ship with a leak becomes unusable after ten minutes. After that point, the crew cannot perform any ship tasks, and the ship is immobile in the water except for natural drifting. It generally takes another ten minutes for the ship to fully sink. For each size category larger than Medium, the time required for the ship to become unusable and sink increases, as described below:

- Medium: Ten minutes
- Large: Thirty minutes
- Huge: One hour
- Gargantuan: Two hours
- Colossal: Four hours

- Behemoth: Eight hours
- Titan: One day

Each additional leak multiplies the rate that the ship sinks. For example, a ship with three leaks would sink three times faster.

Bailing the Ship

A ship's crew can remove water from the ship to keep it from sinking. In general, it takes one quarter of the ship's minimum crew, working constantly, to counteract incoming water from one leak. This simply maintains the amount of water currently in the ship. With twice that many crew dedicated to the task of bailing, existing water in the ship can be removed at the same rate that a leak would add water in, allowing the crew to catch up on existing leaks.

Repairing Ships

Unlike characters, ships do not automatically heal over time. Significant ship damage can be both time-consuming and expensive to repair.

Ships are assumed to have one repair crew that can only perform one repair task at a time. For large ships, that repair crew may have many members, but they can still only perform one repair task at a time. A skilled fixer can reduce repair times (see Crew Roles, page 634). At the GM's discretion, a relevant Craft skill check by a crew member can also reduce repair times.

Short Repair

The repair crew of a ship can execute a short repair with one hour of work and no significant material cost. This sets the ship's strain level to zero.

Long Repair

The repair crew of a ship can execute a long repair with eight hours of work. This requires a relevant Craft extended check with a difficulty value equal to $5 + \text{the ship's item rank}$. If the ship is docked for repair, the repair crew automatically rolls a 10 on this check. A successful long repair fully restores the ship's hit points and sets its strain level to zero.

A long repair costs materials worth one consumable item with a rank that is two ranks lower than the ship's item rank. If you are using gold pieces, this roughly translates to a repair cost equal to one hundredth of the ship's total value. These repair materials can be prepurchased so they are available on the ship when it needs to be repaired. Ships that do not have these repair materials on hand must find a dock.

Vital Repair

The repair crew of a ship can execute a vital repair with 24 hours of work. This requires a relevant Craft extended check with a difficulty value equal to $10 + \text{the ship's item rank}$. If the ship is docked for repair, the repair crew automatically rolls a 10 on this check. A successful vital repair removes one vital wound.

A vital repair costs materials worth one consumable item with a rank that is one rank lower than the ship's item rank. If you are using gold pieces, this roughly translates to a repair cost equal to one twentieth of the ship's total value. These repair materials can be prepurchased so they are available on the ship when it needs to be repaired. Ships that do not have these repair materials on hand must find a dock.

Ship Attributes

Unlike characters, ships normally have no Intelligence attribute. However, they have Strength, Dexterity, Constitution, Perception, and Willpower attributes. These represent slightly different narrative concepts than they do for characters.

In general, a ship's attributes represent a combination of its physical properties and the effectiveness of its crew. A highly advanced ship may still have low attributes when its crew is inexperienced or incompetent.

Extremely rare magical ships may have an animating mind that can control the ship. For details, see Intelligent Ships, page 630.

Attribute Descriptions

Strength

Strength measures the power of a ship's physical weapons. Ships with a high Strength have more damaging weapons, and a crew capable of keeping those weapons working effectively. Ships with a low Strength have ineffective weaponry, or a crew that services those weapons poorly. Strength has the following effects on ships:

- Ships add their Strength to their mundane power.
- Ships add their Strength to their strain tolerance.
- Ships add their Strength to their Brawn defense.

Unlike characters, a ship's Strength does not affect its carrying capacity. That is calculated entirely from its physical size and shape.

Dexterity

Dexterity measures a ship's agility. Ships with a high Dexterity can turn more sharply to avoid incoming fire and may be faster in short bursts. Ships with a low Dexterity are lumbering and slow to change direction, making them easy targets. Dexterity has the following effects on ships:

- Ships add their Dexterity to their Armor defense. This bonus can be reduced if the ship has medium or heavy armor (see Ship Armor, page 631).
- Ships add their Dexterity to their Reflex defense.

As with characters, a ship's Dexterity does not affect its overall speed, simply its combat maneuverability.

Constitution

Constitution measures a ship's general toughness. Ships with a high Constitution are heavily reinforced and well crafted from sturdy materials. Ships with a low Constitution fall apart more easily, either because their construction is poor or because they were made from weak materials. Constitution has the following effects on ships:

- Ships add their Constitution to their hit points. At level 4, this bonus increases to twice the ship's Constitution. At level 7, this bonus increases to three times the ship's Constitution. At level 10, this bonus increases to four times the ship's Constitution. At level 13, this bonus increases to six times the ship's Constitution. At level 16, this bonus increases to eight times the ship's Constitution. At level 19, this bonus increases to ten times the ship's Constitution.
- Ships add their Constitution to their Fortitude defense.

Perception

Perception measures a ship's awareness and precision. Ships with a high Perception have effective lookouts, excellent gunners, and weapons which are capable of swiftly repositioning for precise attacks. Ships with a low Perception are either unable to effectively observe their surroundings or unable to react effectively to those observations. Perception has the following effects on ships:

- Ships add their Perception to their level to determine their accuracy with almost all attacks (see Accuracy, page 13).

Willpower

Willpower measures the morale and emotional steadiness of a ship's crew. Ships with a high Willpower are better able to resist setbacks and frightening encounters. Ships with a low Willpower may panic and be driven off easily. Willpower has the following effects on ships:

- Ships add their Willpower to their Mental defense.
- Ships add their Willpower to their strain tolerance.

Willpower is the attribute which is most affected by a ship's current crew.

Determining Ship Attributes

As with characters, ships can use a predefined attribute array or an 8-point point buy to calculate their attributes. A ship's attributes can be further increased by crew roles and ship enhancements (see Crew Roles, page 634, and Ship Enhancements, page 632). However, normal ships do not have an Intelligence value, so you can't increase a ship's Intelligence unless it is specifically an intelligent ship.

Intelligent Ships

Intelligence measures a ship's capability for thought and internal control. Normal ships have no Intelligence, and a ship's crew does not affect its Intelligence.

Intelligent ships have a number of skill points equal to $3 + \text{their Intelligence}$. These trained skills apply to any ship-related checks that the ship might make. Ships cannot make skill checks for skills that they are not trained in. For example, a ship that was trained in Awareness could be its own lookout, but a ship without Awareness trained would not be able to independently perceive its external surroundings.

In addition, each point of intelligence above -4 contributes a number of effective crew members to the ship's operation equal to a quarter of the ship's minimum crew requirements. For example, a ship with an Intelligence of 0 would require no crew members to meet its minimum for navigation. A ship with an Intelligence of 4 would have a total automatic crew count equal to twice its minimum crew.

Ship Size

A ship's size does not directly affect its statistics. However, it has many effects on the ship's functionality. Larger ships are much more capable than smaller ships. Some of these effects are listed below in Table E.3: Ship Size. In addition, advanced ship weapons often require a minimum ship size (see Ship Weapons, page 631).

Ships can be larger than Colossal, which is the largest size category defined for ordinary creatures and objects. To track ship size beyond the limits of Colossal, additional Behemoth and Titan categories are listed below. As usual, each size category represents a doubling of each dimension, and an eightfold increase in weight. Titan ships are unlikely to be present at all in many universes, and they require advanced metallurgy or magic to create. The GM can decide whether their world is advanced enough to construct such monstrosities.

Some examples of ships of a given size are given below. Since ships are typically named for their function and structure, not their size, this is only a rough guide.

- Medium: Kayak, canoe
- Large: Dinghy, outrigger canoe, punt, skiff
- Huge: Felucca, lifeboat
- Gargantuan: Longship, keelboat
- Colossal: Clipper, galleon

Ship Shapes

Most large ships are long and narrow. When determining their size category of such a ship, use a size one category smaller than the ship's largest dimension. For example, ship that is 200 feet long and 40 feet wide would be considered Colossal.

Ship Movement

This section defines the rules that ships use to move, which are not identical to character movement. Real ships have a great deal of momentum, and their movement speed and direction cannot be quickly adjusted. This is too much of a hassle to represent fully, so Rise uses significantly simplified ship movement mechanics. However, ships still have more movement constraints than characters, including a concept of ship heading.

Ship Heading

A ship's heading always points in one of the eight standard cardinal directions: north, northeast, east, and so on. Forward-moving ships can only move within a 90 degree cone centered on their heading. For example, a ship with a heading of north could travel northwest or northeast, but not west or east.

Turning

A ship can change its heading by turning. Each ship has a turning cost based on its size. That cost is the number of feet that a ship must spend out of its movement to turn by 45 degrees. A ship can pay its turning cost twice, allowing it to rotate more quickly while typically making little or no forward progress.

Reversing

A ship can travel in reverse, allowing it to move within a 90 degree cone centered around the opposite direction of its heading. This has two restrictions. First, the ship must not have used more than half its movement during the previous round to travel forward. Second, the ship's speed is halved while travelling in reverse.

Movement Timing

Ships automatically move up to their movement speed during the movement phase. They cannot move during the action phase.

Ship Armor

Like characters, ships can have varying degrees of armor. Typically, even a heavily armored ship will not be literally covered in metal sheets. Instead, ship armor represents a heavily reinforced hull and extra layers of bracing and redundant infrastructure.

There are three types of ship armor.

- Light armor: Lightly armored ships are the default. They gain no special benefits or penalties.
- Medium armor: Ships with medium armor gain a +2 bonus to Armor defense. In addition, they have 50% more hit points than a normal ship. However, they add only half their Dexterity bonus to their Armor defense. In addition, their movement speed is calculated as if they were one size category smaller (see Ship Size, page 631). Only Huge and larger ships can have medium armor.
- Heavy armor: Ships with heavy armor gain a +3 bonus to Armor defense. In addition, they have twice the hit points of a normal ship. However, they do not add their Dexterity bonus to their armor defense. In addition, their movement speed is calculated as if they were two size categories smaller (see Ship Size, page 631). Only Gargantuan and larger ships can have heavy armor.

Ship Weapons

Ships depend on having powerful weapons even more than martial characters do. They use weapon upgrades as their primary method of scaling damage rather than maneuvers or other special attacks. The number of weapons a ship can have is limited based on its size, as seen in Table E.3: Ship Size, page 632.

There are two ways that a GM can choose to use ship weapons. Real siege weapons used on ships had high crew requirements,

Table E.3: Ship Size

1. This range indicates the number of crew members that meaningfully contribute to the ship's functions, not the ship's maximum carrying capacity including passengers and cargo. It is either difficult or impossible to adequately control a large ship with less than the minimum crew listed here. Individual ships may have higher minimum crew requirements or lower maximum allowable crew based on their structure, at the GM's discretion.
2. A typical ship is long and narrow. Its overall size category is one smaller than its length would indicate.
3. If the ship is Elite, increase its item rank by an additional +1.

slow firing rates, and extreme range. In practice, this can reduce ship combat to a tedious process of tracking reload times across multiple weapons and carefully maneuvering ship range to optimize the use of varying weapon types. For GMs who want more realistic and unique ship combat, use the weapons listed in Table E.5: Realistic Ship Weapons, page 633. For GMs who want ship combat to feel simpler and more similar to regular combat, use the weapons listed in Table E.4: Simplified Ship Weapons, page 633.

The simplified ship weapons listed in the table normally attack Armor defense. Magical simplified ship weapons use the same statistics as regular ship weapons, except that they have the Fixed (200) and Mystic tags instead of Projectile (200/600). In addition, they can attack Brawn, Fortitude, Reflex, or Mental defense instead of Armor defense.

Ship Weapon Tags

Some weapon tags only apply to ship weapons.

Fixed: This weapon has a single fixed range limit. That number is given in parentheses, such as Fixed (200), and represents a number of feet of range. The weapon never suffers a longshot penalty, but it cannot be used at all outside of its listed range.

Mystic: This weapon can only be crewed by creatures capable of casting spells. The minimum spell rank of each creature must be no more than two lower than this weapon's item rank.

Slow Load: This weapon requires multiple rounds to load before it can fire. The number of rounds required to finish loading before it can be fired is indicated in its description. For example, a weapon with Slow Load (1) could be fired every other round. Only rounds where the weapon is being fully crewed count towards this load time.

Volatile: This weapon must be fired immediately after being loaded. If it is not fired during the round after its loading time is completed, the loading is wasted, and the weapon must be loaded again before it can fire.

Ship Enhancements

Ships can have enhancements to improve their functionality other than weapons and armor. These enhancements are listed in Table E.6: Ship Enhancements.

A ship can have a total number of enhancements equal to its item rank. It can have any number of enhancements with the same name. However, all bonuses from ship enhancements are enhancement bonuses, so bonuses to the same statistic do not stack.

Ships Fighting Non-Ships

In some cases, ships might enter combat against non-ship foes. Ships take one tenth of the normal damage from non-ship attacks, rounded down as usual, so minor attacks will not even scratch them. Since ships are not creatures and are not alive, many special attacks have no effect on them. They also cannot gain conditions from non-ship attacks by any means.

Ship Weapons

Ship weapons deal triple damage to non-ship targets, and gain the Massive weapon tag based on the ship's size:

- Huge: Massive (10)
- Gargantuan Massive (15)
- Colossal Massive (20)
- Behemoth Massive (25)
- Titan Massive (30)

Massive: This weapon hits everything in a cube-shaped area. Attacks with it are not targeted, so they are not affected by miss chances. A miss with a Massive weapon still deals half damage. Massive weapons have a measurement that indicates the length of each side of the cube in feet, such as Massive (10).

Ships and Gunpowder

In general, Rise avoids the use of guns and gunpowder. Those inventions do not fit into the traditional fantasy setting that Rise is built on, which emphasizes swords and bows and magic. For similar reasons, the ranged weapons of ships can be defined entirely with non-gunpowder weaponry common in the ancient world. These would include ballistas, catapults, scorpions, and similar siege weaponry.

However, narrative tropes for ships and naval campaigns often have a more technology-heavy basis, with cannons and full broadsides. These stories tend to draw inspiration from the Age of Sail and Golden Age of Piracy rather than medieval folklore. It can feel intuitively plausible to have cannons used as ship weaponry even when guns are never used by individuals.

The default names for ship weapons assume that gunpowder is not being used. If technology has advanced to the point that gunpowder weapons are possible, you can assume that hull reinforcement has also increased at the same rate. You just need to change the name of the weapons for ship vs ship combat to match your preferred technology level. More advanced weaponry is more generally effective against non-ship targets, however. If you use gunpowder-based ship weapons, they deal double damage against non-ship targets.

Crew Roles

Ships depend on their crew to function. There are many jobs that are necessary to make large ships function, including sailors, rowers, cooks, pages, and more. Fully defining life on a ship is outside the scope of this brief introduction to ship combat. However, some roles have outsized influence on the ship's effectiveness, such as the ship's captain and pilot. These roles provide a way for player characters to meaningfully influence the outcome of ship battles, even if their personal combat talents are irrelevant at that scale.

Each crew role defined here functions like a class archetype, with seven progression ranks. A character can have any number of crew roles, but they can only fulfill one role at a time on a ship. In general, your highest crew role rank should not be significantly higher or lower than your highest rank in a class archetype, but they do not have to be kept exactly in sync. The GM can decide whether your crew role rank increases in lockstep with your class archetype rank, or whether it increases based on other factors. This could include practice and time spent on a ship, or money spent to buy ship improvements necessary to improve your crew role rank.

Crew role ranks are limited by ship quality. Even the best pilot cannot dodge incoming fire with ease on a lifeboat. The maximum crew role rank for all crew on a ship is equal to the ship's item rank (see Wealth and Item Ranks, page 153).

A sufficiently large ship can have more than one member of each crew role. This does not mean that the ship literally has multiple captains or pilots. Instead, the ship would have a hierarchy. It might have a boatswain and boatswain's mate, or a pilot and pilot's mate, with both characters able to fully use their crew role abilities. Colossal ships can have two people for each crew role, Behemoth ships can have three, and Titan ships can have four.

Boatswain

This role is responsible for coordinating the ship's crew. It involves tracking everything that is happening on the ship and knowing where and how to intervene.

Rank 1 – Ensure Competence

Whenever a crew member on the ship makes a ship-related check that you are aware of, you can increase your fatigue level by two. If you do, that creature gains the benefit of the desperate exertion ability on that check (see Desperate Exertion, page 37). It still cannot apply that ability twice to the same check.

Rank 2 – Specialized Encouragement

Specialized Encouragement	Standard action
You choose one of the following benefits: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Evasion: The ship briefly gains a +1 bonus to all defenses. Travel: The ship briefly gains a +10 foot bonus to its movement speed. Weapons: Attacks with the ship's weapons briefly gain a +1 accuracy bonus. Desperate Rally: The ship briefly gains the Evasion, Travel, and Weapons benefits from this ability. However, it increases its strain level by one. You can only use this ability while you are in an appropriate location so that relevant crew can see or hear you. Changing your location to be able to provide a different benefit with this ability typically takes one full round of movement for each size category by which the ship is larger than Huge. Specific ships may be easier or more difficult to navigate, at the GM's discretion. You cannot provide more than one benefit with this ability at once, even if you are perfectly located on the ship.

Rank 3 – Collective Effort

Each other crew member who can see or hear you gains a +1 bonus to ship-related checks. If you are trained in a skill that a crew member is using to make a check, they gain a +2 bonus from this ability instead of +1.

Rank 4 – Encouraging Presence

The ship gains a +1 bonus to its Willpower.

Rank 5 – Ensure Competence+

When you use this ability to affect a creature other than yourself, you only increase your fatigue level by one.

Rank 6 – Specialized Encouragement+

The bonuses you provide from this ability increase:

- Evasion: The defense bonus increases to +2.
- Travel: The ship's turning cost is reduced by 10 feet, to a minimum of 10 feet.
- Weapons: The accuracy bonus increases to +2.

Rank 7 – Collective Effort+

The bonus increases to +2, or to +4 for skills that you are trained in.

Fixer

This role is responsible for maintaining the ship's physical infrastructure. It represents a combination of carpentry, caulking, and similar repair jobs. In order to take this role on a ship, you must have at least one Craft skill relevant to the ship's construction.

Rank 1 – Quick Patch

As a standard action, you can attempt to patch the ship's defenses. This requires a Craft check relevant to the ship. The difficulty value is equal to $5 + 5$ for each time that you have used that same Craft skill with this ability since the ship's last short repair. Success means that the ship regains hit points equal to three times your rank in this crew role.

Rank 2 – Temporary Seal

You can make a Craft check relevant to the ship to temporarily stop a leak in a ship without expensive materials. The difficulty value is equal to $10 + 10$ for each time that you have used that same Craft skill with this ability since the ship's last vital repair. Success means that the leak is stopped for one hour. This does not remove the vital wound, and you can only use this ability to affect one leak on the ship. Normally, this check requires one minute of work. For every 5 points by which you succeed, the time required is halved.

Rank 3 – Rapid Repair

When you participate in repairing a ship, the repairs take half the normal time. This affects short repairs, long repairs, and vital repairs.

Rank 4 – Sturdy Reinforcement

The ship gains a +1 bonus to its Constitution.

Rank 5 – Quick Patch+

The hit points regained increases to four times your rank in this crew role.

Rank 6 – Temporary Seal+

You can use this ability to affect two leaks on the ship, rather than only one.

Rank 7 – Efficient Repair

When you participate in repairing a ship, the cost of that repair is reduced by one item rank. If you are using gold pieces, this roughly translates to a repair cost that is one fifth of the normal price.

Gunner

This role is responsible for aiming and firing ship weaponry. For complex weapons such as ballistas, they also direct the work of other crew members who are physically loading and aiming the weapons.

Rank 1 – Skilled Shot

Ship weapons you fire gain a +1 accuracy bonus.

Rank 2 – Customized Shot

Whenever you fire a ship weapon, you can choose one of the following effects.

- Arcing Shot: The longshot penalty for the attack is reduced by 2.
- Desperate Shot: The attack rerolls its attack roll once, and it gains a +2 accuracy bonus. However, the ship's strain level increases by one.

- Direct Shot: The attack deals double damage. However, the attack suffers a -1 accuracy penalty, and its range limits are halved.
- Overloaded: The attack deals double damage. This can only be used with ship weapons that do not have the Slow Load weapon tag (see Ship Weapon Tags, page 632). If the weapon has the Slow Reload weapon tag, it takes twice as long to reload after this attack. Otherwise, it gains Slow Reload (1) until it has been reloaded.

Rank 3 – Weapons Coordination

As a minor action, you can choose one ship weapon whose crew can see or hear you. That weapon gains your benefits from this crew role this round as if you were the one firing it. You cannot apply this ability to a weapon that is already benefiting from another gunner's effects. This ability has the Swift tag.

Rank 4 – Mighty Weaponry

The ship gains a +1 bonus to its Strength.

Rank 5 – Skilled Shot+

The accuracy bonus increases to +2.

Rank 6 – Customized Shot+

The benefits from this ability improve.

- Arcing Shot: The longshot penalty is fully removed.
- Desperate Shot: You reroll twice times instead of once.
- Direct Shot: The accuracy penalty is removed.
- Overloaded: The attack also rerolls damage once, keeping the higher result.

Rank 7 – Weapons Coordination+

When you use this ability, you can choose any number of ship weapons whose crew can see or hear you.

Lookout

This role is responsible for observing and reporting the ship's surroundings. It includes watching out for hazardous terrain, enemy ships, and similar dangers or opportunities.

Rank 1 – Vantage Point

You gain a +3 bonus to Awareness and Survival checks while in a crow's nest, or other equivalent location on the ship designed for a lookout.

Rank 2 – Detailed Scouting

If you look at a ship for one minute, you can make an Awareness check. The difficulty value is normally equal to 5, modified as normal for distance and vision conditions. If the ship is specifically designed to conceal its true nature, the difficulty value can increase to 10 or higher, at the GM's discretion. Success means you learn whether one of the following things is true. For every 5 points by which you succeed, you learn an additional piece of information.

- If the ship's item rank is greater than your ship's item rank.

- If the highest item rank among the ship's weapons is greater than the highest item rank among your ship's weapons.
- If the ship is elite.
- If the ship is mostly full of cargo.
- If the ship has more than half its maximum crew.
- If the ship has any vital wounds.

Rank 3 – Far-Sighted Weapons

All ship weapons that can see or hear you reduce their longshot penalty by 1.

Rank 4 – Clear Sighted

The ship gains a +1 bonus to its Perception.

Rank 5 – Vantage Point+

The skill bonuses increase to +6.

Rank 6 – Far-Sighted Weapons+

The longshot penalty reduction increases to 2.

Rank 7 – Detailed Scouting+

Using this ability does not take any time. It happens automatically whenever you see a ship. In addition, you automatically learn all pieces of information if the check succeeds, regardless of how much you succeed by.

Pilot

This role is responsible for steering the ship. They generally stay at the ship's wheel, but they may also direct the cut of sails or the direction of rowing.

Rank 1 – Desperate Sprint

As a standard action, you can increase the ship's strain level by one. If you do, the ship moves up to its speed during this action phase. Any ship can only be affected by this ability once per round.

Rank 2 – Evasive Maneuvers

As a standard action, you can choose one enemy ship you are aware of. Your ship gains a +1 bonus to its Armor and Reflex defenses against that enemy ship this round. This ability has the Swift tag.

Rank 3 – Hard Turn

The ship's turning speed is reduced by 10 feet, to a minimum of 10 feet. In addition, whenever the ship moves, you can increase the ship's strain level by one. If you do, the ship turns up to 90 degrees without spending any movement.

Rank 4 – Agile Pilot

The ship gains a +1 bonus to its Dexterity.

Rank 5 – Evasive Maneuvers+

You can choose a second enemy ship at the same time.

Rank 6 – Hard Turn+

The turning speed reduction increases to 20 feet.

Rank 7 – Desperate Sprint+

When you use this ability, the ship also doubles its movement speed during the next movement phase.

Warder

This role is responsible for directly protecting the ship from danger with magic.

In order to take this role on a ship, you must be able to cast spells. At the GM's discretion, you may also need to have access to mystic spheres that can plausibly be used to protect the ship. Most mystic spheres that have spells that affect objects can be used to justify this role. However, highly specialized mystic spheres like enchantment or vivimancy may not be sufficient.

Rank 1 – Active Defense

As a standard action, you can give the ship a +2 bonus to all defenses during the current round. This ability has the Swift, page 585 tag. It has no effect if the ship is already protected by another warder using this ability.

Rank 2 – Specialized Ward

As a standard action, you can activate one of the following effects. This ability has the Sustain (minor) tag.

- Desperate Fortification: Whenever the ship would take damage, that damage is halved. At the end of each round, if the ship took damage in excess of your rank in this crew role that round, it increases its strain level by two.
- Enhance Armor: The ship gains a +1 enhancement bonus to its Armor defense.
- Enhance Resilience: The ship gains a +2 enhancement bonus to its Brawn and Fortitude defenses.
- Mystic Ward: The ship gains a +2 enhancement bonus to all defenses against magical ✨ attacks.

Rank 3 – Ship of Magic

You gain a +1 accuracy with magical ✨ abilities, including magical ship weapons, while on the ship. In addition, whenever you participate in a ritual on the ship, you can increase the ship's strain level by one. If you do, the fatigue cost required to perform the ritual is reduced by an amount equal to twice your rank in this crew role.

Rank 4 – Permanent Ward

The ship gains a bonus to its maximum hit points equal to four times your rank in this crew role.

Rank 5 – Active Defense+

The defense bonus increases to +3.

Rank 6 – Ship of Magic+

The accuracy bonus increases to +2. In addition, the fatigue cost reduction increases to three times your rank in this crew role.

Rank 7 – Specialized Ward

The benefits from this ability improve.

- Desperate Fortification: The threshold for gaining fatigue increases to three times your rank in this crew role.
- Enhance Armor: The bonus increases to +2.
- Enhance Resilience: The bonuses increase to +4.
- Mystic Ward: The bonus increases to +4.
